Bay of Quinte Conference of United Church of Canada Given Birth in Peterborough

Impressive Ceremony Attended By Six Hundred Delegates in George Street Church—All Uniting Denominations Represented By Participants in Service.

CONSTITUTION AND DEDICATION.

Rev. Dr. R. Bruce Taylor Led Big Gathering in Communion That Sealed the Unity of the Church—Historic Occasion Scene of Rejoicing.

The cementing in bonds of union of the former Presbyterian, Methodist and Congregational bodies in this district was signalized last night at the George street Methodist church, when an estimated number of six hundred Bay of Quinte Conference members partook of the Sacred Elements in the Inaugural Communion Service.

As conducted by Rev. R. Bruce Taylor, D.D., the service was one which appeared to thrill the huge assembly adding to the zeal that had overthrown usages of years and scrapped the principles of dissension. The Desert Road, as pictured by the speaker, became luminous with the glow of sacrifice and loftly idealism; a path which glorified those who trod upon it, the tincture of sorrow blending with the peace and comfort which duty affords.

The presiding minister who had charge of the former part of the service was Rev. J. T. Daley of Port Hope. Aiding him were the Rev. C. W. Barrett of Stirling, and Rev. D. W. Best, D.D., of Bowmanville. The three former sections of the United Church were repreesnted in the leaders.

Singing formed a large part of the ceremony and well known hymns which had been common to all books of praise were selected. There was a mighty depth of volume and fitonal qualities which bespoke the feeling of accord forming the dominant note of the service. J. H Renwick, the George Street organist, played the accompaniment.

A call to worship was uttered by the Rev. Daley followed by an Invocation, which Rev. Mr. Barrett repeated. Responsive Scripture reading was conducted by Rev. Mr. Best. Prayer, constituting the Bay of Quinte Conference of the United Church of Canada, was enunciated by Rev. Mr. Daley.

"More especially as we do solemnly, with prayer and thanksgiving in the name of the Lord Jesus Christ, the only Head of the Church, now constitute the Bay of Quinte Conference of the United Church of Canada, let Thy Holy Spirit seal this act and sanctify this Court of Thy Church."

The Declaratio

The Declaration was also repeated by the chairman: "In the name of the Lord Jesus Christ, the only King and Head of the Church, and by the authority of the First General Council of the United Church of Canada, I hereby declare the Bay of Quinte Conference of the United Church of Canada duly constituted."

Communion Service.

Rev. R. Bruce Taylor, D. D., Principal of Queen's University, at this point took charge of the service reading the Scripture lesson found in Acts 8:26, concerning the baptism by Philip of the church.

The sermon followed, after which the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper was dispensed to the entire gathering. After the prayer of consecration the elements were distributed by prominent members of Peterboro churches. With the pronouncement of the benediction, the first meeting of the Bay of Quinte Conference under United Church auspices was drawn to a close.

The Sermon.

Philip had received a command from the angel of the Lord to proceed through the southern gate along the road from Jerusalem to Gaza, "which is a desert." At that time, and there are still evidences of it, there were two roads leading from Jerusalem, the much travelled and populous pathway to the north and the lonesome road which extended southward over a sparsely settled and barren territory which was the high and arid backbone of the country.

Philip was commanded to take the latter route, which held, apparently, no opportunities, and while he journeyed he met the Ethopian eunuch.

DEER HUNT STARTS IN TICKET OFFICE

Hound Attacks Stuffed Fawn on Display in Window.

TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 14.—The ticket office staff of the Canadian Pacific Railway turned out in full force for a deer hunt yesterday morning notwithstanding the fact that the season is not yet open. While Mrs. Fotheringbee, of Dovercourt Road was purchasing a ticket to the west, her leashed hound decided to make an excursion of its own and having a mind for big game dashed through a screen and bounded into a window fronting King street where a mounted deer was engaged in calling hunter's attention to the sporting attractions along Canadian Pacific lines in the north country. Scattering moss and young spruce trees the hound made a bound for the deer's nose but when that animal acted contrary to nature and refused to flee the canine waxed very wrath, and yelped his displeasure until such a time as one of the passenger agents could work his way round the screen and give chase to the dog. When it was extricated from the boiler room, a few minutes later, the hound felt that it had had its day and contented itself with a growl as it was led past the wrecked window to the street.

KING PREDICTS LIBERAL VICTORY

TO REFORM SENATE.

NORTH BAY, Oct. 14.—(Canadian Press). — "I am not given to political prophecy," Premier King told a North Bay audience last night, "but I am prepared to stake my reputation as one able to judge a political situation, that there will be more Liberal elected in British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba and Northern Ontario than were elected in the last election."

"We have no concern about being returned," Mr. King declared further. "We know that we are going to be returned. What we are concerned about is whether we are going to have a strong enough majority to do the things we want to do for Canada."

The Prime Minister predicted that practically the entire Province of Quebec would go Liberal; that Ontario would demonstrate that it was strongly heading towards the Liberal policies; that the results from the Maritimes would be very satisfactory from the Liberal point of view.

"In a little while," the Prime Minister added, "we shall have a majority in the Senate as we have had in the Commons. When we get that majority in the Senate we shall put through a measure of Senate reform which will be effective for all time to come."

CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY MEETS

Board of Management Hears Reports From Officials.

ACCOUNTS PASSED.

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Management of the Children's Aid Society, was held yesterday afternoon in the board room of the Chamber of Commerce, the president, B. F. Ackerman, in the chair. Others present were Messrs. J. Edgar, G. W. Powell, J. Abraham, F. H. Dobbin, W. Stocker, W. J. Hopwood, Rev P. Costello, and Mesdames J. Fanning and J. Welsh.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read by Mr. Edgar, the secretary, who also read a communication from the Stratford society suggesting that the government be asked to make such amendments in the Children's Protection Act as will allow the societies some more satisfactory system of financing than is at present in use. The suggested amendment would give councils of municipalities power to pass bylaws levying such assessments as are necessary to carry on the work.

Mr. Edgar was of opinion that such amendments were unnecessary, as the Act in its preesnt form gives power to charge municipalities for the costs entailed in looking after their wards.

It was finally decided to form a committee to look into the future financing of the Children's Aid Society, the members of such committee to be Messrs. B. F. Ackerman, W. J. Hopwood, the society's solicitor, Mr. Joseph Wearing, and the chairman of the Finance Committee, R. H. Parsons.

Reports.

The report of the matron, read by Mr. Edgar, showed 22 children in the Shelter during the month of September, with two brought in and three sent out.

The Sueprintendent's report by G. W. Powell, recorded four applications for children, two children placed on parole, one child sent to the Industrial school, one ward placed out and three wards returned to the Shelter.

Mr. Powell also spoke of the child who had come into the city and placed herself in his care, asking protection from her mother, who, she said, would hit her or any of the other children "with anything that was handy." A neighboring man testified before the magistrate that the children were not ill-treated, and she was not therefore made a ward of the society. However she is being looked after by the Superintendent, who has found a home for her where she is in good hands.

Mr. Powell reported a bill received from the Children's Aid Society, at Woodstock, for $4.50, charges for the keep of two young girsl who ran away from the city with a man from the Midway at the Exhibition here, and were apprerended at Woodstock, and returned to treir rome in Peterboro late. Some advese comment was made on the action of the the Woodstock society in making such a crage, Mr. Powell remarking that the Shelter rere often harbored children who were on their way to other places, doing this free of charge. The bill was finally passed for payment.

Accounts and Donations.

The following accounts were passed for payment: G. W. Powell, $4.95; Examiner Co., $1.31; Bredin's Bread Co., $15.87; J. C. Turnbull Co., $2.76; R. Hall & Son, $132; Routly-Braund Co., $8.65; R.Neill, $5; Peterboro Fuel

Mine Of Chicken Feed Was Discovered in Utah

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Oct. 14.—Development of the first chicken feed mine is to be started in the next month, according to John P. Clark, of Clarkstone, Cache County, discoverer of the mine.

The product is aragonite or calcium carbonate, which the rapidly rising cost of oyster shells for chicked feed has caused Clark and his two associates to take steps to market. Construction of a road to Trenton, six miles from Clarkstone, which is the nearest railroad point, and installation of about $2,000 worth of machinery is all that is requisite to working the mine.

Worsted Manufacturers Ask For Protection Against Foreign Goods.

British Paper Says Many Things Will Be Protected Before Christmas.

LONDON, Oct. 14 (Canadian Press)—Some of the newspapers assert today that the Government has granted an application of the British Worsted Manufacturers to inquire into the situation of the industry with a view to the imposition of a protectve duty under the Safeguarding of Industries Act, as recently was done in the lace business.

The Daily Mail says there is reason to expect protective duties will be imposed before Christmas on foreign gas mantles, gloves, brooms, brushes, aluminum ware, packing paper cutlery and worsted.

NEW YORK, N.Y., Oct. 14 (United Press)—Mrs. Charles De Roberts and Mrs. Jack Roth are twins.

They grew up together, went to school together and were courted at the same time. They live near each other in the Bronx, and yesterday at the Bronx Hospital an heiress was born to the De Roberts family and an heir to Roth. Both mothers were under the care of the same physician.

All four are doing nicely.

PROPERTY TAXABLE.

Church Grounds, Used By Clubs Charging Fees, Are Not Exempt.

HAMILTON, Ont., Oct. 14. — (Canadian Press).—When church property is used for tennis or bowling clubs, for which an entry fee is charged, such property is not exempt from taxation, Judge Evans ruled to-day. The judgment was made as the result of a municipal action for taxes at St. Giles' Church, where there is a bowling club to which members are admitted who are not also members of the congregation.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 14.—(Canadian Press).—Commissioner Landis to-day ordered the postponement of the seventh and final world's series baseball game until to-morrow, owing to rain. More than forty thousand people were in the stands waiting for the game to start when the postponement was announced at 2.35 p.m.

NOMINATIONS TO BE HELD IN 27 RIDINGS OCT. 15

Poor Communications To Outlying Districts Cause Earlier Date.

GIVES MORE TIME.

Distribution of Ballots Can Be Made Before Election Day.

OTTAWA, Oct. 41. — (Canadian Press).—To-morrow is official nomination day in twenty-seven Federal constituencies. By holding the nominations in these constituencies one week before the official nomination day in the majority of ridings, deferred elections are done away with and polling proceeds throughout Canada on October 29th.

The reason why constituencies of large area require a longer time between nomination and polling day is that the ballots have to be distributed over long distances, often by slow conveyance, and one week is not sufficient time for the printing of ballots and for distribution.

Constituencies in which nominations take place to-morrow are:

Ontario—Algoma East; Algoma West; Fort William; Kenora, Rainy River; Port Arthur, Thunder Bay; Temiskaming North and Temiskaming South.

Quebec—Charlevoix, Saguenay; Gaspe; Pontiac.

Manitoba — Nelson; Selkirk; Springfield; Provencher.

British Columbia — Cariboo; Comox, Alberni; Skeena; Kootenay West; Yale.

Alberta — Athabaska; Peace River; McLeod.

KILLED WIFE AS POLICE WAITED OUTSIDE DOOR

Winters Asked For Time to Dress Before Admitting Officers.

STABBED HIMSELF.

Mrs. Winters Had Been to Road House With Another Man.

JERSEY CITY, N.J., Oct. 14. — (Canadian Press). — While four police officers waited outside the door of his apartment "until he could dress himself and let them in," George H. Winters, 22, hacked his 21-year-old wife, Margaret, to death with a butcher knife at four a.m. today and stabbed himself over the heart, puncturing a lung. City hospital officers said Winter would die.

Conrad Williams, Mrs. Winters' son, by a former marriage, cried in the crib while his step-father killed his mother, who, police say, had just returned from a roadhouse with another man. Informed exactly at four o'clock of trouble in the Winters apartment, the officers were rushed to the scene but found their way block by the locked apartment door. "Open that door," ordered a patrolman. "Wait till I get my clothes on," Winters replied. After five minutes' wait the officers shouted they would batter the door down, and Winters answered their threats by opening the door, calmly remarking, "You can come in now, I've done it." Lying in the hallway was the head body of Mrs. Winters, with blood oozing from gashes on all parts of her body.

Churches in Grand Rapids Have Copied New Testament

CEDAR RAPIS, Ia., Oct. 14 (Associated Press).—The churches of Cedar Rapids have completed their task of copying the New Testament, producing what officials of the Ministerial Association say is the only book of its kind in the world.

A total of 7,959 persons copied one verse each and signed his name to it. The work started last Sunday, was done in a uniform manner.

The verses will be bound into a huge book and exhibited at religious gatherings throughout North America.

CANADA CANNOT LET H B RAILWAY STAY UNFINISHED

Says Mr. Meighen in Address at Regina Last Night.

DEPENDS ON COST.

If It Costs Fifty Millions, Competition Must Be Delayed.

REGINA, Sask., Oct. 14 (Canadian Press)—"Canada is too vigorous, too virile and too proud to see the Hudson Bay Railway carried to within 70 or 80 per cent of completion and leave it there a spectacle to the world," said Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, in the course of an address in Regina last night in which he discussed the railway at length. The Conservative party, he said, had no desire to evade discussion of the road. The party recognized that "Canada had made an engagement with Western Canada, an obligation to be recognized."

"It is true we have made obligations we never should have made. With a weight of debt bearing down on us we must cut our coat according to our cloth. We must first find out what it is going to cost us. There is a very big range between the highest and lowest estimates. If engineers find it can be done for a sum within reasonable range of the estimate of the On-to-the-Bay Association there is no sufficient excuse for delay. But if the fifty million estimate proves to be a correct one, then Canada is not in a position to complete the road now.

STRIKE THREATENED CORSETS ARE CAUSE

Old Fashioned Garb Required By Play Tortured Actresses.

BIRMINGHAM, England, Oct. 14.—(United News).—A compromise, the details of which have not been revealed averted a strike threatened by actresses required to wear old fashioned boiler plate corsets in George Bernard Shaw's play "The Philanderer."

The women in the cast knew they would be required to wear costumes of the eighteen nineties in the play but all went well until the dress rehearsal, as none had ever worn the costumes of that period.

Gamely, the women helped to compress each other in the corsets but after a few performances they decided they could stand it no longer and made representations to the stage manager.

"What's the matter", he asked, "you wear corsets any way, don't you."

The delegation did not answer the latter part of the question but declared that no healthy modern girl could wear the sort of corsets popular in the period of the play.

"We know now why our mothers never smiled in their old photographs", the spokesman said. "They couldn't with those things on."

Man Superior To Woman Scientific Tests Show

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 14 (United News)—Man has been demonstrated to be superior to woman, according to Dr. Roy M. Dorcus of John Hopkins University, who has just completed a series of experiments to determine the relatives standing of the sexes.

Athletic types of both sexes are superior to non-athletes, the doctor concluded, in nerve control, speed and accuracy. He also found, he said that the relatives superiority of the athletic women over the non-athletic woman is much greater than the superiority of athletic men over non-athletic men.

BOY RETURNED TO HIS MOTHER FROM ENGLAND

Was Entrusted to His Stepmother, Who Wanted to Keep Him.

NINE YEARS OF AGE.

His Father Was American Soldier Who Deserted Wife and Child.

OTTAWA, Ont., Oct. 14 (Canadian Press) — Nine-year-old Roy Neilson, who was taken in charge by the police at Plymouth, England, when the liner Aluania arrived there from Montreal today, is the son of Mrs. Gladys Neilson, of Ottawa, and was born during the World War shortly after Mrs. Neilson was deserted by an American soldier named Neilson, whom she married when she was 15 years old.

Mrs. Neilson's father, named Henshaw, a widower, married again, and Mrs. Neilson entrusted her boy to the care of her step-mother, Mrs. Ruby Henshaw, four years ago. Mr. Henshaw died on September 26, and Mrs. Neilson made formal demand for the child. Mrs. Henshaw refused to give him up, and left for England, taking the child with her.

While the steamship Aluania was making its trip to England, local police communicated with the British police, who met the ship and confronted Mrs. Henshaw with the possibilities of an abduction charge. Cable advices state, however, that Mrs. Henshaw agreed to give up the child to her step-daughter, and Roy is returning to Canada on the same ship.

The whereabouts of the child's father is not known. The Great War Veterans' Association took a prominent part in having the child returned to Mrs. Neilson, the latter having appealed to the War Veterans because of her father's early connection with the association and because she lacked funds to obtain the necessary legal assistance in having her son restored to her.

REFUSES CHALLENGE.

Dudley Field Malone Will Not Argue Evolution With Dr. Straton.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—(United Press).—Dr. John Roach Straton, pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church, said to-day he had received a letter from Dudley Field Malone, in which the latter, an associate counsel for the defence at the Scopes trial at Dayton, Tenn., declared he would not accept Dr. Straton's challenge to a debate on evolution.

"I do not intend to add importance to your obvious campaign for personal publicity," wrote Malone, now on his way to Europe, "and I never argue with bigots or debate with clergymen who preach hatred and intolerance and make money out of it."

Dr. Straton said he would comment on the letter later.

PLAN AUTO SHOW FOR OLD MODELS

Entrants Must Have Serial Numbers Not Later Than 1924.

(By Ralph Heinzen, United Press Staff Correspondent.)

PARIS, Oct. 14.—Paris, in the future, will have two automobile shows. One, the great motor salon, will continue to be held each year in the Grand Palais where in the rich setting of that great granite pile the production of French motor engineers will be displayed in all their glory. The other, to be inaugurated this year, will be housed in a great wooden barracks at the Versailles gate—the first used car salon in the history of automobiles.

This popular salon is expected to put a motor car in every home, for there will be models for every purse, pre-war relics for a few hundred francs for slightly used cars for slightly used prices.

The wooden barracks which house the Paris Trade Fair on the demolished fortifications will care for the used car salon. There will be a strict standard of decoration for the exhibition and although there is no age limit on the cars to be shown, there is a certain esthetic limit below and beyond which the exhibitors must not pass in arranging their displays.

And, to make sure that automobile manufacturers do not cut in on this show, its organizers have set down in the regulations that only those cars will be considered as used cars which bear factory serial numbers previous to December 31, 1924. Incidently, there is no obligation to buy or sell, the regulations again including a provision that an exhibitor may trade his car if he desires for any other shown in the salon He need not even display a price card, and he will probably do as the general run of French businessmen do—judge his prospect by the cleanness of his collar and the slant of his heels and fix his price accordingly.

JOHN I. ALLEN CONGRATULATED UPON PRUDENTIAL'S SUCCESS

Establish Insurance Company in Peterboro Beginning in April, 1909.

PRAISES STAFF.

Company's 50th Anniversary Celebrated By Luncheon and Conference.

The mission of the Prudential Insurance Company as a social organization steadily expanding the sphere of its good works was given new emphasis at the luncheon and business sessions with which the company's fiftieth anniversary was celebrated yesterday by the Peterboro district staff.

A half century of splendid and highly successful endeavour, since the incorporation of the company in its original form on October 13, 1875, was referred to with affectionate regard for the memory of its founder, the late John F. Dryden, and of those men who had so faithfully borne the burden of arduous missionary work when the humanitarian purpose and possibilities of the Prudential's service was but little understood by the people it was intended to help

The Peterboro chapter in the company's annals was, quite naturally dwelt uopn at the executive conferences during the day and also at the luncheon at the Empress hotel. And in this localization of the Prudenial's development from its obscure beginning here in 1909 to its present flourishing state glowing tributes were paid to Mr. John I. Allen, to whose personality, industry and ability Prudential insurance in Peterboro and its extensive district is a living and immeasurable monument of social service, of thrift and of protection to homes and families which have realized the long ago dream of the company's founder.

Receiving the congratulations of some of Peterboro's prominent citizens, Mr. Allen passed on these tributes to his associates and added his own acknowledgment of their loyalty to the company, to its ideals and to its polic-yholders. And in this testimony, Mr. Allen during the addresses at the conclusion of the luncheon remembered with impressive incident the late Dr. J. B. Mann by asking the gathering to stand for a minute with bowed heads as a mark of respect for him who had been fourteen years with the Prudential as one of its medical examiners.

W. H. Bradburn, M.P.P.

"You are doing a wonderful work in Peterboro,' said W. H. Bradburn, M.P.P. "You have built up a strong organization here and throughout this district, and in your work you are indeed benefactors of the people. There was a time when the insurance man was looked upon as something of a pest or a nuisance, but you have proved your worth to the people and you rae looked up to for the good you do. I trust that Mr. Allen and his staff will meet with the sams success in the future as you have had in the past."

Mr. Allen's Review

Mr. John I. Allen's address sketched the history of the Prudential Insurance Company from its inception and organization by its late President John F. Dryden. It was his vision at the close of his student days at Yale University. He noticed that when death struck down the heads of many families the children had often to be taken by relatives, the bereaved ones became dependents of charity, and friends had "to pass the hat" to pay for the funeral. Mr. Dryden saw the necessity of the present form of industrial insurance and upon his return from England, where he had studied a somewhat similar company, he set up the Widows' and Orphans' Friendly Society, which name was later changed to the Prudential Friendly Company and finally the Prudential Insurance Company of America.

Its first office was a small basement room down ten steps from the street in Newark, N.J., and from that humble beginning the company had grown until last year it had $8,300,000,000 insurance in force with 20,000,000 policy holders.

Mr. Allen referred to the vast service the Prudential Insurance Company had rendered to the people of the United States and Canada in the half century of its operations, and passed on to his coming to Peterboro on April 3, 1909, a stranger, without an office, with no business in force, and the work of promoting the Prudential ideal before him.

"Today we have a staff of 48 men and 6 girl clerks," Mr. Allen said. "I won't tell you the amount of business we have in force today but you would be surprised at the amount that represents the work of myself, if I may be permitted to say so, and my fellow workers."

Mr. Allen said the company employed 26,000 men of whom 10,000 had served from 15 to 45 years. The staff in Canada comprises 1200 men. Many of them have won substantial success for themselves in the service of the people, spreading the gospel of protection for those in need.

Hon. G. N. Gordon.

Peterboro's Minister of the Dominion Cabinet spoke as a Prudential policy holder, and recalled the circumstances under which he thus became connected with the company. Any man, he said, who appreciates the need of increasing his estate, finds this form of insurance the easiest way to provide for the maintenance of his family should he die. It was one of the first duties of a man as head of his home, and for tha treason Mr. Gordon said it was advisable to take out insurance instead of buying an automobile. It gave a man great satisfaction in knowing that his family would be cared for in this efficient way.

"It is a privilege and an honor to be with you to-day on this occasion of your anniversary, and I wish to say that I feel indebted to Mr. Allen and his associates for the fact that my attention was called to my own needs."

Mr. Gordon also remarked that the Prudential had a fine reputation for the prompt payment of claims.

In this connection Mr. Allen said that the courts of Central Ontario contained no record of litigation against the Prudential company for the payment of any of its policies.

Mayor Turner.

Mayor Turner conveyed his felicitations to the Prudential and its local staff. Insurance was so cheap that no man could afford to be without it. Any man who failed to do so was neglecting his duty and was full of selfishness.

Joseph Wearing suplemented the congratulations extended to Mr. Allen and his company, and Mr. R. MacPherson, medical examiner of F. Sedgwick presented Dr. A. W. the Prudential, with a bouquet of roses as an evidence of the esteem of with which the staff regard him and also as a birthday gift.

An enjoyable feature of the luncheon was the musical programme by Ken Blood's orchestra. The day was concluded with a final meeting of the staff in the Prudential offices marked by messages from Mr. Allen, Dr. MacPherson and speeches by assistant superintendent F. J. Sedgwick and other assistants, E. E. White of Cobourg, F. J. Flaherty, of Peterboro, E. P. Haynes of Orillia and D. Morris of Oshawa. The Prudential ideal of unselfish service to the public was stressed by the speakers, the essential personal requirements of character, persistence and patience with a sense of pride in the realization of the Prudential's accomplishments for countless families in the last fifty years, of its high standing of life insurance as an honorable profession. these were some of the reminders given to the field men to inspire thier renewed activities.

THE BAY OF QUINTE

conversed with him regarding a book which he was reading, and which had been written by the prophet Isaiah. Struck by the singularity of this incident and the man's evident distress, Philip paused and explained the matter which puzzled him.

Philip, in clarifying the passage, preached the truths of Jesus and the eunuch was immediately convinced of the realities which he had been told. As he passed along he desired to know what prevented his baptism.

Ordinarily there were many laws and creeds which would hinder the chief of which was, that it had never been done before. Philip, however, assured the suppliant that belief in the truth of Jesus was the essential note; so they went down to the water and the eunuch was baptized. These singularly interesting characters were travellers of the Desert Road. Small wonder that the eunuch continued on his way rejoicing as a result of that chance contact.

The Desert Road—a way of difficulty and suspense—let that be the theme. Often one is called to take the arid track when there also stretches out the easier path where caravans move and where the wayside is populous with friendly figures. The comradely companionship often wins travellers to that road where disappointment and disillusionment eventually show that the bright road was not as represented. The crowded city may seem the acme for friendships, but in reality few know the householders on either side of his own small domain.

Find Companionship.

On the Desert Road, however, the human being is a great companion Many have crossed the Atlantic, seeing for days nothing but the trackless expanse of water and the narrow limits of the decks under neath. A far-away blur of smoke is seen, which finally resolves itself into an old rusty tramp steamer which has not been painted for years. How eagerly are glasses caught up and focused upon the vessel in an effort to decipher its name. If it were seen entering the harbor at Montreal it would occasion nothing further than a casual glance.

Ben Davis, a famous Welsh singer, was stranded at one time at a small wayside station in Texas Two of his fellow-countrymen discovered him and took him to their farm, where an afternoon was spent in singing the songs of Wales.

"The men were carried back to the land from which they were estranged, by singing the songs in the language which they mutually understood but no one else can."

The Desert Road gives one time to think, to be thankful, to shed the burden of envious thoughts and to pick up fresh interest in things human.

The reason for reading books by R. L. Stevenson was not that he was a great figure, a great poet, but that he was a great friend; he was a man who had suffered but had kept on with his work.

A letter which Rev. Taylor read and which R. L. Stevenson had written to a friend gave poignant evidence of the strain under which the man had been laboring. Wracked with pain and bleeding from hemmorhages, Stevenson had continued writing sunny scraps of verse which were destined to cheer thousands along the Desert Road. Stevenson also trod that road and the strength which he gathered there emanated from the deathless pages which he wrote so laboriously.

Traveling the Desert Road, one finds question running through the mind. Paul experienced the same problems concerning the gate into the Eternal.

What had hindered the Eunuch from baptism?—it had never been done before; but as Philip talked of Jesus, then the barriers appeared to crumble away until nothing was left but a clear pathway before the earnest convert.

Brought up in Godly homes with parents as a guard against evil, one has every chance to gain access to the Eternal—Something more, however, is necessary—one must answer for one's self in traversing the path of life, responsibility cannot be pinned on others. It is when the self dependent stage is reached that one finds out whether or not the early training is engraved on the soul.

Schools of Discipline.

All our lives are schools of discipline. Disappointment, the most universal of human experiences, acts as the chastening power. No man would admit that there had not been in some stage of his life a period of grief, a period where his life had been switched, apparently on an adverse grade.

On a trip to the north of Scotland, which the speaker had taken with a prominent minister, his companion had pointed out a small country church, saying: "I was once rejected there."

So it is that disappointment may come in work and as frequently dreams of love and home fail to fructify.

The pressure of work often becomes so heavy as to tax human endurance and one is forced to query: What will be the way out—How can I carry such burdens unendingly? In the Scriptures there is a comporting phrase for those so afflicted: "Who is among you that feareth the Lord, that walketh in darkness and hath no light, let him trust in the Name of the Lord and stay upon his God."

A misunderstanding which might possibly thrust itself between old friends might be a heavy burden—Possily success, withheld from one might settle upon the other in abundance; possibly the friend's wife entertains a dislike which taxes the companionship so dear in other days. These should be avoided and conciliations made whenever possible.

To many, the Desert Road is one of sorrow. After traveling it for a long period wherein nothing seems to happen, suddenly heavy blows of misfortune may descend to be repeated many times. Then is one caused to marvel at the purpose of existence. Some take this adversity lying down and never try to shroud their heavy hearts with laughter.

It was a Desert Road—two men were on it, one seeking; the other, knowing—Some one has said that he pitied the man who could not travel the route from Dan to Beersheba and find it all desert—So on that road was found the Oasis, and the seeker found the object of his search.

The speaker had had occasion to visit a little sequestered village on the moors in Scotland, where, because of a long period of inter-marriage and poor living conditions, tuberculosis was rife. On a journey to comfort an old lady whose family was stricken, he was told not to trouble himself about her cares, but that she was above herself.

The road of life may be a desert road for many, but it could be the abode of Christ if the travelers had ears to hear.

DURHAM SEEKS TO DIVERT ROAD

County Wants Lindsay-Peterborough Road to Pass Through Cavan.

PROVINCE TAKING.

LINDSAY, Oct. 14 (Special to The Examiner).—Although the announcement has been made by the Highways Department that the Lindsay-Peterboro road would be taken over as a provincial highway by the Government next year, the information has been given out in Lindsay that Durham County will make a move to have the road diverted in order to serve a section of that county, linking up with the Peterboro-Port Hope highway. Victoria County officials, when spoken to about the matter, furnished little information, although some of them admitted that that they had been informed unofficially that a move would be made in this direction. Such action would not be to Peterboro's advantage.

FAMOUS ENGINE ON C.N.R. LINE

HAS NEW NUMBER.

CAMPBELLFORD, Oct. 1.—The famous locomotive, 999, the engine that has probably been more often photographed than any other in Canada, is now hauling the mail train that reaches Peterboro from Belleville by way of Campbellford every weekday at 8.10 a.m., and thence proceeds to Lakefield. This engine, the first of its type ever built for a Canadian road, was some years ago used to draw the International Limited between Toronto and Montreal. When the rolling stock of the Grank Trunk was renumbered, the figures on this engine were changed from 999 to 1538, its present number. It has been in use on the Campbellford ranch and is smooth and powerful in operation, taking all the hard grades on the line, no matter how many coaches are behind it, without a puff. It weighs four tons more than the locomotive which it replaces, and is known among railway mechanics as a 26 per cent engine.

Two Funerals Tuesday.

Rev. James Grier, pastor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, conducted two funeral services Tuesday afternoon, being called back from Peteroro to officiate.

The remains of the late Charles Fraser were interred in Mount Pleasant Cemetery, the procession leaving the late home of the deceased at 2 o'clock after a short religious service by Mr. Grier. The pall-bearers were all nephews of the deceased, some of them coming from a distance to attend the obsequies.

The funeral of the late Lewis Franklin Stephens, who died Sunday in Belleville was held here at 4 o'clock from the residence of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Stephens, to Mount Pleasant Cemetery, Rev. James Grier conducting the religious services at the home and at the graveside. There was a large attendance of friends and relatives and many beautiful floral tributes. The pall-bearers were Walter Lowe, Ed. Hule, William Dunk, Elmer Sherwin, George Hendy and Fred Phillips.

ANNIVERSARY OF STIRLING CHURCH

St. Andrew's Presbyterian Congregation is 69 Years Old.

STIRLING, Oct. 14.—The sixty ninth anniversary of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church was observed on Sunday. The preacher at both morning and evening services was the Rev. Rupert Stewart, of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Belleville, who held the attention of the large congregations. In the morning his text was taken from Deuteronomy xx., 19. Mr. Stewart said his subject was "Getting into our City," after giving a graphic description of the times and conditions of the Israelites when the text was uttered. The sermon was divided as follows: First, "Do not sacrifice the past for the immediate present; 2nd, "Do not jeopardize the present for the future; 3rd, "Do not sacrifice the immediate future for the present." At the evening service the sermon was taken from 1st Kings, xviii., 30, the subject being the repairing of altars: in the heart, in the home. Mr Stewart said he believed the only hope for the nation was a great revival of religion, and he believed the world was on the eve of it. He also stressed the fact of the absence of family worship and gave illustrations to prove the good that Bible reading and prayer in the home had done. The choir, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Victor Taylor and Mr. and Mrs. Donald of Burnbrae and Miss Seeley, a visitor in town, rendered excellent service. The anthems were "Great is the Lord," "Fear not O Lord," and "The Lord is my Light."

Miss McDonald of Campbellford sang very acceptably "Grateful Oh Lord am I" and "I come to Thee." Arthur Duncan's solo, "Open Ye the Gates," at the evening service, was sung in a very pleasing manner. A number were present from Burnbrae, Campbellford and West Huntingdon.

The collections for the day amounted to nearly $650, which will be considerably augmented when the envelopes are all received.

Great preparations are being made for the supper on Tuesday night.

FORMER RESIDENT VISITS PETHERICK'S

John Moore, 72, Returns to Birthplace After 61 Years' Absence.

PETHERICK'S CORNERS, Oct 14.—Mr. John Moore, an old pioneer of Petherick's Corners, returned to his birthplace on Friday last, after sixty-one years of sence. Mr. Moore, who lives in Minneapolis, Minnesota, was born in a little log cabin along the Trent River, about half a mile below Crow River Bridge, the only remembrance of the situation being a fresh water spring which was not far from the house.

Mr. Moore is seventy-two years of age, and is as active as a young man of twenty.

After wandering about two or three fields between the Tenth and Eleventh Concessions, he found the spring, which he decided was just west of the house, and kneeling down he took a drink from the spring from which he had drunk over sixty-five years ago.

There were also some wild roses and thorn bushes in the place where the house was supposed to have stood, which is about one-quarter of a mile from the road directly west of Mr. Wm. Scott's barn.

Mr. Moore first visited the school which is the same building in which he received two years of his primary education under the instruction of his father, who taught in that building for a number of years.

He could not recall much of his school career, but he remembered one incident in which he had to assist his father, who was the victim of four rough young men who attended school for only a few weeks in the winter, and who had almost overpowered him.

Mr. Moore could not recollect much farming being done in this district, the chief industry being the lumbering industry.

He traced a few logging roads through Mr. Scott's woods, and found the identical place where they were boomed together and started down the river for Rathburn's Mill.

Mrs. John Hetherington of Peterboro is a sister of Mr. Moore, and accompanied him on his trip.

GUESSING THE RESULTS.

The favourite pastime just now is making predictions on the result of the Federal elections.

It is an interesting game, and the beauty about it is that everyone can play it.

Your guess is just about as good as that of the politicians.

Their predictions are usually colored because of what they hope will happen, which explains how the two chief parties can each produce a prediction showing themselves with a majority over all.

There is no harm in making guesses, however, and those who read the newspapers closely have lots of data on which to work—depending upon how many papers they read.

NOT A FEDERAL ISSUE.

There is reason to believe that the attempt to introduce prohibition as an issue in the present campaign is regarded by the majority of the people as injudicious, to say the least.

The cause of prohibition, like every other cause, often suffers from unwise leadership, and the feeling seems to be general that in the tactics being used at present the judgment of those responsible is open to question.

In North York where Premier King and Col. T. H. Lennox are the opposing candidates they have told the temperance forces that they do not regard prohibition as an issue in this campaign—and the view of the majority of electors is that they are right in that contention.

Canada's task at the present time is to select a Government that in the judgment of the majority will handle the affairs of this country to the best advantage during the next four or five years.

The electors should not be hampered in that task by any side issues, and the attempt of candidates to ride into office on a prohibition platform should be resented by everyone who realizes how much there is at stake in the present campaign.

EVERYONE SHOULD VOTE.

It cannot be too strongly emphasized that every elector, male or female, owes a solemn duty to use his or her vote in the coming election.

They owe that duty to themselves and to this country, because it is through the authority of the votes of the majority of those who mark their ballots that Canada's policies will be dictacted and Canada's national business transacted during the next four or five years.

Those who absent themselves from the polls are shrinking away from the responsibilities of citizenship—they are neglecting their own interests and those of the community at large, and often are paving the way for conditions over which they later on complain bitterly.

It is a strange commentary on the small value that many people put upon their franchise that they have practically to be dragged out to register and then to be dragged out again to vote.

Were it not for the efforts of political campaign organizations hundreds of voters would not be on the lists at all, and hundreds more would never take the trouble on election day to vote.

This question of choosing a Federal Government is too serious to be treated with indifference, and the sooner that fact is realized and more people begin to take an interest in national problems the better it will be for Canada.

OBEDIENCE AND DISCIPLINE.

Nothing vast in the way of production or of conquest is possible without absolute, unquestioning obedience, somewhere, says Barron's. That is why modern civilization substitutes the obedience of the machine for the obedience of the slave. Some of our most impressive thoughts on freedom come from ancient Greece. But in the democracy of Athens there were ten slaves for one free citizen. The thought which business is trying to drive into the popular mind is that of discipline. It throws a light on Henry Ford's methods, for he makes his production machine perfect by giving the worker, for the most part, only a single act to perform, with nothing to think about. The best-run railroad is that which can combine discipline most effectively with individual intelligence. There are times, as any railroad operating officer knows, when the individual must exercise his judgment. Those occasions do not, of course, include running past signals for the locomotive engineer. The thing which business sets before itself is scarcely the military ideal. It assumes an obedience combined with the intelligent understanding of why obedience is necessary.

One of the finest criticisms of the Great War was the appreciation expressed by General von Kluck of the original British army which checked the right wing of the German advance under his command so that he could never outflank it, even if he destroyed regiment by regiment and man by man. The British resistance extended the German right flank so far to the west that the French were able to strike their defeat von Kluck, in the first battle of the Marne, thereby saving Paris and frustrating that first great rush which the Germans had confidently expected to be irresistible. Von Kluck said that there had never been in history an army of the quality of the British force of less than two hundred thousand men. The essence of its discipline was intelligent obedience. It was opposed to a much stronger force whose understanding of the object of a command was considered not merely superfluous but impertinent, even insubordinate. If the classic Greeks were alive today, they might ask, "What is the difference between our slaves and the slaves of your machines?" That is an interesting question, and we may possibly find it an important question—even the important question.

AN AGENCY FOR PEACE.

The assembly in Ottawa of the representatives attending the twenty-third annual conference of the Interparliamentary Union is an event of international significance, interest in which has been intensified by the unsolicited, and in some respects unfortunate, publicity accorded to it by the Saklatvala incident and the Irish Republican demonstrations in the United States.

To the cynic there may seem something delicious in the irony of a series of events which associates an institution aiming at universal peace with the provocation of class bitterness and the inflammation of racial hate. Right thinking people will detect in these extraneous happenings, however, regrettable as they are, a significance which only emphasizes the need of a body whose chief object is to promote harmony among the nations by co-operation and conciliation through the media of parliamentary institutions and representative governments.

Founded more than a quarter of a century ago by Sir Randall Cremer, a British publicist, who was profoundly interested in all movements calculated to promote international amity and good will, the Inter-Parliamentary Union has, with the exception of the war years, functioned uninterruptedly since its inception, with results which, if not always visible in the relations of various countries, cannot be discounted. In a sense it was the forerunner, if not the inspirer, of the League of Nations; its influence in cementing political friendships and strengthening parliamentary ties in the different countries represented in its membership has been unmistakable; and, notwithstanding recent eruptions, never in its history has it been stronger, or more representative of the political thought of the world, than it is today.

At the conference opened this year in Washington there were in attendance no fewer than 400 parliamentarians from the legislative bodies of 38 nations, most of whom will be in Ottawa this week when the conference resumes its sittings on Parliament Hill under the chairmanship of Senator Belcourt. Such a gathering cannot fail to leave its impression upon the political thought of the time, whatever its influence may be on the issues of the future.

To appreciate the power for good inherent in a body like the Inter-Parliamentary Union it is not necessary to believe in an immediate, or even early fulfilment of the dream of universal and everlasting peace. As Secretary of State Kellogg well said at Washington: "Universal peace has been the dream of statesmen for ages, but no one has found a specific cure. A cure must come from the hearts and understanding of the people." Yet the world is slowly, and after much sacrifice, learning the truth so cogently expressed by Viscount Grey, of Falloden, in his recently published book that "no enduring security can be found in competing armaments and separate alliances;" and once that fact has sunk into and taken firm root in the minds of the world's peoples, universal peace will, at least, have been brought appreciably nearer.

To contribute to a fuller and more general realization of the force of Lord Grey's conclusion—a conclusion based not merely upon the bitter experience of a world war, but upon a knowledge of international psychology and of the roots of war surpassed by that of no other statesman—no agency is better fitted than the Inter-Parliamentary Union. Its members are in touch with the elements and issues that make for peace or war. They have an influence individually which should count in any international emergency, and count much more effectively if exercised collectively; and that influence and authority will be better ensured and immeasurably strengthened by the intensive study of international problems, the stimulating exchange of views, and the friendships established and cemented at such gatherings of legislators from all parts of the world.

Nor is that the only direction in which the Inter-Parliamentary Union may usefully function. As Secretary of State Kellogg pointed out, "forces are at work for the disintegration of orderly representative government," and anarchy threatens. No body is better qualified to resist such forces than one that is founded on parliamentary traditions, that derives its personnel and authority from parliamentary institutions, and that is bound by a common tie to preserve and maintain the law and order of constitutional government.

The movement which seeks to promote universal peace has nowhere stauncher friends than in Canada, and on that account, as well as for other reasons, the proceedings of the Inter-Parliamentary Union will be followed with an interest and sympathy not detached from the pious hope inspired by Tennyson's vision of "the Parliament of man, the Federation of the World." —Ottawa Journal.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

It is the duty of every elector to use his vote on October 29th. Every slacker who remains away from the polls is deserting his post as a citizen of this country.

Hon. W. F. Nickle declares that level crossings must be abolished, and the public will agree with him. But that will take a long time, and in the meantime motorists must protect themselves.

A THOUGHT.

SHORT OF THE DESIRED END

Until all creeds work together for a common good, the efforts of each will be comparatively small in its influence, each will be hampered in its activities and fall far short of the desired end.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, Oct, 14. — Buyers stepped lively in Monday's later dealings at the Union Stock Yards, and sales for the day were 4,757 head thus leaving less than 800 carried over. For Tuesday the receipts are 65 loads, 935 cattle, 184 calves, 1,476 hogs and 925 sheep and lambs. Rogers and Maybee bought around 500 for export on Monday at the following prices—Steers $7.50 to $8.20, heifers $6.25 to $7, short keeps $6.50 to $7.50, and bulls $4.50 to $5.50 a cwt. Prices of these averaged steady except the steers, which were about 10c a cwt. lower.

Trade yesterday was naturally quiet following Monday, but the sales recorded were at steady prices except in the expoft class, where the range was lower, with one top steer at $7.75 a cwt. Export short keeps sold from $6 to $6.75 a cwt. There were no choice handyweight butchers and loads of medium quality were dealt in at $5.25 and $5.50 a cwt. Baby beeve sold firm and up to $12 a cwt.

There were few butchers' cows for sale. One fat kosher cow sold at $6.50 a cwt. Prices of other cows were unchanged. H. P. Kennedy & Co. sold seven loads of Western feeding steers from $5.50 to $6.25 a cwt. There were 300 fresh Western cattle in yesterday and more are on the way. The market is generally steady and the demand looks equal to the supply.

Buffalo buying in calves serves to give a firm under tone to the market. Prices were steadily firm, with tops at 12 3-4 and 13 cents a pound.

Monday's heavy run of lambs was used to lower prices to the extent of 25 cents a cwt. One nice bunch sold yesterday at 12 1-2 cents a pound, but the average is not expected to be above 12 cents. Sheep are quite steady and firm. Packers paid $12.25 a cwt. f.o.b. for Monday's hogs, but say they will absolutely refuse to do better than $12 a cwt.

Four of the best loads of export steers which have left Ontario this season were shipped from Newbery by I. B. Groff, acting for Rogers & Maybee. The average weight of these was 1,390 lbs. They were fed by Tom Milsop, Coleman Wartman and James McGill.

CHICAGO WHEAT.

CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—(Canadian Press).—Swinging in a wide range wheat price registered a sharp advance today after showing extreme weakness at first. Reports of extensive damage by frost in Argentina accompanied the advance. Top quotations, however, failed to hold, and the close was unsettled at the same as Saturday's finish to 11-8c higher, new style, Dec. 144 3-4 to 144 7-8 and May 143 7-8 to 144, with corn 1-4 to 1c up, oats a shade to 1-4c off. Provisions varying from 15c decline to a rise of 22c.

Hand in hand with the advance of wheat values, buying on a large scale took place. According to some observers, the lion's share of the buying was for a leading speculator who was in a position to collect profits, having recently been a seller at prices ranging downward from 160 a bushel. Estimates that the Australian crop would be 40,000,000 bushels less than last year's total were meanwhile a strengthening factor in addition to reports of cold weather in Argentina and of unwelcome rain in Canada, together with the fact that the United States visible supply had increased only 507,000 bushels for the week.

Contributing to the late reaction in the wheat market, however, were private advices telling of beneficial moisture both in Australia and in Argentina. Earlier weakness was more or less due to word that Minneapolis millers had brought 500,000 bushels of wheat across the border from Canada, duty paid, and that Buffalo had also taken 1,500,000 bushels out of Canada, making a total of 2,000,000 bushels brought into the United States from Canada since Saturday.

Corn owed its advance a good deal to wheat strength. Country offerings to arrive, though, both of old corn and of new, were small, and there was an active demand from feeders and from industries. Oats were easy, with some selling into store here.

Provisions were responsive to a decline in the value of hogs.

MONTREAL MARKETS

MONTREAL, Oct. 14 (Canadian Press).—There was an increased enquiry from English importers for grain in the local market yesterday, but as the prices bid were under cost, little business was transacted.

Trade in cash grain was also limited, and business was quiet.

A fair amount of business was reported in spring wheat flour for domestic and export account and the market was moderately active with a steady undertone. There was no change in the market for winter wheat flour.

The easy feeling that has prevailed in the millfeed market during the past few days developed into weakness yesterday and millers generally reduced prices for all lines $1 a ton. The market for standard grade of rolled oats was steady. A fair trade was done in baled hay and a steady feeling was in evidence.

Beans were quoted at $2.40 to $2.50 per bushel.

The stock of creamery butter in the whole of Canada on the 1st of October, according to the Internal Trade Department of the Dominion Government, was 20,064,993 lbs., which shows a decrease of 235,328 lbs., as compared with September 1st, and a decrease of 15,495,911 lbs. with a year ago, while the stock of dairy butter 358,661 lbs. smaller than a month ago, and 268,325 lbs. than October 1, 1924.

The receipts of butter here yesterday were 986 packages, as against 1,038 for the same day last week, and 3,385 for the corresponding day a year ago. There was no further change in prices to note, but the undertone to the market was easy with only a small volume of business passing in all directions.

The receipts of cheese were 9,227 boxes, as compared with 10,339 for the same day last week, and 8,978 for the corresponding day a year ago. There was some business done with foreign buyers overnight and there was also a little trading on spot, but the volume on the whole was small and the market was reported quiet with no further change in prices to note. The stock of cheese in the whole of Canada on the first of the month was placed at 29,753,761 lbs. by the Internal Trade Department of the Dominion Government, which shows a decrease of 184,145 lbs., as compared with a month ago, and an increase of 624,725 lbs. with the same date last year.

According to the Internal Trade Department of the Dominion Government, the stock of storage eggs in the whole of Canada on the first of the month wasc 15,045,924 dozen which showed a decrease of 1,208,413 dozen, as compared with the same date of the previous month, and an increase of 1,900,326 dozen with a year ago, while the stock of other grades on October first showed a decrease of 184,840 dozen with the same date last year.

There was no further change yesterday in the local egg situation, but the undertone to the market for fresh extras was firm at the late advance noted on account of the increasing scarcity of supplies. The demand was steady for supplies of all grades for immediate consumption and fair volume of business was done. The receipts yesterday were 1,740 cases, as against 1,729 for the same day last week, and 2,015 for the corresponding day a year ago.

A fair trade continues to be done in potatoes and as supplies coming forward are just about sufficient to meet the daily requirements of the trade a very steady feeling prevails in the market and prices were unchanged.

OPEN LETTER NO. 20

RT. HON. W. L. MACKENZIE KING,
Prime Minister and President of the Priey Council,
Ottawa.

Dear Sir:

I am quite prepared to believe that a lot of people, since reading my last letter to you, have been saying to themselves: "Nonsense! The United States tariff cannot possibly be four times as protective as the Canadian tariff! If it were, then it would show some rates as high as 140 per cent. against about the highest under our tariff which on a few products is as much as 35 per cent., and there aren't any such rates in the United States tariff at all!

In publishing its annual trade returns, the United States Government shows for every item in the tariff, among other things, (a) the rates of duty in force (ad valorem, or specific, or both); (b) the value of goods imported, if any; (c) the amount of duty collected thereon; (d) the ad valorem rate to which that duty would be equivalent. It is when specific duties, or specific plus ad valorem duties, are translated into ad valorem rates that the startling results are shown.

There are literally scores of items where the equivalent ad valorem rates run well over 100 per cent. They make no bones about it—they work the calculations out themselves, and print them, as though they were proud of demonstrating how far they have gone in penalizing those of their people who will have imported goods! The fact that the quantities imported under these high rates are usually small, coupled with the further fact that under many items there are no importations at all, shows how far they are succeeding in protecting home industry!

And don't make the mistake of assuming that these high rates apply only on little used luxuries. In many cases they apply on common articles in daily use. Just glance over the following, bearing in mind that the words "certain kinds of" are to be understood as preceeding some of the items, and that the figures represent percentages with the decimal points omitted.

Cane sugar (various polariscope tests), from 103 to 131; fruit juices containing less than 1% alcohol, 173; ginger ale and ginger beer in large containers, 175; unstemmed tobacco, 114; cigarettes, 113; cigars and cheroots, 119; snuff, 193; hops, 147; lace curtains, 178; woollen clothe, from 102 to 173; lithographed material, 101; razors, from 130 to 395; scissors, from 113 to 205; clippers, from 98 to 192; pocket knives, from 88 to 263; table cutlery, from 65 to 108; automatic pistols, 104; breech-loading shotguns, 174; locks, from 123 to 169; clocks, from 60 to 130; flavoring extracts, from 134 to 143; spectacles, 165; pencil leads, 118; expressed oils over 50% alcohol, 110; cassia, 110; mace, 108; steel wool, 112.

One would expect high rates on liquors, so 105 on brandy, 108 on gin, and 106 on whiskey are not surprising. But 520 on rum surely sets a record in high duties!

A host of articles that might be termed necessities pay duty at rates from 50 to 100 per cent., as witness the following: Women's and children's gloves, 58 to 88; men's gloves, 57; woollen knit goods, 55 to 86; blankets, 53 to 69; hats and caps, 48 to 63; dehydrated potatoes, 59; potato flour, 73; casein compounds, 56; beans, 53; onions, 55; lemons, 92; peanuts, 64; cloves, 75; ginger root, 59; pepper, 61; coffee substitutes, 59; fruit preserved in spirit, 89; wrapping paper, 86; tissue paper, 62; envelopes, 75; varnishes, 77; thermos bottles, 91 to 96; peony, canna and dahlia bulbs, 81.

These are the kinds of duty that the United States employs to protect the home market. Yet when Canada, whose average rate of duty on dutiable imports is less than 17 per cent., employs a duty of 35 per cent. on a very few lines to protect her home market, some people in this country denounce it as a monstrous injustice. And it's these same people who are the greatest sufferers by the refusal of the United States to admit their products! They want to break into a foreign market that has been built up by protection, but they refuse to use protection to build up a market of their own!

Yours respectfully,
J. J. GIBBONS,
President.

BOURASSA TALKS NATIONALISM AND PREACHES MINORITY RIGHTS TO FOREIGN ELECTORS IN QUEBEC

Must Recognize 3,000 Miles of Salt Water Between Europe and Canada.

NO OBLIGATIONS.

MONTREAL, Oct. 14—(Canadian Press).—Henri Bourassa, running as an independent candidate in Labelle, continues his campaign in this constituency with great vigor, and within the past few days he has addressed gatherings at Papineauville, at Ste. Emile and Namur. Mr. Bourassa continues to expound the principles of Nationalism, of which he has been the outstanding protagonist in Canada for many years, while his championship of the rights of minorities is also a prominent feature of his addresses. At Ste. Emile, Mr. Bourassa spoke to a crowd that was composed mainly of native-born Belgians, Frenchmen, Italians and Germans. To this audience the speaker held up the situation of Canada, separated by three thousand miles of salt water from these countries, and sought to drive home that the allegiance of his hearers should first be to the country of their adoption.

"Would you like your children to have a military obligation both to your country of origin and to Canada?" he asked.

"That is just," replied an old country French voice amid applause.

"We can all have sympathies for our different fatherlands," retorted Mr. Bourassa, "and that is legitimate. But it should not be concluded from that that Canada and Canadians have any obligations towards Europe. There are three thousand miles of salt water between our country and Europe, and that is what I want to have recognized once and for all."

Mr. Bourassa dwelt on the rights of minorities and declared himself to have the same attitude towards the rights of the English Protestant minority in Quebec as he has for the French Catholic minority in other provinces.

With regard to "Imperialism," Mr. Bourassa said:

"Meighen, in his person, in his speeches, in his policy, is the incarnation of everything that I denounce and have denounced for thirty years as contrary to the interests of the country. Speakers who have been imported from Montreal are traversing the country at the moment, declaring that the 'Independents' are the ruin of the country. That is true of those who are independents in order to sell their votes to better advantage—that is what ruins the country. But if one is independent with respect to not employing his influence and his vote without knowing in advance to what use it may be put, that type of independence will save the country. It is to those who have sufficient heart to prefer their families and their country to the party spirit that I am addressing myself."

At Namur, Mr. Bourassa spoke in part as follows:

"In our country everything has yet to be done, and for how many years has our development been retarded on account of our bad adventures in war? In Europe the countries have been developing for two thousand years, and one generation leaves to the next the fruits of its efforts. With regard to ourselves, everything is new and people dare to propose to us that we should bleed ourselves white in order to assist countries a hundred, yes a thousand times wealthier than our own. And we have accepted this proposal without thinking further than the end of our nose. Should we continue this dangerous game? England, in order to preserve her Indian Empire and in order to acquire more colonies, will again have to engage in war. France also will have more wars. If Canadians, both native-born and by adoption, do not hold fast to a policy strictly national, that is to say — keep our people and our money for ourselves, we will be driven one day or another to a policy of suicide."

COMMUNIST STRIKE DECLARED FAILURE

Two Men Killed and Thirty Wounded in Paris and Suburbs.

PARIS, Oct. 13 (Canadian Press)—Aside from Paris and its environs, the general strike called by Communists is said to be a failure, as a protest against the warfare in Morocco, according to Government officials. In Paris and suburbs two men were killed and some thirty wounded during the fighting yesterday between mobs and the police.

CHURCH CONCLAVE SEEKS CONCESSIONS

MOSCOW, Oct. 13 (Canadian Press).—A Russian reformed church conclave closed its session yesterday with a petition to the government asking that the clergy be accorded equal rights with other sectarian groups and Russian citizens generally. They also asked that the Government grant the priests education facilities for their children and permit the church to issue its own literature.

MYSTERIOUS VISIT U. S. GASOLINE SHIP

Appeared in Port Arthur Harbor on Monday After Liquor Tips.

PORT ARTHUR, Ont., Oct. 14.—(Canadian Press).—The presence in the Port Arthur Harbor yesterday of the United States ship "Cooke," her bow gun uncovered, and flying three United States Ensigns, created a topic for conversation along th ewaterfront.

The ship, propelled by gasoline engines and manned by a crew of several men, slipped into the harbor on Monday. Tied up at the Canadian National wharf, remained over night, and as quietly slipped out yesterday morning, presumably for her coastguard duty in American waters.

Officials did not appear to want to discuss the reason for the ship being in Port Arthur, but from another source came the statement that her commander was after information in connection with a cargo of liquor which arrived some time ago and which was consigned to Duluth, Minnesota.

HALF GRITS, MANY PROGRESSIVES, WHOLE CONSERVATIVE ELEMENT BELIEVE IN PROTECTIVE POLICY

Meighen Says He Advocates the Method Which Developed Canada.

TAXATION HIGHER.

Amount Collected Has Gone Down, But Rate More Than in 1921.

BETHUNE, Sask., Oct. 14 (Canadian Press)—"They called each of their tariff whittlings a step in the right direction," said Mr. Meighen, speaking at Bethune, Sask., yesterday. "While this government has been stepping in the right direction the young men of Canada have been stepping in the wrong direction, towards the United States. Do you think it is just as well for Canada that your sons should go to another country to look for work? Do you think that because you cannot benefit one commodity—say wheat—through a protectionist policy, that we are justified in changing the whole fiscal policy of this country, the policy on which Canada was built up, on which it prospered under both Conservative and Liberal Governments in days gone by."

Mr. Meighen assured his audience that the claims of Premier King that he has reduced taxation were baseless. The amount collected in taxes had gone down twenty-five per cent, but the rate of taxation was actually higher than in 1921 and what really had gone down was the income of the taxpayer. He warned his hearers that the great burden of taxation would come back on the farmer if industry was beggared. Three-fourths of all taxes were paid by industry because of the magnitude of the capital involved and its more intensive activity. If industry was not prosperous somebody else would have to pay the taxes.

The whole Conservative element in Canada, half the Liberals and a good slice of the Progressives are protectionist today, asserted the Conservative leader. This being the fact, how could the Liberal-Progressive alliance in Parliament pretend any longer that it could reconcile the aspirations of the Dominion in a low tariff policy?

It had appeared to the Conservatives and to many of the Progressives, in Parliament that Mr. Johnston had, during the last parliament, made it his chief aim in life to make the Progressive group the "tool of the Liberal group," said Mr. Meighen.

"Premier King," he added, "seems to have forgotten already his promises in the West. Last night he spoke in Fort William, just as he left for the East. In that industrial city he stated that he would so adjust the tariff as to give better protection for industry. Is that what he said out here on the prairie?"

Mr. Adrian introduced himself as an Irishmman—"And if I were not an Irishman I should be ashamed of myself." All the work done on the Hudson Bay Railway was done by Conservative governments, and he added done by a government which had received very little support in Saskatchewan. It was in contrast to this, Mr. Adrian said, that Premier King demanded many votes in exchange for further construction.

J. H. Peel took the chair. Mr. Somerville of Regina spoke briefly. He wanted to know why Premier G. A. Dunning was not contesting a seat in this election if he was seriously considering the offer from Premier King of a portfolio at Ottawa.

ASKS ELECTORS TO RECOGNIZE HANDICAPS OF NATIONAL DEBT AND LACK OF STEADY MAJORITY

Postmaster General Enumerates Chief Difficulties That Faced Government.

SCARBORO SPEECH.

Substantial Savings Accomplished in Postal and Railway Services.

SCARBORO, Ont., Oct. 14 (Canadian Press)—Hon. Charles Murphy, Postmaster General, in supporting the candidature of Dr. E. G. Beer, declared that the record of the Government was submitted to the judgment of the people in the present election, and to be fairly appraised it should be judged in the light of the handicaps imposed upon the administration from the moment it took office.

One of these handicaps was the national debt, due in part to the taking over of the railways and in part to the war. The other, was that the government had not had a working majority in parliament composed of its own supporters. Notwithstanding these handicaps, there had been "substantial progress made in the administration of the country's affairs. Although the railways still imposed a heavy burden upon the taxpayers, the operating expenses have been reduced by $20,000,000 in one year; and the prospects are that, under the guidance of Sir Henry Thornton, the Government roads would make even a better showing in the future."

Mr. Murphy stated that there had also been substantial savings effected in the Post Office department. "In 1921," he declared "there was a deficit of $1,567,000 in the postal service. But during the three full fiscal years that the Liberals have been in office that deficit had been turned into an average surplus of about $325,000 per year." In the same period there had also been an average reduction in Post Office expenditure of about $460,000 per year. He also claimed that this was the first decrease in the annual expenditure of the Post Office Department in 25 years. Contributing causes to the financial improvement in the Postal service were the establishment of a system for the insurance of parcels sent by parcel post, and the further establishment of the C. O.D. system. From these two sources new revenue had been found to the extent of close upon $1,000,000. There had also been an increase, he stated, in the ordinary business of the Department; "and in money order transactions alone the turnover in 1925 as compared with the order transactions in 1921 showed an increase of $53,000,000."

Mr. Murphy denied the charge that the tariff policy of the Government was forcing Canadians to leave Canada and go to the United States. "The truth is that there has always been a flow of population back and forth between the two countries," he stated, "But the tariff has nothing to do with it." Proceeding further, he declared that "the Canadian records show that the correct figures for the fiscal year ending on March 31, 1925, were 43,775 Canadians repatriated, and 15,816 American settlers added to our population." He also disputed the correctness of any statement that conditions under which people were now living in Canada were worse than they used to be.

He praised the action of the King Government "that prevented Canada and the Empire from being drawn into a war with the Turks." Recalling the situation in September, 1922, he stated "that the consequences of that act I can conceive of no greater benefit to the public."

SEAMEN'S STRIKE MEN AND OWNERS FORCED TO MEET

Justice Powers of Australian Arbitration Court, Has Summoned Conference.

ON OCTOBER 19.

Legal Chief Gives Reasons For Ordering Both Parties to Come.

MELBOURNE, Australia, Oct. 14 (Canadian Press).—In view of the improved shipping situation as a result of the report of the unofficial strike of British seamen being called off, Justice Powers, of the Arbitration Court, has summoned a conference of all the parties to the dispute for October 19 in Sydney. His reasons for calling the conference are given as follows:

The dispute exists in all the Australian states and is a serious matter for Australia; British ship owners have declared the ports of Freemantle and Perth "black," and the British seamen have declared the ship owners' vessels "black" (each side claiming that the other is unfair); the exports from Australia to England have been seriously retarded; a dispute with the Australian unions is probable; the ship owners have called upon all the political parties to end the dispute, and British seamen who risked their lives every trip they made in wartime have called upon the Australian public to settle the dispute; in industrial disputes extending beyond the borders of one state, this Arbitration Court represents the people of the Commonwealth.

The Unions are said to be jubilant over Justice Powers' action in calling the conference.

Great Britain and Ireland, Germany, Italy, France and Holland retained their positions at the top of the world's shipbuilding list, but the United States dropped to the bottom of the list of countries for which individual returns are made.

GIVE CREDIT TO WHOM IT IS DUE

Blucher King, Claimed as Brantford Dog, is From Peterboro Kennel.

SIRED BY KING.

In the October number of the "Kennel and Bench," a copy of which is at hand, the following statement is made in an account of the Hamilton Kennel Club show:

"In the sterner sex he (Earl A. Brown, judge of the show) found the Brantford dog, Blucher King, his best, making this trappy Boston terrier Brantford's first champion home-bred Boston, much to the gratification of Glyn Bowden and the many admirers of his dog."

James McMartin, 267 Simcoe street, drew the attention of the Examiner to the injustice of that statement as he affirms that Glyn Bowden purchased the dog from him and that he was bred in Peterboro and not Brantford, as the report would indicate. Blucher King was sired by M. J. Hickey's 'King,' and out of McMartin's dame, both registered dogs.

Thus Brantford loses the credit of having its "first champion home-bred Boston," and the honour is reflected back to Peterboro kennels, where it justly belongs.

NEWS FROM U. S. IS PERPLEXING

London Times Says That Attitude Rumored Would Spoil Conference.

WANT MORE NEWS.

LONDON, Oct. 14. — (Canadian Press).—The Times, in an editorial this morning, expresses perplexity and concern over information it has received to the effect that the United States Government is prepared, unless an agreement on concurrent action can be secured among the powers meeting in Peking, to act independently and immediately in regard to securing a commercial treaty with China. "This is so nearly incomprehensible," says the Times, "that the natural attitude here must be one of puzzled incredulity until further information is available."

The newspaper adds that the suggestion of independent action by any power participating in the conference is likely to render the whole effort of the conference nugatory and that "in the circumstance some fuller and precise definition of the attitude the United States Government purposes to take at the conference is eminently desirable."

PETERBORO MAN LIKES FLORIDA

Fred Adlum Says Climate is Wonderful—Two Peterboro Men Doing Well.

Nearly a year's residence in Florida has satisfied Fred Adlum, who has been home for a week's visit, that the State's prosperity will be permanent. He went down last December and travelled over practically the whole of the Isthmus before settling in West Palm Beach, modestly admits that he is doing well himself, and says that the realty boom has not yet reached its peak. Mr. Adlum was reluctant to talk for publication. He did not come home on any special real estate selling trip, in fact he is returning tomorrow, and he is not trying to persuade any of his friends to join the throngs that have been pouring into Florida all year.

"Some people have gone and others will go there who will make a fortune, but others might lose their hat or decide there was nothing there for them," he said. "After the winter crowd left last Spring, there was no let up of the influx. They have been coming in a steady stream all in all sorts of cars, many of them carrying tents and mattresses to make sure they would have a place to sleep. Lost winter West Palm Beach put up 1,500 tents to accommodate the overflow. Houses are snapped up as soon as they are built, even before they have been started. The fact that such men as Singer, of the sewing machine company, to mention just one, is investing millions down there, is an evidence of capital's confidence in Florida's future."

Mr. Adlum mentioned two Peterboro men who have shared in the wave of prosperity. One of them is Tony Strano, who conducted a fruit store on Charlotte Street. Twelve years ago he bought a twelve acre lot about six miles in from the east coast. He went down several years ago to investigate the property personally, and at one time did not hold out much hope for realizing on it, but a railway project paralleling the coast about five mile inland boosted the value of interior land and Mr. Strano made a "killing."

Mr. Adlum also said that Edgar Burnham has a citrus grove on which he will probably cash in by sub-dividing it. This property had been steadily approached by other real estate developments until it was now in a fine position, being practically all surrounded by other land that had been cut up into lots. Mr. Adlum said that Mr. Burnham was preparing to subdivide his citrus grove and put it on the market.

Many an orchard of grape fruit and oranges had been uprooted throughout the state and sacrificed to the property boom, thereby yielding huge profits that would never have been obtained through the production of fruit.

"Florida is one of the last States to be developed," said Mr. Adlum, "and its development is going on before your eyes. There is not much farming, and most of the foodstuff has to be brought in from adjoining States. I have found that it is not only a place for the rich but for middle class people as well. It is within 36 hours of all the section east of the Mississippi, and its climate is indeed wonderful. I never wore a coat or hat down there. In fact, I didn't buy a hat until I reached Toronto.

Volumes of information which he obtained by his own observation were suggested by Mr. Adlum, but his own impression was summed up in the statement: "I's sold in Florida as I have seen it."

The matter in this column has been supplied by the Liberal-Conservative Publicity Committee, Peterborough.

THE 1921 TACTICS WON'T WORK A SECOND TIME HERE

Supporters of Hon. G. N. Gordon, alarmed at the drift toward Mr. Peck, are endeavouring to stop the landslide by seeking to persuade some of the electors that Mr. Gordon is just as much a protectionist as the Conservative Candidate.

THAT GAME WON'T WORK TWICE

It was used effectively in 1921, but Mr. Gordon's friends must have a poor opinion of the intelligence of the voters of Peterborough if they expect him to swallow that fable again.

Because the voters of this riding have had a chance to see just how much of a protectionist Mr. Gordon really is. He was sent to Ottawa as the representative of a constituency that included the industrial centre of Peterborough, after promises that no industries would be injured by the Government of which he became a member.

WHERE WAS MR. GORDON IN 1924?

When W. G. Raymond, Liberal member for Brantford; W. D. Euler, Liberal member for North Waterloo; F. N. McCrea, Liberal member for Sherbrooke, and Herbert Marler, Liberal member for St. George-St. Lawrence, denounced the Government for injuring Canadian industries and voted against their party on the Budget last year, where was the "Protectionist" member for West Peterborough?

Hon. Walter Mitchell, Liberal member in Ste. Antoine, Montreal, resigned his seat because he could not follow his party along the path toward free trade. Not so with Mr. Gordon. Political advancement does not lie along that way, and the member for West Peterborough wasn't taking any chances.

He was too busy protecting his political prospects to worry about the effect of the free trade Budget upon Peterborough's industries.

DON'T BE HOODWINKED.

So when they try to tell you that Hon. G. N. Gordon is a Protectionist, ready to defend Peterborough's industries, just ask them why he didn't line up in 1924 with Raymond, Euler, McCrea and Marler, or resign with Hon. Walter Mitchell. There is only one Protectionist candidate in this constituency. E. A. Peck carries the Standard of Adequate Protection.

Vote for the real thing in protection—not for the make-believe article.

COUNT WAS THIEF OF CHURCH JEWELS

Tried to Steal Gems Adorning Statue of Virgin.

ROME, Oct. 14 (Canadian Press) —A sequel to the recently attempted burglary of precious jewels adorning the miraculous virgin in Saint Agostinus church here rivals the brightest of detective yarns. The police of Rome and Milan have discovered that the sacrilegious would-be thief is no less a personage than Count Joe Dellamotta, South American patrician, who, they claim, tried to steal the treasures of the Virgin because he is afflicted with a morbid longing to possess the best specimens of Christian art. The count, who was born in Mexico, is very rich and has passed the last 13 years in the most exclusive circles here.

He gradually has gained renown for his expert knowledge of jewels, particularly emeralds and pearls. He has been consulted by traders from all over the world.

ASTRONOMERS MAY STOP STAR COUNTING

Number Now Exceeds 100 Millions—Job is Never Done.

LONDON, Oct. 14 (United Press) —The giant task of counting and and definitely locating the stars in the heavens, which has taken forty years to date and now tops the hundred million mark, may be abandoned as a hopeless job.

Of the many observatories which originally agreed to undertake the counting of the stars and the mapping of their positions in the heavens section by section, only the Greenwich and Oxford observatories have completed their task. But even their job is never — and probably never will be — really finished for each new and larger telescope which comes into use reveals the existence of myriads of stars hitherto unrevealed. A chart is no sooner completed than it is put out of date by new discoveries.

Astronomers who have been at work on the charts for the last forty years and have already listed, charted and catalogued, more than 100,000,000 stars are beginning to wonder if there is any point in going ahead with it.

GILMOUR CHURCH HAD FOWL SUPPER

Non-Political Speech By E. A. Peck Was Addition to Programme.

Three hundred and fifty people sat down to the fowl supper in the basement of Gilmour Memorial Church last night and afterwards listened to a fine programme of vocal and instrumental music and an address by Rev. Mr. McNeely of Bridgenorth United Church. Mr. McNeely spoke on Competition, Co-operation and Culture, three principles which ruled in life, illustrating his points by several humorous stories. The other part of the programme was comprised of musical numbers from a party of singers of the choir of Murray Street Baptist Church under the leadership of Francis Sutton, organist and choirmaster of Murray Street Church; recitations from Miss Walker; vocal solos, accompanied by the guitar, from Miss Maybee; a solo from Miss Pearson; a violin solo from Mr. Sutton and selections by a trio of stringed instrumentalists, Mr. Weldon and the Misses Trethewey. The audience was most appreciative and encores were the order of the evening.

An unexpected diversion was provided by the appearance on the platform, towards the close of the gathering, of E. A. Peck, Conservative candidate for West Peterborough. Mr. Peck was billed to speak at a meeting in Bridgenorth, but as the majority of the electors in the district had, for the time being, deserted politics for poultry, the election meeting was of short duration and Mr. Peck and his two henchmen, W. H. Bradburn, M.P.P., and R. J. Soden, arrived at the Gilmour Church in time to hear the greater part of the programme. The chairman, Rev. W. S. Edgar, explaining that the meeting was entirely non-political, asked Mr. Peck to address the meeting, stipulating that the speech be on any subject other than politics.

Mr. Peck, in accepting the invitation, said he was not sorry that the church supper had spoiled his meeting as it had given him an opportunity of enjoying the musical cian he was very fond of music. He thought that a training in music was indispensable to the all round culture that had been advocated by Mr. McNeely and he made a plea for the inclusion of the teaching of music on the cirriculum of the public schools.

A large number of people came from a distance to attend the supper. Peterborough was represented by a fair sized contingent which included a party of 20 C.G.E. girls who came on the Comet bus.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

All letters bearing on the pending General Election or political questions must bear the authentic name of the writer for publication. No letter will be published without the writer's name. This step is taken to protect the candidates from anonymous attacks and to assure Examiner readers of the legitimacy of the expressions of opinion in the communications.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Sir: I wish that you would make a correction as regards the statement of my remarks at Mr. Peck's meeting on Saturday night, October 10.

Your reporter stated that I said that in Kidderminster, England, they got paid 2 cents a yard for weaving carpet, and we in Canada got 75 cents. What I did say was that on a certain grade (a poor grade, too) they got paid 2 cents a yard and I thought that if that carpet was sold in Canada it would be about 75 cents a yard.

Also there was reference to me making a remark about the cheap labor in Kidderminster being responsible for the slack trade in Canada.

The only reference I made to Kidderminster was about the cheap grade of carpet made there.

But to give credit where credit is due your reporter was right when I urged all present to vote for Peck, and I do yet.

Hoping you will publish this in the Voice of the People, so that all concerned can get my statements right. Thanking you for the space Mr. Editors, yours truly,

ARTHUR THOMAS.

Why Canada Should Smash The King Government On October 29th

An Appeal to the Patriotic Electors of West Peterboro, Irrespective of Party.

SINCE the King Government took office four years ago, it has failed to reduce Taxation.

Since the King Government took office four years ago, it has closed Canadian Factories, Injured the Farmers' Market and depressed business generally by tariff tinkering tactics.

Since the King Government took office four years ago, it has plunged the National Railways deeper in debt.

Adequate Protection for Canadian Industry Means Steady Work and Good Wages.

Protection Built up the United States and has made her the greatest industrial nation in the world.

Protection put Canada on her feet industrially, and the lack of it at present is causing our hard times.

Since the war eighty-one countries and dependencies throughout the world have increased their protective tariffs, while Canada was the only nation to lower her protective wall.

Either every other nation in the world is WRONG and Canada is RIGHT, or Canada is WRONG and the other nations are RIGHT. What does common sense tell you?

The King government cut the tariff to gain support from the Western Progressives. What has the tariff cut done for this part of Canada?

Upon this record the King government must be judged. It must answer for business depression, for unemployment, for closed factories, for high taxes, for sectional strife, and for the fact that thousands of Canada's best young men and women have gone to the United States to find employment denied them in their native land.

Oust the King Government on October 29th, and ring in a period of Peck, Protection and Prosperity

Missionaries Give Interesting Addresses—Mission Band Girl Give Play.

MADOC, Oct. 14—The last meeting of the Madoc District W.M.S. of the Methodist church met in convention today. Over one hundred and twenty-five delegates were present. The session opened with Mrs. Harris, District Organizer, in the chair. The morning was taken up with business and reports. An increase in givings was noted. The officers were re-elected until the first of March when the United Church will begin its reorganization.

The afternoon program was opened by Mrs. E. D. Harrison, president of the Madoc branch. Two very excellent addresses were given one by Miss Paul, a returned missionary, who gave an interesting talk on her work among the Indians in the west, where she was engaged in active service for forty years; the other by Mrs. Gordon Wright, president of the Dominion W.C.T.U. Mrs. Wright gave a very forceful and inspiring speech on missionary work and touched also on prohibition and its place in this campaign.

Four little girls from the Eldorado Mission Band presented a pretty little play which had as its keynote self-sacrifice and the call for support to the Missions. The acting of these small tots deserves special mention; also the five little girls from Madoc Mission Band, who sang very sweetly. Other music was supplied by Mrs. Ashley and Mrs. Foster of Madoc who sang a duet.

At the noon hour a bountiful dinner was served to the delegates by the Madoc Women's Missionary Society.

Camera Lens Found After Twelve Years

MADOC, Oct. 14.—A unique incident occurred at the Black Creek mine, which has just been pumped out. In removing some of the accumulations of debris at a depth of ninety-two feet, Mr. E. Ryan came upon a valuable gold-plated camera lens. A couple of days later Mr. H. Hungerford, of Belleville, was in Madoc, and in conversation with a mutual friend of the two men, remarked that he had heard of the work at Black Creek and wondered if by any chance they would find a camera lens which he had inadvertently dropped when taking some pictures of the mine twelve years ago. It belonged to a Bosch and Lamb camera of some value. During all that time the lens had been buried under bits of rock and water and emerged without even a crack or trace of tarnish.

CIVILIZED PEOPLE AGE EARLIER THAN SAVAGES.

One would think it would be the other way about. But this would leave out of the picture the effect of civilized peoples' denatured foods. Savages live upon foods just as nature provides them, thus they retain all their body-building properties. Civilized peoples refine out of their most important foodstuffs, the grains, their most important building materials, the mineral salts, vegetable fats and vitamins. Thus civilized bodies cannot so well stand the wear and tear of daily life, and they soon begin to grow old. White flour, refined "ghost cereals", white sugar, and refiners' syrup and other "denatured" foods do their work well in prematurely aging their votaries.

This aging tendency can be overcome to a great extent by resorting to natural, unrefined foods. Dr. Jackson's Roman Meal is a natural whole grain food, made from whole wheat, whole rye, flaxin and bran. It compensates the deficiencies of white flour, "ghost cereals", etc. Roman Meal renewed the youth of Dr. Jackson, its inventor, to such an extent that while at 55 he was a wreck, at 65 he won a 1,300 mile bicycle contest from a man 30 years younger, actually ran away from his young competitor.

Roman Meal has 1,600 food units while beef has only 952. Roman Meal is thus seen to be the best body-building and strength producing food known. You ought to use Roman Meal. At grocers.

OBITUARY.

MISS LOUISA SUTTON.

MADOC, Oct. 14.—The death occurred on Sunday morning, October 11th, of Louisa Sutton, daughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. H. H. Sutton. Miss Sutton had not been well for some time but it was just during the last three weeks that she was confined to bed. Miss Sutton was a very active worker and generous supporter of St. John's Anglican church. She was a member of the I.O.D.E. and was always keenly interested in all the activities of the town. She will be sadly missed in both social and religious circles.

The only remaining member of her family is Dr. Ford Sutton of Norwood, to whom the sympathy of the community is extended.

The funeral took place on Tuesday morning at 10.30 from St. John's church. The service was conducted by Rev. Mr. Hall of Merrickville and Rev. Mr. Strother of Madoc.

JOHN McBRIDE

The late John McBride, whose death, following a lingering illness, took place in his sixty-ninth year on Friday, October 9th, was the third son in a family of six boys, and one daughter, the latter passing away in infancy.

His parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McBride, came to this country from Ireland, and were pioneer settlers of Haldimand Township, near Baltimore, in Northumberland County. On the homestead established as the virgin forest gave place to cultivated fields, and comfortable buildings were erected, the entire family was born and raised, with the exception of the eldest son whose birthplace was in Ireland.

Deceased had spent practically his entire life in Northumberland and Durham Counties. With the exception of about two years lived on a farm near the homestead, he followed a mercantile career, moving first to Bailieboro, and twenty-one years ago to Millbrook, where he resided until his death. Three years ago he gave up his business in the down town section of the village, and purchased the W. H. Byam property near the station, using the block for both business and residential purposes.

It will be forty-one years next fifth of November since Mr. McBride was united in marriage to Alice Josephine Whyte, of Roseneath, whose parents were also pioneer settlers in the county. To this union seven children were born, four sons and three daughters. Three boys predeceased their father, George Hunter, dying in infancy; J. Roy, who paid the supreme sacrifice in France, being killed at the battle of Ypres, in 1918; and Thomas, whose death occurred eighteen years ago. Besides the bereaved widow, one son, Mr. G. McBride, of Estevan, Sask., and three daughters, Mrs. W. K. Delong, of Toronto, Mrs. (Dr.) Cassie Stone, of Walters, Okla., and Miss Theo, at home, survive their father.

Deceased was a staunch Conservative in politics, a member of the former Methodist church, a charter member of the Independent Order of Forresters, Bailleboro Lodge, and a loyal member of the Orange Order, joining the latter when in his eighteenth year, and holding the office of Director of Ceremonies in the L.O.L. No. 46, Frazerville for several years. He was at one time a member of the Millbrook council, the late J. C. Kells and the late R. J. Doak being the Reeves in office while Mr. McBride was actively connected with municipal affairs.

The funeral, under the auspices of the Frazerville Orange Lodge, in which deceased retained his membership, took place from the family residence, King street, on Sunday, October 11th, the large gathering at the house, representative of the entire community and the surrounding district as well, with the long line of cars which made up the funeral cortege as the remains were borne to their last resting-place, being convincing tributes of affection and respect.

Among the many beautiful floral tributes, which covered the casket, were wreaths from L.O.L. No. 46 and the I.O.F., Bailieboro.

Rev. J. Wilks and Rev. D. R. Dewdney had charge of the funeral services, Brother J. H. Paul, Director of Ceremonies in the Durham County lodge, with W. M. Master, H. Roddy and Chaplain, F. Lowers, taking the Orange ritual. The pallbearers were brother members of the Orange Order and included: Brothers G. Fowler, D. Heaslip, J. H. Paul, H. Roddy, S. Fallis and M. Todd.

Interment was in the Presbyterian cemetery.

Among those from a distance who attended the funeral were four brothers of the deceased, Messrs. Henry and William McBride, of Roseneath; David, of Baltimore, and Hugh, on the homestead; the remaining brother, Mr. Stephen McBride, of Leamington, was unable to attend. With the exception of Mr. Henry McBride, who is unmarried, the wives of the other three accompanied their husbands. Others who came for the funeral were: Mrs. Delong, Toronto; Mrs. G. McBride, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Harry, and Mr. and Mrs. J. McBride of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. George Dawe, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Maycock, Mr. and Mrs. G. Skenkle, and son, of Warkworth; Mr. and Mrs. A. Campbell, of Dartford; Mr. and Mrs. W. Whyte, Mrs. Thos Richardson, of Burnley; Misses Blake, of Peterboro; Mr. and Mrs. Norman McBride, Mr. and Mrs. W. McBride of Port Hope; Mr. Stephen McBride, Peterborough; Mr. and Mrs. T. McBride, Mrs. Richard McBride, Coldsprings; Mr. and Mrs C. Hunter and Mrs. G. Hunter of Keene; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Jones, of Peterborough; Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Rosevear, of Port Hope; Mr. Ivan Gray, of Leamington; Miss Viola McBride, of Cavan; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Price, Bethany; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dawe, Mr. and Mrs. W. Morton, Bethany; Mr. and Mrs. G. Avery; Mr. and Mrs. R. McMahon, Mr. and Mrs. W. McMahon, of Coldsprings.

YOUR HEALTH

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M.D.,
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

"NO MAN LIVES UNTO HIMSELF ALONE."

Last summer the Royal Sanitary Congress met in Edinburgh for its annual session. The section devoted to personal and domestic hygiene was presided over by the Marchioness of Aberdeen and Temaire.

In her presidential address the Marchioness said:

"It is an amazing fact that at this period in the world's history, when there are societies and organizations innumerable, of every conceivable type, for the promotion of public and private health, both official and voluntary, both national and international, that we should still have to complain that the apathy on the part of the ordinary citizen is the greatest foe we have to encounter.

"The nation still persists that every person's health is his own affair, and that to devote time and thought to its preservation is rather a feeble and neurotic thing to do.

"It seems commonplace to say that we shall never have an 'A-1' nation until the rank and file of the people recognize the laws of health are binding on them individually, not so much for their own sake, as for the sake of the community in which they live."

This is good sense. It should appeal, even to the person who is indifferent to what becomes of him, but too unselfish to permit his own shortcomings to endanger others. Many a man will do for his family and friends what he would scorn to do for himself.

There can be no doubt that many feeble and undernourished individuals are a menace to the community. In case of an epidemic of any sort, the person of lowered resistance will catch and spread the disease.

On this account it is incumbent on the frail and sickly to do their level best to get well and strong. Society at large is much safer when that happens.

Only a few days ago I told you about vaccination and its significance to society. I repeat what I said then—that every unvaccinated person in a community is like tender and shavings laid against a frame building. A spark will start a fire which may destroy a city. An unvaccinated person offers soil for the growth in numbers and virulence of germs of a terrible disease which may spread to innumerable other persons.

It is indeed true that no man lives to himself alone. In health matters, certainly, every person is a part of the community and his illness may come to involve the entire community.

The Marchioness is right. We shall never be safe as a people and as a nation until the rank and file recognize that the laws of health are binding on them individually, for the sake of the general community. It is your duty and mine to be well, or, at least, to do our full part to keep and to be well.

GOOD NIGHT STORIES

By Blanche Silvar

DORIS MEETS A CARPENTER.

"Well, of all things!" Doris exclaimed when she spied the little busy Bee tugging at the rotten wood on an old dead log. "You surely are not silly enough to expect to find honey in that old log?"

"Who said anything about honey?" queered Mrs. Bee, brushing out her violet tinted dress with her front feet. "I'm sure not looking for any myself."

"Then what's the idea of chewing on that old dead log?" laughed Doris, coming up to the other end of the log and sitting down on it. "I've been watching you for a long time. What's made all this muss around here? What in the world are you doing, anyway, Mr. Bee?"

"Mrs. Carpenter Bee, if you please," buzzed the busy worker, taking time to brush her face with her feet. "And if you must know it, I have just finished the loveliest house you ever saw in all your life."

"I'd love to see it," cried Doris. "Is it hung around on the tree near here? You don't chew up wood for pulp like Mother Wasp does to build your beehive do you?"

"I'm sure I couldn't tell you how my cousin makes her hive," replied Mrs. Busy Bee. "But I have never built a bee-hive, as you call it in my life. I'm Mrs. Carpenter Bee and build my houses in old trees or logs. Now this log is lovely and rotten and makes a fine house. Want to peek inside?"

"Is This Your House?"

Needless to say Doris was tickled at the chance and walked down the little opening Mrs. Carpenter Bee used for her doorway. Down they went through a long hall, which Mrs. Carpenter Bee had hollowed out all by herself. At the end of the long hall, or tunnel, Doris was shown into a little room.

"Oh, isn't this cozy," exclaimed Doris. "Is this your house?"

"This is the top floor," replied Mrs. Carpenter Bee. "I wish you had come sooner and seen my other floors. Let's see' and she put her left front foot to her head in thought, "yes, this is the tenth floor."

"Tenth floor!" exclaimed Doris. "You surely don't mean ——"

"Yes, I do," laughed the proud little Bee, "and every floor has an egg stored away in it with a nice rich paste of pollen and honey, so when the baby Bee awakens she'll find plenty to eat. Yes, and I've taken the chewed chips and sawdust and with a paste I make, put a good floor or rather, a good ceiling over each room. This is my last room. I'll have it ready for the egg pretty soon; now then, I'll close it up and clean up the rubbish you saw me chewing out on the log. Now do you wonder, they call me, Carpenter Bee?"

"I should say not!" cried Doris, "and a wonderful little carpenter you are, too. May I come back and visit you when your children hatch out?"

"Indeed you may," buzzed Mrs. Carpenter Bee, leading Doris out into the sunshine once more where she became her original size. "Some day when you're playing around here I'll buzz right near your nose, then you'll know what I mean," and bidding Doris good-bye, Mrs. Carpenter Bee gathered up some of the chips and disappeared down her hallway.

Doris waited quite a while, then Mrs. Carpenter Bee failed to come out, she gathered up her rag doll and ran home.

Three-Minute Journeys

By Temple Manning

WHERE THE ENTRANCE TO PURGATORY WAS ESTABLISHED.

On a particular spot upon an island of a lake, Lough Derg, Irish lads and lassies tread softly and linger not at all. For there, the old folks say, is the entrance to Purgatory.

In old Ireland, where good St. Patrick is most beloved, there is a legend which superstitious folk repeat in hushed tones and with wise shakings of the head. It relates to the Purgatory of St. Patrick, the entrance to which is supposed to be a cave on the island of Lough Derg.

It is said that to St. Patrick was revealed the existence of this special door to the region of remorse. For those who had the courage to enter, this cave should be to him the same as Purgatory after death. The good saint is believed to have built a monastery about the entrance nd to have secured the way with a strong iron gate.

A poem written by Henry of Saltrey was really responsible for the widespread fame of the cave. Therein this writer of the twelfth century described the pilgrimage of one Sir Owayne Miles through the substitute Purgatory. In the story, the nobleman not only expiated his crimes but brought back an account of many marvelous sights in this mythical underground world.

Down through the ages bards and sages have described the wonders and the awesomeness of this nether world. A few courageous souls dared the terrifying experience, and those with psychic tendencies or vivid imaginations added their accounts to those of their predecessors. While some visitors with practical, commonplace minds declared that they found nothing supernatural about the cave.

A third class admitted that while they had seen nothing remarkable during their waking hours that they had been visited by wonderful dreams when they fell asleep underground.

Then along about the time that the friends of Columbus were predicting his destruction when he should sail off the edge of the world into an awful abyss below, the church became interested in this cave on Lough Derg.

A monk from cold, unimaginative Holland, reported to the Pope that he had visited the cave and that it differed in no wise from other caverns. Then the Pope ordered it destroyed, and the monastery was torn down and all outward evidences of the Door of Despair were removed. Nevertheless, well-informed Irish lads and lassies still tread softly on that spot and linger not at all.

MAN'S LOSS MAY BE BENEFICIAL

Paris Interne Lost Arm, But May Prove Cancer Communicable.

PRICKED HIS FINGER.

PARIS, Oct. 14. — (Canadian Press).—What may prove to be one of the most important discoveries of recent years in the battle which is being waged against cancer has been made in the case of Henri Vadon, a young Parisien hospital interne—but at the cost of an arm. Two years ago, Vadon, assisting in an operation to remove a cancerous tumor, accidentally pricked his finger with the point of a hypodermic needle that had been used on a cancer patient. Slowly a similar tumor grew upon Vadon's hand, and his arm had to be amputated to save his life. Surgeons declare there is no proof of communicability of cancer from one person to another. They assert that if it is definitely shown that the tumor on Vadon's arm was a true cancer, similar to that of the patient who was operated on, the discovery may prove revolutionary.

Tomorrow's HOROSCOPE

By Genevieve Kemble

THURSDAY OCTOBER 15.

A restless and unsettled day is forecast from the predominating lunar transits. The disintegrating force of Uranus in opposition to Luna may be felt in sudden upheavals or abrupt visitation of a hostile nature. It is urged that all change, removal or travel be deferred until more auspicious stellar rule. With care affairs may be kept together, despite annoyances and critical situations. Employment and new business are under fortunate sway.

Those whose birthday it is are under a rather critical ruling for the year, but business may be held together by overcoming the tendency to restlessness and impulsive change. Removals and travel are not encouraged. Conservation and precaution may defeat disruptive influences. A child born on this day may be inclined to be careless, restless and unsettled, not disposed to steadiness in any position. It should be kept in the employment of others.

PROVINCIAL SYNOD OF ONTARIO MEETS

Im migration From Great Britain Discussed By Anglican Clergy.

TORONTO, Oct. 14.—(Canadian Press).—Shouldering by the Church of England of its responsibilities in regard to the immigration question in Canada formed the main feature of the discussions carried on during the opening sessions of the Provincial Synod of the Province of Ontario held here yesterday. The subject was introduced by His Grace Most Rev. George Thorneloe, Archbishop of Algoma, in his charge to the Synod delivered at the afternoon session when he declared that the Church could not free herself from something which so closely affected the temporal and moral character of the country. At a joint session of the Upper and Lower Houses held in the evening a clause in the report of the Provincial Council appealing to the clergy to discover vacancies in their parishes which could be filled by immigrants from the Motherland and calling for Church propaganda in the interests of immigration in Ontario was approved after some discussion.

Now we are going to hear some of the magic which that funny fellow Jack Frost performs.

If you think plants and trees and berry bushes go to sleep in Autumn because they are afraid of winter, you are very much mistaken. Now listen.

This last summer, we gathered wonderful big blueberries. These blueberries grew on bushes away in the north, where the cold is intense. You would think such cold would kill the bushes, but really, to tell you the very truth, it was the kindness of Jack Frost which makes the bushes bloom and give us such lovely berries. If Jack Frost does not come to each bush and give it a friendly little nip or pinch, just as he nips our cheeks and makes them rosy and full of health, they act just the same as we act when we are kept in the house and shut up in artificial heat all winter.

If we are kept in a warm house, with never a nip of Jack Frost on our cheeks, we grow yellow and sickly, and, when the Spring time comes, we are not ourselves.

It is that way with the plants. Jack Frost makes the life tingle in each one, so that it is strong and well when the Spring comes.

One year, a kind-hearted man, who had a garden full of all sorts of berry bushes, said to himself, "Now, these dear friendly berry bushes have been so kind to me this summer that I must repay them and show them that I am grateful for their fruit. I will protect them from Jack Frost. He will never find them with his cold breath. I will bring them into my house and put them in a conservatory and they shall laugh and bloom all winter, safe from him, behind thick glass, where the sun will shine on them."

He did not ask the plants. Foolish man! What happened will appear tomorrow.

Dropped 500 Feet Almost Vertically, Landing Without Jar.

INVENTED IN SPAIN.

LONDON, Oct. 14 (Canadian Press) — Sensationally satisfactory results have been obtained from the first test by the Air Ministry of a new Spanish airplane—part orthodox plane, part helicopter and part ornothopter—correspondent is officially informed. The machine is the invention of Senor Juan De Lacierva, son of a former Spanish Minister of War.

It was taken out a Farnborough airdrome by Lieut. Courtney, one of the most famous test pilots in this country. At a height of 8,000 feet the motor was shut off and the ship came down in safety, descending the last 500 feet almost vertically and landing with hardly a jar.

A Dance Frock Fashioned from the New Figured Crepe.

The fad for chiffon dance frocks seems to be giving way to materials of greater weight and variety. Moon-glow jaquard crepe is one of the most popular of the newer mediums.

This model features a rich gold color which is especially becoming to brunettes. A saucy cape hangs from the shoulders. The ripple of the cape is repeated with circular flare of the skirt in front, thus assuring the necessary width for dancing.

DOLLS

DOLLS! One of china and one of flesh and blood! To outward appearance, each different, yet at heart, each the same,—cold, aloof, expressionless. But someday when Love comes along to the human doll, how she will change. No longer just a wonderfully pretty ornament! Gone will be the coldness, the aloofness, and her expression will be a constant reflection of the fires which Love have kindled within her heart.

For Love changes everything and everybody. It brings out all the finest and most wonderful traits we possess and endows us with a wisdom we never dreamed would be ours. So if you a doll, and Love knocks at the door of your heart, take him in and welcome him and forget the "doll" pose.

BESIDES CLOTHES.

(Written for the United Press)

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—(United Press).—A woman may be beautifully dressed but if she doesn't walk well she is merely an ungainly clothes rack. There are two things which any woman can learn to do to make herself attractive. Firstly she can learn to walk gracefully and secondly s ha elnccuHdoef';ahdCs secondly she can learn to modniate her speaking voice. An ugly walk and a tiresome voice will mar the most beautiful woman in the world.

Very few women have a graceful way of walking and still fewer have voices which do not grate upon the ear. Some slender little persons plant their feet down on the sidewalk as if they had a grudge against the ground they walk upon. They drag their feet instead of lifting them. Others bend foreward when they walk as if they were hastening to a fire. Some of those who effect mannish clothes believe that they have to throw in a mannish strut along with mannish clothing. However mannish one dresses one can't afford to act or walk like a man or all feminine charm is lost.

The person who walks correctly walks on the ball of the foot placing the ball of the foot down before the heel. Toes are not turned outwards as we were taught in school nor are they turned inwards but straight ahead. One should walk with head held erect and as though the walking were a pleasure. The easiest way to tell a woman's age is by her walk and when the legs begin to drag one might as well give one's real age. Any woman who practices walking gracefully can take several years off her appearance.

Have you ever noticed how many pretty women there are who are ruined by having whining or throaty speaking voices? A throaty voice is not quite as tiresome as one that reminds one of the wheeze of a peanut wagon. Shrill, boresome voiced women can't possibly be attractive. One wonders how men can live with them. Its very simple to train the voice down to a low pitch. The soft, low voice is like the fascinating flow of running water. It is soothing and one never tires of listening to it.

SHIP'S CREW STARTS RIOT IN BROOKLYN

Hindus From British Freighter Seek Freedom From Work.

NEW YORK, Oct, 14.—(Canadian Press).—Fifty Hindus and an Englishman, the crew which the Barber Steamship Line's freighter Corby picked up in London for its trip here, decided to cut loose yesterday from confinement on the vessel and see the United States. Within a few minutes after the decision was reached there was a full fledged riot in Brooklyn, where the Corby Castle was docked. Three watchmen were overpowered, but police reserves dashed in and their clubs vied in long sweeps with knives flashed by the Hindus, while from both sides came the rattle of pistol shots as for ten minutes the fight was kept up. When it ended, two men were sent to King's County Hospital with bullet wounds, four Hindus and one Englishman were in the police cells, and the rest of the crew was locked up on the boat. All probably will be turned over to the Federal officials, deported and tried in England for mutiny. One of the Hindus is believed to be wanted in England for murder.

SOME DELICIOUS WAYS OF PRESERVING APPLES.

Late apples may be used up in many ways so that they do not go to waste. Just before frost the best of the apples that are wind falls may be gathered and the housewife can make her apple jelly in cool October days. She can also make her apple butter and other dainties. Wash the apples before using, and where possible cook the skins as they are rich in the jelly-making quality.

Apple Jelly.

Pare, quarter and core enough apples to half fill the preserve kettle. Cover the apples with cold water and place two thick slices of lemon in it. Bring slowly to boiling point and when the apples are tender, but not soft, strain them out. Strain and measure the juice and put it back into the preserve kettle with a half pint of sugar to each pint of juice. Meantime put the apple parings into a sauce pan, cover them with water and cook gently until the peels are soft, strain first through a fine strainer, then through damp cheesecloth. Measure this liquid and add it to the other with sugar in the same proportion. Bring to boiling point, skim carefully and cook until a little tried on a cold plate shows a jelling tendency. Pour into hot dry jelly glasses and let stand until cold, then if the jelly is firm, cover down.

Apple Jam.

Take the apples that were cooked in the water for the jelly, measure them and to each quart of apple pulp add a pint of sugar, then add a quart of clear water. Cook gently, skim and stir almost constantly as the mass gets heavy. When a little shows the jelly-like tendency turn into hot dry jam pots and set to cool.

Spiced Apples.

Wash, pare, quarter and core enough apples to half fill the preserve kettle. Cover the apples with cold water and cook until the apples are done but not soft. Skim out the apples and set aside. Measure the liquid and allow a pint of sugar to each quart of juice. Put in a spice bag, a piece of green ginger root, a broken stick of cinnamon and a dessertspoonful of loose cloves. Add sliced lemon. Cook gently for seven minutes, skim carefully, then add the apples. Cook until the apples look greasy at the edges, then can and seal as usual.

A Fashion Model's Diary

By Grace Thorncliffe

SHE CHATS ABOUT A SAUCY TOP COAT FOR THE FIRST FROSTY DAYS.

I don't know just why, but all the outdoor wraps for this season are saucy of line. They are sleek and quite prim in the back and perk up in the front in the most amazing ways. One coat I have in mind begins at the underarm seam to flare slightly, has two pockets which, when I tried to put an experimental hand inside, proved to be sheer camouflage, and made apparently only to conceal the fact that a seam had been taken in so that the whole line was drawn in ever so little at the waistline. Designers seem possessed with the ideas of cutting into the material just so they can sew it up again!

One day when one of the big designers was showing Madame some special Fall tailleurs I ventured to put a question, "Do you think fur or cloth will have the greatest vogue for Winter?"

"My dear young lady," he declared, "as long as there are any fur-bearing animals left, some women will always wear fur, but it is possible to be dressed in cloth and be equally as smart—in many cases even smarter. And as for Fall, to be really smart one must have a cloth coat."

"I'm so glad," I said, "for I always feel that one looks more graceful in material that conforms to the lines of the figure."

"Be sure that you see that it does, then, young lady," he smiled at me over the tops of his funny little spectacles.

"Now this," I continued, dragging forth the model I have just described to you, "don't you think this could be made up in a variety of materials and be equally successful?"

"Oh, yes. But I do think that that particular shade and quality of wool cotele is as new a combination as you could possibly find. One may use, of course, serge de soise or a wool rep quite successfully. If you care to come with me some day I can show you some houses that carry nothing but wool coats. They are so becoming to youthful figures of all ages that it is a great demand."

SECRETS OF CHARM

By Lucrezia Bori

CONSIDER THE BEAUTY CONTOUR OF YOUR FACE NECK AND CHIN.

There is nothing more beautiful than the contour of a lovely face. This has always been so, but it seems to me that the contour of women's faces has never been so much in evidence as at the present time.

I have the revealing characteristics of bobbed coiffures in mind when I make this statement. The bobbed coiffure which calls for the close shingle at the back of the head and a sloping line from above the ears, somehow reveals every curve of a woman's face and neck.

The fact that these lines are revealed so plainly brings the chin and the line beneath the neck into plain view. It accents them, as it were. For this reason, I want to say a few words regarding the beauty contour of these parts.

Do you know that a woman's neck is one of the surest indications of her age? The young woman's neck is firm and clearly outlined. The older woman's neck is very likely to show creases, especially from the lobes of her ears down toward her collar-bone. The part directly beneath the chin, which should be firm and clearly outlined, is also likely to be sagging.

Now, for the correction of the latter fault, I have often recommended the old practice of blowing a feather. Blow an imaginary feather about in the air. This exercise will help strengthen the muscles beneath your neck.

For the eradication of fine lines at the side of the neck, I want to recommend the following treatment. All you will have to provide yourself with is a good nourishing skin food.

Now, before you go to bed at night, spend a few minutes massaging your neck. Begin by holding your head back, so that your chin is up in the air. Then take the forefinger of each hand and rub upward from the sides of your neck to the lobes of your ears.

Next, put a small amount of the skin food or cocoa butter on your fingertips and smooth it into your skin, applying it all about the parts where you have been massaging.

INJURY TO BOOTH LESSENS CHANCE

NO BONES BROKEN.

MONTREAL, Oct. 14—(Canadian Press).—Bad luck is still dogging the footsteps of the Montreal Football Club. Clarry Booth, husky half back, will not play in Hamilton this coming Saturday, according to present plans. Booth received injuries in the last game against Hamilton here when his right eye and the region of his head around the optic was badly battered.

An X-ray taken of the injured part was unsuccessful owing to the fact that blood clotted around the injury, clouded a view of the bone. It was stated, however, by a specialist that no bone was broken.

Booth's luck has been the team's luck as loss of players through injuries and Mundell's departure for Queen's has not tended to aid any in Montreal's fight in the "Big Four."

With the exception of Booth, practically all the regulars were out last night and indulged in conditioning exercises, tackling and signal practice. Weir Wright, who had announced his retirement, was back in harness and took his turn in leading the team at quarter during the signal work.

Heavy workouts are scheduled for to-night and Thursday, in preparation for the struggle at Hamilton on Saturday. Andy Starke, an absentee from the Hamilton game, owing to injuries sustained in Ottawa, is back in harness, and will be ready for Saturday's contest, as will Pete Mill, out since the Queen's game, with a broken thumb.

Two Canadian Teams Seek Entry In U.S.A.H.A.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Oct. 13.—(Canadian Press).—Two Canadian teams, possibly more, may be included in the Western group of the United States Amateur Hockey Association this winter, it was indicated at a meeting here last night. Winnipeg and the Canadian Soo were represented at the preliminary gathering of the group and sought admission to the league. The meeting, which was intended to discuss tentative plans for the coming season, was also attended by representatives from four Minnesota clubs of the league, namely, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Duluth and Eveleth.

The make-up of the club will depend to large extent on what action is taken by Pittsburgh and Cleveland, although those who attended the meeting felt certain that a high-class loop could be organized without the two Eastern clubs, with four Minnesota teams as the nucleus.

WORLD SERIES NOTES

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 14.—(Canadian Press).—Lacking only $1,320 of a million dollar total the receipts for the 1925 world's series not only will make it the third event of its kind to attain the seven figure mark, but also will break all records, with another day's "gate" to be collected.

Last year the Senator-Giants attracted $1,093,104 to baseball's coffers and that of 1923, the all-New York engagement between the Giants and Yankees, drew $1,063,815.

The attendance, however, will fall far below the mark set in 1923, when 301,430 saw the games. Six contests this year have entertained 239,974, and no more than 45,000 can be accomodated at Forbes Field today.

KING GEORGE BOYS DEFEATED CENTRAL

Ellis' Free Kick Gave East City Team a Soccer Victory.

In the Public School Soccer League, Section A, the King George eleven, meet last year's schools champions—Central School—in the return fixture, which was won by the East City boys in a hard fought game at the Nicholls Oval last evening.

First Half.

King George captain won the toss, Coleman setting the ball arolling to visit Mowers citadel but the defence punted forward to Calladine, who beat along the wing with the ball to gain a throw-in. Ashling gained possession in a tussle to make the King George defence have some anxiety, but their centre half stopstopped his progress. Eventually both elevens made raids upon goal that never materialized to anything costly, until a desperate raid led by Willshaw and Pammet through timely passing the ball made the opposing full back get anxious to clear his goal when he handled outside the penalty area. All the boys lunched into goal but to Graham's surprise, Ellis shot landed the free kick in below the cross bar for the only counter of the game. Central boys retaliated with great eagerness just before half time.

Second Half.

On resuming each goal went under bombardment from the forwards. It was very noticeable that the East City half back line played their position and stood there to stop the attacking forwards, who were checked very closely, then they were backed up with a fairly good defence. Time and again the Central boys would penetrate close upon the goal but failed to register the equalizer but credit must be given "Scotty" Miller who dribbled past three men rapidly and steadying himself let drive for goal but the ball rolled over the bar. Give and take tactics prevailed until the end although Central were within an ace of scoring on several occasions. Full time, King George 1; Central 0.

The Teams.

King George: Mowry goal; Darrah and Ellis full backs; Joyce, Hunter and Peters half-backs; Calladine, Willshaw, Watman, Pammet and Earle, forwards.

Central: Graham goal; Delahay and E. Mahood full backs; Butcher, Levine and B. Mahood half backs; Whitman, Miller, Coleman, Gardner and Ashling forwards.

EDDIE MOORE HERO OF VICTORY PIRATES NOW UP ON EVEN TERMS

Pitching of Kremer Was at Times Invincible and the Defence Was Shock Proof in Every Crisis — Home Fans Were Delighted.

SECOND STRAIGHT TRIUMPH.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 14. —(Canadian Press). — Pittsburgh's hopes for a world's baseball championship, which had all but faded out of the picture for 1925, came back yesterday into full flight on the wings of a lusty home-run drive by Eddie Moore.

Until yesterday the young Pirate second-sacker had been only a cog in the machine, inconspicuous for the most part, but tonight he is the hero of a victory that pulled the Pirates up on even terms with the Senators, each with three triumphs apiece, and extended the series to its seventh game limit tomorrow.

Buttressed by the brilliant, at times invincible pitching of Ray Kremer and a defense that was shock-proof in every crisis, Moore's single stroke in the fifth inning provided the winning margin of a 3 to 2 triumph that marked another advance in the sensational comeback of the National League champions and stirred a home-town throng of 44,000 fans into delirious enthusiasm. It was the second straight victory for the Pirates, now on the high-tide, dashing and confident that they will go on to reach the goal that last was gained by the club in 1909. It was also the second time Washington had seen that one badly needed triumph escape from their grasp—escaping them after it seemed Walter Johnson's shutout game of Sunday had adjusted the laurel wreaths for their brows.

It was only by something around the margin of a foot yesterday, however, that the Senators lost their chance for a decisive victory, for only that slim distance prevented Joe Harris from getting a home run and tying the score in the ninth inning on one of the most terrific hits of the series—a towering drive that sailed far over Max Carey's head in centre field, landing on the fly close to the top of the far bleacher barrier. It was held to only a double and Harris was stranded at the middle bag, but in any other sector of Forbes Field it would have been a circuit clout by a comfortable margin.

This was among the fortunes or misfortunes of war, however—Clyde Barnhart of the Pirates himself missing a homer by almost as close a margin after Moore's big blow in the fifth — and the Senators are shaping their plans around the tall figure of the big Kansas farmer, Walter Johnson, for the final stand in defense of their championship.

Johnson, hero of two victories so far, will go back to the box today with only two days of rest and still a bit handicapped by a "charley-horse" in his right leg. Washington hopes, as they were in the final analysis last year and as they have been all through this year's struggle, will be pinned on Old Barney, the lion-hearted and iron-armed veteran of 19 years of campaigning, as he seeks laurels that not only would give the title to Washington once more, but put Johnson himself in a niche occupied heretofore only by Christy Mathewson, Jack Coombs and Babe Adams now in the Pittsburgh background and Stanley Coveleskie, whose failure to come through again for the Senators has been a bitter blow to the Washington clan.

With Johnson to rely upon and a southpaw ace still in the hole—Dutch Ruether—Washington has a powerful hand for the final showdown, whereas the Pirates, in the flush of victory, must tufn to solve a precarious pitching situation.

Lee Meadows, be-spectacled veteran, whose shoulder, gone bad since the first game, underwent a slight operation on Monday night, and is out of the series altogether, so that Manager McKechnie must choose to-day between the curves of "Jug-handle" Johnny Morrison, thus far acting only in a relief role, and Rube Oldham, a portsider untested in World's Series fire.

Yesterday, however, there were no pitching worries for McKechnie, after Kremer, product of the Pacific Coast League, had gotten the first few kinks out of his arm. The cool young right-hander was found for a home run by Goslin in the first inning—the Goose's third circuit blow of this series and his sixth in the two years—while Peckinpaugh's double on the hit and run play scored Bluege in the second, but after that the Senators did no damage.

TO RETAIN TITLE M'GILL'S DIFFICULTY

University of Toronto to Send Strongest Team in Many Years.

MONTREAL, Que., Oct. 14.—(Canadian Press).— McGill's track and field team will defend laurels won last season in Toronto, when the annual track and field meets of the Intercollegiate Union will be held here at the Stadium on Friday. The present champions will be hard pressed to retain the title as they will meet strong opposition from the other universities entered, especially University of Toronto who are reputed to have the strongest team that has worn the blue and white in years.

Varsitys main strength lies in the sprint events while they have no apparent weaknesses in the longer distances and field events. Queen's will send a representative squad for the meet. Western, however, cannot compete for the aggregate, but members of the team can compete for the individual honors.

M'GILL TRY OUT DEFENSIVE PLAY AGAINST QUEEN'S

First of Three Strenuous Workouts Scheduled for This Week.

INAUSPICIOUS START

Substitute Squad Penetrate Through Regulars for an Early Score.

MONTREAL, Oct. 14—(Canadian Press). — McGill Intercollegiate Rugby players were yesterday put through an intensive scrimmage by Coach Shaughnessy and Assistant Coach "Pep" Paisley, an hour and one-half being devoted largely to testing the team's defensive against plays modelled on the lines of the Queen's attack.

The drill was the first of three strenuous encounters the coaches have set for the Red and White this week in preparation for their opening game of the Union series against the champion Queen's squad here on Saturday. It did not start under promising auspices, as the substitute squad, using an open style of attack, similar to that favored by Coach Bill Hughes, of Queen's, romped merrily through the first string for an early score—a drop-kick by Dr. "Bones" Little. 1924 McGill captain, who worked with the subs. The seconds also had the services of a former star McGill line plunger. Gordon 'Silk' Murphy, who played middle wing for the Red and White in 1920 and 1921, donned a uniform and showed the present crop of front rankers a few tricks.

Interest in the game is growing around the campus as the club supporters see a fighting chance for McGill to down Queen's combination.

MOVE TO REFER

also favored commissions of equal numbers of majority and minority representatives in each country where there was friction to suggest just solutions, but in cases referred to the League of Nations, the disputes should be left to the International Court of Justice.

In the concluding moments of the session, Senator Belcourt, who was, as chairman of the Canadian group, president of the assembly, called upon Senator Dandurand, President of the League of Nations, to address the conference. Senator Dandurand recalled that in 1908 he had suggested to Sir Wilfrid Laurier that an invitation be extended to the Inter-Parliamentary Union to meet in Canada. This had been seconded by Sir Robert Borden, who had been present at the sessions during the day. The proposal was unanimously adopted. The present Cabinet had joined with the United States in inviting the Union to America this year. "All Canada is thankful that you came and sat among us," said Senator Dandurand.

Late in the afternoon the question of minorities was disposed of, and on the agenda of the conference there remained only the question of narcotic drugs to be discussed. Sir Robert Horne moved that the matter stand over until the next conference. Dr. Brabec of Czecho-Slovakia was opposed to the suggestion, but on a standing vote the motion to adjourn was carried by 48 to 36.

HARRIS TO CALL ON W. JOHNSON FOR LAST STAND

Big Pitcher's Arm is Right and Leg Free From Serious Injury.

PITTSBURGH'S JOY.

McKechnie Says Senators Are on the Run, "Bring on Anybody."

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 14.—(Canadian Press). — "They have to beat Johnson!"

The words came from baseball's youngest manager, Stanley Harris, of Washington, in the club-house after Pittsburgh had tied the world's series yesterday.

His smile, the victory smile, was still there. Around him teammates were gloomy, bemoaning their ill-luck, but Bucky's glance carried across the dressing quarters to a locker where stood a tall, silent man, deliberately donning his street clothes. "Yes, they'll have to beat Johnson, and then we'll admit they are the better club."

"His arm is right, his right leg is safe from serious injury. He's only had two days' rest, but I'm telling you now that the Pirates will know they have been in a fight. They'll have to beat him if they want to win."

Meanwhile joy reigned in the Pirate cabin, and the waters swirled —real water splashed about by a band of marauders who knew no bounds in the heat of victory. Backs were smacked until they reddened, arms were nearly torn from shoulders in mighty handshakes. They pushed each other under the cold waters of the showers, they wrestled, they sparred and Bill McKechnie, the manager, who had borne a worried look for several days, became one of them and bantered.

Begrimed Stuffy McInnis, whose insertion into the Pirate line-up in the last Washington game changed the entire aspect of the series, lost about ten years in the celebration.

Above the din came the voice of McKechnie, shouting to the world that the Senators were on the run. "We've got them," he managed to sandwich between bursts of laughter. "Bring on anybody. We're hitting now and they can't stop us.

"Why, yes, if it matters, I might say that I will pitch either Red Oldham or Johnny Morrison Wednesday."

A.Y.P.A. SUNDAY AT LAKEFIELD

Special Services Were Held For Members of Society.

LAKEFIELD NEWS.

LAKEFIELD, Oct. 14.—Sunday was the special A.Y.P.A. Sunday in St. John's Church. The day's services began with corporate communion at 8 o'clock.

Rev. A. W. Mackenzie was the preacher at the morning service, taking his text from the Epistle of St. Paul to the Hebrews, chapter 11, verse 1, "Faith is the substance of things hoped for the evidence of things not seen." The love of God is the rock to which all can cling, forgetting the annoyances of slights of friends and holding fast to the belief in God's power and love. The speaker paid a tribute to the work of the A.Y.P.A., Rotarians and other societies which have for their object unselfish service and love for their fellow-beings. People are often inclined to put the love of their church above the love of Christ as did many people in mediaeval times.

At the evening service Rev. W. Cox spoke, taking "Expansion" for his theme and urging the young people against parochialism, and urged a greater acceptance of the responsibilities which are theirs. More workers are needed, and it is the church's duty as well as privilege to find work for each person to do. A live church with everyone working means a greater and wider field as the Lord wished.

Owing to the inclement weather, the attendance of visitors was not as large as last year. A pleasant social hour was spent in the schoolroom afterward, Rev. W. Cox speaking a few words of welcome to the visitors, to which Mr. Cecil Hope of Peterboro replied.

A Hard Frost.

A very hard frost on Friday night last had disastrous results on gardens and flowers, and icicles fully an inch and a half thick were to be seen all day Saturday. The leaves on the trees were curled up and the stiff "nor'wester" made one think of winter as he shivered in his autumn garments. Such heavy frost so early in the season is remarkable, and also the snow flurry which accompanied the cold snap. Local authorities regard the hard frost as being unheard of so early in the season. Milder weather prevailed on Sunday and Monday.

Social Events.

The surprise party arranged by Mrs. G. G. Connell for her husband on Friday evening in honor of the eighth anniversary of their marriage was one of the jolliest of the season. Guests were present to the number of twenty-four, and the evening was spent in progressive euchre and music. Euchre prizes were won by Mrs. W. Sherin and Dr. Moore, while Mrs. C. S. Tanner and Mr. W. H. Casement won the consolation prizes. The party broke up in the wee small hours, Mr. and Mrs. Connell being showered with good wishes for many more anniversaries.

China Wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. John Sanderson celebrated their twentieth wedding anniversary on Friday evening, and in honor of the event they entertained a number of friends, including guests from Peterboro and Burleigh, at a delightful euchre at their home on Strickland street. The prizes were won by Miss Daisy Bolton and Mr. W. G. Stone, both of Burleigh, while Mrs. Melville Stone of Burleigh and Mr. George Foster of Peterboro won the consolation prizes. Refreshments were served, a beautifully iced wedding cake being one of the features. Mr. and Mrs. Sanderson received several handsome presents, nearly all of china, as appropriate to the occasion, and also the good wishes of their many friends, who one and all wished them many more happy anniversaries.

Davidson-Gerecht.

A wedding which possesses considerable local interest took place on August 26 in the chapel of St. John's University, Shanghai, China, when Rev. John Francis Davidson, son of Archdeacon Davidson of Toronto, was united in marriage to Alexandra Gerecht, daughter of Dr. Gerecht of Riga, Latvia. Very Rev. Dean Symons performed the ceremony, assisted by Rev. Dr. Pott.

Rev. J. F. Davidson was well known in the village, where he was for years a pupil at "The Grove." He is a lecturer in St. John's University at Shanghai.

The softball game scheduled for this week is:

The standing of the league at present is:

World's Series by Radio.

Mr. A. M. Fitzgerald has been getting the scores of the World's Series baseball by radio and has a bulletin service by which the score, innings by innings, is given. There is a keen interest shown in these games, and Mr. Fitzgerald's bulletins are eagerly watched.

Missionary Society.

Mrs. Ewart of Cobourg addressed the members of the Presbyterian Missionary Society held at the home of Miss Tanner on Friday afternoon. The society has twenty-one paid-up members, and has sent a cash donation of $10.00 to missions and a bale valued at $19.50 to the Mission Hospital at New Liskeard. This is a very creditable record for a society only organized during the summer.

News Briefs.

Mr. Richard Lees of Peterboro was in charge of the Presbyterian service held in the Baptist Church on Sunday afternoon.

Special services will be held next Sunday in the United Presbyterian Church, with Rev. J. H. Edmison, D.D., of Toronto, the special speaker, and on Tuesday night, October 20, a fowl supper will be served by the ladies of the church, with a concert to follow.

The W. A. of St. John's Church began the year's activities on Tuesday of last week, prefacing the meeting with a celebration of Holy Communion, at which Rev. J. Douglas Patterson of All Saints', Peterboro, was the celebrant. A good number of members was present.

JEWELS RECOVERED WITH SOME MYSTERY

Private Detectives Brought in Mrs. Donahue's Treasures.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—(Canadian Press).—The $731,000 worth of jewels stolen from the apartment of Mrs. Jessie Woolworth Donahue on September 30 were turned over to the police last night by private detectives employed by the company which insured the jewels. James P. Donahue's Mrs. Donahue's husband, and an official of the insurance company went to headquarters with the detectives carrying the jewels and were questioned by Assistant District Attorney Pecora.

At the close of the conference in police headquarters, which lasted more than three hours, Mr. Pecora announced: "There is basis for the belief that an arrest will be made." He refused, however, to reveal any details of the manner in which the jewels had come into the hands of the private detectives, nor would he say whether any reward had been paid. A reward in excess of $75,000 had been offered for the return of the jewels.

SANDOW IS DEAD.

Former World's Strongest Man Succumbs to Results of Injury.

LONDON, Oct. 14.—(Canadian Press.) — Eugene Sandow, once hailed as the "world's strongest man," died suddenly to-day in London, where he had recently built up a practice as a health specialist. It is believed that death was due to the effects of a motor accident in which he was injured some years ago.

Like Sigmond Breitbart, whom he preceded as the "world's strongest man," and who died in Berlin only this week, Sandow was of German nationality. He was born in 1867 and is said to have been frail in his youth.

Canadian Press. — The formalities which attended the securing of 4.4 per cent. beer permits during the past summer will not be required when the renewal of such permits becomes necessary at the close of the present month. Announcement to this effect was made yesterday by Hon W. F. Nickle, K.C., who stated that all present holders of permits will be assumed eligible for renewals, except in specific cases in which misconduct has been noted.

LIBERAL WOMEN HAD GOOD RALLY

Addresses and Community Singing Provided Enjoyable Evening.

MR. GORDON SPOKE.

The regular weekly meeting of the Women's Liberal Association was held last evening in the Women's committee rooms, when short, interesting addresses were given by Hon. Mr. Gordon, Messrs. Joseph Wearing and Joseph Begley. Mr. Wearing was in the chair, and led the community singing which enlivened the evening with his characteristic vim and vigor, injecting much of his own enthusiasm into the choruses.

Mr. Wearing, the first speaker, referred to the mistake made in the government of the country when the Conservatives went in, in 1911, and refused to listen to the proposition put forth by the United States, in its endeavor to arrive at a trade agreement with Canada. "That was the proposition of a generous nation, with far less to gain than we had; putting forth the hand of friendship to us, and the Liberals saw what a wonderful thing it would have been for the country. But the people did not use their heads. There was a great deal of flag-waving done at that time by our political opponents, who talked about the United States wanting to gobble us up. This habit of flying to the defence of the grand old flag in such instances reminds me of the staunch stand taken for the grand old Bible by those who are trying to get up a scare about it when the Bible itself is in no danger whatever. The people were stirred up by the old Shibboleth. At the present time, Mr. Meighen says he will add on 50 per cent more protection if returned to power, and tells the working man that a high tariff means a job. What will really happen if he puts on this extra tariff is that everything you will buy will be affected, as well as your table, your children and the things in your houses. Only the large holders of watered stocks will benefit by it."

Later in the evening, Mr. Wearing rose to pay an eloquent tribute to the professional and personal character of Mr. Gordon, as gleaned from his acquaintanceship of eleven years with him. He said his professional practice was entirely free from any sore of sharp dealing and that he had a habit of endeavoring to settle his clients' business over the desk rather than through litigation.

Hon. Mr. Gordon.

Hon. Mr. Gordon gave some figure relative to migration from Canada to the United States under the Conservative regime, showing that the policies of Mr. Meighen and his party had no deterrent effect whatever on the exodus of people from the Dominion to the States, which he explained as being quite a natural proceeding in any country living adjacent to a more rich and powerful nation. In 1913, 128,000 residents of the Dominion of Canada migrated to the United States; in 1914, 130,000; in 1915, 128,000; in 1916, 133,000; in 1917, 149,000; in 1918, when the Military Act was in force, 52,000; in 1919, 74,000; in 1920, 191,000, and in 1921 83,000.

The vast total of the national debt, added to the burden of the Dominion by reason of the war, created a condition of stagnation which was duplicated in other countries, notably the British Isles. The United States, only going into the conflict at a late hour, had piled up much of the wealth of the world in her treasuries in the meantime, and was waxing prosperous now while other nations were staggering under the burden of war taxation. "When Mr. Meighen says that he was protecting industry, why did our people go to the United States in these numbers?"

Mr. Gordon spoke of the reduction of the national debt under Liberal leadership and went on to refer once more to the proposed bringing of coal 2,000 miles to the people of the Eastern section, advanced by Mr. Meighen, who promises to increase the tariff on American coal products, and which will add from $2 to $4, Mr. Gordon declared, to the cost of a ton of coal.

Alluding to the need of Canada for the right type of migrants from the Old Country, whose congested areas can be lessened by the co-operation of her colonies in this regard, Mr. Gordon said that the Great West needed, and could absorb, forty millions of people.

He said that, in event of re-election and of the sustaining of the Liberal Party in power, he had been assured by the Prime Minister of a portfolio which would equal, if not exceed, in importance, the one now held by him.

Mr. J. Begley.

Mr. Joseph Begley's address was brief and to the point and was punctuated by humorous anecdotes that amused his hearers immensely. He alluded to the pratiotic action of Quebec in the troublous times of 1812, when that province stood fast for Imperialistic connections and to the need for allegiance to Liberal views now, when men such as Patenaude and Lavergne, working for the Opposition, were noted anti-Imperialists.

Mr Begley gave a short sketch of the Prime Minister's career, touching on the necessities of family life which made him the sole assistant in war time of a blind father, an aged mother and a tubercular brother, whose death left Mackenzie King the guardian of his children. Mr. Begley also alluded to the invaluable assistance given in war time by Mr. King in settling industrial disputes.

The meeting, which was concluded by a few words from Miss L. Jobbitt, was enlivened by a musical programme, including the snappy singing, led by Mr. Wearing, with Mr. R. J. Devey at the piano, and vocal solos given by Mrs Ryerson Ritchie and Miss Minnie Allen, accompanied by Mr. Devey and Mrs. R. Bugg.

RAILWAY CLERKS UNION SUSPENDED

Ordered By A.F.L. To Give Up Jurisdiction Over Railway Teamsters.

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., Oct. 14.—(Canadian Press).—The Brotherhood of Railway Clerks, with a total membership of 91,200, yesterday was suspended from the American Federation of Labor, unless within ninety days, it transfers to the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, all drivers, chauffeurs, stablemen, and garage employees, heretofore under the jurisdiction of the clerks. The vote to suspend was on a roll call, 23,845 to 3,895. In a signed statement given to the press after the convention had adjourned five of the six delegates of the railway clerks declared they would decline to give up jurisdiction. Further, the statement asserted that in the opinion of the signers, the Executive Council of the clerks would give up its charter in the A. F. of L. permanently rather than surrender jurisdiction.

CHINA SEES FAILURE AMERICAN SUPPORT

Orientals Feel United States Must Exceed Obligations.

By RANDALL GOULD

(United Press tSaff Correspondent)

PEKING, Oct. 14 (United Press) —"Will America disappoint China?"

This question, in one form or another, is being constantly asked on every side in China. It has been emphasized by the wide disturbances due, so that Chinese allege—to the growth of the nationalistic spirit and attempts at its suppression by 'imperialistic" foreigners.

One can discuss the minutcae of this, that or the other disturbance in China with any foreign resident and come away convinced, perhaps, that the Chinese were to blame for whatever happened to them. But with the Chinese there is small concern for other than the larger issue —that of China's present bondage and possible future freedom.

Inevitably America comes into the picture. America has in the past played the role of China's friend. America seems to feel that she is playing that role once more, through her pressure for a carrying out of provisions of the Washington Conference agreements.

But—the Chinese doubt.

They declare that to carry out provisions of the Washington Conference now is almost worse than nothing. They believe that if America is to prove China's friends, she must go much farther than is now contemplated.

Tariff autonomy for China, not a mere increase in rates, is one of the abolition of extraterritorial status of all foreigners in China, not an investigation of the subject, is another.

If these things do not come, and come quickly, the whole fabric of China's outworn "unequal treaties," may suddenly be rent to tatters, predict the more extreme among the Chinese. And they are now jcined by many prominent men who ordinarily rank as among the conservative class.

Washington's attitude has not been satisfactory to these elements. Ever since the time of the first outbreak in Shanghai May 30th, a definite pronouncement from President Coolidge or Secretary Kellogg has been awaited. Many reports have come, but not the comprehensive declaration of policy which has been hoped for.

Even yet the Chinese have not fully made up their minds. Washington has not given the longed-for encouragement, beyond what they consider too conservative limits, but neither has Washington openly announced herself in the British camp.

But every day tends to break the feeling of Chinese trust in American ideals. The only American whose stock is high in China today is Senator Borah, whose declaration in favor of abolishing extraterritoriality as soon as possible flashed throughout the country and is held up as a beacon of hope.

THEATRES

AT THE GRAND.

THE DUMBELLS IN "LUCKY 7".

The Dumbells in their new revue, "Lucky 7", will be the attraction at the Grand Opera House for two nights and matinee, October 16 and 17.

For seven years the ever-welcome Dumbells have entertained the public of Canada with their stellar offerings.

This famous organization which had its inception in the great war as a part and parcel of the Canadian Army soon developed into the finest aggregation of their kind in the world. From beginners of ability they have become professional entertainers who are beyond compare in their own particular lines.

Old Favorites.

All the old favorites are again with the company, which is still headed by Al. Plunkett, Ross Hamilton, "Red" Newman, Stan. Bennett, Pat. Rafferty, Ben Allen, Morley Plunkett, Glen Allan and "Jock" Holland.

The Orchestra.

Captain Plunkett's Orchestra, which is considered by many to be the biggest outstanding feature of this season's show, has been materially strengthened this season by the addition of two new saxophone players and a violinist leader, who is no less than the well-known Howard Fogg, formerly with the Victor record orchestra.

The Song Hits.

Among the most emphatic song hits may be mention Al. Plunkett's "Whiter Than Snow" and "As Long As She Loves Me", Ross Hamilton's, "I'm Wonderful" and "Darling I Love You", "Red" Newman's "Col. Thingmabob", Stan. Bennett's "Reckless Reggie" and "Stop, Look and Listen", Pat. Rafferty's "I'm Not All There", Morley Plunkett's "High Street Africa" Captain Plunkett's "Yawning" and the scrub ladies quartette, "Us Girls Must Have Our Fun."

The Stage Settings.

The stage settings are new and beautiful beyond compare. Each song and sketch being provided with its individual setting.

AT THE ROYAL.

EXCELLENT CAST IN NEW PICTURE. "Beautiful Sinner" Coming to the Royal.

Another of the Perfection pictures will come to the Royal.

Eva Novak and William Fairbanks are starred as in the others of the series. This story is one of a young criminologist and his activities in the capture of a band of international jewel thieves. A very interesting story full of action and thrills. At no time however is the action of the story impeded by stunts or a stunt actor. The picture is warranted to appeal to all kinds of people at all times. There is a very excellent cast which includes George Nichols, Kate Lester, Carmen Phillips, Edward Borman, Carl Stockdale. The picture is directed by W. S. Van Dyke. Reports reaching here from other cities state that all who saw the picture liked it very well and can recommend it to others as being well worth seeing.

ANOTHER LARGE AUDIENCE GREETS "THE UNWANTED."

"The Unwanted," the big British film production, seems to be making a hit with local patrons, judging by the large crowds who have already seen it.

The feature is decidedly different from anything seen locally in some time. The direction at times is inspired and reminds one of D. W. Griffiths.

The metropolists of Europe form colorful setting for "The Unwanted." Venice on the Adriatic, St. Moritz and the snow-capped Alps, Vienna, London and the scarred and pitted vistas of No Man's Land are by turns the locale for the dramatic story which is unfolded with a sureness of artistry and the deftness of touch.

The pivot of the story is the enforced isolation of an English Peer and a Canadian girl in a snowbound cabin in the Alps Harried by domestic difficulties and the shrewish temper of his Patrician wife, Lord Carrington seeks solace in the famous Swiss summer resort. Here he makes the acquaintance of Marian Dearsley and events so shape themselves as to put to a test the inflexible puritanic spirit of the nobleman who had been made the protesting and revolted butt of his own wife's intrigues and amours.

Even in moments of weakness John Carrington is actuated by dogged sincerity and steadfastness of purpose. The strain that circumstance then throws on his shoulders causes him to writhe in the bonds that tradition and caste had forced upon him but with his characteristic strength he struggles to break through the malignant web.

The grandeur of the Alps vies with the splendour of the City of a Thousand Isles for picturesque back ground. The beating of the war drums and the revelry of European Capitals furnish a heady and soul-stirring wine alike for the blase and the plethoric theatre-goer. But above all, the pathos, the drama and romance of "The Unwanted" is what has made this production cut such a wide swathe in the motion picture field to date.

AT THE CAPITOL

TOM MIX PICTURE, "LUCKY HORSESHOE," BOOKED AT CAPITOL.

Tom Mix, famous William Fox star, will be the attraction at the Capitol Theatre Thursday, beginning a 3-day run. "The Lucky Horseshoe" is the name of his latest picture and he is supported by one of the most brilliant casts ever assembled in one of his productions.

Playing opposite Mr. Mix is dainty and delectable Billie Dove, who has been seen before as the heroine of dashing Tom's romances of the West. Ann Pennington, Follies dancer, also is in the cast, playing a character part as well as doing some of her famous dancing.

J. Farrell MacDonald, ranking as one of the greatest character men on the screen to-day, is the comedy relief of the picture, together with J. Gunnis Davis; but MacDonald, the "Corporal Casey" of "The Iron Horse," carries the burden of the laugh-making; Davis, though, is a competent foil.

Malcolm Waite, who has won renown as a screen villain, is the 'heavy' of the picture, with Clarissa Selwyn figuring as his aide.

A decided feature of "The Lucky Horseshoe" is a Spanish sequence in which Tom Mix enacts the role of Don Juan, greatest lover of medieval times. J. G. Blystone directed.

WHO KISSED BARBARA ?

We see Barbara enter the drawing room through the lighted doorway and grope her way carefully across the room towards the floor lamp. Suddenly the figure of a man is dimly outlined in the doorway at the rear. Hs silently overtakes the girl on her way to the lamp. There is the sound of a boisterous kiss. The girl screams. The man exclaims D——! and escapes through the hall door. Solve the mystery. "Who kissed Barbara?" At the Captol Theatre, Oct. 19, 20, 21. A sparkling comedy under Mrs. Bingham's direction, with clever local players.

"Approaches the epic class. A remarkable story."

TRUTH VERSUS ERROR.

The meaning of the word "Gospel" is "good tidings." The "good tidings" of Jesus Christ is a herald of blessing coming to all mankind, to all the families of the inhabited earth, not one individual being excepted, no matter how far gone in the practice of wrong doing. It is "good tidings" to know that, while the penalty of sin is DEATH, Jesus has given Himself a ransom for all, hence all will be resurrected who have died, on account of the penalt, for sin. It is also "good tidings" to know that Jesus will reign over the living and resurrected ones, and all who hearken to or obey Him then, shall live endlessly and not die again the second time. That mankind in general is on probabtion for life in this age is false and absurd account of the ransom price being paid so as to release mankind from death. The is a little flock that God has been electing in this age. They, if faithful, will co-operate with Jesus when He reigns here on this earth; they are heirs of eternal life, joint heirs with Jesus Christ. This little flock have a special salvation in contradistinction from mankind in general who have the common salvation. Those who preach that endless torments is the wages of sin, and not death, as plainly stated in the Scriptures, are not preaching the "good tidings."—M. T. BUTCHER. 1d89 3246

No human life can trace,
For many an aching heart is hid

And with farewell words unspoken
She calmly entered home.

CHOIR HELD PRACTISE.

45 Members Present at Combined Social Evening and Practise.

The Peterboro Male Voice Choir began its sixth year's work in the history of the organization last night by holding their first practice in the G.W.V.A. Auditorium, considered by the members a splendid building for procuring tone balance.

Of the seventy members who have signed up for this season's work, some forty-five members were present. After eleven new musical numbers were sung by the Choir, the practice took the form of a social evening, Vice-President F. Gandy taking charge, and in a neat speech, extended a very cordial welcome to all the new members, as well as the older members of the organization.

C. S. Thompson, past president, also reviewed the work of the Choir since its inception, outlining its aims and objects, and was followed by Conductor Chenhall, who, wearing a good-natured smile, stated he was highly delighted with the voice tests, and the quality of material in the choir this season.

Short addresses were also given by C. S. Parlour, chairman membership committee; W. F. Skitch, chairman publicity committee; Paul Manning, chairman social committee; and Arthur Pitchford, secretary-treasurer.

The balance of the evening was spent in community singing, after which dainty refreshments were served by the social committee.

Trading Active In Mines Capitol Led In Toronto

TORONTO, Oct. 14.—(Canadian Press).—Trading continued active on the Standard Mining Exchange with Capitol and Kirkland Lake the leaders.

Capitol held unchanged at 33, but Kirkland Lake sold up a point and a quarter to 35. Beaver advanced one and a half to 26½, and Vipond two at 107. On the other hand, Keeley eased two points, Castle Tretheway one and Barry Hollinger, an active stock, three-quarters of a point.

Active Trading Session In Toronto Stock Mart

TORONTO, Oct. 14.—(Canadian Press.)—Brazilian and Consolidated Smelters continued overwhelmingly active leaders on the Toronto stock exchange this morning, but a wide list was dealt in outside of these two issues. Brazilian sold up nearly two points to a new high of 183 then declined to 181 at close for a net loss of a quarter of a point. Smelters in like fashion was sold up to 155, from where it eased down two points for a net loss of three quarters. F. N. Burt eased a quarter of a point at 64 and Atlantite Sugar advanced a quarter to 32 1-4, while C.P.R. also gained a quarter at 149 1-2 and City Dairy advanced a half to 85.

Profit Taking Impedes Upward Price Movement

NEW YORK, October 14. Canadian Press. — Renewed profit taking and bear selling based on the retention of stiff call money rates and unexpected reductions in crude oil prices continued to impede the upward movement of prices in to-day's stock market. Trading was on a broad scale, the total sales running well over 1¼ million shares at the end of the third hour. Several of the industrials sold off sharply after the initial outburst of strength, but the decline was checked by the revival of activity and strength in American Can, which soared nearly 8 points to 343, and a fresh inquiry for the rail and equipment shares based on expectations of steadily increasing earnings. Selected buying was again noted in public utilities.

Early Setback in Wheat Followed By Good Rally

CHICAGO, Oct. 14 (Canadian Press).—Influenced by better weather in Canada and by a lack of response at Liverpool to yesterday's advance here, the Chicago wheat market today underwent an early setback. On downturns in price, however, buying increased and the market scored rallies. Reports that Russia had been cancelling vessel charters for shipments of grain for the Black Sea ports tended somewhat to stimulate buying. The opening, which ranged from 3-4 cents to 1 3-4 cents lower new style, December 143 5-8 to 143 7-8, and May 142 1-2 to 143 1-4 was followed by reaction to 1447-8 for December and 143 3-4 for May.

Corn and oats were easy, sympathizing with wheat. After opening at 1-8c off to 1-8c up, December 76 5-8 to 77, the corn market showed a slight general advance, and then declined all around.

Oats started unchanged to 1-8c lower, December 39 3-4 to 39 7-8. Later, all deliveries were a little lower Provisions had a firm tone, helped by the steadiness of hog values.

Rev. Dr. George C. Pidgeon Confirms Wisdom of Choice Made by Uniting Churches

Moderator of General Council Preaches Inspiring Sermon in Crowded Knox Church — Inter-dependence of Man in Relations With God.

BAY OF QUINTE CONFERENCE.

Adherents of Three Churches That Have Merged Their Identies in One Were Confirmed in Their Action By Talented Toronto Speaker.

The inter-dependence of man in his relations with God through the medium of Christ, was vividly portrayed last night by Dr. George C. Pidgeon, Moderator of the General Council, in his address to the delegates of the Bay of Quinte Conference assembled in Knox Church. That the human kind attains the superlative of Divine Grace and Divine Society in Union was the crux of the situation, the great reason for the development of a United Church in Canada.

Knox Church was taxed last night to contain the great crowd that presented itself, in spite of the rain, to catch the gleam of inspiration which has attained fruition in a mighty national institution, a combine of three spiritual organisms, each of which was strong and thriving. Now with physical identities obliterated in the one great church, its adherents came seeking corroboration of their decision and found it aplenty in the masterly discourse of the Moderator. Convincing in every detail, the speaker's words called forth frequent evidences of approval from the vast concourse.

While singing did not feature the service, as it did the Inauguration Ceremony, it was, nevertheless, an important factor. A choral rendering of "Now the Day is Over," with a solo part taken by Mrs. Ross Williamson, proved very acceptable.

The Scripture reading was taken by Dr. F. E. Malott, being found in Paul's Epistle to the Ephesians, 2-8. Dr. R. W. Hamilton of Brockville led in prayer, and announcements regarding further activities in connection with the work of the Conference were made by the Secretary, Rev. M. C. Mackinnon, Pastor of Knox Church.

Rev. C. W. Barrett, newly elected President of the Conference, was of the opinion that the people were present not merely out of idle curiosity, but for a devotional service and to raise higher ideals. Introducing the speaker, he added that the great reason for their attendance was to hear the Moderator.

Dr. George C. Pidgeon.

Every conference which he attended appeared to Dr. Pidgeon a greater one than the last in true Christian greatness, and the enthusiasm which marked the work. Furthermore, the great problems, relevant to the founding of a new church, were being received with open minds—all agreed to deal with the situation with the greatest of expedition and capability.

This openness of mind, perfect good-will and readiness to adopt mean, to an end has given hope to the leaders who have watched all the essential differences fusing together in the general accord and single-mindedness of purpose. This amalgamation had already, he said, eclipsed the limits which had been allowed for the next ten years of Union. Each member was awakening to the extent by which his spiritual measure had been augmented.

In Paul's epistle to the Ephesians, the dominant note is the relationship which individuals bear to one another through Christ by which all are made as one unit. When entry is made into vital contact with Christ, their contacts are made with all other individuals similarly related. Paul had felt that the time for action had come, and he had acted by the pronouncement of his views. Christ, the speaker explained, was the central self in the individual who adopted His sovereignty, and by

PREMIER SAYS MR. MEIGHEN IS BRIBING WEST

Brands Suggestion of Public Assistance to Coal Shipments as Bribe.

PUT UP PRICE.

Mr. Meighen's Plan, He Says, Would Result in Higher Cost of Coal.

PARRY SOUND, Oct. 15 (Canadian Press) — Premier King last night warmly charged Mr. Meighen with proposing to increase the price of coal. He quoted a speech at Edmonton in which Mr. Meighen is reported to have announced his intention to put a tariff on coal, so that the Ontario market may be secured for Alberta coal.

"Mr. Meighen," commented the Prime Minister, "says he will stop coal coming in from anywhere else, so that the people of Alberta can sell their coal. We also want," proceeded Mr. King, "to encourage the use of Alberta coal. But we don't want to do it by sending up the price of coal and by making coal more difficult to get in a country of hard winters like this. We think the use of Alberta coal can be encouraged by experiments in coking and by dealing with transportation. Mr. Meighen, on the other hand, would stop coal coming in from anywhere else so that the people of Alberta can sell their coal."

Mr. King turns to Mr. Meighen's proposed public assistance to transportation of essential commodities from the Maritimes and the west to the central provinces. "Mr. Meighen," Mr. King continued, "charges me with trying to bribe the west by saying that we will build the Hudson Bay Railway if we get support enough.

"That is what Mr. Meighen calls a bribe but he does not see any bribe in this business of taxing the whole people of the Dominion in order that coal and other commodities may be brought into Ontario."

NARROW ESCAPE FOR FARM WIFE

Mrs. K. Ellis Had to Leap From Second Story Window.

HOUSE BURNED.

BROCKVILLE, Ont., Oct. 15. — Canadian Press. — The household effects of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Ellis were totally destroyed, and Mrs. Ellis had to jump from a second story bedroom window when the fire consumed the frame house in which they resided, on the farm of Willard Row, just outside the town limits.

The fire starting in the lower part of the house, spread rapidly, and Mrs Ellis, who was awakened by smoke, found escape down the stairway cut off, and she was forced to jump. Her injuries are not serious.

$7,500 Salary Is Too Small Judge Returns To Practice

NEW YORK, Oct. 15 (United Press).—A salary of $7,500 a year is not enough "to maintain a family, educate children, and provide for the future," Federal Judge Edwin Garvin of Brooklyn said yesterday in a letter of resignation to President Coolidge.

Appointed to the Federal Bench in 1918, Judge Garvin was arbiter in several important industrial disputes. He will return to private practice of law.

FOUR KILLED BY FREAK TORNADO

Dipped Suddenly to Earth and Demolished a House.

BABY INJURED.

BATON ROUGE, LA., Oct. 15.—(Canadian Press).—A freakish tornado dipped to earth 13 miles east of here yesterday, leaving in its wake a toll of four dead, one injured and the debris of a six-room house. David Meyers, his wife and two children, girls aged 5 and 3, were killed and an 18 months old baby was injured. They were blown seventy yards from the house in which they had taken refuge.

RIOTING STARTS AS TROOPS LEAVE

Shanghai Has Been Evacuated By Forces of General Chang.

SHANGHAI, Oct. 15 (Canadian Press)—A threatening military gesture was seen today in the withdrawal from Shanghai of more than 15,000 trops of General Chang Tso-lin, the Manchurian leader who has exerted military control over this area since the anti-foreign strike started several months ago.

Simultaneously, reports from authentic sources said a heavy movement of Chekiang forces opposed to Gen. Chang, was reported from Hang Chow to Hung Kiang, in territory contiguous to Shanghai.

Many persons are fleeing into the foreign concessions bringing reports of looting in Hung Kiang district.

U. S. RUBBER

Plan to Make Country Independent of Foreign Supply.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—(Canadian Press.)—In order to make the United States independent of foreign rubber producers, Harvey S. Firestone, prominent tire and rubber manufacturer, is preparing to spend $100,000,000 in remodelling the whole country. The newly organized Firestone Plantations Company, Mr. Firestone announced, has obtained concessions for one million acres of rubber plantations in Liberia, West Africa.

A 2,000 acre British rubber plantation has already been purchased to serve mainly as a nursery for the larger plantations to be located on the most suitable land.

Electricity Stops Bleeding And Speeds Up Operations

NEW YORK, Oct. 15 (United News). — Surgical knives which heat as they cut and prevent the flow of blood in an operation are among the exhibits at the Electrical Exposition at Grand Central Palace.

The knives are heated by electricity and seal the blood vessels as the incision is made.

Electricity has reduced the time that a patient must be under ether, through an invention which utilizes a motor-drive in speeding up the use of surgical saws.

C. N. RAILWAY IS GRAHAM'S TOPIC

Minister Devotes Stratford Speech to Discussion of System.

IS GETTING BETTER.

STRATFORD, Oct. 15 (Canadian ress).—Some 800 persons last night heard the Right. Hon. George P. Graham, Minister of Railways speaking in Majestic Theatre here. He dealt almost exclusively with Canadian National Railways and their finances.

Reviewing the history of the C.N.R., Mr. Graham said: "Mr. Meighen claims that we dismissed the Canadian National Board when we came into office, but there was no such animal. Mr. Kennedy, late Minister of Railways, and others thought that the roads were to be amalgamated and an entirely new man should be engaged for the management, and that in the selection of Sir Henry Thornton we made no mistake. He is one of the biggest men on the continent today.

"The Canadian National Railway is our property, and it is getting better every year. If Mr. Meighen's statement that there should be no more capital expenditure is carried out, it means cessation of work."

NO SECTIONALISM MUST CONSIDER WHOLE COUNTRY

Sir Arthur Currie Pleads For Give and Take Between Agriculture and Manufactures.

AT VANCOUVER.

Sees a Most Prosperous Outlook For Farmers—Adoption of Scientific Methods.

VANCOUVER, B.C., Oct. 15. — (Canadian Press).—"There must be no sectionalism," said Hon. Sir Arthur Currie, Principal of McGill University, who arrived here yesterday from Montreal to take part in the opening exercises of the new University of British Columbia buildings in Point Grey, after referring to the optimism with which he looked to Canada's future. "We must all be for the whole of the Dominion and there must be a measure of give and take for the good of the nation as a whole."

"The three fundamental things on which we must base our future," continued Sir Arthur, "are agriculture, manufacturing and transportation. I see a most prosperous outlook for agriculture, for the world is steadily increasing their demand for the products of the soil. Agriculture is no longer conducted along the lines of tradition, but modern scientific methods are being employed. In this connection I favor Government encouragement of the science of agriculture and there ought to be demonstrators always available. We need more men willing to farm and these should receive every assistance to aid them to success. Farmers are also paying greater attention to co-operative marketing and the elimination of the middlemen who absorb so much of the costs to the consumers.

"There must be give and take as between agriculture and manufacturing. There must not be free trade to the detriment of the one class, nor a tariff that is for the benefit of the other alone."

SECRET MEETING HELD BY SOVIET IN SWITZERLAND

Emissary of Reds Met Delegates of Asiatic Nations.

LEAGUE MEMBERS.

Anti-British Activities Will Be Conducted By Bolshevik Agents.

LONDON, Oct. 15. — Canadian Press. — A secret meeting of representatives of the Asiatic powers with a Soviet emissary took place in Geneva in the last week of September, during the closing days of the League of Nations assembly.

In this conference, which up to the present has been kept dark, were Persians, Chinese, Turks, Indians, Serbs and Russians and included in the gathering were Chinese, Persian and Turkish delegates actually accredited to the League.

The meeting was for the purpose of meeting the Russian emissary and the correspondent understands that the delegates of the Asiatic nations agreed to use the Soviet agents in Asia for anti-British activities.

The source of the story is a participant in the conference, which was of such a nature that the nations whose delegates took part could disavow it as wholly lacking official character.

LAW OFFICERS SENT TO JAIL

Contempt of Court Case Brought Punishment to Eleven Men.

FAVORED PRISONER.

CHICAGO, Oct. 15. — (Canadian Press).—The law he has spent more than half his life upholding turned on "Honest Cop" Wesley H. Westbrook yesterday, when Federal Judge Wilkerson sentenced him to four months in jail for contempt of court. For accepting bribes from and for favoring Terry Druggan and Frank Lake, rich young beer barons, Peter M. Hoffman, Sheriff of Cook County (Chicago), and for 20 years a political leader and office holder, also felt the legal boomerang, with a jail sentence of 30 days and a fine of $25,000.

Of the dozen men brought into the contempt hearing only one escaped punishment, Arthur Pendle, former jail guard, who accepted $100 after he had escorted Lake to Lake's sister's funeral.

Over 500 Names Added To Local Voting List

Judge Huycke added 575 names to the voters' list in the revisory sessions which he concluded last night. There were some fifty rejections during the week of His Honour's sittings. Some of the applicants who were turned back were too young; others had not resided long enough in the riding or in the Dominion, and there were some who were not naturalized citizens.

The sessions were all fairly busy right up to the last hour as the total number itself indicates. Omissions from the rough draft of the voters' list included citizens of from ten months' residence to sixty years.

FRENCH FINANCE IN POOR SHAPE; WORRIES PEOPLE

Franc Dropped Yesterday Below Value of Belgian Coin.

BONDS ARE DUE.

Premier and Other Ministers Are Endeavoring to to Find Solution.

PARIS, Oct. 15 (Canadian Press) —The financial situation of the French treasury with inflation acknowledged in official and press circles as inevitable for November, again dominates French politics, relegating the United States debt settlement to the second rank.

The provisional agreement brought back by M. Caillaux from Washington is considered as only one particular phase of the general situation which must be faced immediately.

The continued downward trend of the franc which dropped yesterday below the Belgium standard and reimbursement of 10,000,000,000 francs treasury bonds due in December are questions which occupied Premier Painleve, M. Caillaux and M. Malvy in conference for three hours yesterday.

The dollar crossing the twenty-two franc mark yesterday led to the situation being compared with that of last June, when the Government was compelled to obtain authority from parliament to raise the legal limit for the issue of bank notes from 45,000,000 to 51,000,000 francs.

DRAFT SECURITY PACT ADOPTED; IS KNOWN AS TREATY OF LOCARNO AND WILL BE SIGNED THIS MONTH

Germany, France and Belgium Principals, Britain and Italy Guarantors.

OTHERS PRESENT.

Treaties On Other Frontiers of Germany Are Far Advanced.

LOCARNO, Switzerland, Oct. 15 (Canadian Press) — Germany today officially announced her adhesion to the Rhine act of mutual guarantees, framed at the security conference here with the object of outlawing war. The pact will be signed by Germany, France and Belgium as the principal parties, and by Great Britain and Italy as guarantors.

After the announcement of Germany's adhesion, the conference at its eighth plenary meeting adopted the text of the draft security pact.

An official communique issued after the meeting said: "At today's plenary session, the conference accepted the complete text of the draft security pact and then the question of arbitration treaties was taken up. Poland and Czecho-Slovakia were invited to attend."

The Polish and Czecho-Slovakian representatives were invited to join the meeting, it was explained, to hear a statement outlining the work of the jurists on the draft treaties of arbitration between Germany and France and Germany and Belgium, the texts of which have been adopted by the delegations concerned.

They, on their part, gave the conference an account of the advanced state of negotiations for the drafting of arbitration treaties between Poland and Germany and Czecho-Slovakia and Germany. I was decided to defer to a later meeting discussion of the date for the publication of all the agreements submitted to the conference for final adoption. A solution of the problem of the Polish - German arbitration teraty has practically been reached by enlarging the scope of the treaty to make it virtually the same as the treaties between Germany and France and Germany and Belgium. This means that all possible disputes, even those arising out of frontier questions, would be submitted to arbitration.

The new pact will be known as the treaty of Locarno, and it is probable that it will be initiated here Saturday and signed in London within two weeks.

It is believed that Germany's admission to the League of Nations will be effected during the December session of the League Council or at a special session to be as sembled for this purpose in January.

Mussolini Arrives

Premier Mussolini of Italy arrived at Locarno this afternoon to take part in the closing labors of the security conference. Right Hon. Austin Chamberlain, British foreign Secretary, called upon him soon after his arrival.

Poker Players Good Hands Availed Them Not At All; Escaping Gas Slew Them As They Reached For the Pot

NEW YORK, October 15 (Canadian Press)—Police yesterday found three men sitting about a card table in a little east side room, still in death. One lay with his head pillowed in his arm, his right hand clutching three aces and two nines. Another was in the act of reaching for the pot, evidently having believed himself winner because of the straight he was holding. The third man who had discarded his hand was leaning back with his chin on his chest as though in thought.

The police went to the room in response to a report of the landlady that gas was escaping. Apparently the men had been unaware of the leaking gas so intent they had been on their game.

MEIGHEN ENDS HIS MEETINGS IN SASKATCHEWAN

Conservative Leader Says Progressives Supported King Government.

ALLIANCE FUTILE.

Progressives Obtained None of Their Best Ideals From Union.

WOLSLEY, Sask., Oct. 15 (Canadian Press).—At the last Conservative rally here last night, Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen made his adieux to Saskatchewan.

In about 40 ridings in Canada, he said, there would be no liberal candidate this election, and the Liberal leader was calling on the Liberal voters to support Progressives, Independents and Farmer-Labor candidates of the Progressive party. Mr. Meighen said he had nothing very severe to say. He believed the movement had begun in sincerity and many Progressives had gone out with great zeal for national progress. But they had found, he said, that the alliance with the Liberals had brought them none of their best ideals. As for Premier King, Mr. Meighen added, he had said that after sustaining the Progressive movement for four years, he could not carry it further. It seemed to Mr. Meighen that it was the Progressive party which had sustained Premier King touching on Senate reform. He asked, if Sir Wilfrid Laurier and the powerful group who supported him did not dare to attack the Senate, "Do you think Mackenzie King and the feeble crowd which surrounds him will do anything?"

Mr. Meighen invited his hearers to look at the facts and figures on the tariff question and its relation to the cost of living. In this way they could get a better idea of the matter than by accepting the assertion of Premier Dunning, who had given it as his considered opinion, that if you raise the tariff you raise the cost of living.

Mr. Meighen asked how the increase in tariff on a commodity which could not be raised in Canada would not permanently increase the price while on such an article as an implement of farming, which could be easily made in Canada, it should inevitably increase the cost to the consumer.

Motion of Aldermen Fife and Meyers to Proceed Found No Support.

WON'T JOIN SUIT.

Request of Colonial Weaving Co. For Use of Name Was Refused.

The City Council, sitting last night as the Committee of the Whole Council, decided not to grant the request of the Board of Education for $386,000 for a combination vocational and academical addition to the Peterborough Collegiate Institute, refused the Colonial Weaving Company permission to use the name of the Corporation of the City of Peterborough as a party to an action against the Campbell Flour Mills Company for power said to have been used and not paid for, and appointed a committee to decide which polling places should be placed in the schools of the city.

The school question was introduced by the reading of a letter from the Board of Education and from H. R. H. Kenner, Principal of the Collegiate Institute, setting forth the cost of the school, and the necessity for its erection. The Aldermen all agreed that the school was necessary, but only Aldermen Fife and Meyers were willing to grant the request of the Board without submitting the matter to the ratepayers.

Alderman Fife said that there was a definite need for the school and that the Board was justified in asking for the money, and that he looked upon the school as a means of advancing the life of the young people of the city.

Alderman Hancock asked why the problem had suddenly assumed such large proportions. In reply, Mayor Turner called attention to the change in the law which required children to attend school until they were sixteen, instead of fourteen, which had added a great number to the school population. Alderman Fife, also replying to Alderman Hancock, said that the congestion had been growing for some years and action had been delayed.

Alderman Phelan concurred in the necessity for the school, but suggested that the matter should be put to a vote of the people. Objection to a vote was offered by Mayor Turner, who said that only 38 per cent. of the people would have a vote on a money by-law, and that a great many of those would be people who had no personal interest in the school.

Alderman Crowe said that there had been a vote in Windsor on the building of a similar school and that there should be a vote here. He said that the school was a necessity, and that it was a poor man's school. He also favored delay because of the approaching hearing of an action brought by the separate school board which might make a change in the amount of property liable to taxation for the school.

Alderman Greene said that the Government had made provision for a vote of the property owners only on such a by-law, and that there should be such a vote. He said that those interested in promoting the

MR. O'CONNOR TELLS PEOPLE IN ALL SAINTS' ANGLICAN CHURCH OF CONDITIONS IN FREE STATE

Disclaims Kinship With the Great "Tay Pay" and Tells Life Story.

CHURCH MISSIONARY.

Speaker Says Roman Catholicism is Failing to Hold Irish.

"This is the root of the whole Irish question and the reason why they are never satisfied. The whole world wonders what is the trouble in Ireland. The British Government has been trying to bring peace and joy to Ireland for centuries, but they have failed, and that is because there is a political, ecclesiastical, foreign machinery that is grinding down the people. They came over in 1172 and robbed Ireland of her freedom and independence, and have been crushing the country ever since. "Dear isle of the ocean, sweet gem of the sea, it only needs freedom from Rome to be free."

"I hate Romanism. I love Roman Catholics, but I hate Romanism because it is a corrupt religion. But I would rather any day see a man a Roman Catholic than an atheist or an unbeliever, and that is the great danger in Ireland today. The church that these people had such great faith in, has failed them. They have blessed them one time and have cursed them another time."

T. P. O'Connor, one of four gentlemen who are touring Canada for the purpose of dissemination information with regard to conditions in Ireland today, under the auspices of the Irish Church Missions, was the speaker at All Saints' Church last night, whose words are quoted above. He was introduced by Rural Dean O'Conor-Fenton of Norwood, who said he brought a message of great interest to the people of Canada.

Mr. O'Connor, who disclaimed any relationship with the famous "Tay-Pay" of the same surname, made several humorous allusions to Irish characteristics, and enunciated at least one of the famous Irish "bulls" when he remarked quite seriously that he lived all the time in Dublin, "except when I am away from there."

Mr. O'Connor's chief cause of complaint against the Roman Church in Ireland was the opinion, as stated by him, that it had blessed the cause of the Sinn Fein movement when the rebellion against British authority broke out, and that later, when a measure of freedom was accorded by the English government, the hierarchy of the Roman Church had transferred its allegiance to the newly-constituted Free State. He said that his father had been excommunicated from the Catholic Church for taking part in the old Fenian Raids, but that the Sinn Feiners had been blessed by the large majority of the bishops and priests of the same church. He had thought that, taking part in this movement for freedom, he would be excommunicated by the church, "whose boast it is that she never changes," and had been disappointed when he found that such an action did not take place.

"I received my education in a political line from the Roman Catholic priesthood of Ireland. They openly ridiculed the British Government, and did everything they could to aid and help the rebel movement and destroy the British power," he said.

Found Peace and Joy.

Up until nineteen years of age, Mr. O'Connor said, he had been a Roman Catholic, but his disappointment at not falling under the ban of that church when he joined the Sinn Fein movement, led him to look for enlightenment elsewhere, and he said he had found "peace and joy" in the cause of the Irish Church Missions, founded seventy-seven years ago by an English Church clergyman, who established soup kitchens at the time of the famine, "and the Church of Rome says he fed its people to turn from them by giving them soup."

Mr. O'Connor stated that his father was a spendthrift, "who thought that money was made round so that it might go round" and consequently his mother was compelled to seek employment outside of her home when her children were very small and they went to the schools maintained by the Irish Church Missions where they learned much of the Holy Scriptures, so much so that his sister, at a tender age, was enabled to completely confound a priest in conversation carried on while in the confessional. Catholics, declared the speaker, know nothing of the Bible. "The only two texts they have any acquaintanceship with are Matthew 16, 18; and John 21, 22, 23, "which they are always quoting." Consequently, his sister, after an intensive study of a series of one hundred texts, was enabled very easily to confound and silence her clerical companion.

"I used to think that if we had green letter boxes and a green army, instead of red ones, in Ireland, that we would have Heaven there. The Roman Church was on the side of the Republicans until the establishment of the Free State. The Church in Ireland today is spleit into two camps, one on the side of the Free State, and the other on the side of th. Republicans. The Roman Church has completely failed in Ireland and men and women are denouncing it. Today we have a glorious opportunity presented to us for reclaiming our rightful place in Ireland as a church. The people now see that the Protestant Church has something for them. The Protestants have a little more freedom and security now that tht Romanists have fallen out among themselves.

Mr. O'Connor reported great advancement in the cause of the Irish Church Mission, which sends out colporteurs to the homes and holds open air meetings and church services. In Limerick, considered a strictly Catholic centre, he said there was a movement away from the Church of Rome, and spoke of a special service for deceased soldiers which was held by the Protestant Archbishop of Limerick in his church and attended by many Catholics.

"BRINGING UP FATHER" — Geo. McManus

GORDON'S POLICY ON IMMIGRATION WAS UNDER FIRE

J. F. Strickland Says Farmers Can't Make a Living on 10 Acre Lots.

PROTECTION LAUDED.

"In Best Interests of All the People All the Time"

E. A. Peck addressed an enthusiastic gathering in the North Monaghan School-house last evening, in the interests of the Conservative party. He was assisted by W. H. Bradburn, M.P.P., and J. F. Strickland. Melville H. Johnston was unanimously appointed chairman.

W. H. Bradburn, M.P.P.

Mr. Bradburn said that the chief reason he was supporting Mr. Peck was because of his policy of protection for the working man and farmer alike. With proper protection the City of Peterboro would increase its population, and consequently the value of holdings will be increased. The last assessor's report showed that the population of Peterboro had decreased. Numerous people had left the city for the reason that they could not find work. The company for which he acted as manager had more empty houses today than ever before, and most of these had become empty during the term of the present Government. They know that the United States was prosperous, and the reason for it was the high tariff wall which surrounded their country, and thus created employment for their people. Mr. Gordon had stated that business was good in Peterboro, but on that point the speaker took issue with him. The last three or four years had been anxious ones in the life of the average Peterboro business man, and most of them realized that only a change of Government would help them. He would ask them to give Mr. Peck their support because he had the interests of the country at heart.

J. F. Strickland.

"We are simply hewers of wood and drawers of water for our neighbors to the south," declared Mr. Strickland in a stirring appeal on behalf of Mr. Peck. Mr. Strickland stated that he had been all over the constituency in previous campaigns, but had never seen the ladies taking so great an interest in politics before. It was a sign that they appreciate the serious situation which confronted the country today. We were exporting our pulpwood, nickel, and asbestos in its raw state, and receiving it back from the United States in its manufactured form. "Are we going to allow this to continue?" In August Mr. King announced that there were no issues in the country that required a general election. "I have no quarrel with him regarding this, as it meets with my approval," said Mr. Strickland, "as the country was rapidly growing worse under his leadership. Mr. King claims he came to the country on Senate reform, the Canadian National Railways and immigration, and as yet Mr. King has offered no solution for any one of them. Mr. Gordon, his new Minister of Immigration, enunciated a policy on immigration, in connection with this community, that is a source of wonder to most farmers who have heard it. Briefly the proposition was to bring out Old Country farmers from England, Scotland and Ireland and settle them on ten-acre lots where they would make a living. Now if Mr. Gordon can show me how a farmer can make a living on a ten-acre lot, I would suggest that he be given the portfolio of Minister of Agriculture as well. Mr. King told the West to send him men of vision, and he would have portfolios for those men in his Government, in fact he promised the portfolio of Minister of Immigration and Colonization to a Westerner, and in connection with this it is rumoured that Mr. Gordon would be Postmaster-General. Now the Liberal Government have been trying to get rid of the Hon. Charles Murphy, the present Postmaster-General, for the last few years, and he is the only man who has made a success of his job, and I am unable to see Mr. Murphy handing out his portfolio to Mr. Gordon, although we have been assured that this will happen. By what authority did the Prime Minister saddle the country with the expenses of the new portfolios which he created just before going to the country. Would it not have been more fair for Mr. King to tell the people that if he was re-elected that he would appoint the Hon. Mr. Gordon, Hon. Mr. Foster and the Hon. Mr. Massey to his Cabinet, instead of when he did? If Mr. Gordon or his successor would enunciate a policy whereby we can bring back the Canadians who have gone to the United States to live, he would be accomplishing something worth while. In connection with Mr. King's policy of Senate reform, Mr. King knows that the Senate cannot be altered except by an amendment to the Act of British North America. Are we going to give a measure of protection to our working man and farmer that will give them what they are entitled to? Protection is the real issue of this election, and Mr. Meighen's policy is to the best interests of all the people all the time."

"Elections cannot be won by talking," said the speaker, in asking every person present to reason for themselves.

Mr. Strickland concluded by appealing to the voters to support Mr. Meighen and Mr. Peck for the good of Canada in general.

E. A. Peck.

"Give this matter of protection your earnest consideration, as on it dwells the future of Canada," stated Mr. Peck in declaring himself to be for protection. "Are you people fully content with the present Government which has been in power for the last four years? I have examined Mr. King's speeches very carefully, but have yet to see where he has told of anything he has done. Mr. King states that if he had had a decent majority he would have reduced the national debt and improved the condition of the Canadian National Railways, but as yet he has made no direct enunciation of a policy that will benefit Canada. You have to choose between the Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen and the Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King. Meighen comes before you with a clean-cut policy of protection that will benefit both farmers and manufacturers alike. The chief interest of the farmer to-day should be the home market. His produce is best sold at a point close to the place of production, but as things stand to-day that home market is being invaded by the United States farmer. To-day you cannot sell your products in the United States, but the United States farmer can undersell you right in your own market, due to the small tariff which exists on farm products. The American farmer is protected by a duty of eight cents a dozen on eggs, while American eggs can enter Canada at a duty of three cents a dozen and so on down the line. Now as if conditions were not already bad enough, the Canadian door has been thrown still further open to outside agricultural products. Under a treaty known as the Australian treaty, which became effective October first, butter and cheese can enter this country from Australia free, while the same products entering Australia from Canada would be under a tax of six cents a pound. Calvin Coolidge, President of the United States, recently made the following statement to a meeting of American farmers: 'We have built agriculture squarely into our protective system, and the American farmer must not be undersold at home by New Zealand mutton, Argentine beef, Canadian wheat, Danish butter, Bulgarian tobacco, Chinese eggs or Cuban sugar.' Now if the United States with all its prosperity and protection thinks this way, why should not Canada do the same? I feel," stated Mr. Peck, "that if this country would adopt a measure of protection that we would see a big increase in population in a comparatively short time."

Melville H. Johnston, the chairman, in closing, stated that he heartily endorsed the policies of Mr. Peck and the Conservative party.

The meeting concluded by singing the National Anthem.

RUSSIAN BARONESS PRACTISED MAGIC

But Ceased When Soviet Police Halted Her Activities.

MOSCOW, Oct. 15.—(United Press).—The recent arrest of the Baroness Von Wichmann by the Soviet political police revealed the existence in Moscow of a veritable black magic laboratory, which attracted crowds of superstitious and curious visitors from all classes of society.

The Baroness had previously been behind prison bars. She was arrested in Tashkent in 1915, charged with burning the body of her stepdaughter and sentenced to eight years in prison at hard labor.

After the Revolution she was released after she had professed a desire to fight in the Women's Battalion which was being organized at that time. She never joined the battalion, but remained in Tashkent, where she started to practice what she had learned many years ago from Indian Yogis and fakirs and began to tell fortunes with the aid of cards and beans.

The Baroness developed a habit of predicting the speedy downfall of the Soviet Government, and this landed her in jail a second time. After being released from her place of confinement in Moscow she took a house in the suburbs of the city and began to practice magic in real earnest.

First of all she fitted up her house in exotic oriental style with low sofas, Eastern rugs and curtains curiously ornamented with dragon designs. To heighten the atmosphere of mystery the blinds were drawn and the lights were turned low.

Then the Baroness devised a whole series of ingenious charms, guaranteed to assure the users wealth, love, freedom disease and many other benefits. The Baroness prescribed the following charm for people who came to her asking how to become rich:

"Cut a Soviet paper ruble in half and bring it to me along with some dust from your shoes."

Then the enchantress would sew the dust inside the halves of the ruble, pronounce some incantations over it and hand it back to her client with the injunction to wear the charm over his heart.

The Baroness guaranteed to make a man think of you if she obtained a piece of his cap, to make him come to you if she obtained a piece of his underwear. If she wanted to create a quarrel she mixed hairs of dogs and cats.

Equally striking were her remedies for disease. For fever patients she prescribed little breadballs wrapped in cobwebs. Epileptics were told to drink a concoction of blackberries three times, take a hot bath and go to the theatre. Her terms were three rubles for six weeks' charms and seventy-two rubles for charms guaranteed to retain their potency for a whole year.

The Baroness enjoyed a very extensive vogue. Wives of Communists and officers in the Red Army could be found among the motley crowds which stood in line for hours in order to obtain an interview. People travelled long distances to ask her advice; and her fortune was accumulating at the rate of a hundred rubles a day when the political police stepped in and put an end to her activities.

This is a Fight For Canadian Jobs For Canadian Workers

Supporters of Mr. Gordon are attempting to win votes for their candidate by the argument: "You can't afford to vote against a Cabinet Minister."

YOU CAN'T AFFORD TO VOTE FOR A CABINET MINISTER, when he stands for an administration that for the sweets of office would sacrifice the industrial life of this country.

THIS IS NO ORDINARY ELECTION.—It is a fight for Canadian jobs for Canadian workers, and G. N. Gordon is on the wrong side.

A Cabinet Portfolio would be a soft thing for Mr. Gordon—a nice fat salary, and all the honors of the position.

BUT YOU HAVE GOT TO CONSIDER YOURSELF before you consider Mr. Gordon.

Don't you think that four more years of uncertain employment and business depression, smaller population for Peterboro, empty houses and general hard times too big a price to pay for Mr. Gordon's aggrandizement. You can't afford to risk a continuance of the present conditions merely because G. N. Gordon likes the sound of that Honorable in front of his name, and likes the big salary that goes along with it.

Your future means more to you than does the success of an ambitious politician and you can't afford to jeopardize it, merely to give Mr. Gordon a portfolio, when the price of that portfolio has to be paid by all of us by four or five years of depression.

VOTE FOR YOUR OWN JOB, or for an opportunity to get one. That is the big thing this election offers the people of this riding. And there is only one way you can do that—by voting for E. A. Peck, who stands four-square for the platform of adequate protection.

Free Trade has had four years' trial you know the result better than the politicians can tell you. You know that while the rest of the world has been increasing tariffs, Canada alone has gone the other direction.

You know the King administration has been a ghastly failure, and that it comes to the country shorn of its greatest strength in the loss of Hon. W. S. Fielding and Sir Lomer Gouin.

It has nothing to offer you except the certainty that should a malign fate send it back into power, it would sacrifice the whole industrial fabric of Canada to hold the support of the Western Progressives.

We can't afford to vote for a cabinet minister.

Take no chances—Vote for yourself and your job, and a more prosperous Canada by voting for

CHURCH BAZAAR AT BOAT HOUSE

St. George's Anglican Church Holds Successful Sale in South End.

PRETTY BOOTHS.

Through the kindness of Mr. H. B. Rye, and his generous assistance in a good cause, Rye's handsome big dancing pavilion has been turned to a new use this week, and makes a splendid interior for the bazaar and sale of work which is being held there, under the auspices of St. George's South-End Anglican Church. The ladies of the church have evolved a very attractive event in the pavilion, decorated with lanterns and brightly-colored streamers with the booth arranged along the side of the hall, their posts and standards wound with gay papers in pretty designs, and the bright red of mountain ash berries making a cheery note on many of the stalls.

On the other side of the hall, withing the railed-off enclosure, tea is served from flower-centred tables. Mrs. M. J. Farthing and Mrs. P. Melsch have charge of the tea-room.

The country store contains articles of a varied nature, ranging all the way from bottles of catsup to packaged goods and jars of preserved fruit, and is in charge of the A.Y.P.A. of the church.

Two fancy work counters have a quantity of dainty things in lingerie and handkerchiefs, towels and embroidered linens. The Ladies' Guild, with Mrs. H. Rew as president, supervises one sale, and the Misses Dorothy Butler and Ida Parks have the second.

The Ladies' Guild also has the sale of home-made cooking, with Mrs. A. Warren and Mrs. H. Wood in charge of an excellent array of cakes, pies, and biscuits. Fresh fruit and home-made candy is also sold here.

At the Sunday School booth, there are quilts and blankets, embroidered dresses and linen pieces. The four Sunday school teachers of the church supervise the sale: Mrs. George Kitchen, Mrs. W. Andrews, Miss Elsie Parks and Miss Millie Huxley.

The bazaar was formally opened yesterday afternoon by the pastor of St. George's Church, Rev. I. L. Hughes, and there were good crowds in attendance during afternoon and evening. Last night's entertainment was enlivened by the dart and ball games conducted by Mr. W. Jones, and a fine musical programme was voluntarily provided by Mr. H. Wood's orchestra, whose programme comprised the following main items: the Majestic Overture, a Festival March, In a Monastery Garden, the Lustspiel Overture, My Saviour, and the Tenth Regiment March. The musical entertainment was very much appreciated.

Largely through the carrying out of a method suggested by Rev. Mr. Hughes to the committee in charge of the bazaar, the returns were very satisfactory and a nice sum was practically ensured before the opening of the sale. Yesterday's receipts totalled $410.00.

The sale continued this afternoon and will close this evening, when a musical programme will be provided by the De Laval Orchestra.

PECK AT BRIDGENORTH.

Conservative Candidate Addresses Gathering in Lake Shore Village.

Wednesday evening of this week Mr. Peck held one of the series of meetings that are being attended in the several townships of the West Riding, at Bridgenorth. There was a good attendance, giving Mr. Peck the opportunity to place before the meeting a statement of the condition of affairs in the country, and especially the influence the present tariff has had, and would continue to have on the business prospects of the farmer.

He dealt with the situation as influenced by the United States tariff, on importations to that country from Canada, and contrasted the results under the Dominion tariff, showing the invidious position in which the Canadian farmer was placed, and pointed out that a great deal of what has happened to Canada in the last four years was owing to the lack of a decent and effective protection.

He did not advocate a high protective tariff for Canada, but at an advance in such imposts that, he said, would place the maker in Canada at least some distance toward meeting outside competition of low wage and long hours of work countries.

So far and for so long the farmer has not received a fair show, Mr. Peck and Mr. Bradburn and Mr. was admitted to the United States, good wishes.

THE NORWOOD FAIR.

With the holding of the fifty-seventh exhibition of the East Peterboro Agricultural Society at Norwood yesterday and the Roseneath Fair tomorrow, the fall fair season in this district will be over.

Some of the smaller fairs ran into bad weather this year, but on the whole they were splendidly successful, have provided healthy competition in livestock and farm products, and have proven sources of amusement and education for the people of this section of Ontario.

The Norwood Fair, one of the latest, and also one of the best, lived up to its reputation yesterday, and President P. M. Grover, Secretary J. E. Roxburgh and the Directors are to be cogratulated upon the success scored in all departments.

With their usual enterprise, the management had arranged to have the Ontario Minister of Agriculture open the exhibition, and the Hon. J. S. Martin delivered two speeches that were unusually full of interest to the hundreds of farmers present, as they dealt directly with problems in which the Ontario farmer is most concerned.

THE SCHOOL QUESTION.

The responsibility of deciding whether or not additional Collegiate Institute and Technical School accommodation is to be provided in Peterboro is to be passed on from the Council to the property-owners of the city.

The Aldermen admit the necessity of the programme brought forward by the Board of Education, but in view of the expenditure involved, have declined to face the issue themselves—and it will have to be settled by the property-owners.

The objection to this course on the part of those who realize that the present Collegiate Institute is utterly inadequate for the needs of Peterboro, and who believe that technical education should also be provided, is that the citizens who perhaps are most interested in the question and whose children are most in need of the proposed facilities for technical training will not have a voice in the matter.

Many of them are not property-owners, although they really pay taxes in the form of a portion of rent.

The Board of Education under these circumstances is likely to refuse to have the question submitted to the ratepayers.

THE VALUE OF FAIRS.

That the Ontario Department of Agriculture firmly believes in the value of fall fairs was clearly set forth in Hon. J. S. Martin's address at Norwood yesterday.

Mr. Martin believes that from the school fair right on up through to the National Exhibition encouragement should be given on the ground that all these fairs are a valuable assistance to agriculture.

There seems no reason to quarrel with that belief.

The school fair starts the work by interesting the youngsters in better farming, and the educational progress is continued throughout.

The impetus given agriculture by the spirit of friendly competition and rivalry at Ontario's fall fairs has undoubtedly resulted in better stock, better field crops and more interest in farming generally.

There is a place for the small fair as well as the big, and the Ontario Department of Agriculture is wise in considering the whole chain worthy of support in view of the results that have been obtained.

So long as the amusement features are not allowed to crowd out the agricultural side, there is a place for the fall fair, large and small.

CHANGING HABITS.

The revolution in business that the motor car has brought about has wide ramifications, says the Toronto Star. It has influenced dress and fashions. Women do not wear elaborate hats any more—something small and compact is what they need. They dress, most of the time, not to be seen as they stroll, but to be comfortable as they sit in their cars. Men do not buy walking-sticks, nor, as motorists, do they bother about umbrellas. An army of men in the war learned to despise the umbrella and take the weather as it comes. Instead of a home-staying, book-reading, garden-making, dinner-cooking people we have now a wheel-rolling population, who eat where hunger finds them, and who buy food rather than make it.

The changing habits of the people in clothing, food, use of the home, must exert a serious influence on business, in the way, not of reducing it, but of altering its kind. Just as the motorist does not carry a walking-stick, the girl with bobbed hair does not need hair-pins, and the housewife who diligently plies a can-opener learns to dispense with an old-fashioned family larder and a cellar stocked with preserves and pickles of her own preparing. The family which lives in a small apartment and keeps a large garage finds that in their living quarters they have better room for a pohongraph than for a piano, and besides the fashion of the time is for jazz rather than music.

A revolution is taking place in business. The people's dollars are being put into new slots—new currents are carrying the cash along fresh cut channels and a lot of the old shops front the wrong path and open on well-nigh deserted paths of expenditure.

It is not the motor car alone. The revolution in business conditions is brought about by several entirely new first charges on the incomes and earnings of the people. The crowded barrooms of other days are gone. Now there are crowded and busy filling-stations on the corners, and crowded moving picture houses. Wherever one goes the jazz of the phonograph is heard or the earnest citizen is seen yawning over his radio set trying to get Honolulu. There is scarcely a farm within twenty miles of Toronto which, instead of pasturing cattle or yielding grain as it did twenty years ago, is not being stepped over by somebody with a view to making it into an ideal golf course, the like of which has not been seen before.

The changes which are taking place in business conditions owing to the changing habits and pleasures of the public are profound and far reaching and those who would prosper are those who most fully take all the facts into account.

THE EXAMPLE OF WALTER JOHNSON.

A lesson that ought to be taken to heart by the average man, threatened with a breakdown before he reaches middle life because of his disregard of the essentials of health and strength, is that of the necessity of physical fitness from the career of the famous baseball pitcher, Walter Johnson. On Wednesday last, at Pittsburgh, at the age of 39, deep in his nineteenth year in major league baseball, he pitched his team to a triumphant victory against one of the fastest teams in the United States. Pittsburgh had speed, dash and the flaming batting eye of youth, but more speed came from the arm of age than youth could see, for the veteran player from Washington and Kansas was there in all the glory of his greatest years.

Walter Johnson entered major league baseball at Detroit in 1913, when most of those against whom he pitched on Wednesday last were either in their cradles or just learning to walk. Apparently the marching years have passed Johnson by in their relentless tread down the highways of time. They may have called and beckoned, but the famous pitcher was so engrossed in his game that he neither saw nor heard. He appeared to be just a brawny, sandy-haired youth, who had taken experience from the years and who had given none of his youth in return. The expert observers of the game declare that he pitched with as much raw speed as he did at any time in his career, and that he used his head brilliantly. "It was the old hop of nineteen years ago," said one writer, "that showed no sign of losing its elastic worth." Grantland Rice, of the New York Herald Tribune, one of the best sporting writers of the United States, in his report of the game paid Johnson this fine tribute:

"The Johnson who tied Pittsburgh batters into true lovers' knots this sunny, frosty afternoon was not the nervous, high-strung Johnson of a year ago who faced the Giants in his first world series. He was the Johnson of nineteen brilliant major league campaigns. Shuffling out into the middle of the diamond without the quiver of a pulse, with his broad shoulders slouching in the old way, the Coffeyville cyclone turned on his famous smoke ball without a moment's delay, and from that point on Pittsburg's slugging hitters rested in the hollow of his broad and clammy hand. They never had a chance. That fast ball kept singing through the golden air with all the speed it ever carried when old Barney was a raw and untried youth, just off the Western plains. It came with a zip and snap, with a baffling jump as resilient as any one of the Seven Bounding Gordons, and with this fast ball the famous veteran dished up a series of curves that broke everywhere except around the polished woodwork of Pittsburgh's bats."

Billy Evans, who umpired the first game Johnson pitched against Detroit, on August 1, 1907, sat back of the plate at Pittsburgh and watched the game, and at the finish felt as if he had been looking at a ghost. "He had just as much speed," said Evans, "as he had eighteen years ago, but he had a curved ball today that he never had then. He is even better than he used to be." This performance he repeated again in the game at Washington yesterday. The example of Walter Johnson ought to be a wonderful inspiration to the youth of today to pursue that clean, wholesome course of life that will preserve the physi al stamina, the mental alertness and keenness of faculties that give zest and efficiency to life. It requires resolution and energy, and a large degree of sacrifice, but all teachers of physical culture insist that it brings a rich reward of efficiency and happiness.—Brantford Expositor.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Tommy Church is beginning to ask if there isn't some place else beside Northeast Toronto that aspirants for Parliament can pick as a likely riding.

They say the last word often decides a political campaign. That should make it fairly easy for Agnes MacPhail and Dr. Caroline Brown.

With the city lists prepared, the political organizations will settle down to the last two weeks of campaigning.

CATTLE, GRAIN AND PRODUCE

Peterboro—Toronto—Montreal
Winnipeg

STERLING EXCHANGE

MONTREAL, Oct. 15 (Canadian Press). — Sterling exchange rates were quoted here yesterday as follows:

Sterling cables $4.83.
Sterling demand $4.83 1-2.

MONTREAL MARKETS

MONTREAL, Oct. 15 (Canadian Press).—The export business in all lines of grain here yesterday was reported dull. The demand for grain in the local domestic market was also extremely limited.

There was no important change in the condition of the spring wheat flour market, prices being steady under a fair demand. The market for Winter wheat flour was likewise without any new feature.

There was no further developments in the market for millfeed, prices remaining steady at the recent change noted. A fair amount of business was done in standard grades of rolled oats. The tone of the market for baled hay remaining steady with a fair amount of business passing.

Beans were quoted at $2.40 to $2.50 per bushel.

A very firm feeling prevails in the local market for strictly fresh eggs since supplies are not sufficient to meet the daily requirements and the prospects are that prices may possibly go still higher. The demand for storage eggs continues fair. Prices show no change. The market on the whole was quieter. The receipts yesterday were 3,378 cases, as compared with 2,418 for the same day last week, and 4,230 for the corresponding day a year ago.

The feature of the trade in potatoes was the strong feeling in the market and prices show an advance of 25c to 40c per bag. This was attributed to the marked increase in the demand from Cuba, there being orders in the market for 1,000 to 1,500 barrel lots which dealers state they find it impossible to fill. There was also a good demand from local buyers and all offerings were quickly picked up.

The receipts of butter yesterday were 1,720 packages, as compared with 772 for the same day last week, and 9,210 for the corresponding day a year ago. Owing to the continued limited demand for butter from all sources of late and the small amount of business passing a weaker feeling has developed in the market, and prices have scored a decline of 10c per lb.

The receipts of cheese yesterday were 8,206 boxes, as against 5,164 for the same day last week, and 3,756 for the corresponding day a year ago. The tone of this market was about steady and prices showed no further change which was attributed to the fact that an increased volume of business was done with English importers overnight and in consequence of which the trading on spot showed some improvement with the result that the market was rather more active.

CHICAGO WHEAT

CHICAGO, Oct. 15 (Canadian Press).—Indications that farmers in the Spring wheat belt are seizing opportunities to sell out more or less stored grain whenever prices rally did a good deal yesterday to make the wheat market rule lower. Wheat closed unsettled to 2 to 2 1-2 net decline, new style, Dec. 1,42 1-2 to 142 3-4, and May 1,41 3-4 to 1.41 7-8, with corn 1 to 1 7-8c down, oats 1-4 to 3-8c off, and provisions varying from a set-back of 15 to 37c advance.

Assertions that farmers were disposing of their storage tickets tended to bring about a reduction of premiums on wheat available for immediate use. At Omaha, in particular, premiums were reported as being 2 to 3c a bushel lower, meanwhile, word of better weather in Canada, together with a virtual lack of response at Liverpool to Tuesday's advance here, put the buying side of the market under a decided handicap, and so likewise did news of rain in Argentina and in parts of Australia, as well as prospects of further imports of Canadian wheat into the United States duty paid.

About the only wheat buying of any consequence came from previous sellers influenced temporarily by such factors as alternate reports and denials that Russia had been cancelling vessel charters for Autumn shipment of grain from Black Sea ports. On the other hand, price rallies had to contend with announcement that the world's available supply had increased 17,245,000 bushels for the week. Offerings, especially near the end of the day, were extensive, including pressure here from spread traders at Winnipeg.

Corn and oats gave way with wheat. Price downturns were but little retarded by advices that wet weather was causing delay to husking in many sections.

Provisions averaged higher, with lard being bought for houses with export connections.

ENGINEERS TALK

water power sites in Central Canada are developed primarily for exportation purposes, the industrial progress of this country will be thwarted. It will never be able to recover such power."

Defending the exportation of Canadian power to his country, Mr. McConnell said that it would conserve coal and diminish the amount of labor employed in the United States in generating power rather than reduce the cost of power. Waste of United States coal is detrimental to Canada as well as to the United States, he contended, because Canada now imports annually 22,000,000 tons for use in connection with the development of only 15 per cent. of the water power in Quebec and Ontario, so that it might need to import 150,000,000 tons if all water power were developed and used internally.

Mr. Smith answered this argument by stating that while it was generally known how indebted to the United States the Provinces of Quebec and Ontario were for consideration during critical times of coal shortages. The Canadian Government's Federal Fuel Board was endeavoring to reduce coal importations by suitable coking of bituminous coals, by the importation of British coal, by a more extensive use of Canadian coals from the Western and Maritime Provinces, and by the substitution of Hydro for steam generated energy. He believed that gradually the two provinces were becoming less and less dependent on United States fuels.

"The people of Canada would indeed be in a sorry plight if in twenty-five years hence their continued industrial development and domestic comfort were not only dependent upon the availability of United States coal, but also on the return of their own exported Hydro power," said Mr. Smith.

A THOUGHT.

ADDRESSED TO THE MATURE.

In youth the vision is short, for the films of life have only just started to unreel; in maturity there are great panoramic pictures to be reviewed at will.

In youth we are too close to the screen to always get the right perspective; in age a long distance view-point permits of seeing all the picture in the right light.

Maturity, I find brings revelations of many things that in youth were sorely perplexing, exasperating, soul-trying.

Maturity, I find, has many compensations, that made daily living easier for me and I believe easier and happier for those who come in contact with me. You who are older grown can understand, and in your understanding must surely have greater patience and fortitude with youth.

The blindness of youth may be excused for many reasons, but the older grown who cannot or will not see with understanding eyes are not worthy of much sympathy or deserving of much consideration.

OPEN LETTER NO. 21

RT. HON. W. L. MACKENZIE KING,
Prime Minister and President of the Privy Council,
Ottawa.

Dear Sir:

If you were in business, keeping store say in Newmarket, how would you like it if some outsider rented a place alongside of you for a month, moved in a bankrupt stock of goods to compete with yours, and then proceeded to slaughter it at prices away below what your goods had cost you? He would utterly demoralize your business for the time being, wouldn't he? And as a means of stopping that sort of thing, you'd probably be all in favor of legislation to double or treble the transient trader's tax such people have to pay.

With this illustration before you, perhaps you can better understand why Canadian manufacturers feel the way they do about the dumping of foreign goods on this market. Dumping demoralizes their business in the same way that selling off bankrupt stocks demoralizes business for the retailer. But whereas the transient trader must work out in the open, thus inviting enforcement to the limit of the tax applicable to him, the dumper gets in his work before the Canadian manufacturer, whose market he is spoiling, has any notice of what is going on.

The anti-dumping regulations can be reasonably well enforced as against certain staples, the current prices of which are regularly reported in the press. But there is seldom any occasion for dumping staples! If there has been an over-production of a staple in the United States, all the producers need to do is to curtail or discontinue production until demand has overtaken supply. Staples, real staples, depreciate little if any in value through being held over, and there would be no object in slaughtering prices on them, for export, when they could be sold in the domestic market, at regular prices, just by the exercise of a little patience!

But when there has been over-production of an article that is regularly produced in varying qualities, shapes, designs, or measurements, and particularly if its saleability depends in any degree upon conforming to a prevailing style, the carrying over of surplus stocks becomes a serious matter. Then it is that there is a real incentive to dump—to get rid of the goods before their value depreciates too much! Under such circumstances, most producers are content to dispose of the goods at their bare labor and material cost, fearing that if they delay, they may not be able to get even that much!

How can we expect our customs officials to be sufficiently expert, as judges of quality, style and value, to be able to detect all or even most cases of dumping due to such causes? Granted that a few of them become expert in judging values in a few lines, when those lines come from the United States where language, currency, measurements and business practices are the same as in Canada, are those few likely to be equally expert in judging the values of goods coming say from Germany, where language, currency, measurements and business practices differ widely from ours?

And remembering that power to accept entries is vested in 150 collectors from the Atlantic to the Pacific—to say nothing of the small army of clerks and sub-collectors who work under them—and remembering also that success in enforcing the anti-dumping regulations depends upon every one of these collectors, clerks and sub-collectors being at least a fair judge of values in all lines, regardless of where the goods come from, isn't it a foregone conclusion that our system won't work—that under it considerable dumping is bound to continue?

United States producers don't suffer from the dumping of foreign goods, because they depend, not on special regulations to meet special cases, but on a tariff that is sufficiently high to protect them in all cases! They have minimized the evils of dumping by adopting a high tariff that can be successfully administered by officials of less than average competency while we have magnified the evils of dumping by adopting a low tariff that cannot be successfully administered even by officials whose competency is well above the average!

The consequence is that we let them dump on our market, but they won't let us dump on theirs! Such is the unfairness of the situation that sometimes they intentionally over-produce, and dump their surplus here, just to avoid having to lay their workers off for a brief spell!

Must we continue to stand for a policy that forces Canadian workers to double their idle time in order to satisfy United States workers who prefer to have no idle time at all? Don't you think it's about time, Mr. King, that we stopped outsiders imposing on us the way they do?

Yours respectfully,

J. J. GIBBONS,
President.

ANNIVERSARY SERVICES.

Special Preacher Gave Two Inspiring Addresses at Bethany Church.

NORHAM, Oct. 14.—The anniversary services at Bethany on Sunday last were a splendid success. Rev. Wesley Jones of Warkworth preached two inspiring sermons, and in spite of the inclement weather, the church was comfortably filled for both services. The church was nicely decorated with house plants. A special choir furnished the music. Five male voices at the evening service sang, "The Wayside Cross." The thankoffering amounted to $90.00.

Rev. James N. Lovelace of Roseneath preached in Norham at 11.00 a.m. on Sunday morning.

Mr. Lorne Evans had the misfortune to loose a fine horse on Monday morning.

Rev. J. F. and Mrs. Everson motored to Peterboro on Tuesday to attend a meeting of the Cobourg Presbytery, held in Knox United Church, and the sessions of the first meeting of the Bay of Quinte Conference held in Trinity United Church on Tuesday evening and the two following days.

The Mission Band on Saturday took the form of a birthday party for Miss Hilda Palmateer and met in her home at 2.30 p.m. There were fourteen of the members present, who presented Miss Hilda with a number of dainty little gifts. The study of the second chapter of the Mission Study Book formed an important part of the program. Arrangements were made for the holding of a Hallowe'en masquerade social. Mrs. David Evans, Mrs. Clarence Brenton, Miss Clair Curtis and Miss Dora Palmateer were appointed to prepare the program. Lunch was served at the close of the meeting.

OLD BRIDGE NOT STRONG ENOUGH FOR HUGE TRUCK

Gave Way, Throwing Five-Ton Truck Vehicle Into Creek Near Orland.

NO PERSON HURT.

Material For Construction of New Bridge Ready at Scene of Accident.

ORLAND, Oct. 15.—A five ton truck went through the bridge on the fourth line of Brighton township over Breakaway creek, about half a mile east of Orland, shortly after noon to-day. Neither of the two men on the truck was injured, although the driver, S. J. Stubbs, of Toronto, was badly shaken up.

The truck, which is owned by the Highway Transport Company, of Toronto, was laoded with bathroom supplies for Kingston and roofing for C. Terrill, who lives about two miles east of the scene of the accident. A gang of men have been working at the truck since the time of the accident and expected to get the truck back to the road by noon to-day. The damages to the truck were very heavy, the drop being about six feet. Only the consignment to Mr. Terrill brought the truck off the Kingston road to the less travelled concession line.

The weakness of the bridge had been known for some time, and the material needed to build a new bridge had been on the scene for several months. Members of the township council viewed the scene of the accident yesterday.

3 TRAINMEN KILLED PASSENGERS HURT

Belief That the Train Was Wrecked After Striking an Open Switch.

WHEELING, W. Va., Oct. 15.—(Canadian Press).—The cause of the wreck on the Pennsylvania Railroad near here late yesterday, in which three trainmen were killed and several passengers slightly injured, has not been determined, but it is believed that the train struck an open switch. The locomotive, baggage car and two coaches overturned. Railroad officials are conducting an investigation.

The dead:

Michael Daugherty, Steubenville, Ohio, engineer.

Lawrence Bailey, Steubenville, Ohio, fireman.

O. B. Hays, Wheeling, foreman of engines, Wheeling division.

The three trainmen were scalded to death when the engine overturned. The fact that the passenger coaches of the train, which was running between Pittsburgh and Wheeling, were of steel, probably accounts for the small number of injured among the passengers, some of whom were bruised and shaken up. The baggage car, which was demolished, was of wooden construction.

First reports of the wreck said that the baggagemaster, L. O. Young, of Carnegie, Pa., had also been killed, but he had stepped into the smoker a few minutes before the wreck and escaped uninjured.

Hays, according to railroad officials, was on an inspection trip.

ENGINEERS TALK POWER EXPORT AT CONVENTION

American Argues Exportation is Beneficial to Both Nations.

KEEN DISCUSSION.

Ontario and Quebec Will Face Shortage Within Twenty-five Years.

MONTREAL, Que., Oct. 15.—(Canadian Press).—Leading engineers of Canada and the United States, delegates to the convention here of the American Society of Civil Engineers, yesterday staged an argumentative battle on the subject of the exportation of Canadian water power to the United States. The discussion followed remarks by Ira W. McConnell, vice-president of the Dwight P. Robinson Company of New York, who endeavored to show that this exportation would be beneficial to both nations, arguing that there are hundreds of millions of kilowatt-hours 'running to waste' every year in Canada. To this assertion, Julian C. Smith vice-president of the Shawinigan Water and Power Company, replied that there is no waste so long as no development and no money has been spent.

Mr. Smith refuted another argument of Mr. McConnell that there was no threat of a shortage of water power in either Quebec or Ontario and that its exportation across the border would benefit Canada by stating that the export of power would, on the scale desired by American promoters, provide the United States with a supply of low-priced energy which would serve to build up industrial communities in direct competition with Canadian centres. Also, if the combined power requirements of the Provinces of Quebec and Ontario are met without regard for provincial boundaries, all available and economical power sites within striking distance of the international boundary will be under development within twenty-five years to meet wholly Canadian requirements, so that within a generation Canada, instead of having surplus power, would be contending with serious power shortage. In conclusion, Mr. Smith said:

"If the most desirable and largest

VIOLENT FINISH TO A POKER GAME

Two Young Men Convicted of Assault and Robbery in Windsor.

SENTENCE THIS WEEK.

WINDSOR, Ont., Oct. 15.—(Canadian Press).—Thomas J. Irvine, 21 years old, 222 Cortland Avenue, Detroit, and Jack Kreig, 20, of 142 Josephine Avenue, Windsor, were convicted by Magistrate W. E. Gundy in Police Court at Windsor yesterday of assaulting and robbing Harry Miller, 17 years old, 532 Aylmer Avenue, in a poker game at Miller's home early Monday.

The others are to be sentenced late this week and face a prison term of from two to five years. Miller appeared in the witness box by Kreig, he declared. He was robbed of $17.

"You are lucky you are not facing a charge of homicide," Mr. Gundy told Kreig when he went on the witness stand to deny Miller's story of the attack. "Your account of what took place is a lie from beginning to end."

Scotland Gets Big Meteorite Fell in Greenland in 1918

ABERDEEN, Scotland, Oct. 15. — The third largest meteorite in the world has just arrived here from Greenland on board the Danish schooner Sokongen. Nobody here has yet seen the stone, but Captain Pederson of the Sokongen says that it weighs seven tons.

Eskimos are credited with the statement that the meteorite fell in 1918, and that they had been dragging it towards the coast on dog sledges since 1923.

Captain Pederson said he had much trouble in steering his vessel to Aberdeen, because the stone deflected the compass.

JAIL BREAKERS WILL FACE TRIAL

POLICE EVIDENCE.

WINNIPEG, Man., Oct. 15 (Canadian Press)—John Stonton, Alex Shupeniuk, and George Labodiur, who effected their escape from the provincial jail here on October 6, were yesterady committed for trial on charges of jail breaking. All three pleaded "not guilty" when arraigned last Monday on a charge of escaping fom legal custody. Stanton and Shupeniuk, both of whom are facing murder charges, elected trial by jury and Labodiur a summary hearing. Yesterday they agreed to the taking of all evidence at the same time.

Inspector Smith of the Provincial Police force testified that Stanton had told him that the saws with which hey severed the cell cars were in their possession for about two months. That the cutting occupied about two weeks and the saws broken up and thrown down the sewer.

According to Charles Galsky, a "trustie' Labodiur thrust a small revolver in his ribs when he interrupted the jail-breakers in the act of gagging the two jail turnkeys. Labodiur, according to the witness, told him that there were eight prisoners ready to make their get-away and had said that if necessary "we don't mind killing a guard or two to get free."

The trio arraigned today were captured three days after their escape.

Correcting Mr Peck

MISLEADING STATEMENTS IN PROPAGANDA FROM OPERA HOUSE BLOCK DO NOT HOLD WATER

and ... be much ... of getting work done, moved across the lines. The ravages caused by the policies of the King government were apparent in the woollen business. People are buying and using imported fabrics coming from countries where wages are low, hours long, and living conditions insufficient. The claims of the industries for protection should not be ignored. Protection would infallibly be the means of increasing wages, and in turn, men and women, earning, would have money to expend on living necessaries and comforts. All would be benefited.

This is only one of many mis-statements of the same case issued or spoken by Mr. Peck in the last two weeks, giving the impression that the present Government is flooding the country with imported fabrics.

As a Matter of Fact

there have been millions of dollars worth less fabrics imported during the term of the present Government than under the Government for which Mr. Peck stands. Here is the record from Canada Year Book, 1924:

During the year 1924 Canada imported $5,115,000 worth less PRINTED, DYED or COLORED FABRICS than in 1921 under Mr. Meighen.

During the year 1924 Canada imported $534,000 worth less WOOLLEN or WORSTED YARNS than in 1921 under Mr. Meighen.

During the year 1924 Canada imported $554,000 worth less FABRICS of WOOL or COTTON and WOOL than in 1921 under Mr. Meighen.

Or in Other Words

Mr. Peck will find that Mr. Meighen's Administration flooded the country with $20,000,000 worth more WOOL and WOOL PRODUCTS, and $70,000,000 worth more TEXTILES than this Government brought in.

And that $20,000,000 worth more WOOLLENS and $809,000 worth more CARPET that was brought in under Mr. Meighen's Government came into direct competition with the wool product factories and the Brinton Carpet Company of Peterborough, taking so much more money out of the pockets of Peterborough workers.

It is no wonder the textile business of Canada is just getting on its feet! With a handicap of $70,000,000 more competition allowed without a protest by Mr. Meighen, it is a marvel that there is any textile industry left in Canada!

It Is Not Like Mr. Peck

to deliberately mislead the public. His personal and business reputation for integrity would not suggest that course. But his failure to inform himself fully before allowing so monstrous a statement to be printed under his name is no recommendation to his trustworthiness as a representative of Peterborough West in Parliament.

MR. GORDON CAN BE DEPENDED UPON to inform himself on important matters such as this before committing himself or his Riding. He is DEPENDABLE. And, then, having ascertained the facts, he proceeds sanely to bring about the best results.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 15.—(United Press).—Leon Trotsky, 59, erstwhile resident of Odessa, Russia, has filed a petition in court here to have his name changed to Thorpe.

The petitioner is now a local jeweler. The fact that his name is identical with that of the Soviet official did not prompt the change, he announced, but a desire to have the name already adopted by two sons led to the petition.

Easy To Gain Weight With Yeast and Iron

New Combination of Yeast With Vegetable Iron Builds Up Weight in Three Weeks

Thin, run-down and underweight men, women and children can improve their health, increase their energy and put on from five to twenty pounds of good solid flesh in three weeks.

A new combination of yeast vitamines with vegetable iron, renews the action of sluggish blood cells, drives out dangerous body poisons, increases energy and endurance and supplies the system with the vitamines that build up weight.

For years yeast has been known as a rich vitamine food, but not until we perfected "ironized yeast"—which comes in concentrated tablet form, was it possible to take yeast and iron in the right proportions to build up weight.

Vegetable "Iron" when combined with yeast is quite easy to digest, therefore better for the system. And "yeast" when ironized, becomes just twice as beneficial as ordinary fresh or cake yeast.

Ironized Yeast tablets are composed of concentrated food elements, therefore they are pleasant to take and free from drug-like effects. It makes no difference how old you are—or how young you are—how long you have been under-weight—or how much underweight you are, "ironized yeast" tablets are positively guaranteed to pick you right up, and add from five to twenty pounds of good firm flesh in three weeks' time. If they fail get your money back.

Sold by druggists, at $1.50 for a large 60-tablet package, or sent direct from laboratory on receipt of price. Harold F. Ritchie & Co., Ltd., Toronto.

For Deep Chest Colds

All colds should be treated with vapors, for vapors alone can carry the medication DIRECTLY to the air passages and lungs.

Vicks is a "vapor" treatment in salve form. For deep chest colds you first apply hot wet towels over throat and chest to open the pores, then massage briskly with Vicks for 5 minutes, spread on thickly and cover with a flannel cloth.

Vicks not only penetrates like a poultice or plaster but the ingredients, vaporized by the body heat, are inhaled all night long.

MUCH HOMEWORK TEACHER'S FAULT

TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 13 (Canadian Press).—Where school children are still overburdened with a large amount of home work, the fault is that of the teacher and the local school authorities. This was the statement made recently by Premier Ferguson. "Of course, he added, "it was never the intention of the Department to do away with home work entirely. The intention was to wipe out the idea in the minds of some teachers that the children ought to have enough home work to occupy them for the balance of the day.

Stranger Than Fiction

THE BOY WHO DREAMED

Little white flags and red and green spoke to the engine drivers. The rails hummed and the up express flashed through and beyond into the rolling country of the Midlands; or the song of the rails died out and the 6.48 came to rest, with the guards hurrying down the platform, opening doors. Then the lad in a coat too small for him came from the corner of the station where he tucked his book away with care, and the first-class passengers with their well-strapped luggage gave him sixpenny bits or bigger and never looked at him, and third-class passengers gave him tuppence and a sharp, commanding glance.

The youth went back to snatch a paragraph from his book before a goods van dumped its pile on the platform, a hill to be taken apart and carted and sorted and noted; addresses and legends and cryptograms such as "O.R." and "C.R." which meant owner's risk and company's risk.

Sometimes the station master, with a nod at the young porter, would say to some one from down the line: "He's got ambitions, he has." The visitor would set himself to laugh. "He's going to be a medical man, he is," the station master went on. Then they would laugh together. Not a dull lad. If he minded his P's and Q's and got over being moonstruck he might get up in the world in time, might become a guard. But no, being a railway servant wasn't good enough for him. They would laugh again, and then trail off into politics because the young porter bore the names of Gladstone, William Ewart.

To them the line was the line, the be-all and end-all. To the youth snatching moments in his book, the men had nothing in them to satisfy his passion for searching out causes and motives, and to him the line was what it was to its passengers, a thing to be ridden and left behind. Yet how left behind? Eighteen shillings a week, plus tips—that was the present at this station in Derbyshire, with its crates and luggage. The young man thought in terms of guineas. Better than an time table itself he knew the schedule of fees for those who walk the hospitals. And there was the schooling before one becomes an intern, and one's living during the years of study.

"He'd be an ornament in a sixpenny surgery, he would; you couldn't taste his physic," and again they laughed.

But the young man in his mind walked in Harley Street. How he did not know. A miracle perhaps; a Nobel Prize for medicine, £7,500 bestowed without warning for—for what? Facts brought his dream up short. He said nothing. There was nothing to say.

Then the road became shorter. One can save, even on a wage of a few shillings. The day came when he rode down the line and entered London. With his hand on his lean purse he strode past the dark streets of St. Pancras and, finding his way at last to London Bridge, stood gazing on the walls of Guys Hospital, touched with the same fierce hope and determination which has burned in other lads since a philanthropist's luck, in the form of winnings in the South Sea Bubble, gave Guy's to London.

The distance was shortened; the lad stood now beside the walls. Guy's and the great hospital in Mile End Road and St. Bartholomew's in Smithfield—which? He remembered again; "Entrance fee, £28; fees, 220 guineas or 48 guineas annually over a period of four years." Years, years—the intermediate years at the university, five years at best for a medical education, more likely seven, even with luck. How many more if one had to take what offered, something in a nursing home, or drudging in a doctor's office in Queen Anne Street, an informal apprenticeship, answering letters and all but blacking boots? And even now he was not ready to begin.

Something gripped his heart. The youth turned away from the blank walls of the hospitals. Were there enough years in all one's life for this task?

Yet, when he rode once again over the rails that lead from London, it was not to go back to the little station in the Midlands. The guards ran, opening the doors, and the young man watched porters trudging on the platforms, and remembered the names of tools and the marks that one must watch on parcels, but the initials that were stamped in his mind now were not O.R. and C.R., but B.Sc., Bachelor of Science—and a schoolmaster. Let them call it usher if they wished; the term did not matter. It meant work with time for study. Beyond that lay the university and medicine. If there were years enough.

And as miraculously as a Nobel Prize to an unschooled youngster, fortune came to him. There was a man he knew. "I wish that my name would live, would become famous," said this man. The railway porter, B.Sc., nodded. "I am not famous, nor will be; I have no childen. You will be famous some day. I can see that. I will leave you what money I have if you will take my family name as your own."

On Christmas Day a man in a white jacket studied a filter pass in a laboratory in London's Mill Hill. At the old Dissenters' school close by the most ambitious youth had put aside his grubbing for scholarships, but the man of 40 in the laboratory had no holiday except his work. The rest of the world turned to laughter and reminiscence; he gave no thought to a railroad platform in Derbyshire, nor to the theatre at the University of Edinburgh where he had first studied cancer under old Bennett, nor the years of tutoring and the scholarships, and the first triumphs of his reseach into the nervous system and the effects of rust. It was a holiday for the world but not for an eager man who had too often to start again at the beginning, through thousands of experiments.

He held a microphotograph to the light and saw there what no eye could ever see, even at the microscope—a photograph of organisms trapped into visibility by rays of light too thin for sight to catch.

"I think we've got it this time," he said aloud, and hurried on eagerly.

This is the personal story of Dr. W. E. Gye who, working under the auspices of the Medical Research Council of Britain, isolated the cancer germ and thereby won great distinction. It is not fiction, but fact.

"Why I Should Vote Conservative"

Bring Our Boys and Girls Back Home

Give them work in Canada

THE CREAM of our youth, fresh from our schools and colleges, are leaving the homes that have raised them, are forsaking the country that has educated them, and are throwing in their lot with Canada's greatest rival.

Canada educates these young men and young women at the public expense—brings along a new lot of them every year—for what? For Uncle Sam to take his pick! And the irony of it is that when he gets them, he frequently employs them at tasks that result in loss of business, loss of employment, to people in the country of their birth.

Our boys and girls should have the opportunity of getting work and of making careers for themselves in Canada. The breaking up of families and the loss of our best blood to the United States must stop.

REV. DR. GEORGE C. PIDGEON CONFIRMS WISDOM OF CHOICE

His life-giving energy the body was built up, just as there was a potential oak in every acorn and the influences of sun and soil release those elements within it. As Paul said, Christ is the life by which we are built up. All who partake of that life are His, and hence belong to one another.

That truth, as enunciated then, was entertained without reservation in a time when the chasms between sections were wider than now. There is unknown to-day a division such as separated slave from owner. That declaration was made at a time when every border line was a battle line. It was made at a time when the beating of a nation into subjection was the height of ambition. There were race barriers also, as is shown by a tablet which declared that the death penalty awaited as punishment which would descend on the alien who trespassed on the ground where that tablet stood. There were class distinctions—some relations which Paul faced with the steadfast dictum that anyone—Jew or Greek, Bond or Free, Male or Female—all were one in Christ. Thus Paul, in one of the loftiest flights of the human soul, scrapped national, social and sex barriers, classifying all as equals in Christ and equal in one another.

Dr. Richard Roberts, Mr. Pidgeon said, had preached a sermon on this topic, and had enlarged upon two main ideas embodied in the central theme.

There existed, he said, first, the Divine Grace and, second, the Divine Society, the former the base of the Pauline Gospel, and the latter, the edifice erected upon it. The Roman Church emphasizes the Divine Society at the expense of the Divine Grace, and the Protestant church emphasizes the Divine Grace at the expense of the Divine Society. Accordingly, the tendency in the Protestant Church has been toward disintegration. A church can never reach the summit to which it should attain until it solves the true synthesis of the two relationships and grants the inter-dependence of the one with the other.

Paul's Conviction.

That all approaches to God had been effected in the miraculous fashion which he had experienced was the belief of Paul. Nothing else interfered in his priciples—he had had direct access to God through Jesus. Thus he evolved the idea that Union with God was first, while Union with men followed as a natural consequence.

John and Wesley had built up great churches through their convictions. They didn't want a rupture with the church, but preferred that to breaking with the conscience. When they did break away from the parent body it was the sacrifice of the union with men for that with God.

A critic had said that the present move in the churches might lead to Unitarianism. If men could agree on doctrines of Grace, Union then became a matter of Christian obligation; Union could never have happened if the churches had not been at one with one another. It was the first time in history that a church had been daring enough to take vital truths and make those the basis of a united life.

Paul's outburst to the Galatians did more for the church than had been done for many years previous to that time. Just as, when contending for some root principle, one presents the facts with all possible heat, so did Paul thunder forth his beliefs to the Galatians.

Following a period of thought, the central truth analyzed itself more clearly, so that in his subsequent letter to the Romans is found a cool and more comprehensive statement of his conclusions.

Seeing that, to effect a union was impossible, Paul re-established the old communion, to show that the Gentiles were one with the Jews, wherein settlements were made by a presentation from the man around whom the difficulty centred.

Imprisoned for Belief

As a consequence of his statements Paul was thrown into prison and while there his theory clarified to the extent that in his epistle to the Ephesians, he reached the final conclusion that those united in God were united in one another.

The trouble with the past churches was, said the Moderator, that it had never followed Paul beyond Galatians. Sectarian division put an artificial barrier between Christ and those who sought him and media were to cut between individuals and God in the same way. What separates brother from brother, separates both from God."

Each church had a spiritual treasure peculiar to itself, so by the very act of union with one another, they had opened a way to unity with God, which they never enjoyed before. If all members were prepared to carry out the idea to a logical conclusion, then the United Church would become a uniting church dooming sectarianism.

Should Be Broad-Minded.

The new church should be capable of absorbing opposing types and members should feel that the union was a result of differences and not effected in spite of them. Different elements were necessary in order that the outlook might be viewed from every angle and obtain all possible scope of spiritual experience. In this way the new union broadened the church. It must be broad enough to take in all possible exigencies, else some sect would be borne to build upon the neglected principle.

There is a place in the United Church, Mr. Pidgeon said, for the austerely ethical expounding of Christian truths, and the church would be immeasurably poorer if it lost the emotional expression of religious fervor. It must have the magnificence of the forest and not the precise stiffness of a clipped hedge.

As true union depends on union with the Head, then the Vital Union with Christ is the very basis of the Church. The General Council says that the three constituents were united as a church because of the urge of a great spiritual consciousness. So fostered, it is the duty of the church now, to proceed forward.

Christ expresses His self through the individual and, this being so, each individual must find and fill some certain place in the scheme of affairs. The church in which the spirit of a community is expressed must meet the true religious need of that community, accepting responsibility for such, so that the true Canadian spirit may be expressed religiously.

Having had a parentage of churches with a nation-wide scope, now when they are one the whole need of Canada lies before it. Men will come here in millions, and this is the only body to accept the responsibility of their Christian citizenship. Missionaries cannot be given over to the separatists, but the United Church must accept the task undertaken by the three churches as units.

Individual efforts were poor and weak, but they gave an occasion for the improvising power of God, who in his accompaniment could make men "more than conquerors through Him that loved them."

HON. JOHN S. MARTIN FORMALLY OPENED NORWOOD'S EXHIBITION BEFORE CROWD OF ABOUT 8,000

Ontario's Minister of Agriculture Regards Rural Fairs as Asset to Farm Industry.

A BIG SUCCESS.

57th Annual Exhibition Had All Evidences of Being the Best.

NORWOOD, Oct. 15.—Hon. John S. Martin, Ontario's Minister of Agriculture, in the address with which he formally opened the 57th annual exhibition of the East Peterboro Agricultural Society here yesterday, pronounced his approval of fall fairs as a practical means of stimulating interest in agriculture, and assigned to them a definite place in his Department's policy of attracting farmers to show their stock and produce at the national exhibitions in Canada.

Speaking twice to some hundreds of the crowd which was variously estimated at all the way up to 8,000 or more, Hon. Mr. Martin said that such a Fair as Norwood's formed a necessary link between the rural school fairs, which were designed as a sort of kindergarten in agriculture, and the national exhibitions, which brought out the very best of Canada's farm products.

"I have heard a great deal of Norl wood's fair," said the Minister, who was introduced by the President of the Exhibition, Mr. P. M. Grover, "for your fame has traveled far. A good deal has been said about the centralization of fairs, but personally I believe the smaller fairs are doing a splendid work, and it should be the chie. concern o. the directors that they should be maintained as a real asset toward the improvement of agriculture in this province. They have their social side, too, in bringing the people of the country together, and that is a very desirable feature, but from the standpoint of our rural industry I think of their main purpose as a medium of setting before the people models of farm stock and other products for every enterprising farmer to aim at."

Mr. Martin said that, as a farmer and as the head of the Department of Agriculture, he was aware of the usefulness of a fair like Norwood's, which was known as one of the best in its class in Ontario, as a link between the school and township fairs, and the larger exhibitions such as those at Peterboro, London, Ottawa, and the summer and winter exhibitions at Toronto. The Department believed that beginning with the school fairs the young people of the farms would be encouraged to become exhibitors at the national shows. Step by step their confidence would be developed as exhibitors until in the end they placed their stock in competition with the best in the Dominion. And while this feature was paramount, at the same time the amusements of the fairs were necessary as an attraction to the general public and as a means of obtaining the money for the payment of the prize-winners.

"Legitimate amusements have their place at our fairs, but there is no excuse for the introduction of features of a gambling nature, and the Department is opposed to any attractions that are not clean and wholesome. From what I know of the Norwood exhibition, I feel that your directors have always had that in mind."

Marketing Facilities.

Hon. Mr. Martin said the people of Ontario were grateful for the splendid crops of the last few years, with the abundance that had been reaped in the present harvest, and he proceeded to outline some of his Department's plans for the further assistance of agriculture. He especially mentioned the necessity of developing better facilities for marketing the farmers' products, and illustrated the opportunities in that direction by reference to the accomplishment of the Co-operative Fruit Growers' association of Norfolk county. Last year they had sold their apples such as Spies, Snows, Pippins and other varieties at an average of $6.25 net a barrel, and the lowest price for others was $4. These prices were obtained because the apples had been picked and packed properly.

With a good crop of apples this season many farmers did not know how or where they could sell them to the best advantage. The Department hoped to extend the co-operative marketing system, not only in regard to fruits but to other commodities of the farms. Agriculture today demanded of farmers knowledge and skill, said Mr. Martin. For every crop there were enemies that must be defeated, and for that reason Ontario needed intelligent farmers, and the Department of Agriculture through its district representatives and by other means desired to lend every possible guidance and assistance. The hope of agriculture was in the children. They had a great opportunity before them in following up farm work along the best modern lines, and while the boys were learning the science of agriculture, the girls were learning domestic science, and their efficiency in the homes would make for greater happiness when they take their mothers' places.

Hon. Mr. Martin was accompanied to Norwood by W. H. Bradburn, M.P.P., E. A. Peck and Roland Denne, and there he met Col. T. D. Johnston, M.P.P. for East Peterboro, Dr. Embury, the Conservative candidate in Hastings-Peterboro, and his opponent, G. A. Brethen.

The directors in their satisfaction from the visit of the Minister of Agriculture probably did not tell him of their disappointment that he did not arrive in time for the luncheon at which they had planned to welcome him. That little detail, however, was forgotten at the Fair grounds, where Hon. Mr. Martin manifested a practical farmer's interest in every branch of the exhibition. Not only did he formally open it, but at the request of the directors he spoke a second time from another stand where the children of the village and township schools were giving their programme of music and drills.

Splendid Weather.

Norwood flirts with the weather in deferring its Exhibition until mid-October, but yesterday they had no regrets. The attendance had all the appearance of a record, and the grounds presented all the frills of the big Fairs with two rows of concessionaires, one of which was occupied by the Maple Leaf carnival show, including a ferris wheel, merry-go-round and other amusements. Even at half past five, President Grover was unable to announce the attendance, but all the officers were highly delighted with the assurances of a big success. The perennial secretary, Jack Roxburgh, probably strained his back toting to the bank last night the bulging gate receipts, and at the end of the day the directors had plans on their new sheet for a better midway than ever next year.

Caledonians' Concert.

Peterboro's Caledonian Pipe band entertained a large section of the crowd with their selections and a varied musical programme including vocal solos by Bob Hendry and Jack Smith with choruses by the other members, several readings by little Joe Leith, and dances by Miss Isa Thompson, including the sword dance, Highland Fling and Shewn Truis. The Pipers did not stint their entertainment, and were easily one of the big features of the midway.

School Contests.

From the same platform the final competition in public speaking, the preliminary rounds of which had been held at the school fairs, was decided as follows:—1st—Ivan Drain of Warsaw, a boy of perhaps 13 years, who spoke on the value of an education; 2nd—Eva McNeilly of S.S. No. 1, Belmont, whose subject was a historical sketch of Peterboro county; 3rd—Ralph Archibald of Keene, whose subject was "Oysters." The children all spoke with surprising facility and fluency, and with apparently real knowledge of their subjects.

The singing contest for $10, donated by Dr. Embury, for the singing of "O Canada" was won by S.S. No. 9, Asphodel, of which Miss Bessie Brackenridge is the teacher, and S.S. No. 1, Asphodel, Miss May Hinton, teacher, was second.

The pupils of the fourth book of Norwood's public school, of which Mr. W. Wendt is teacher, performed folk dances and sang several choruses under the direction of the principal and to the piano accompaniment of Miss Ona Doxsee.

The Horse Races.

The three track events were closely followed by thousands of the spectators, providing close and exciting races, resulting as follows:—

Judges—I. M. Nattrass, Millbrook, and Dr. D. Munro, Warsaw.

In the exhibits the sheep class was heavy, and horses and cattle were satisfactory, but like most of the other fairs this year these classes were not crowded. The displays on the whole were good, and sustained the reputation of the Fair, but in the indoor section the flower show, calculated to the lateness of the season, called only for house plants. Some of the prize winners were listed as follows:—

ALDERMEN REFUSE

school should tell the citizens why the costs of operation of the Peterboro Collegiate were so exorbitant. He quoted the following rates per pupil in the Collegiates of similar rities: Guelph $68, Brantford $70, Kingston $82, and Peterborough $116, and said that the ratepayers were entitled to know why the costs in Peterborough were so much greater than those in the other cities.

The People Pay.

Alderman Greene said that the statement was made that the Government would pay so much. "We are the Government. The people of Ontario have to pay for these schools," he said, and the more there are through the province the dore that it would cost the people of the province.

Alderman Denne also expressed a belief that the school was needed, but thought that the people should have a chance to express an opinion. He said that the old South Central School should have been repaired as it would be needed for public school purposes at any rate. He denied that the building had ever been condemned as unfit for school purposes.

Alderman Fife said that the Aldermen had been studying the question for three years, and had then found it necessary to hold a special session to make a final decision with all the facts before them, and that they should take the responsibility and not leave it to the people, who had had no opportunity of studying the facts. His motion that a by-law should be prepared covering the raising of the money required was seconded by Alderman Meyers, but no one else supported the motion when a vote was called.

Not In Power Suit.

The request of the Colonial Weaving Company for permission to include the name of the City in a suit against the Campbell Flour Mills met with no support. The Aldermen concurred in the Mayor's statement that the City had been restrained from investigating the matter and had passed it on to the Utilities Commission. The reply of the Commission to the company, refusing to take part in the suit, was read, and the Aldermen voted unanimously not to allow the name of the City to be used.

No Action on Franchise.

The committee took no action on the request of Messrs. Fontaine and Mein for a bus franchise, and the only other item on the file, the H.E.P.C. proposal for the purchase by the City of the street railway and the gas plant, was left over as information requested from the Hydro has not yet been forthcoming.

Mayor Turner and Aldermen Greene, Denne and Phelan were appointed a committee to decide which of the polling places for the municipal elections should be placed in the public and separate schools of the city. The committee was also instructed to find out what difference the new plan would make in the cost of the election. Both boards agreed to allow the schools to be used for this purpose.

Mayor Turner presided and all the Aldermen were present.

When Is a Man Drunk? Asks English Committee

LONDON, Oct. 15.—(United Press).— Recommendations for new tests for drunkenness are shortly to be reported by Sir Charles Ballance, chairman of a committee recently appointed with the approval of the commissioner of police as a result of numerous disagreements recently between prisoners and police as to what constituted being drunk.

One man picked up by the police couldn't take three steps along the chalk line marked down on the station floor without getting way off the line. He swore he had been drinking nothing stronger than tea. The trouble he said was simply that his balance was off.

In another instance a jury discharged a man charged with drunkenness when a doctor testified he had seen the defendant smoke a cigaret with "deliberation and neatness" and that theerfore he couldn't have been drunk.

A further test—the precise pronounciation of the word—"anti-constitutionality"—has also led, it is said, to erroneous conclusions on the part of the police as to the state of a suspect's sobriety.

Less exacting tests such as whether a man is still able to move his little finger—sober if he can.....drunk if he can't—are, however, said to lean too far in the favor of the defense.

So the committee headed by Ballance are going to try to cut a mean between the "anti-constitutionality" test and the little finger test, and the result of their recommendations are being awaited with interest by the English public.

STEAMER ASHORE FULL OF WHISKEY

Owner Won't Lose as She Grounded on Canadian Territory.

BUFFALO, N.Y., Oct. 15.—(Canadian Press).—The steam launch Natilius went aground yesterday on Horse Shoe Reef, near the mouth of the Niagara River. Fire broke out aboard after her crew made their way ashore, and coast guardsmen, who extinguished the flames, said she was loaded with $15,000 worth of ale and whiskey.

As the vessel went aground in Canadian waters, the United States officials made no effort to confiscate the cargo. Collector of Customs Patterson of Fort Erie said the owners of the craft had reported the accident to him. The Natilius is said to have sailed from Port Maitland.

SYNOD OPPOSED TO SEPARATE SCHOOLS

Unity in Secondary Education is Cause of Great Benefits.

TORONTO, Oct. 15.—(Canadian Press).—It is because of the benefits derived by unity with the Roman Catholics and their help in higher education that it is dangerous to extend the principle of separation to the secondary schools.

This declaration by Chancellor J. A. Worrell was received with applause by the delegates of the sixth session of the Provincial Synod of Ontario at their meeting yesterday in St. James' Cathedral Parish Hall. The statement was made during a prolonged discussion in the lower house of the Synod brought about by a clause in the report of the Provincial Council dealing with the Church's attitude towards separate schools.

By final adoption of the clause the Synod re-affirmed the resolution passed at their last session held in London in 1922, which protested strongly against any extension of the separate school system.

HIGH PLANE SPEED ENDANGERS PILOTS

Medical Men Are Worried About Danger to Avaitors.

LONDON, Oct. 15. — (United Press).—Medical men attached to the flying forces of all countries are showing considerable anxiety at the speeds attained by airplanes.

Warnings have already been given by leading physicians that permanent injury and death will ensue if much higher speeds are attempted than the four miles a minute already attained.

Aviation experts have discovered that the greatest danger to a pilot from a health point of view is at the moment of "banking"—a turn at high speed.

It is known that the centrifugal force thrusts the pilot over on his his side and wrenches the blood out of the brain into the body.

The result is to disable the pilot for some seconds by a sharp swift spasm of brain anaemia. Everything goes dark before his eyes, and he may actually lose consciousness if his turn is too abrupt.

"Give me a Pen and I'll sign"

WHAT happened recently in a village town of 200 population happens in a thousand and one larger places every day.

A civil engineer and a promoter from distant cities sat with the local landowner in a small office. They had met to open a new town-site, and the papers were ready to sign.

"Now for a pen that will write," said one of the visitors.

"Here you are!" the other two chorussed, and each proudly pulled a Parker Duofold from his pocket.

The other man beamed with recognition, he signed his name, looked the pen over, and, before he left town, bought one like it.

FAIRMOUNT CHURCH KEPT ANNIVERSARY

Revs. J. W. Gordon and J. E. Todd, of Peterborough, Were Preachers.

MILLBROOK, October 15. — "All the world in all ages, has been seeking after God ,and has always been partially successful in finding Him. The non-Christian religions, though inadequate to meet the needs of men, are simply the expression of the mind in its search for God, and have led to a partial finding of Him; they are not wholly bad."

Preaching from the text found in Luke 15:1-7, The Parable of the Lost Sheep, "the most beautiful and comprehensive picture of God given in the Bible," Rev. J. W. Gordon, M. A., B.D., of St. Andrew's Church, Peterborough, began his sermon on Sunday evening, the occasion being the anniversary service of the Fairmount United Church. Rev. J. E. Todd, B. A., of George Street church, preached the morning sermon.

The story of the text, the speaker stated, in the course of a discourse strongly evangelistic in its nature, was spoken by the Saviour to outcasts, who had been kicked out of decent society by the Pharisees, yet it is the most beautiful story found in the Bible or anywhere else.

"What is God like? He is like a shepherd who seeks his flock, and is not satisfied until one hundred per cent are safely in the fold. He seeks all men, in all sorts of ways — by books, sermons, through mother's and friends' prayers, through sickness and anxiety, through various, and sometimes tedious ways, He is striving to bring us back to Himself. He takes advantage of every opportunity to lead us to lead who'y upon Him. we have gusts of shame, when we hate ourselves, and hang our heads in humiliation, and long to be better. These are but evidences of God seeking us, pulling us out of our selfishness and indolence, to a higher and nobler life."

Cloudy faces and worrying minds, said the speaker, are signs of lack of trust in God—they keep the whole family in hot water, and are effectual destroyers of happiness.

"Because thou hast made the Lord thy habitation, there shall no evil befall thee, neither shall any plague come nigh thy dwelling; for He shall give His angels charge over thee, to keep thee in all thy ways; they shall bear thee up in their hands lest thou dash thy foot against a stone."

"We can measure the extent of the anxiety of the seeker by his joy when the lost is found. God loves us and seeks anxiously for any straying one, because He believes us worth something. And God doesn't quit. If you find any passage in the Old Testament that is not in accord with the teaching of Jesus in the New it is a wrong conception of our Father. Did not Christ seek Judas to the very last?

"The way lambs get lost is the way people get lost—they don't know the way home—and that's what is the matter with lost people. The parable of the prodigal son has been given in three words—sick of home, homesick and home.

"The lives of some people seem to say to a community that the church is a sort of a fifth wheel to a cart, and they prosper without this impediment. Yet God's word, 'Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness for they shall be filled,' will find literal fulfillment and the reaping, after sowing, will be either with joy, or sadness with remorse."

The special music by the choir included an anthem, "While the Earth Remaineth," the selection, "I would Forever Speak His Name," Mr. Fleming of Peterborough, taking the verses as a solo, and the full choir joining in the refrain, and a solo, "Now the Day is Over," by Mr. Fleming, immediately following the sermon. Mrs. Murray McBain presided at the organ.

The fall flowers which banked the altar made an appropriate decoration for the anniversary occasion.

FAIRS AND FESTIVALS.

Public School Children and Members of Anglican Church Hold Events.

OMEMEE, Oct. 15.—Sunday, October 11, was a red letter day in the life of Christ Church, Omemee, for this was the annual Harvest Thanksgivina Services. The interior of the church was beautifully decorated with the lovely gifts of nature. Much thought and time had been spent in this labor and the result was a credit to the decorators, and a visible evidence of the goodness of an All-wise Creator. The Rev. J. D. Paterson of All Saints Peterborough, took the morning service. He spoke on the text, "Whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap," during which he drew attention to the fact that there is no failure in God's harvests. There is never a moment spent that does not have some effect on the time that is to be. If a man sows one thing he cannot expect to reap anything but that which he has sown. If we sow good things, then the harvest is good also, but if evil is the seed, then evil must the harvest be. The produce of that which is sown is always much larger than the seed, so one should be careful of what one sows.

After the sermon, the choir excellently rendered an anthem entitled: "And God said, 'Let the earth bring forth her increase'."

In the afternoon, Rev. Dr. Archer spoke on his missionary work in Bengal, India, where he spent eighteen years as doctor and missionary.

The evening service was taken by the Rev. A. T. Weir, the text for his sermon being: "I am Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the ending," saith the Lord. God is the beginning and the end of all things. No one who pauses to think of all the grandeur of nature, can for a moment doubt the existence of an all-powerful Being behind it all, and that Being cannot be anything but good and beautiful that creates these things in such abundance. The farmer, in pusruing his daily toil, is brought into close contact with nature, more so than any other occupation, and although things seem discouraging at times, one can always remember God never forgets.

Rural Fair.

A bright autumn day greeted the many equally bright students from five of the surrounding rural schools when they gathered last Wednesday afternoon for their annual Rural Fair. The parents, who are always most interested in the event, turned out in large numbers and Omemee presented a busy scene at noon hour on fair day.

Promptly at 1.30 o'clock the competing schools, in costume and holding proudly aloft their school banner, each bearing the name and number of its school, lined up and at the command of their teachers marched to Athletic Park, where they were judged for marching, school singing and school yell, after which the oral composition was judged.

The following is the order in which the schools were awarded prizes by the judges:

First prize, No. 13, Emily, Miss Reid, teacher; second prize, No. 9, Ops, Miss Jamieson, teacher; third prize, No. 10, Emily, Miss Carey, teacher; fourth prize, No. 8, Emily, Miss Wright, teacher; fifth prize, No. 11, Emily, Miss Tuck.

The prizewinning school children were invited to march forward again and lead in singing "O Canada," followed by the National Anthem.

Public Speaking Contest.

First prize, James McCall, No. 10, Emily; subject, "Donald MacMillan's Trip to the Arctic." Second prize, Gertrude Fee, No. 8, Emily; subject, "The House Fly." Third prize, Dorena Lowes, No. 8; subject, "Paper."

When judging the speaking contest, Mr. McKenzie congratulated the people on the splendid attention given, saying it was the best for any of the rural fairs attended this year. He criticized the young speakers on their subjects, delivery, manner, notes, etc.

Following the judging of schools, etc., various sports were indulged in. Owing to the fact that just at this juncture the tent, containing the school exhibits, was opened, and only a partial prize list could be obtained.

Girl drivers—1, Gertrude Fee, No. 8; 2, Grace Bell, No. 10; 3, Marion Storey, No. 10; 4, Reta Lowes, No. 8.

Young People Meet.

On Friday evening, October 9, the Peterborough District Council A. Y. P. A. were the guests of the Omemee branch. Delegates were present from Peterborough, Millbrook, Perrytown, Ida and Lakefield, the attendance being upwards of one hundred. The meeting was opened by the Rev. A. T. Weir with prayer. The President of the District was in the chair. The important business of the occasion was the election of officers for the ensuing year. The nominating committee presented a list which was practically unanimously accepted, the officers being:

President of District Council—Mr. Hope, Peterborough; 1st Vice-President—Mr. Graham, Peterborough; 2nd Vice-President—Mr. Stenner, Lakefield; Secretary—Miss Dawson, Peterborough; Treasurer—Miss I. Clemett, Omemee; Pub. Secretary—Mr. Beauclare, Peterborough.

The new officers then assumed their relative positions. Mr. Stone, the retiring president, stated that he hoped the Council would continue to extend both in new branches and in the great work for the church. The new President, Mr. Hope, then made a brief inaugural address. He spoke optimistically of the future, asserting his intention to be "on the job" during his tenure of office, and when the latter terminated he hoped that none would be able to say that time had been wasted. He was not adverse to criticism so long as that criticism was of a constructive nature.

The Secretary, Miss Dawson, made a few remarks, while the Treasurer, Miss Clemett, modestly declined the invitation to express any thoughts.

The business being dispensed with, those present were divided into various groups and a contest was held, af which refreshments were served.

The appreciation of the efforts of the Omemee A. Y. P. A. on this occasion was expressed by an enthusiastic handclap by the visitors, after which they all departed for home.

DUNSFORD SCHOOL FAIR.

Six Schools Combined to Make the Day an Outstanding Success.

DUNSFORD, Oct. 15.—Dunsford Rural School Fair was held last Friday, the ninth, and in spite of the disagreeable weather, a good crowd turned out to take part in the day's sports and to see the children arrayed in their Sunday best and taking such a grownup interest in what is to them one of the best days of the year.

Six schools rallied to the fair—Miss Cronk and her pupils from S. S. No. 1, Verulam; Miss Richardson and pupils from S. S. No. 2, Verulam; Mr Hugh Elliott and pupils from 3, Emily; Mr. Widdis and pupils from 16, Emily; Miss Smith and pupils from 11, Ops, and Miss Coad and pupils from No. 7, Fenelon.

The school parade was one of the chief attractions, each school carrying a banner to represent its own section. After the parade each school sang and gave their yell. It was quite evident that no effort of any teacher had been spared to make his or her school do their very best and, indeed, much credit is due all the teachers and pupils.

First prize was awarded to Miss Richardson and pupils of S. S. No. 2, Verulam, second prize to Mr. Widdis and pupils of 16, Emily, and third prize to Miss Cronk and pupils of 1, Verulam.

There were just three pupils who took part in the public speaking, Helen Burgess of No. 2, Verulam, took first prize, Morris Thurston of No. 3, Emily, second prize, and Mabel Thurston of 2, Verulam, took third prize.

There was quite a good showing of exhibits in the tent and all the children went home quite pleased with the day.

Strained Nerves are Starved Nerves

SOMETIMES we feel utterly incapable of further mental or physical effort; sometimes we feel irritable or depressed. In either case our nerves are strained and starved. This condition is due to an insufficient supply of those food elements which renew and restore the nerve tissues.

"Ovaltine" is used the world over to restore starved nerves. It provides a healthful, natural way of restoration. This delicious food beverage is an unique concentration of the vitalizing and energizing elements of ripe barley malt, creamy milk, fresh eggs and cocoa. It is assimilated without digestive effort and immediately imparts vitality and energy to the nervous system.

THAT FROSTY FELLOW.

Jack Frost's a funny fellow,
He works when I'm in bed;
He paints some things quite yellow,
And other things bright red.

His window fern and feather,
Are fancy forms of ice;
He seems to like cool weather;
I think he must be nice.

He works at night in Autumn,
His magic twinkle-white;
No one has ever caught him,
For Jack Frost is a Sprite.

—W. H. R.

When we are on the way to school in the clear cool air of Autumn mornings in Canada, and we happen upon some smooth board, all white with frost, just lying there before us, ready to be used for a swift, dashing slide, with maybe a fall and twenty laughs at the end of it, we should be very grateful to Jack Frost for his playfulness.

It seems that the trees and many plants must be touched by the magic of Jack Frost, in order to come to life in full bloom the next year. That is a funny thing, isn't it?

I always thought that Jack Frost was one of those comic jokers who play funny tricks in the early Fall and then keep playing tricks all winter, the tricks getting not quite so funny as the weather gets colder, but I was stupid and silly, for Jack Frost is just as kind as he is full of magic. We will talk about some wonderful things he does, to-morrow.

YOUR HEALTH

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M.D.,
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

A WAY TO DETERMINE YOUR LIFE SPAN.

A few weeks ago the New York State Department of Health put out some interesting facts relating to the expectation of life. The report mentions 1840 when the average age in New York was twenty-four and a half years. It contrasts this with 1925, when the estimated average age is thirty and a quarter years. This represents an increase of almost six years.

To have a gain of this amount there must be a material lengthening of life. It is probable the average duration of life has increased fifteen or twenty years since 1840.

These figures are so interesting that I will give you another encouraging statement. The expectation of life of a baby born in 1925 in New York City is almost ten years greater than it was in 1901.

Public health education has accomplished this. Perhaps I should say public health education plus voluntary and enforced practice of health giving methods.

The purification of the milk supply comes first among the measures which make for health. Pure water is given every community and the authorities demand protection of the foodstuffs. Some of the infectious diseases have been driven out by successful scientific attack.

Great improvement in health statistics may be accounted for by these community activities. But an even greater factor in increasing the expectation of life is found in the observance

Everybody knows now that you cannot be well if you have decayed and abscessed teeth, bad tonsils or neglected intestines. Ventilated sleeping and living rooms, the avoidance of dust and the practice of cleanliness are given thought by every well-informed person. Exercise, sunlight, sensible working hours, well balanced meals and appealing recreation have added years to every life.

The eight-hour day, one rest day in seven, a vacation every year and the avoidance of unnecessary fatigue are vital factors in the improved conditions. A more philosophical attitude toward life has done away with much unnecessary worry and fear.

You have it in your hands to determine—within reasonable limits, at least—how long you are to live. While the expectation of life may be much greater for the race, what it is to be for you individually depends on your own co-operation with the public officials.

FAMOUS FORTUNES

By Barbara Bayne

HETTY GREEN, THE GREATEST WOMAN FINANCIER OF HISTORY.

Evidence introduced in the Surrogate's Court in the course of the attempt of the State of New York to tax the estate of Mrs. Hetty Howland Robinson Green, after her death in 1916, throws a strong light upon the eccentricities of the world's richest woman, who was more oppressed by her wealth than was many an employe on her estates by his poverty:

"She never owned in New York so much as a three-legged stool in the way of a home, and she moved from one $10 or $15 week boarding house to another, in constant terror that her fellow-boarders would learn her identity. This woman, whose only offense Hetty Green Moving in a Neighborhood to Hide Her Wealth.

was that she was too rich, lived almost like a criminal dreading arrest . . . She lived under at least six assumed names, hoping to elude schemers and murderous cranks."

She certainly spent very little for clothes. The same rusty-black gown and shabby hat were as familiar on Wall street as the shrewd little old lady who wore them. Speaking of the latter she said:

"No, it isn't in style. But it is a perfectly good hat. I've worn it nearly ten years and it's going to do ten years more service." Into the black eyes that could dart such shrewd glances flashed a sly twinkle. The "woman wizard of finance" could smile very tenderly when off guard—a smile that quite transformed her from the financial genius of Wall street. "I was not cut out for a fashion plate, so I have never bothered about what I wear." Hetty thought her sex paid altogether too much attention to the things that didn't count, "tea-party nonsense".

Who, looking at her, would have guessed that she "was the woman who could make brilliant business men, learned in the financial game, sit up and figure far into the night to find out just how Hetty Green had won while they had been less fortunate."

Hetty Green's name never appeared on a charity list, but during the great Chicago strike she erected whole blocks of buildings to give the idle men employment. That was her practical way of dispensing charity. She believed in "helping the other fellow to hel phimself."

"Hetty Green," as she was familiarly known in the financial world, was born in 1835, in New Bedford, Mass. Her father left her a large fortune and in 1867 she married Edward H. Green, who also had amassed wealth as an exporter in the Philippines. Mr. Green died in 1902 and Hetty continued to pile up the millions for the daughter and the son, Col. E. H. R. Green, to inherit.

This remarkable woman was interested in nearly every large corporation and enterprise of magnitude all over the world. She owned a railroad in Texas and personally managed her large holdings of stocks, bonds and real estate.

Shortly before her death, though worth at least $100,000,000, she occupied a cheap flat in Hoboken. The world laughed at the amusing anecdotes told about her eccentricities and never suspected that her keen desire was for the world's esteem—to be understood.

But the desire to be understood is not allen to people who spend their lives piling up money. Like Hetty Green, people who are ostensibly misers will seek all their lives for the unadulterated "milk of human kindness."

Tomorrow's HOROSCOPE

By Genevieve Kemble

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 16.

Hostile forces again hold sway and may precipitate untoward and disruptive situations. There may be a tendency toward rash and impulsive acts, with sudden decisions. Disputes and impetuosity may lead to dangers of many kinds or to litigation. Intemperate and sarcastic speech may carry disagreeable penalties. Social, domestic and affectional affairs are under happier auspices.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year of inharmony and upheaval, precipitated mainly by ill-temper and sarcastic speech. Beware impulsive acts, litigation, and be on guard against accident. Personal matters should be happier. A child born on this day may be rash and tempestuous, but energetic, resourceful and well liked. It should be given early training and discipline in self-control and amiability.

GOOD NIGHT STORIES

BILLY BEAVER TAKES A TRIP WITH SQUEEDEE.

When Squeedee stopped at Billy Beaver's dam and found Billy in tears, he hardly knew what to do.

"Why, Billy Beaver, why in the world are you crying?" he asked.

"Oh, Squeedee," sobbed Billy Beaver, "I'm so sick of this broad, flat tail of mine, I just wish I could cut it off. I've tried ever so long to get this wall finished and my old broad tail seems to always be in the way."

"Tut, tut, tut," said Squeedee, patting Billy Beaver's brown head. "I'm sure you wouldn't know how to act if you had no tail at all. That just makes me think, Billy. Have you ever seen your cousin, Mountain Beaver?"

"Never knew I had such a cousin," laughed Billy Beaver. Just seeing the little elfin had put him in a better humor. "Where does he live? Can't we go and pay him a visit? Maybe

"You Don't Need a Long Tail."

I'll feel more like work when I come home."

Squeedee laughed merrily, and before Billy Beever knew what was going on he found himself standing beside Squeedee in a strange part of the country, in front of a little hole in the side of the hill.

"Come on out, Stubtail, and meet your cousin, iBlly Beaver," laughed Squeedee. The owner of the little underground house came out, and Mountain Beaver. "My, I shouldn't for a second Billy couldn't believe his eyes. His cousin had no tail like his, only a little tiny stub of a tail.

"It's all I need," laughed Stubtail know how to act if I had a tail like yours, cousin. But I guess we are all built to best suit our needs. I suppose if I lived like you fellows do I'd need a long tail, too. But come on in, fellows," and he led Squeedee and Billy Beaver into his underground house. After winding through one long tunnel after another they came to Mrs. Stubtail's den. Here, on a nest of dried fern leaves, she rested with her three little Mountain Beavers.

"Funny you folks look more like Johnny Muskrat than you do like me," laughed Billy Beaver. "Guess it's your short tail that makes the difference. But you don't need a long tail to build an underground house."

"Why don't you stay here and build near us?" asked Mrs. Stubtail Beaver.

"No," chuckled Billy Beaver, "I believe I'd better get back to my house. Come and see me sometime. Maybe you'll change your mind and build a dam like mine."

Bidding his cousins good-by, Billy Beaver trotted home beside Squeedee. "Not me," he laughed when they had reached the beaver dam. "No, I'd rather live like I do than like my cousins. Then, besides, I don't believe I'd like a stub tail," and laughing merrily he gathered up another stick and whisked away to finish up his house.

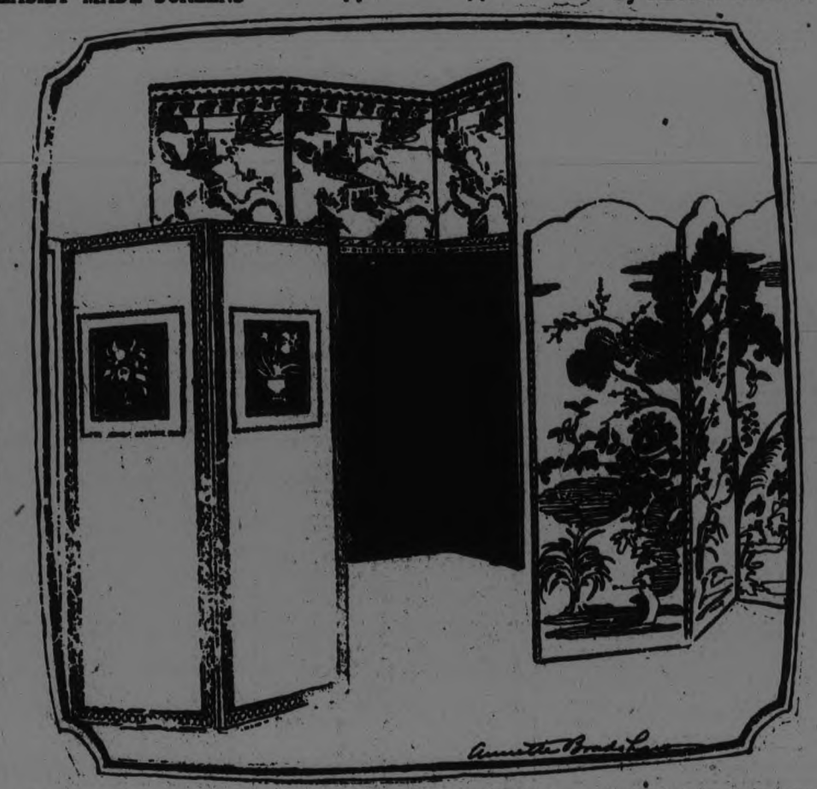
EASILY MADE SCREENS

By Annette Bradshaw



I wonder how many people realize the effective arrangement of a room that can be made with a few carefully chosen screens? There was a time when these were supposed to be a luxury only for the very rich. But now one can make the most effective screens at home at less than half the cost of buying them.

There may be a dark corner of the room which doesn't look just right. You may have a chair and a lamp, but the something to give the final touch is lacking. Stand a screen behind the chair and the whole atmosphere of the room is changed. You may have a door that breaks into the room at just the wrong place. Remove the door, hang a curtain and place a well-chosen screen Presto! the hole-in-the-wall becomes an artistic spot.

The three screens shown above may easily be made at home. You may possibly secure a second-hand screen whose covering is faded and torn (with a good frame). Remove the faded covering; replace with canvas and you are ready to start. At the left, the screen was covered with cream oatmeal paper, stretched smoothly over the canvas, with a two-inch border in tan and brown. The inserts are French flower prints, in gay colors, on a brown background. With a coat of white varnish the screen was made beautiful.

The centre screen was covered with black sateen with strips of the beautiful landscape paper known as "Salem Paper. This also was varnished.

To the right is a screen covered in a wall paper of tapestry design, then shellacked, which gives a marvellous antique finish.

These can all be made by the handy woman or man. When placed in the right spot they give an "air" to a room which otherwise would appear dull and uninteresting.

A Fashion Model's Diary

By Grace Thorncliffe

SHE CHATS ABOUT THE NECESSITY OF SPORT FROCKS FOR FALL.

I sometimes think that a sport dress is the most elusive of all wearing apparel, because it must be cut smartly or it is nothing at all. One can afford to have one's afternoon frocks and evening gowns merely becoming in color and cut, but one's sport things must be impeccable of line and absolutely up to the minute or one should stay home.

So I really had a lot of sympathy for poor Mrs. Drake when she called up quite early in the morning one day last week.

"Please do help me out!" came a distressed voice over the long-distance telephone. "The twins have been invited to take a perfectly lovely motor trip through the mountains, and their Summer wardrobes are so bedraggled-looking they have nothing really decent to wear. There is so little time that I can't bring them into town. Won't you see what you can do?"

"Of course," I answered. "Is there any particular color?"

"No," said the voice, a little more relieved. "I trust you and Madame perfectly and I'll bring them both in Friday for a final fitting."

Hastily gathering up samples in my hands and ideas in my mind, I went to Madame's office and explained the situation.

"Don't you think it would be nice to do the same model in copper for Joan and in leaf-green for Jackie?" I asked.

"Yes," said Madame. "Give me a pencil and I'll sketch it for you. Use that wool rep that you have in your hand because it so seldom musses. We'll make it a two-piece dress for comfort, and, by all means, a full skirt."

Her fingers flew swiftly over the paper. "Do give them that new raglan sleeve that is set in at the shoulder with a double row of stitching," I begged, while Madame outlined the blouse which came well below the hips.

"Trimming?" she questioned. "How about wool embroidery around the edge of a close-fitting collar and at the top of the pockets—contrasting light and darker greens with a touch of yellow for the green, and orange and brown tones for the copper-colored one?"

"Good!" I agreed enthusiastically. "And you remember those cunning alligator skin belts? There is a green one that will just match this shade and a brown one that was made for the copper one."

"No sooner said that done," Madame. "Here, take this to the designer and finish it up yourself."

When they were done, they were really too adorable for words. I hunted high and low for just the right ties, and, taking my courage in hand, actually took out on approval two jaunty little velour hats of the same shade. When the twins appeared they were delighted.

FALL FOOTWEAR.

(Written for the United Press)

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—(United Press).—Shoes, like costumes and accessories are falling under the sway of metal trimmings. According to two leading shoe manufacturers, black shoes will again be worn this Fall for afternoon wear black will be enlived with touches of silver or gold kid or by metal buckles. Black patent and black satin will both be popular and the introduction of silver or gold piping is used sparingly on the better shoes.

Next in importance to the black shoe comes the vogue for brown kid and suede. Often brown suede uses a gold piping or a bronze gold buckle. Indian tan, golden brown and a new cocoa shade are also expected to be good Fall colors.

Shapes do not change much. Opera pumps, one-strapped affairs, and occasionally the center-strapped models are about the only ones worth mentioning since the copies of French shoes are very few this year. The Opera pump leads for both day and evening wear. Oxfords are not expected to be in demand until mid-Winter months.

For evening wear silver and gold kid are stressed and next in importance are brocades and white satins which are dyed by the retailer to suit the customer. There is a new crystal material that is trimmed with silver which is very lovely. Gold kid, due to the vogue for gold in apparel, will perhaps be as well liked as silver has been in previous seasons. Very few shoes with cut-outs are shown but shoes with slender appliqued strips of leather offer a new trimming note.

Among the copies of the imports are several shoes worth mentioning since they will doubtless find place in smart shops throughout the country. For instance, the satin shoe that is covered with lace is designed to accompany the lace frock! The satin foundation may be of one shade and the lace of another to harmonize with the gown. Almond green suede combined with snake or lizard leather of the same shade is another model. Shoes with hand-painted wreaths of fruits or flowers are new.

PROPER CARE OF FURNITURE.

Household furniture requires constant care to keep it looking its best. The wooden beds and other pieces should be washed with clean cloths in a lukewarm, white soapsudsy water, drying the clean spots with soft cloths as rapidly as they are washed. After the pieces are clean, they must be gone over with a good furniture polish and then rubbed until they shine.

Painted furniture may be carefully washed with lukewarm water and white soap, then dried and rubbed clean with the soft cloths.

Brass beds should be carefully dusted daily and rubbed over with a soft flannel cloth or a chamois. Once in a while the beds should be stripped, and after dusting they may be gone over with a good brass polish, being rubbed absolutely dry with soft cloths for the bright finish. For the satin finish, a careful going over with melted paraffine on a damp, soft cloth will clean and restore them to cleanliness. The same treatment is given the black-enamelled beds and washstands. Where the white enamel is used, washing it carefully and drying it thoroughly will clean the surface, but if chipped and defaced it must be done over by professional methods. Many women give their metal beds a good coat of white flat paint, then a coat of enamel. This makes a good finished surface that will wear quite a long time, but, of course, it is not as good as when painted and baked by the regular methods.

Stuffed chairs and couches may be cleaned with a vacuum cleaner, using the proper attachments. After the dust is removed, the small, double-ended brush may be used to free the tuftings and buttons or cordings from surface dust rolls that may still cling to them.

ADVICE TO GIRLS

By Annie Laurie

Contributors of letters to this column are requested to avoid such personal references in their letters, such as names of places, ages, etc., as would lead possibly innocent persons to be confused with others who have nothing to do with the situations described. A letter from "Captain A.L." errs in this respect.

Black Eyes: Any drug store attendant can give you this information.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a girl twenty years of age. About three weeks ago I went out with three different young men the same week. Each one thought it awful.

Do you see any harm in this?

O. E. H.

O. E. H.: Harm? I should say not, my dear! Since you are not engaged to be married, it is your privilege to meet as many of your friends as you choose. And you are, indeed, fortunate to have many friends who are interested in you. Don't limit your friendships now. There will be plenty of time for that when you are engaged.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

When a lady and her gentleman escort are being ushered to their seats in a theatre or church, who follows the usher, the gentleman or the lady? I know it isn't proper but do you think it is any worse to bring your friend inside the door for a few minutes before saying good-night than to stand on the veranda, or sit in the car in front of the house?

I WONDER.

I WONDER: When following an usher on any occasion, at any place, the lady comes first, the gentleman bringing up the rear. If an usher is not at hand, it is better for the gentleman to lead the way to the seat or pew, stepping aside to allow his companion to seat herself first.

No, it isn't any worse to bring him in for a few minutes, that is, if your parents or the lady of the house don't object, and if it is really only for a few minutes. If any objections are apt to be forthcoming, the part of discretion would be to spend the few minutes in the car or on the verandah. Possibly your difficulty in the past lies in the fact that you haven't limited the time sufficiently. The farewell of lovers hasn't much appeal to people who are trying to get in a good night's sleep, and have had time to forget the days when they were sweet sixteen.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I'm a young girl in my 'teens and met a young man on my vacation this year. I met several other men, but prefer this one especially. I only knew him a short time but made quick acquaintance. He said before we parted he liked me and we promised to meet again when he returns next holiday. Dear Annie Laurie, I love him and want him. I write to him. How can I win him? Please give me the best advice you can. Looking for an early reply, as I am very anxious. Thanking you,

MARILYN ST. CLAIRE.

MARILYN ST. CLAIRE: Don't you think you are taking this matter a little too seriously? You can't rush an affair of the heart in the same way that you catch a street car, you know. The only thing you can do is to write him as interesting letters as possible and make yourself as attractive as you can when he comes to the city. Although yours may be a grande passion, it has been known in the past that young people in their 'teens making vacation friendships do not always happen to be soul mates, even if they are certain of their feelings at the moment.

Annie Laurie will welcome letters of inquiry on subjects of feminine interest from young women readers of this paper and will reply to them in these columns. Letters to Miss Laurie should be addressed to her in care of The Examiner.

Miss Ada Boyland, the intrepid woman explorer, who has only recently returned to England after an adventurous trip through Nigeria, has now declared her intention of setting out alone for the more remote parts of Persia, an enterprise fraught with great risk.

PLAN SUBWAY FOR RELIEF OF LONDON STREETS

Freight Traffic in London is Causing a Great Congestion.

HORSES DISAPPEAR.

Subways Below Passenger Lines Will Handle Goods Transport.

LONDON, Oct. 15.— (United Press).—The world's first great freight subway is going to be built here at a cost of $160,000,000 to solve London's baffling traffic problem.

Far beneath London's amazing tangle of mediaeval streets—lower even than the existing passenger subways—trainloads of freight will speed along, safe from paralyzing London fogs and interminable delays of street traffic.

London today is losing millions of dollars a week through traffic jams. Thousands of huge horse-drawn trucks slow down the progress of rapidly growing motorized traffic.

London of tomorrow, when the freight subway is finished will be virtually horseless for the first time in its history.

Banking circles here mention the Dillon Read Company as one of the several big financial houses which are interested.

The project, designed by Carkeet-James, a prominent British engineer, provides for a network of underground freight railway, which would be covered by some 20 stations at first, and, with the growth of London, additions could be made without serious reconstruction.

According to the plan, five or six of the principal freight stations are to be placed in the City, where freight traffic is at present most congested. Freight yards of existing railways are to be linked up with the subway depots, thereby avoiding a large amount of carriage from station and warehouse—the cause of much of London's present street congestion.

Gigantic lifts have been planned for the transport of freight between street level and the running lines. It is aimed to join every existing railway terminus to the new system.

Official sanction for the undertaking is to be sought. It is estimated that three years after the plan is approved a part of the line could be opened for limited working, while in five years practically the whole system could be in operation.

Statisticians declare that quite half the traffic on London's main streets would be done away with by the adoption of the scheme.

HON. VINCENT MASSEY SPEAKS TO ELECTORS IN CAVAN HALL

Liberal Candidate Asks For Support in Federal Campaign.

OPPOSES TARIFF.

Nominee Says it Has Nothing to Do With Population Changes.

The Honorable Vincent Massey addressed a large gathering in Cavan Community Hall on Wednesday evening; S. S. Staples, ex-M.P.P. (U.F.O.), acting as chairman, and affirming his belief in the revision of the tariff downward as the reason for his personal support of Mr. Massey in this campaign.

Mrs. Massey accompanied her husband; others on the platform being Joseph Wearing, Peterborough; A. Johnston, Cavan, and B. Davidson, Port Hope.

"I feel at home in Durham County, and am especially happy on my farm at Canton, in Hope Township, and I enjoy meeting the people and experiencing their hospitality while we discuss intimately the problems and issues of the day."

Beginning his address with these words, Mr. Massey went on to speak of the higher tariff, "the only policy offered us by the Conservative party," as sectional and unfair, utterly unsuited to this country.

"A lower tariff is what I believe in, stand for, vote for, and will work for if I am so fortunate as to be elected, and I give you my word that this will be a clean fight, with absolute fair play, and according to the rules of the game."

Mr. Massey said he believed that the Progressive movement has introduced a new atmosphere into public life by creating independent, honest thinking, and he had been tremendously impressed, when visiting the House in session at Ottawa, by their well-informed approach to public matters. In the present issue, he believes their policies are identical with those of the Liberal party.

Referring to the often-asked question as to why he is standing for election in Durham rather than Toronto, Mr. Massey stated: "I prefer to come before you not as a manufacturer, nor an employer, but as a fellow-citizen, and with the hope that I may be of service to you. I have scrapped my business connections that I may devote my whole time to the work you set me to do. Giving advice to the farmer from an arm-chair has been for too long an indoor sport of the city man, and while I may not claim to be a farmer in the full sense of the word, I believe I am now better able to understand the problems the farmer has to contend with in this province."

"What has been the real problem of the past four years? Why are the factory chimneys not smoking? Why are our young men leaving for the States? The latter is not a new thing, for in the "golden age of the National Polic of 1879, in the twenty years from 1881 to 1901, we find that 790,000 went to the States for good because they couldn't find a future in this country." "If all had actually left in recent years that they say have gone, we would have no one left to be in this hall tonight. The truth is there has always been a flow of population back and forth between the two countries, and there always will be, but the tariff has nothing to do with it.

"This is an agricultural country, primarily, and when the farmers are not prosperous, no one else can be. Canada is suffering principally because millions of the farming community have been for four years out of the buying market. Higher tariff has nothing to do with the industrial depression we have been passing through. Wheat is the index of our prosperity, and in 1914 one bushel or wheat would buy three times what it will to-day."

"One policy for all Canada, not one in the country, and another in the city, is a national policy in its truest sense. The tariff is a tax, and the higher we raise it, the higher prices must we pay for our goods. There is nothing in Mr. Meighen's farmer's tariff at all; it is like a halter over a handful of chaff which it attempts to hold."

"You can't scrap the tariff which brings in $125,000,000 a year to the national coffers, but it can be adjusted and revised. I believe in the tariff advisory board which the King Government promises, giving group representation to all parts of the country, and all occupations, meeting often, and dealing fairly with the requests of any authorized body."

"Not antagonism, but unification; not groups, but co-operation, I believe will make for the prosperity of Canada as a whole. And this policy of conciliation and consideration is the key-note of the platform offered by the King Government, but is not true of the other side. We can settle the matter solidly once for all on October 29th."

Mr. Wearing spoke briefly, emphasizing the need of a national policy which would bind all the provinces together, and solve the destiny of the Dominion. "We have been going uphill, but in the right direction, and we will go a lot faster still if you will vote for Mr. Massey, and the policy which he represents."

Referring to Mr. Massey's resignation of his business position, "the first time in the history of Canada I have ever heard of such a thing being done," the speaker said, "Mr. Massey has nothing to gain, and everything to give—his youth, his brains, money, education, experience—he lays all on the altar of the country which he loves and desires to serve."

Mr. Bert Davidson, resident of the executive group of Liberals and Progressives for Durham, also heartily endorsed Mr. Massey's candidature, and the need of a common national policy. He reviewed Mr. Bowen's record during his four years at Ottawa, and could find nothing he had done to benefit Durham County, so believed a change would be beneficial. "We will get a good government if we send the right kind of men to govern us, and we have in our candidate a man of ability and of vision—one whom we will be from, and who will do us credit."

Mr. O. Gamsby of Orono was the concluding speaker, and entertained the audience with one or two songs before the National Anthem was sung. Stagg's Orchestra, of Port Hope, furnished music between the speakers, and also while the people were gathering .

The matter in this column has been supplied by the Liberal-Conservative Publicity Committee, Peterborough.

WHY NOT HELP OURSELVES?

Will those who advocate a Low Tariff for Canada consider the following facts. Lay aside matters of fealty to your party ,of friendly affiliation with those with whom you have voted before, and try and decide how you should vote NOW.

Canada's tariff changes since 1921 have been in the general direction of lower duties. In those years sixty-three foreign countries have been changing their tariffs in the general direction of higher duties. Which means that if Canada wishes, and tries, to send her goods into those countries, Canada must pay higher duties.

Canada has important work for her incoming government. But the most vital and important thing is that of the TARIFF. It will determine our National Progress and Fiscal Prosperity for the next four years. If we stand (politically) as we are, there will certainly be no change for the better, for the same forces that are bearing Canada down will continue to press. We must get out from under, by a system of protection to our farmers, industries, and possibly some restrictions of indiscriminate export of raw materials, such as pulp wood, ores and minerals, and such exportable things that should be worked up in our own country.

Coming back to consideration of statements made in the second paragraph of this article. Sixty-three countries have been making it more difficult for Canada to sell in their markets, and Canada has been making it easier for the whole world to sell in her market. Isn't that a jug-handled arrangement?

No important civilized country, other than Great Britain, has a policy which would serve as a precedent for what Canada has been doing. And in no important civilized country has unemployment been worse than in Great Britain. What is the answer. You know it yourself. Is all the world, except Canada and the Mother Country out of step in the matter of tariff legislation. Hadn't we better get into step? Surely all other countries can't be basically and eternally wrong.

We know we need a larger population. Which must have something to work at when it gets here. If, as claimed ,there is not enough employment now for ourselves, we must go to it and try and make employment of any and all kinds before the larger population get here. Otherwise they will say that we have been dealing in false pretences to bring them here.

It is good to say, "Bring people who will go on the land." But those who go on the land, and produce, must have people within reach to sell products to. And the best markets for produce are found in the towns and cities where the wheels of industry are humming, for there the greatest part of our national eating and wearing is done, and the money to buy products is in circulation.

Canada needs a PROTECTIVE TARIFF, not a one-armed, jockeyed, effeminate thing, as we have it. We must start building, and the first thing to build is a higher wall to keep out the United States products that we should make for ourselves at home, out of our raw materials.

VOTE FOR PECK and a HIGHER TARIFF. Mr. Peck will see that Mr. MEIGHEN carries out your wishes and convictions.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15 (Canadian Press)—One of the two by eight planks supporting 40 foot of scaffolding along the eighth storey ledge of a 23 storey building under construction at No. 200 Madison Avenue, gave way under the strain of too much mortar and bricks yesterday, and the whole platform with three workmen fell in a heap on the guard structure built over the sidewalk below. The three men, bricklayers' helpers, were dead when extricated from the debris.

"THE UNWANTED" CLOSES TO-NIGHT.

Te big British production that has been drawing such large crowds to the Royal will be screened for the last time to-night.

The story is unusual and daring, and is the subject of much conversation locally. The war scenes, according to many returned soldiers' remarks, are the authentic thing.

The advance information received on this film states that the actual hand to hand fighting is intermingled with actual scenes taken by a German camera man during a battle.

Our advice is don't miss it.

WILLIAM FAIRBANKS BELIEVES THE PUBLIC LOVES THRILLS

Mix 'Em With Human Interest and You Have the Ideal Combination. Royal Friday, Saturday.

The public likes to be thrilled, also it likes to laugh and cry with the people in a screen story—that's why The Beautiful Sinner is bound to meet with popular approval. For it has thrills and human interest, said Mr. Fairbanks. The heroine is Eva Novak at her best and William Fairbanks co-starring with Miss Novak. Mr. Fairbanks does everything but fly in this picture, and is working from the moment it starts to the end. The cast is superb; the setting immense, and the story one that leaves little to be desired in the way of entertainment and sheer satisfaction.

The people are always responsive to this sort of picture; they know that into it has gone all the efforts and experience of many people who are old at the picture business and they appreciate the results which are always adequate.

In short, The Beautiful Sinner is not an experiment, but a sure-fire picture with a world of interest for people of all ages, classes and conditions of servitude.

The Beautiful Sinner plays at the Royal Theatre and is the fourth of the series of eight Perfection Pictures which will feature Mr. Fairbanks with Eva Novak. The others were "The Battling Fool," "Racing for Life," "A Fight for Honor."

AT THE CAPITOL

WHO KISSED BARBARA?

He wanted to make a wager with me that I would be kissed before he was a married man. I told him not unless I got engaged too. I felt so absolutely sure of winning that I made him write it down. Why I knew he'd be a married man in twenty four hours and I didn't see how anyone could possibly appear, get himself in love with me, and me with him, and kiss me, and all in twenty-four hours, and now—and now—the wager's lost and my vow broken. Who kissed Barbara? Capitol Theatre, October 19, 20, 21. Talented Peterboro cast. Mrs. Bingham directing.

Thrills and more thrills, some of them on a western rancho, others in old Spain during the time of Don Juan—that is what the Tom Mix fans may expect when they go to see the "Lucky Horseshoe," the latest Mix picture which will be shown at the Capitol Theatre beginning to-day.

The first thrill comes when Tom races after a swiftly moving train on Tony, with Billie Dove in his arms, and places her safely aboard. Next comes the time when he leaps upon Tony and dashes after the runaway horses, which are headed towards the edge of a precipitous cliff with the girl in a flimsy little carriage behind them.

Mix is supported by an excellent cast, including J. Farrell MacDonald, Bililie Dove and Ann Pennington. J. G. Blystone directed the production.

AT THE GRAND.

THE DUMBELLS' NEW REVUE IS APTLY TITLED "LUCKY 7".

Very many pleasant things may be printed and said of "Lucky 7", which comes to the Grand Opera House for three performances, Friday and Saturday, October 16 and 17 to impress the public with its qualities, but theatre-goers will gather enough from the simple statement that it is the best effort yet produced by Captain Plunkett and The Dumbells Company.

Measured by the enjoyment to be obtained, this latest vehicle of the Canadian army veterans is quite the equal of most of the huge revues coming out of London and New York, and better than most of them.

There are so many delicious morsels in the overflowing dish that it is difficult to choose any particular one for special commendation.

Suffice it to say that while coned and jazz music occupy the major portion of the program and keep the action at lightning speed, some of the more serious moments are very impressive and will remain long in the memory after the jokes and jazz have faded. One brief bit is an allegorical tableau built upon a statement of Lord Byng's at Vancouver, that at Vimy Ridge "The nine provinces walked up the hill as one, each with the same idea, the same goal in mind." One scene shows nine men representing the nine provinces at the foot of Vimy protesting that they cannot make the ascent because each has tried individually and found the task too great, when the figure of Common Sense appears and tells them to make the effort together, as one man. The second scene shows the same men at home with the map of Canada as a background, and they are again despairing of winning out because each province is facing the tasks of peace alone. Common Sense again appears and tells them to "Go up the hill together", as they did at Vimy Ridge nine years before.

Another serious moment comes when Al. Plunkett sings "As Long As She Loves Me", and scores the biggest success of his career. Ross Hamilton has a big sentimental song, "Darling, I Love You."

AT THE REGENT

BREATH OF LIFE INJECTED INTO "SUN-UP" BY IDEAL COMBINATION.

Director Goulding, Conrad Nagel, Misses Starke and La Verne Make Great Picture. (Long Review.)

"Sun-Up," the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture which opens to-night at the Regent Theatre, is a vivid illustration of what new brains and fresh imagination can do in giving life blood to what is after all but a shadow, and in giving sympathy to characters that are hardly understandable to the majority.

"Sun-Up" is one of the first pictures which Edmund Goulding has directed, and in it he shows an undeniable flare for characterization. The story is centered about a group of mountaineers, living in poverty and ignorance in western North Carolina. Their only conception of law and order is based on the word "revenoors," and the hate of them has been inherited for generations.

Conflict of Ideas.

How they come to an understanding of their rights and the real meaning of law through the efforts of a man who broke away from the community to join the marines, and who comes back with a new conception of his birthright and ideas which he tries to foist upon the incredible and unwilling community, is the basis of the intense drama of the production.

In the part of this boy, Conrad Nagel, long-known for his immaculate appearance, breaks away from the type of role he has been portraying, and proves once again that he is one of the screen's most versatile and finest actors.

Lucille La Verne, seen all too seldom on the screen, excels in the part of his mother "Ma" Cagle. She layed the same role in the stage version of the play, and she essays the part in the screen version with the assurance that story of maternal love, of high if misguided purpose and a yielding to influences which often guide us along the right path.

The intelligent direction is the work of Edmund Goulding, whose reputation is far famed as a scenario writer, but who makes his bow as a director with "Sun-Up." Arthur Statter wrote the scenario.

CHANNEL SWIM SEASON CLOSED

Record Number of Attempts Have Been Made to Conquer It.

PLAYFUL VAGARIES

By SIDNEY J. WILLIAMS
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, Oct. 14. — (United Press).—The Channel swim season has closed. Altogether ten attempts were made to win the greatest victory a swimmer can accomplish. All were fruitless.

Just when victory was in sight to more than one of the contestants, the Channel lived up to its name of being the most difficult piece of water any swimmer can encounter. It defied a human's puny endeavors.

Its vagaries were varied, but complete. A favorable tide would change with amazing swiftness into an impenetrable barrier; calm water would become choppy and rough within a few minutes; the temperature of the water would suddenly drop two or three degrees—a terrible hardship to an exhausted swimmer; a clear atmosphere would give way to an ugly mist—one swimmer was nearly drowned through those on the escorting tug losing touch with him during such a contingency.

As a sport event, however, the Channel swim this year approached the importance, and had the international flavor comparable to the English Derby.

America, the Argentine, Britain, Egypt, France and Japan all had their representatives.

Thousands of dollars were spent in all directions to help the swimmers claim mastery over the Channel. Trainers and assistants were paid large fees to prepare and advise swimmers. Expert pilots were engaged to guide the escorting tug over the shortest route. Long delays through unfavorable weather made the preparatory expenses assume an alarming total. Tugs in Boulogne harbor had a record season carrying the swimmers, advisors and friends during an attempt. Newspapers sent large staffs of correspondents to remote points in France and Britain in order to let the world know of a swimmer's progress.

Nothing was too much; no expense was spared. All to no purpose. The Channel is a mistress that accepts neither bribe nor cajolery.

Of all the attempts this year, that of Colonel Bernard Cyril Freyberg of the men's section, and Madame Jane Sion on the part of the women, stand out.

Colonel "Tiny" Freyburg, as he is known to his intimates—he stands over six feet and weighs in the neighborhood of 180 pounds—reached to within five hundred yards of the white chalk cliffs to the east of Dover, after a swim lasting more than seventeen hours.

Madame Jane Sion abandoned her attempt when a mere mile and a quarter from Dover. She also had been swimming seventeen hours. Both had swum a long chilly night.

Gertrude Ederle, the American girl swimmer, had easily the toughest break experienced during any of the attempts.

She started off under ideal conditions. Within three hours the Channel had become a remorseless, choppy, cold ocean. She battled on, however, for a further six hours till conditions became hazardous even for a fair-sized motor launch, let alone a swimmer.

Lillian Harrison, the argentine swimmer, suffered abnormally this year from cramp. She pluckily made two attempts—on one occasion being nearly drowned—but stomach trouble caused her abandonment on each attempt.

Sporting writers here classify the attempts this year as follows:

1. Colonel Freyburg (Britain).
2. Madame Jane Sion (France).
3. Helmy (Egypt).
4. Lillian Harrison (Argentine).
5. Gertrude Ederle (America).
6. Dr. G. B. Brewster (Scotland).
7. Miss Mercedes Gleitze (Britain)
8. Setsu Nishimura (Japan).

INSIDE GOLF.

Maker of 61 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans

By CHESTER HORTON

THURSDAY ¶¶INSIDE GOLF — It is desirable for the golfer to confine his study of the sport mainly to the perfection of his swing partly because the swing is a fundamental necessity and partly because such training will naturally develop the muscles to the point where they should be trained. The player with a swing knows instinctively that all he has to do is hold his head still and the clubhead will do the rest—that most of his concern while actually hitting the ball is narrowed to that one thing. He gets his kick then from seeing the ball go and dropping reasonably near where he wishes it to be. You have but to measure this, as applied to your own game, as against the usual clouting of the ball, followed by an irritating search for it in the tall grass, to get a hint of the real pleasures possible in golf. The best of it is, too, the game will instantly begin to deliver these charms to any player who seeks them in the right way.

BIG GUNS POSE FOR THE CAMERA

WILLS WILL FIGHT.

Dempsey's Objections to Challenger's Arrangement No Obstacle to Bout on October 26.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15 (Canadian Press) — The objection of Jack Dempsey to the proposed heavyweight fight at Newark, N. J., between Harry Wills and Floyd Johnson on October 26, will not alter the arrangements made yesterday, the negro boxer's manager, Paddy Mullins, announced today.

Although the heavyweight champion claims he understood that Wills would not engage in any bouts before their anticiapted title battle next year, Mullins said that Floyd Fitzsimmons, who signed Dempsey and Wills, knew the latter intended to box this month for the National Sportsmen's Club of Newark.

He said he would so write Dempsey.

WORLD SERIES NOTES.

Rain not only erased the world's series game off the schedule but washed nearly 50,000 spectators right out of Forbes Field into the arms of a fleet of taxi-cabs which cleaned up a young fortune for their owners. Some folks were nearly two hours getting away from the ball yard.

Speculators did a heavy business outside of Forbes Field after the game had been declared off, buying rain checks from those who could not remain in town to see to-morrow's contest.

Just when everyone in the uncovered places was soaked to the skin and the umpires were about to declare everything off for the day, Nick Altrock and Al Achact came out in high rubber boots and put over a fishing and diving stunt on the big tarpaulin which was filled with pools of water. Nick fell over board in a miniature lake and was rescued by Al, which brought the only laugh of a dismal and sodden afternoon.

Old Barney Johnson cocked an eye out of the Senators dugout twenty minutes before game time and figured it was all off for the day. He did not even shed his sweater and remained in seclusion on the visitors' bench. Neither Johnson or any of the Pirate pitchers came out to warm up and everyone was still guessing last night who would have faced the invaders had there been a game.

The local scribes told the visiting newspapermen that when it rains here it is good for three days this time of year. There was a hurried telegraphing home for money, all of which brought no gloom to the bonifaces. The world's series contests were held up for about a week in Philadelphia in 1911 by rainy weather.

Joe Judge hopes to get himself a few hits in the final game to make a respectable showing in the composite box score. Judge has not been getting many blows in the present fracas and has been hitting away below form.

The four umpires made two trips from their quarters to the box of Judge Landis before the game was finally called off. The last trip of the arbiters was nearly a swim.

With the extra day of rest the last game should be a battle of pitchers — Johnson and Aldridge. Not much of a cheering prospect for either club since they have both lost two games to these hurlers.

The Pirates swung a mean mace in batting practice and the crowd looked forward to Johnson being beaten to the proverbial pulp. The Senators also did some long distance clouting, Goslin planting a few in the lower rightfield stand just to remind the home folks that there was a goose still to be cooked. Rain spoiled the desired carnage.

Bill McKechnie, Fred Clarke and Chick Fraser, constituting the Pirates board of strategy, have catalogued all the weaknesses of the Washington players but were busy guessing today on a pitcher to follow the catalogue. The postponement solved that question and it will be Aldridge tomorrow.

Everyone was surprised by the number of women who sat in the uncovered stands risking their finery and fall hats in the bad weather. With the coming of rain, newspapers were the popular headgear.

A tax on gossip—if we could collect it—would go a long way toward paying off the national debt.

POSTPONEMENT DISAPPOINTED LARGEST CROWD OF THE SERIES

Both Clubs Hail Extra Day's Rest as an Improvement of Their Chances of Victory — Pitching Aces Will Benfit Most.

ADVANTAGES GAINED ARE EQUALLY DIVIDED.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 15 (Canadian Press) — Rain blocked the world's series program for the second time yesterday when a heavy downpour, starting nearly an hour before the seventh and deciding game was scheduled at Forbes Field, drenched the ball park and forced a postponement.

The deluge not only disappointed close to 50,000 fans, the largest crowd of the series, but continued steadily last night with prospects that it would even be impossible to resume play today.

The weatherman's forecast was for rain throughout the night and morning, with a chance of clearing in the afternoon. Even so it would be doubtful whether the diamond would be in playing condition, although tarpaulins were spread over the infield to keep as much of the field as possible from becoming a quagmire.

The delay came unexpectedly, in spite of the overcast skies and murky atmosphere of the day, but the accompanying extra day of rest was hailed as a benefit by followers of both clubs after the first feeling of disappointment had subsided.

The benefit rests chiefly among the pitching aces of the rival staffs, Walter Johnson and Victor Aldridge, who last night were picked definitely by Managers Bill McKechnie and Bucky Harris for the final battle in which the title now held ADD Postponement Disappoints—C by Washington and the aspirations entertained by Pittsburgh both will be in the balance.

These two, each victorious twice so far and standing head and shoulders above all twirling rivals, were elated to have had it out in the final struggle yesterday in spite of the short rest they have had. Johnson, as a matter of fact, who also has been handicapped by a "charley-horse" in his right leg, was keenly disappointed by the postponement, feeling that he was "right" for the day, but today, if the deciding game goes on, the Big Train will be able to take the hill with the benefit of three full days of rest since his performance last Sunday, when he blanked the Pirates.

This was as much rest as Johnson had between his first and second games, and should be sufficient to give him the needed stamina for a crucial tussle.

A good deal of mystery shrouded Pittsburgh's pitching choice yesterday, with the prevailing opinion being that "Jud-Handle Johnny" Morrison was to start, stick as long as he was effective and then give way to Aldridge, who pitched his last victory only on Monday. Aldridge however, is the most rugged member of the Pirate staff and his mates are confident that with two days' rest he will be in top condition to make his bid for a third triumph tomorrow.

McKechnie and Harris both agreed that any advantages to be gained by the postponement were about equally divided and both were equally confident that they will pull out the decisive victory.

"The Senators are just as much afraid of Aldridge as we are of Johnson," said McKechnie, "and Vic will be ready to go out at top speed to-morrow. I think he would have done it today if we called on him but the additional day of rest will give him just what he needs."

At the same time, McKechnie intimated that he might be able to count today, if necessary, on Lee Meadows, be-spectacled veteran, whose arm went bad after the first game and necessitated a slight operation to straighten out the muscles.

Meadows has recovered rapidly, McKechnie said, and may be in condition to pitch effectively with another day's rest. Lee has been warming up regularly the last two days. If Aldridge is not able to shoulder the entire final burden, Meadows may get back into the fray.

Harris, Johnson and Clark Griffith, Washington president, mapped out their strategy at council of war in the clubhouse and it was a disappointment to them to have their plans put off. The players as a whole took the postponement calmly though there was evidence of a strain that is upon both teams and their desire to reach a conclusion as quickly as possible.

Except for the weather, the setting for the final game would have been ideal yesterday, with an apparent record crowd on hand and both teams prepared to put their strongest boxmen into the fray, each seeking the glory of three world's series victories that has come before to only four men — Coombs, Mathewson, Stanley Coveleskie and Babe Adams.

The rain started to dampen the colorful picture, however, nearly an hour before game time. It increased steadily in intensity until at 2 o'clock scheduled starting time it was obvious that there would be no let up and that the field was unplayable. Even so, however, Commissioner Landis, in whose hands the final decision rested, delayed the definite announcement of postponement for another half hour, pointing out that calling it off meant hardship to probably 50,000 fans from out of town and widespread inconvenience.

Thousands were still outside the park, standing in the drenching rain to hear the Commissioner's decision, while those inside the field shifted, yelled and grew restless during the delay. Thousands in the extended and uncovered portions of the grandstand as well as those in the bleachers, were thoroughly drenched and disgruntled although there was a bit of comedy relief from the Washington comedians, Nick Altrock and Al Schacht.

KID ROY BEAT MASCART.

The Canadian Featherweight Gained Victory Over European Champion at Montreal.

Leo ("Kid") Roy, featherweight champion of Canada, obtained the decision over Edward Mascart, featherweight champion of Europe, in a fast ten-round bout at Montreal on Tuesday night. The two fought a stiff battle all the way through. Roy had the edge in the first eight rounds, but Mascart staged a strong come-back in the ninth and had the Canadian almost out.

HOME RUN FIGURES.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 15. — Three new home run records for world series were set on Tuesday and another one on Tuesday was tied when Goose Goslin and Eddie Moore poled out circuit smashes. These blows brought the total of home runs for the present series to eleven, which broke the record made by the Giants and Yankees in 1923, when ten were garnered.

Goslin's four-bagger also brought the Senators' total of home runs to seven, beating their own record of six for one series, which they hung up Monday. The Goose also ran his string of four-ply smashes to six in two years, which broke his own record for circuit drives. The Senators' left-fielder, by making his third in this series, also duplicated the mark made by Ruth, who drove out three home runs in 1923, equalled by himself last year and also by Joe Harris, who has already made three in this series.

SCHOOL RUGBYISTS HAVE DATE DISPUTE

Collegiate and U.T.S. Misunderstanding as to Day Fixed For Opening Game.

Conflict is raging between U.T.S. and P.C.I. over the date set for the opening game in their Interscholastic group. The wires were kept hot all day yesterday with messages to and fro. U.T.S. want the game played here on Friday, while P.C.I. are holding out for Saturday afternoon.

The P.C.I. representative to the meeting of the three teams in the group—Oshawa H. S., U.T.S., and P.C.I.—to arrange the schedule was instructed by the P.C.I. coach not to accept any mid-week games, and he did not. U.T.S. claim that at the meeting, the game was scheduled for Friday, while the P.C.I. representative understood the date to be Saturday. The Oshawa representative remains neutral, and it rests with P.C.I. and U.T.S. to settle it.

U.T.S. base their claim for the game on Friday on the grounds that, if the game were played on Saturday, they could not catch a train out of Peterboro until Sunday afternoon. However, the P.C.I. officials have arranged that the game start at 2.30 Saturday afternoon, and thus the Toronto team could easily catch the 5.30 to Port Hope and arrive home Saturday evening.

The argument has been referred to Secretary Roderick of the O.R.F.U. for settlement and if history repeats itself the Toronto team will have their way, as they always have had it in the past.

In the meantime, the P.C.I. squad is turning out every afternoon for strenuous practice at James Stephenson Park. Coach Browne is drilling the team mostly in trick plays and hopes in this way to offset the weight of the U.T.S. squad. Bookhout, the big defence man of the P.C.I. twelve, who has starred in the Garnet and Grey games during the past three years, will do the kicking for the team.

Flying wings: Dormer and Morrison.
Halves: Bookhout, Wood and Westbrook.
Quarterback: Doughty.
Snap: Graham and Mesley.
Insides: Merrill, Telford and Welburne.
Middles: Amys and Killally.
Outsides: Rishor and Allen.

The Toronto Globe has this to say about the coming game and the U.T.S. team and prospects:

The Oshawa High School have planned to rent a bus and come down and see the game, providing it is played on Saturday. By seeing the U.T.S. and P.C.I. teams in action they hope to get a line on their plays in preparation for their game with these teams.

U. S. Coach Helping Varsity.

There is more than secret practice going on up at the Varsity Stadium these days for the two U. of T. senior Rugby teams, particularly the intercollegiate outfit. It is learned, but Varsity officials will not confirm it, that a United States coach is handling the wing line and teaching them interference. The coach is said to be from Dartmouth College, and his name is Yartman. He was in attendance on Monday and again on Tuesday. Jack Maynard has taken charge of the backfield, while Head Coach Barr and the newcomer is handling the wing line. And of course the practices are being held behind closed doors.

PIRATES BUY PLAYERS.

Purchase of Two Men From Pacific Coast League Clubs.

FORBES FIELD, Pittsburgh, Pa., October 15. — The Pittsburgh Pirates were understood to have closed a deal with San Francisco of the Pacific Coast league for the purchase of Hal Rhyne, star shortstop, and Paul Waner, outfielder, at a reported price of $100,000, and three players to be delivered later.

Manager McKechnie admitted the deal was pending but would not confirm it definitely, saying he had not yet had a final conference with Barney Dreyfuss, the club manager.

Rhyne and Waner have been two of the most eagerly sought minor league stars this season. At one time it was reported the New York Yanks had put through negotiations for them.

Shark Skin Hand Bags Latest Fad in London

LONDON, Oct. 15.—(United Press).— Shark-skin leather—called shagreen—is the newest vogue in London's best dressed society for hand-bags, cigaret cases, dressing cases and writing folios.

It is replacing the Parisian fashion of using lizard and reptile skins for the same type of women's articles.

In making shagreen the shark's skin is subjected to a special treatment to produce a granulated surface, which, colored in fashionable shades, is not only effective with the tailored styles of today, but also is impervious to wear and scratching.

SENATORS COACH PUT HIS MEN THROUGH DRILLS

STARR RETURNS.

Is in Good Shape After a Strenuous Season at Baseball.

OTTAWA, Ont., October 15. — Canadian Press. — With another full squad in attendance to work on Dave McCan whipped the Senators through a smart drill yesterday afternoon at Lansdowne Park. The Otawa pilot is driving his men hard, trying to remedy the weaknesses that were manifest in last Saturday's game in Toronto.

While well pleased with the showing of his crew, who held the Argos to a two-point lead entering the last period, McCann was disappointed with their absolute collapse half way through that session. Drastic changes are talked of but whether or not these will come about remains to be seen. There have been changes made in the practice line ups that have set some of the "regulars" thinking and it may just happen that the line which faces the Orsmen Saturday may be somewhat different from that which took the field last week-end.

Charlie Connell is recovering from the bad shaking up he received in the Argo game but the recovery is slow and it may be that the stalwart half liner may be in the stand here Saturday. It will not be known until to-morrow whether or not his condition will warrant his taking part in the game.

Harold Starr is definitely out with the locals and, in good shape from a strenuous baseball season, should take little time in hitting his stride. He is being worked at outside and flying wing. Outside of Connell the team is in good shape and a formidable aggregation should be on the marks when they line up against the Scullers in their next home big four engagement.

Merit begets confidence; confidence begets enthusiasm; and enthusiasm can conquer the world.

When Safety depends on Tires as well as Brakes

Slippery pavements—the sudden warning to stop—brakes instant, unfailing response because the car is shod with Full-Size Gum-Dipped Balloons.

Think what this traction and safety mean in fall and winter driving—over wet roads, muddy grades, snowy stretches or detours.

In developing the balloon, Firestone went to the very foundation of tire building, changing all vital elements—size design, cross section, sidewall, tread and air pressure. Real balloon tires must have light, strong, flexible walls. Gum-Dipping, the Firestone extra process, gives this extra strength to endure this extra flexing strain.

Over two years of real service by thousands of motorists have proved the soundness of Firestone engineering. The principles which underlie this development have never been altered from original plan.

Be ready for driving anywhere this fall and winter. Have the Firestone dealer equip your car with Full-Size Gum-Dipped Balloons, and enjoy the safety, comfort and economy of these wonderful tires.

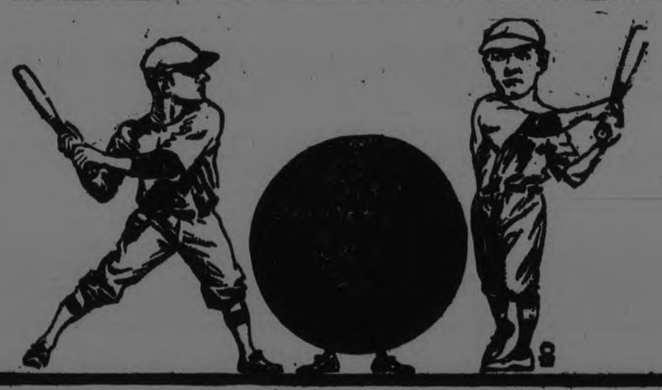
WASHINGTON LOSE THE WORLD SERIES



WORLD'S SERIES SCORE

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	R	H	E

FORBES FIELD, Pittsburgh, Oct. 15.—(Canadian Press). — The seventh and deciding game of the world's series between Washington and Pittsburgh began to-day on a field made soggy by almost 24 hours of rain and with a light drizzle, increasing the misty blanket enveloping the field. In this dark, murky setting, Walter Johnson and Victor Aldridge started a duel of right-handed pitching aces to determine the championship struggle between the rival clubs as well as the question of individual supremacy.

First Innings.

Senators—Aldridge warmed up for a minute and seemed to have plenty of stuff. Rice shot a liner into left but it was foul. Rice got a single that bounded over the middle bag. Harris flied out to Barnhart, hitting the first ball pitched. Rice went to second on a wild pitch. Goslin walked. On another wild pitch Rice went to third and Goslin to second. Harris got a base on balls. The bags were loaded. Rice scored when Judge walked and the bases were still filled. Goslin scored on Bluege's sharn single to left, Harris going to third and Judge to second. Aldridge was then removed from the box and Morrison took his place. Bluege's hit, near the top of the screen, was nearly a home. Peck hit to Wright, who threw to Moore, and there was a dispute at the plate because of interference with Peck by Smith. This allowed Joe Harris to score, and all the base runners were declared safe, Peck taking first. Judge scored when Moore juggled Ruel's grounder, and the bases were still filled. Johnson struck out. Peck gets no time at bat" and gets his base by interference by catcher. Rice flied out to Barnhart. Four runs, two hits, one error.

Pittsburgh—Moore tried to bunt out a fouled ball. Moore bunted but Johnson threw him out. Carey got a long hit into right for two bases, and the crowd was in uproar. Cuyler went after a ball over his head. Cuyler struck out on three pitched balls. Barnhart struck out on three pitched balls. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Second Innings.

Senators — Cuyler took Stan. Harris' fly as it was about to go into the stands. Carey made a nice catch of Goslin's short fly to centre. Wright took Joe Harris' hopper and got him at first. Morrison worked a wide curve on the Senators all through the inning. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Pirates—Johnson took Traynor's hopper and tossed wide to first, but Judge got the ball to the bag ahead of Traynor. Wright singled into centre. It was starting to rain again. McInnis also hit into centre for one base. Wright held second. Smith hit into a double play, Stan. Harris taking Smith's hopper, touching McInnis and then throwing out Smith at first. No runs, two hits, no errors.

Third Innings.

Senators—Judge shot a single into right centre. Bluege fouled the ball trying to sacrifice. Bluege sent up a high fly to Moore. Cuyler made a sensational catch of Peck's fly and then threw wildly past first to get Judge. Judge went to second. Carey raced back and took Ruel's long smash. No runs, one hit, one error.

Pirates—Morrison got a single over second base which Rice could not get up to. Moore hit a long drive to left for two bases and Morrison scored by fast running. Moore scored on Carey's sharp single past Stan. Harris, Carey hitting the first ball pitched. Peck threw out Cuyler at first. Carey went to second. The hit and run play was on. Carey stole third, catching Ruel asleep. Carey scored on Barnhart's Texas leaguer to right. Traynor forced Barnhart, Peck to Stan. Harris. Wright sent up a pop fly to Stan. Harris. Three runs, four hits, no errors.

Fourth Innings.

Senators—Carey took Johnson's fly in left centre. Rice singled past McInnis. Harris fanned. Goslin singled into left, and Rice raced to third; on the throw to third, Goslin went to second. Rice and Goslin scored on Joe Harris' two-base drive to right. Judge flied out to Cuyler. Two runs, three hits, no errors.

Pirates—McInnis rapped a single into left. The Pirates were still going after the first ball. Rice made a shoe-string catch of Smith's seeming hit. McInnis had to race back to first. Grantham batted for Morrison. Grantham sent out a long fly to Joe Harris. Moore sent out a fly which the Goose gobbled. No runs, one hit, no errors. Kremer now pitching for the Pirates.

Fifth Innings.

Senators—Kremer went into the box for the Pirates. Traynor robbed Bluege of a hit by leaping high in the air and spearing his hounder and throwing him out. Peck went out, Wright to McInnis, hitting the first ball pitched. Carey made a nice catch of Ruel's low fly. The Pirates were giving their pitcher fine support in the field. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Pirates—Carey lashed the first ball into right centre for two bases, his third hit and second two-bagger of the game. A foul liner from Cuyler's bat hit a spectator on the back. Carey scored on Cuyler's two-base hit to the left. It was raining steadily. Barnhart fanned, swinging at the third strike. Traynor fouled out to Ruel. Stan. Harris stood still and snared Wright's pop. One run, two hits, no errors.

Sixth Innings.

Senators—Wright took in Johnson's hoist back of second. Wright took Rice's slow hopper and tossed him out. Stan. Harris struck out, swinging for the third strike. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Pirates—Peck dropped Moore's high fly and the batter reached second. It should have been an easy out. Stan. Harris went over and patted Peck on the back. Moore scored on Carey's third double to left. The Senators protested that it was a foul ball, but the umpires would not allow it. Cuyler sacrificed, Johnson to Stan. Harris, Carey going to third. Stan. Harris threw out Barnhart at first, Carey holding third. It was so dark that the fielders could hardly see the ball. Carey scored on Traynor's hit to right for three bases. He was out at the plate trying to stretche it, the play being Joe Harris to Stan. Harris to Ruel. Two runs, two hits, one error.

Eighth Innings.

HOME RUN.

Senators — Traynor threw out Bluege at first. Peck got a homer into the left field stands, the ball clearing the barrier in front of the score board. Traynor robbed Ruel of a hit with a remarkable catch of Ruel's sharp grounder and threw him out. Smith took Johnson's foul over near the home benches. One run, one hit, no errors.

Pirates—It was raining steadily. Judge took in Wrights foul. Rice took McInnis' fly. Smith hit a long hit to right for two bases. Yde ran for Smith. There was conference on the Pirate bench and Bigbee was sent out to bat for Kremer. Yde scored on Bigbee's two base hit to left. The crowd went frantic. The score was now tied. Moore walked. Peck took care of Carey's grounder and tossed to Stan. Harris, but the umpire ruled that Moore was safe at second. The official scorer gives Peck another error. Bases are now filled. Game was held up while more sawdust was spread about the pitcher's box. It was still raining hard and the players wiped their bats as they came to the plate. Bigbee, Moore and Carey scored on Cuyler's home run that went to deep right. The umpires have ruled that it is only a two-base hit. Carey went back to third. Cuyler to second. Barnhart flied out to Stan. Harris.

Three runs, three hits, one error.

Ninth Innings.

Senators—Oldham went into the box for Pirates and Bigbee went to left field. Gooch went behind bat for Pirates. Rice fanned. Moore took Stan Harris's fly. Goslin fanned. Goslin took a third called strike. No runs, no hits, no errors.

SCHOOL SOCCER LEAGUE STANDING

Prince of Wales' Went Down to Defeat to Queen Mary.

Queen Mary soccer team made sure of their position in the league (section B) last evening against Prince of Wales, at King Edward Park, when they defeated the latter by three goals to nothing.

In the first half, the West end boys made rapid progress against their opponents when they added two goals before the interval and in the second half they increased their total by making it three to nothing. This victory makes the Queen Mary boys in the final against the winners of section A — Queen Alexandra or King George—in the final for the Alex Kay trophy on Saturday at Nicholls Oval.

Last year, Central boys had a clever team that played good combination and many of the boys have made good in the Juvenile league the past season.

FOOTBALL FINAL IS SUDDEN DEATH

Timmins and Westinghouse Are Ordered to Play in Toronto.

DISCUSS ULSTER.

TORONTO, Oct. 15 (Canadian Press) — Timmins and Hamilton Westinghouse Soccer clubs have been ordered by the Ontario Football Association to play a sudden death game at Toronto October 17 for the Ontario Cup.

On the morning of the same day the Ontario council will deal with the situation arising from the suspension of the Ulster Club following their refusal to go to Timmins recently to play in the semi-final game. The suspension was in effect several days when the Dominion Football Association lifted the ban and ordered the whole matter threshed out before a meeting of the provincial body.

IMPORTED COVEYS SHOW INCREASE

Partridges Were Introduced From Hungary as an Experiment.

BRANDON, Man., Oct. 15.—The Hungarian partridges imported to Canada and released in the Neepawa district by the Brandon game protective branch, are rapidly increasing. This fact was ascertained by B. J. Hales and R. M. Matheson, K.C., who have just completed a tour of inspection in the district.

Farmers have reported sighting several large coveys of birds and the two local men observed one covey of eight birds.

Thirty-eight partridges in all were first released for experimental purposes. They withstood the rigor of winter weather here in splendid fashion and none was reported to have died. One covey has been sighted about five miles from where they were hatched, which would indicate that the birds were widening the radius of their flight.

The claim is made that it is much easier to read the figures than the hands at a distance, and for that reason the timepiece is eminently suited to railway stations.

REV. J. T. DALEY ELECTED TO-DAY

Two Ballots Necessary To Convince Him He is Assistant Secretary.

QUINTE CONFERENCE.

The appointment of Rev. J. T. Daley as assistant secretary of the Bay of Quinte Conference was made this morning at the regular business session. Two ballots were necessary to convince the Rev. Daley that he was the only choice of the Conference.

The Rev. Principal Dyde, D.D., advocated that a relationship between the conference and Queen's University be established on the grounds that Queen's, although primarily a Presbyterian institution, had always been a partisan of Union ideals. A resolution moved by W. H. Raney and seconded by A. W. McIntosh was adopted unanimously and received with much applause.

A favourable report was received on the status of the Whitby Ladies' College.

Rev. J. D. Boyd and Rev. A. McLachlan presented the question regarding the archives of the Uniting churches and it was agreed that the records be collected at two central points namely, Victoria University and Queen's University.

A devotional period conducted by Rev. Dr. Malott of Belleville, assisted by Rev. A. J. Wilson and Rev. J. S. I. Wilson concluded the session.

OTTAWA, Oct. 15 (Canadian Press)—The official nomination of candidates took place in 27 out of the 241 federal constituencies between twelve and two o'clock today. While the official nomination of a candidate does not necessarily mean that he is in the contest until the close of the polls, withdrawal involves forfeiture of a deposit of $200.

The early nominations in these 27 sparsely settled ridings will give time for the printing and distribution of ballots so that elections can be held in all constituencies in the same day, October 29th. Nominations in the remaining ridings will be held on October 22.

Shop at Home —First

YEARS ago people went into the market place "to shop." They went, not knowing what they would find, in price or its worth. Weary hours were spent in inspection, in bargaining and buying.

To-day manufacturers are bringing the market place to your home. Every time a newspaper comes, a host of people are ringing your door-bell. Merchants and manufacturers are waiting on the doorstep to spread their goods at your feet for you to look at—to inspect at leisure and in comfort.

Don't let the opportunity that advertisements offer you slip by. No matter what you want, clothing, groceries, a fountain pen or a farm, you will find the "better" ones in the advertising columns.

The advertisements tell you where you can get what you want. They are a guarantee of worth that protects your purchase.

Buying with a definite knowledge is so much better than shopping at random. Study the advertisements.

G. A. BRETHEN AND DR. EMBURY BUSY

Progressive Back From the North, Conservative to Follow Him.

Over in the new riding of Peterboro-Hastings, the two candidates, Dr. Embury, Conservative, and G. A. Brethen, M. P., Progressive, are covering with the seven league boots of their automobiles the long jumps over the checker-board of 6000 square miles that have been alloted to them to contest. Mr. Brethen was back in Norwood yesterday, after a week's trip through the northern part of the riding, where he held meetings at Bancroft, Maynooth, Coe Hill and other places. He said he was well pleased with his reception, and particularly with the interest displayed by the many electors who remained after the meetings to introduce themselves to him. He is now working in the lower part of the riding, having spoken at Marmora last night, and going to Stirling to-night.

Dr. Embury has learned the realities of the strenuous campaigning in a big rural constituency. After various meetings in the southern sector he is moving to the north for a week and will return to the front again for nomination day, when he holds an evening meeting at Madoc, the electoral centre of the riding.

The Bancroft doctor said that he had met with an encouraging reception everywhere and was particularly grateful for the assistance he had received in the part of the riding which was comparatively new to him.

SIX COMMUNISTS WERE ARRESTED

British Government Officials Raided Headquarters in London.

MEN PROMINENT.

LONDON, October 15. — Canadian Press. — The British government is hard on the heels of the Communists, whose alleged activities recently in broadcasting pamphlets inciting the soldiers and sailors to mutiny has fed the flames of popular anger against them.

Raids were made last night on the Communist headquarters and at least one other Communistic centre in London.

Particularly notable was the arrest of Albert Inkpin, secretary of the Communist party, who has been one of the most active workers in the Communist party movement since its beginning here.

John Campbell, editor of the Workers' Weekly, who also was taken into custody, is credited with being the busiest man in the party.

Harry Bollitt, another man under detention, is an energetic public speaker. He belongs to the Red International of labor unions.

E. Cant, party organizer, W. Rust, secretary of the Young Communists' League, and P. H. Wintringham, a member of the staff of the Workers' Weekly, are among others who are said to be in jail.

The six Communist leaders taken in the raid on the party headquarters, were arraigned in the Bow Street Police Court to-day, and charged with conspiring to incite sedition and mutiny. They were remanded until October 23rd on bail of 100 pounds each.

MAYOR'S SUGGESTION.

Business matters concerned with the election of officers and the adoption of a resolution regarding the maintenance and extension fund occupied the attention of the conference at two business meetings held yesterday at Trinity Church.

The morning session elected the conference officers. Rev. C. W. Barrett, chairman of the meeting was acclaimed President on the first ballot, while Rev. M. C. Mackinnon, secretary pro tem., was elected secretary of the conference.

Rev. J. T. Daley, D.D., of Port Hope, presented a report of the committee appointed by the General Council to convene the Conference.

Dr. Baker, principal of Albert College, Belleville, emphasized the importance of the work carried on by that institution. This was followed by a strong resolution recognizing the value of the college to the church at large.

Devotional services were conducted by Rev. Dr. W. T. G. Brown of Kingston, assisted by Rev. H. W. Cliff of Arnprior, and Rev. Dr. Brown of Cobourg.

The Conference then adjourned and an official photograph was taken outside the Trinity Church building.

Afternoon Session.

The Conference proceeded to discuss important issues of the day in the meeting which started at 2:00 p.m. Matters were threshed out thoroughly, members taking an active part in seeing that not the slightest item pass by without comment or criticism as was demanded.

All problems were attacked by such a method of business like thoroughness and freedom from prejudice that the conclusions at which the conference arrived appeared satisfactory to all.

It was at this session that Mayor Turner seized the opportunity of bidding the visitors welcome, submitting for their approval the attractions afforded by the city, outlining in brief its history and attainments, and summarizing by a tribute applied to the people of Peterboro. His Worship suggested that as a memorial to this first conference of the United Church in the Bay of Quinte district, a shaft should be placed on the grounds of the George Street church to commemorate the event.

The conference approved a proposal which had been adopted by the Committee of Directors of the Maintenance and Extension Fund which had been arranged to make provisions for the missionaries' social, educational and benevolent work. To the five Presbyteries in the Conference, $360,000 was allocated in the following proportions: Renfrew, $52,000; Kingston, $54,000; Belleville, $81,000; Cobourg, $93,000; Lindsay, $81,000.

An Interim Committee consisting of two ministers, and two laymen for each Presbytery, was appointed with duties to arrange for special subscriptions, speeches and meetings, literature and publicity, acting in co-operaion with the Central Committee of the Conference.

It was arranged that each pastoral charge observe an educational period during the first and third weeks in November to prepare an "Every Person Canvas" on Nov. 22-29 in the interest of the maintenance and extension Fund.

At an earlier part of the meeting the conference elected a business committee and one to strike a Standing Committee.

Mr. H. W. Ackerman, of Belleville, presented the report of the Conference Committee on the Maintenance and Extension Fund.

Rev. Dr. Laird was heard on a report which was later adopted unchanged.

Dr. Best of Bowmanville, presented an interim report of the business Committee and the conference took up the matter of electing a Settlement Committee, after Dr. W. T. G. Brown had given a report on the subject.

OWNERS DISPLEASED AT ACTION OF JUDGE

Consider That Calling of Conference in Shipping Dispute is Inopportune.

MELBOURNE, Australia, Oct. 14. —Canadian Press. — The ship owners here declare that Justice Powers' calling of a conference of all the parties to the shipping dispute in connection with the seamen's strike is a most inopportune intervention of the arbitration court as represented by Justice Powers. It is considered likely the ship owners will seek legal advice on the question of his authority to call the conference, which has been fixed for October 19, in Sydney.

The Steamer Demodocus arrived here to-day from Perth, Western Australia, with her original crew. No trouble is anticipaetd in connection therewith.

Recently 100 striking seamen from the Demodocus raided the steamer at Freemantle, Western Australia, and drew the fires and acted in a threatening manner towards the captain and officers of the Demodocus. Because of this Premier S. M. Bruce of the Australian Commonwealth telegraphed the premier of Western Australia, Philip Collier, condemning the failure of the authorities at Freemantle to afford police protection for the Domodocus.

Inspirational Service Ends Bay of Quinte Conference In United Church of Canada

NEW CHURCH INSEPERABLE UNIT.

After Years of Negotiations and Experiences of Sacrifice a United Church Now Stands as as Attainment and Movement Continues Along Path of Duty.

That there would be no halt to the momentum attained by the Bay of Quinte Conference under its new auspices, the United Church of Canada, as shown last night in Trinity Church, where the final meeting of the assembly was held. Forces which had sufficied to weld three units of the Christian Church into an inseparable whole, the distinguishing constituents of which became lost in the magnificence of the new unit, were sufficient to point out the new route of travel, the new duties and larger responsibilities which could not be gained. Delegates and other hearers say that never before have messages of such inspiration, pregnant with the vital phrases of moral continuance, been heard in the history of a Church divided. It required the exigencies essential to such a situation as faced the conference, to bring into being the masterpieces of counsel and direction which culminated the conference session.

Three speakers presented the basic facts and purposes of the United Church of Canada. The Rev. Dr. W. T. Gunn, who p.uded his address with reminiscences of his youth spent in Keene and continued by drawing up the forces controlled by the United Church in full strength and in battle array. Opposed to that force was the mighty task which confronted the church as represented in mission work.

Rev. J. W. Graham followed with a dynamic discourse teeming with parallels and symbolic phrases, the purport of which was that a fight was on and that the alignment of the forces with Jesus Christ was more pronounced than ever it had been under principles of disintegration.

The cool survey of the field by Dr. Robert Laird came as the conclusion, capping an enunciated statement. That the Christian Church was falling down in its objective and that the sum aimed at by the maintenance and extension committee was quite insufficient to accomplish the need of the hour, were the salient facts placed before the audience. Above all, he declared, there was needed in the United Church a revival of the gospel of Self-Dedication.

The matter submitted by the three speakers bespoke with remarkable clarity of conception, the prime

Women Make Faces Fatter To Suit New Style in Hats

Three-cornered hats are to be worn this season, says a Paris fashion edict.

And for a woman to look the best in one of them she should have a fat, round face.

So to meet the demand of many who have reduced until their faces are but skin and bones, manufacturers are putting out neat little supports to be worn inside the mouth.

The supports rest against the teeth on each side and give to the cheeks a full, rounded appearance.

MINORITY RIGHTS ARE SAFE UNDER A BRITISH FLAG

Quebec Premier Addressed the Members of the Inter-Parliamentary Union.

SPOKE IN FRENCH.

Drew Attention to Amicable Relations That Exist Between Canada and U. S.

QUEBEC, Qe., Oc. 16. — Canada Members of the Inter-Parliamentary Union were the guests of the City of Quebec at a banquet here tonight. In the absence of Hon. Narcisse Perodeau, Lieutenant-Governor, who was indisposed, his message of welcome to the delegates was delivered by Senator N. A. Belcourt, the president of the Canadian section of the Union.

Premier Taschereau also spoke addressing the gathering in French. He referred to the pleasant relations existing between Canada and the United States and reminded the visitors that they had not seen a soldier or a gun as they crossed the boundary into the Dominion.

"Is it permissable to hope," went on the Premier, "that you will find in this state of things something that will make your missions more fruitful and useful one? Excellent legislators that you are, will you not leave with the conviction that respect for our neighbors and the honesty which reigns for the happiness of individuals are the rules of life applying to peoples and nations?

"Your labor, if I have rightly understood, was another object—that of assuring protection for the minorities. A French-Canadian, I form with two and a half millions of my compatriots the minority in our country. We have had our days of trial, but the British flag, which destiny has made ours, gave us complete liberty in our province, and this liberty is the token of our loyalty and fidelity.

"Respect minorities, their tongues, their traditions, their religious convictions. Preach it well. This respect for minorities, have it resound throughout the world. Then you will have accomplished a noble and generous mission"

Hello! Long Distance, Please Give Me New York New Transatlantic Station Is Ready For Work

LONDON, Oct. 16. — (Canadian Press).—The high power radio telephone station at Rugby, which is to be used for transmission to America, has been completed and everything is ready for operation.

The Post Office authorities, says the Morning Post, have taken charge and tests to the United States are expected to be made in the next few days.

The terminal will be connected shortly with the main London telephone exchange, and telephone subscribers then will be able to call New York. The charge for a three-minute' conversation between London and New York probably will not exceed five dollars.

The corresponding receiving station at Rocky Point, Long Island, New York, has been getting test messages successfully from Rugby for some time past.

MEIGHEN OPENS CAMPAIGN IN HIS HOME PROVINCE

ANSWERS DUNNING.

Says Cost of Living is Higher Now Than in 1921.

DAUGHIN, Man., Oct. 16.—(Canadian Press).—Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, in addressing a meeting here last night after a day which signalized the opening of an intensive campaign in Manitoba, declared that the Prime Minister, "Who says that by 1930 there will be no Progressive Party, is calling upon his followers in 20 Ontario seats and in five seats in Manitoba to support the Progressives."

In doing this Mr. Meighen charged that Mr. King was content to ask them to vote for a party which he admits is dying.

"The attitude taken by the Government," he declared, "is not in accordance with the methods of the historic Liberal party, the methods of such men as Howe and Blake, who fought through for victory or honorable defeat."

Mr. Meighen went on to refer to the possible inclusion of Premier Dunning of Saskatchewan in the Liberal Cabinet.

Mr. Dunning is one of those who declare that a higher tariff will increase the cost of living. "I should like to ask Mr. Dunning if when a higher tariff will increase the cost of living, why hasn't tariff reduction lowered it?"

Mr. Meighen read from a Government chart, which he stated showed the cost of living was higher now than when Mr. King's first budget was brought in.

Landlords Won't Let Houses To Couples With Children

LONDON, Oct. 16.—"The most difficult question of all is that of the married couple with children," says Dr. A. Wellesley Harris, medical officer of health for Lewisham in dealing in his annual report with housing.

"There is continued evidence," he states, "of the suffering caused by the lack of housing accommodation for the working classes and over-crowding is very prevalent.

"I have listened to almost unbelievable tales of the harshness of some of the persons who sublet their houses, when they discover that an increase in their lodgers' family is expected."

UNION JACKS AT KING MEETING IN ORILLIA HALL

Thousands of Small Flags Were Distributed Among the Audience.

"NATIONAL UNITY.

Premier Warns Against Voting Change For Sake of Change.

ORILLIA, Ont., Oct. 16.—(Canadian Press). — Thousands of tiny Union Jacks welcomed Premier King in Orillia last night. In all the provinces of the Dominion no hall in which Mr. King has spoken was more decorated and beflagged than that of Orillia. As the crowd entered Union Jacks were distributed. As Mr. King came in the crowd arose, waving the flags in greeting. "It remains for Orillia," commented the Prime Minister, "to give me the finest reception which it has been my privilege to have." He spoke first of the Champlain monument standing close at hand, on the site of the old Huron villages by Lake Couchiching, and its lesson of national unity.

"In the journey I have made," he said, "I have sought to keep national unity before my fellow-citizens in all parts of the Dominion. It is my proud belief that the policies of the Liberal Party are policies which will make for national unity."

Mr. King spoke of the Conservative protection policy as the "patent remedy" of Mr. Meighen. He warned the crowd not to experiment with a change merely for the sake of change. "You have a Government in office which has served you well," said Mr. King. "Think twice before you change it for a Government with Mr. Patenaude and Armand Lavergne behind it."

New Military Ruler Occupies Gateway Port of China.

DEFENDERS RETIRE.

SHANGHAI, Oct. 16 (Canadian Press).—Shanghai, the gateway port of China, today fell into the hands of the new military ruler, General Sun Chuan-Fang, the Chekiang commander. Without firing a shot, 10,000 of his troops took possession of the city, while 15,000 troops of General Chang Tso-Lin, who have held the city many months withdrew towards Central China. More than eighty Chinese sentenced to death were turned over to the foreign authorities by General Shing Shi-Lien, the retiring commander, who was unable to execute the offenders after sentences had been imposed by mixed courts.

Two regiments of departing troops were caught in marooned armored cars and disarmed by the advancing chekiang forces.

Paris Diamond Exchange Has Been Broken Up By Police, Foreigners Carried Large Jewelry stock in Their Pockets

PARIS, October 16 (Special by United Press)—Police broke up the famous diamond exchange Thursday and marched 400 Greek, Armenian, Turkish, Italian, Spanish and other dealers in precious stones through the streets to the police station, the motley cohorts exciting considerable curiosity and amusement on the way.

For years these diamond brokers had been accustomed to do business in a cafe in the Rue LaFayette and at last the fiscal authorities got tired of seeing the turnover tax on millions of dollars thus escaping them, most of the brokers possessing neither office nor license.

The contents of the brokers' pockets, seized by the police would stock almost the whole Rue De La Paix. Eighty per cent of the men arrested were foreigners, many of whom did not possess identity cards.

PRINCE OF WALES RETURNS TO BIG WELCOMING THRONG

London Turns Out En Masse to Greet Ambasador of Empire.

25,000 MILE TRIP.

King, Queen and Other Members of Royal Family Waiting.

LONDON, Oct. 16. — (Canadian Press).—London gave the Prince of Wales the most affectionate welcome of all his home-comings this morning when he returned from his 25,000 mile voyage to South Africa and South America. He was greeted at Victoria Station by the King and Queen, other members of the Royal Family, and thousands of spectators. The Prince stepped from the train which brought him from Portsmouth, wearing the uniform of the Welsh Guards.

After shaking hands with the King, the young heir-apparent bent low over the Queen's hand. Then, dropping all formal salutations, he placed an arm about his mother and kissed her affectionately on both cheeks.

His sister, Princess Mary, and his new sister-in-law, the Duchess of York, were the next to greet the home-coming of the "Ambassador of the Empire."

The battle cruiser Repulse which carried the Prince of Wales on his voyage, came in from the sea this morning to find a damp, drizzling autumn day. The great war vessel was met by destroyers and seaplanes and escorted to an anchorage off Spitshead. Shortly before noon she steamed into the dockyard here, and the Royal traveller set foot on his home soil amid the cheers of a welcoming crowd. The Prince was greeted by the Duke of York and

Hamilton Man Dies At Oars of Skiff Near Oak Orchard

Early Morning Duck Hunt Ended Tragically on Pigeon Lake — Thomas Marshall Suddenly Stricken While Rowing Skiff With Companion, Who Paddled.

NO WARNING OF SUDDEN STROKE.

Fog Obscured Landing and McQuillan Was Lost For a Time With Dead Man—Coroner Decides Death Was Due to Natural Causes.

An early morning duck hunt on Pigeon Lake ended tragically when Thomas Marshall of Hamilton died while rowing a skiff toward Oak Orchard today.

Accompanied by a man named McQuillan, also from Hamilton, Mr. Marshall started out at 5.00 a.m. after eating a hearty breakfast. He was in the bow, rowing, while McQuillan was paddling behind him. When they had proceeded some distance McQuillan saw his friend relax, loose his grasp on the oars and slump backward on the bottom of the skiff. He died without making the slightest sound.

McQuillan put about at once and paddled back to Flood's landing, from which they had started just a short while before. In the fog, he missed the landing, but finally arrived, he communicated immediately with the Peterborough police.

Had Been Hunting.

According to McQuillan's story, the two of them had been on hunting expeditions of that nature regularly throughout the past thirty years. When Marshall had first fallen backward he had splashed water on his face in the faint hope of reviving him. They had been camped at Flood's Landing for some days, and had set out this morning with a boat load of decoys.

Mr. McQuillan made arrangements this morning with Harold Flood to drive the body back to Hamilton.

Coroner Dr. T. W. H. Young viewed the body and decided death was due to natural causes.

Working Men, Look Here!

Why You Should Vote For A. E. Peck

When you find in the community in which you are living a man, honest, helpful and industrious and whose reputation stands away above par, and this man asks from you a recognition then MR. PECK is the one deserving of recognition. He has not lived his life to be able to solicit your favor, but he being here and you being with him in citizenship, your duty is to encourage and approve.

Your approval can be pronounced in your vote. And in so doing you will be voting for a good man, a clean representative, and just the kind of man you will never have to apologize for. You will be numbered on the winning side and in a good cause.

It's in the air. MR. PECK will be elected. The talk of the street, which is a way of sensing public opinion, says he's a sure winner. His friends have every confidence.

Now, good men are not so scarce, but very good men who are willing to give time, energy and talents for your benefit, are mighty scarce MR. PECK offers in your service such service.

He asks your votes on the basis that he will offer you a fair equivalent, a careful regard for your interests. Not as a class, but as a part of the people of the Dominion who can be bettered in position by wise legislation, such as is now found wanting.

MR. PECK is sincere in saying to you that much can be done for you in bringing into force an amended tariff that will help in securing for Labor and the Products of Labor a Home Market. A tariff that will enable us to work up our raw materials, furnish employment and ensure steadiness in wages, and make things brighter for the working man, and his wife and children. Don't forget the children.

Don't be drawn aside from your resolve to vote for MR. PECK. He asks you "how much better off are you than four years ago." Do you think you have gained anything substantial in the last forty-eight months? Have you had steady employment? Have those four years been free from an intense scraping and managing to make things meet? A man should live decently and have something left after the years of work are done. How much have you left?

It is true that legislation cannot make all men well off. But wise legislation can help to keep you from getting poorer through no fault of your own. Our laws that relate to imports and exports should be so framed that the benefit from such laws remains with the people, and should be made for their protection and progress.

MR. PECK proposes, (in fact says he will) to use his efforts to bring about a condition which must make you better off. For if we go on as we have been going, we are, because we make no progress, going backward. Just as the farm that lacks attention and care and cultivation drops back to a state of nature.

VOTE FOR MR. PECK AND WATCH THE IMPROVEMENT IN YOUR POSITION THAT WILL AND MUST FOLLOW.

"BRINGING UP FATHER" — Geo. McManus

INSPIRATIONAL SERVICE

needs of the day.

The service was opened with the battle hymn, "Onward Christian Soldiers," followed by the Scripture lesson found in Isaiah, Chapter 62, and read by Rev. J. S. I. Wilson of Brighton. Rev. J. Rollins of Renfrew led in prayer.

The conference president, Rev. C. W. Barrett, said that one might be forgiven a slight sense of discomposure when it was elected that he should sit in the seats of the mighty. Characterizing the three speakers as a great triumvirate, he paid a striking tribute to the worth and accomplishments of the speakers. The Conference, he said, had been blessed with splendid gatherings and the size of the audiences were taken as an index of the interest which was entertained for the United Church of Canada.

Rev. W. T. Gunn, D.D.

With the announcement that he had been born in Keene and claiming to have started life with a United Church inheritance, Dr. Gunn plunged into his subject.

There were several instances in his youth which he remembered well. He had first been a member of the Methodist Church, and as he himself admitted, he was a "splendid little Methodist, although he had never been told much about collections. On the occasion of a corner-stone placement, a collection was taken up and he had none to give. Hurriedly he rushed home, took his penny bank from the shelf, shook it long and earnestly—finally, with results—ran back with his money and found that everyone was gone. Bursting into tears of disappointment, he detailed his woe to Rev. James Kines, who was officiating at the ceremony, and deposited his offering in the care of the clergyman. The Rev. Kines declared afterward, that he was the only Methodist known who had wept because of missing the collection.

At one time by some stroke of genius or industry, he had come by a twenty-five cent piece, and came to Peterborough to invest it. He was of the opinion that by his investment often cents in railway equipment consisting of a tin locomotive and two cars to match, he had contributed materially to the mercantile prosperity of the city and business had been good ever since.

Turning rapidly from personal episodes, Rev. Gunn dealt with the main issues confronting the new church. Some one had said that, in the initial stages economy was necessary but, as the speaker pointed out, economy was already a predominant characteristic as was chown that in the re-alignment of the Presbyterian and Methodist Churches of Northern Ontario alone 80 men and $50,000 from the Mission Board were saved.

Even before Church Union took place, book publishers and theological institutions representing the different denominations had collected extensively.

It was certain that what economy possible was going to be observed. However ,the basic principles of Union did not call for doing less but for doing more than had heretofore been undertaken—not to spend less but to spend more wisely. Four million dollars, the speaker admitted, seemed a big sum, but, he further observed, a five cent piece, if held sufficiently close to the eye, would eclose a mountain and in this matter he purposed giving some heed to the mountain. Even a five piece of silver would look small when compared to the great land mass, so, the speaker said, would the four millions set by the Settlement and Extension Fund appear small when compared to the service which it was to perform.

Situation Reviewed.

The speaker then proceeded to marshal the facts concerning the need for funds—the mountain—and the resources with which the situation might be met. The legions of ministers, missionaries, social service workers, colleges, schools, universities, annuitant ministers, widows and orphans of ministers, costs of founding the Church, costs of legislation, for all of these there was immediate need of help in Canada.

Out side of Canada there were battalions of missionaries, native helpers, out-stations, hospitals, colleges and mission houses.

Four millions in the face of that array dwindled to a very small amount, said the speaker, but on considering the numbers of people who have to do the work it pales into comparative insignificance. Forces of 160,000 young people, 700,000 churchmen, 1,300,000 church adherents. Considering these factors Dr. Gunn declared that the sum prescribed was not enough for the work to hand.

As editor of the official organ of the United Church, The Record, the speaker submitted the fact that many letters came from foreign parts soliciting relief which could not be granted, for new buildings which could not be erected, and for missions which could not be established. There were big things ahead that could be done for Him.

J. W. Graham, D.D.

Having visited a number of conferences, Rev. Graham was forced to conclude, he said, that the pervasive spirit of unity so commonly noticed, was getting to be a trade mark. The man who does not feel the call of to-day was twice dead. This was a day when things were happening everywhere. Empires were tumbling into dust heaps, haloed institutions were being scrapped, fires were testing every nation, civilization was at the cross-roads.

"Democracy is a name to conjure with," he declared. "It has not proved itself yet. It may be in Russia, but if it is there, its constituents would appear to be made up mainly of Hell fire.

"Democracy then is still in the laboratory. What will be found in those test tubes after the reagents of the years have done their work. Will it be the hard clear crystalline substance of fact or a poison gas—a ravager and despoiler? Will it result in class tyranny, selfishness and greed or something which will dominate society with its finer purposes and uses? Will it make the world a jungle or an Eden? Is it to be chaos or Christ? Jesus is the only hope of the world. What is Christianity but Christ?

"The labor problems will never be solved by any long-haired, empty-pated demigogue canting on a soap box or by the smooth-tongued orator of factions who attempts to sway the interests of his hearers down unimportant switch lines. Only by a conference of Labor and Capital with the Saviour at the head, can the adjustments so necessary to civil welfare be made. This is not an economic problem but a personal thing, and when it is possible to have manufacturers' associations and Labor unions shot through with the Sermon on the Mount, then we will get somewhere.

"If there was to be another war every last rag of civilization would be consumed and people would revert to a form of stark and grim savagery. To my mind," said the speaker, "the international spirit should be Christ Jesus. What good is a League of Nations without a brotherhood of man? Treaties without some guarantee of inter-dependence are nothing but bundles of solemn futilities which may be torn to shreds on the slightest provocation allowing once again the toxins of war to blaze forth and the war-dogs to slip their leash. When the Saviour is brought into the League then treaties will function and peace will girdle the globe with glory.

"If it is true that Christ is the only hope of the world and that He can only function through those who give themselves to Him, then every one should be a follower of the Man of Nazareth."

The speaker recalled an incident which occurred in a theatre holocaust in which many were trampled to death by those anxious to save their own lives.

One man who had survived the fire, on being congratulated, said, "Don't congratulate me. I left behind me in that theatre all that went to make me a man."

A youth trapped in the same fire helped nineteen to escape by means of a plank stretched from a theatre window to one across an alley. Before he could escape himself he inhaled flames and was taken to the hospital. Believed to be in an unconscious state, some one commiserated with him and he at once made response, "Don't pity me. Some men get their chance at 20, some at 45, some at 30; I got mine before I was 20."

Followers of Mammon, commented the speaker, trampled over the bodies of the weak, leaving their manhood behind them. One said, "Don't congratulate me," the lad said, "Don't pity me."

"Don't be a quitter. It is a real fight we are in now, and not a sham battle. The slacker is an unsaved man, and there is no neutral zone in this conflict. Some have the idea that religion is something that happens on Sunday. The only thing that will make civilization safe is to see that it happens every day. It is a real business, not a dress parade, and the issue is whether this world will be Calvary or Mammon. Which side are you on?

"Do not let it be an individualistic business but a cohesion. Let us get together. Yes, I believe in Union. There are some men who want to tie things up in 57 varieties of religion; all are agreed on the real essentials but differ on the fringes. The time has arrived now when it is no longer expedient to dicker about those ragged edges which don't matter, and to get at the heart of things. Let Christ be glorified.

"A farmer when asked his idea of the true Church, said that he had been drawing wheat to a certain miller for a number of years. The miller had never asked him how he got there, but he had asked him if the wheat was good. That was the thing that mattered. Was the wheat good? I would not trade my apostolic concession in the United Church for any other in any other sectarian body unless," he added quaintly, "I were given something to boot."

Everything that had been in the church was glorified and given a finer setting in the United church.

The Chinese and Japanese want one Evangelical church and he hoped it would come "the day after tomorrow."

He had no word to say against any order or club although he submitted that there was no such organization as mighty as the church of Jesus Christ. Wherever one chanced to go in the land, there were churches and one knew that a community without a church was no place in which to bring up a child. It is through the church by the intervention of Jesus Christ that the Empire without frontier may be attained.

Robert Laird, D.D.

In the closing moments of the Conference, Dr. Laird was vividly conscious that in the past few months he had been conscious of a deep physical experience.

After years of negotiations after much perplexed thought, heart burnings and heart searching, casting ancient prejudices aside, breaking barriers, struggles that invaded homes and the sundering of ties that wounded the sacred tendrils of friendship, after all this came the memorable day, June 10. Since that day the movement had continued on steadfast feet along the highway of love.

"Now after the Communion and Conference, after the encouragement given on Tuesday evening by the Moderator who told in a masterly and a kindly way the meaning and responsiiblity of the Church of God and the United Church of Canada; with the elevation of thought, depth of emotion and the feeling that unbreakable bonds of fellowship have been forged we face the hard and unyielding monotony of the day's toil.

"One must tremble as he thinks of the responsibilities which will grow out of that rare fellowship. Can you match the great hours by Christian character which the problems demand in that issue

"After all, great days are on the threshold and the most immediate and urgent task is to work them into the spiritual fibre of the nation. The facing of such a task is in itself a spring of power. The experiences enjoyed must be injected into every community on Canadian soil and even allowed to permeate regions beyond."

Dr. Laird paid a tribute to the address of Dr. Gunn but said that in his detailing of the position occupied by the church he did not say that today it was standing. Lack of where it should stand nor of the selfishness and narrow minded bigotry of the church which were paralysing efforts in religious work today. It was an unpardonable sin to offer for one the safety which could not be granted all. One should not demand safety which is not offered to all.

If that principle applied to man what would it mean for the United Church of Canada?

After a splendid instrument had been forged there was no excuse to stand idly by and not use it in pressing forward to the stupendous task.

There were several missionaries in India who had been paying their own expenses from their private funds for the past two months. At one place it had been necessary to dismiss ten native workers. Since the Boxer rebellion in China opportunities had overwhelmed Christianity and overtures had been received saying that the provisions in the field was less than it was ten years ago. They asked for reinforcements but they could not be sent until the United Church came to itself. Let the foreign field know that it was not forsaken. The present maintenance and extension fund would not give reinfrocement to the work but would merely enable it to continue as before. How was it possible for a foreign mission to succeed unless there was behind it the impact of a great volume of faith in the Church.

The eyes ofthe Orient are searching out the secrets of Christian lives not by casual glances but with a calculating miscroscopic study.

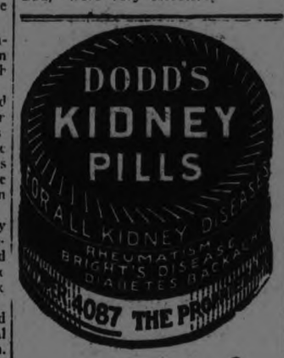
"We must look to ourselves and study the import of the emotion in the prairie provinces where thousands of settlers are without the means of worship. What it means when thousands fo immigrants come here and there is no Christian church to minister to them.

"Canada first is a poor battle cry in a day of International responsibilities but Canada clean sweet and pure is a battle cry which more aptly approximates the need of the day.

"Above all else in the United Church the need arises for a revival of the gospel of self dedication. There will be no advance represented, no grappling to Canada with hoops of steel and twining tendrils of love unless we take the Master to ourselves. A missionary in Toronto caught the gleam when he fed and gave beds to all those who came to him beset by circumstance. There was more of beauty in his act than in the fairness of roses. That is the spirit essential to the United Church and to us if we are to fulfill our responsibilities," said Dr. Laird in conclusion.

The music which featured this final session of the Conference was of a very special character. Lemare's Andantino prefaced the assembly while the offertory was Canone Amoroso by Nevin.

A solo by Mrs. G. H. King, "God is Our Refuge" and a choral number Mendelssohn's "Judge Me, O God," were very effective.



BRUTAL MURDER NOW REVEALED

Man Blown Up in Mine Was Buried as the Slayer.

INSURANCE SPENT.

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—(Canadian Press).—For nine months a board head-piece bearing the simple inscription, "William H. Turner, died January 17, 1925," has marked a mound in a hillside graveyard in the Kentucky mining county of Pike.

Yesterday this same William H. Turner stepped off a ship just in from Germany to face charges of murdering the man buried in that hillside as himself and to tell his wife and sister there was ended the life of luxury they have lived on the $85,000 insurance collected when a mine explosion supposedly blew him into eternity.

For nine months Turner explained he had been in Hamburg, Germany, but now he was back to tell the details of a murder plot that stands out in all crime records for brutality.

Turner charged that his father-in-law, Joe Jacke, deliberately set off an explosion in the Auburn mine at McCarr, Ky., supposed then to have been an accident, which killed two men, one of whom was buried as Turner.

HENDERSON IS BADLY HECKLED

Reds Out in Force When Labor Leader Speaks in Toronto.

MANY INTERRUPTIONS.

TORONTO, Oct. 16.—(Canadian Press).—When Rt. Hon. Arthur Henderson, Home Secretary in the MacDonald Labor Government in England, last year, spoke to a crowded audience in the Labor Temple last night, the Reds were out in force, and he was subjected to considerable heckling.

"Will you work for the abolition of the Royal Family?" was one question.

"I will not," replied Mr. Henderson vigorously, amid cheers and some booing.

Another questioner wished to know why the Labor Party in England would not admit workers who were Communists and yet admitted people who were not workers.

"We admit them because these are loyal to the constitution of the party" was the reply.

"We keep out the others because we know they will not work as we want them to work for the party but only wish to exploit it, as Lenin once said, as a hangman's noose for the partyr's destruction."

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 16, 1925.

THE DOWNFALL OF JOHNSON.

Even those who wanted to see Pittsburg win the World's Series find their delight in the Pirates' victory yesterday clouded over with regret that it had to be at the expense of Walter Johnson and rob him of his last chance to rank with the scant few who have won three games in one World's Series.

Johnson, the lion-hearted, pitching on one good leg, and under most disheartening weather conditions, let down by the fielding misplays of the proverbially steady Peckinpaugh, held on until victory was almost in his grasp—and then lost.

It was an exhibition of gameness by a pitcher of nineteen years' service that will be remembered as one of the outstanding features of this somewhat colourless series of 1925.

Johnson will not likely have the chance again—may never be in another World's Series—may never, in fact, wear a big league uniform again.

And with his passing Canadian fans and United States enthusiasts alike will agree that baseball will be the poorer.

RURAL SENTIMENT CHANGES.

The action of the Wentworth County Council in passing a bylaw making it compulsory for all vehicles to carry lights after dark is welcome in the evidence it offers of a change of rural sentiment in regard to this kind of legislation.

When Mr. Drury was at the head of affairs in Ontario his Government quickly killed off an agitation for a Provincial enactment in regard to unilluminated vehicles—despite the fact that such legislation was clearly in the interests of the rural population.

The majority of the Wentworth County Council are farmers, and it is satisfactory to note that the realization is beginning to sink home that in collisions caused by the absence of warning lights it is nearly always the occupant of the horse-driven vehicle and not of the motor car who suffers injury.

The bylaw passed by the Wentworth Council does not come into effect until December 1st, giving the resident of the county ample time to protect their vehicles with the necessary lights.

After that date a fine of $50 is set as the penalty for not carrying out the provisions of the bylaw.

The Wentworth measure is legislation that could profitably be copied by other county councils through the Province—or more useful still, the Ontario Government should enact a Provincial act of this nature.

MANY INDEPENDENTS.

The number of independent candidates in the field in the present campaign offers some food for thought in the indication it gives of a breaking away from the old rigid party discipline.

This, of course, is especially the case in Quebec, where candidates with many labels are appealing for the support of the electorate, but it applies to other sections of Canada as well.

Thus we find independent Liberals running in some cases as protectionists, and in Toronto the rare spectacle is seen of party splits in both Liberal and Conservative ranks that will result in official and unofficial candidates of both parties in several of the seats.

Northeast Toronto is particularly conspicuous because of the flock of aspirants who apparently regard it as a happy hunting ground.

Here three Conservatives, one a woman candidate, two Liberals and a Labour standard-bearer will battle for victory, unless unexpected developments occur before the official nomination proceedings next Thursday.

All this confusion adds to the uncertainty of the election, and creates interest in sections where ordinarily a political campaign attracts but normal attention.

THE FRIGHTFUL SLAUGHTER GOES ON.

The sickening slaughter of motor car passengers still goes on, despite the terrible warnings that abound on every hand. The pity of it is that the most of these are caused by carelessness and recklessness. These days one shocking tragedy is quickly followed by another more horrible, until the list of casualties is more gruesome in its character than that of wartime. One of the latest and most heartrending of these appalling tragedies is that of Sunday afternoon at Scarborough Junction, near Toronto, when six people were killed, and two families almost entirely wiped out. A closed car, in which seven persons, four adults and three children, were riding, collided at the crossing with the International Limited, with the result that the motor car was smashed to bits, and six of the occupants mutilated and killed in a shocking manner.

It is evident that this sad tragedy must have been the result of carelessness, for the track was clear of obstruction for a considerable distance, so that an approaching train could easily be seen. It is probable that, as they were out on a pleasure jaunt, the attention of the driver was distracted, and the calamity occurred. If, on the other hand, the driver of the motor car attempted to beat the train to the crossing, he took a terrible risk. Sometimes the driver of the motor succeeds, but almost every day the wires carry the news of shattered cars and mangled bodies. Meanwhile it is said that the drivers of locomotives in Canada and the United States are subjected to a terrible nervous strain by these reckless motorists. A great many motorists have the fashion of driving up almost to the edge of the railway tracks before they stop. This confuses the engineers. "If we could only tell what they are going to do, it would not be so bad," say the engineers, "but we are left completely in the dark."

The fast express train travels on its own right-of-way, and cannot swerve a hair's breath in case of danger. It cannot stop in much less than its own length. If the engineer sees a motor car racing along the road beside him, he can do no more than sound a warning whistle and watch, with his hand on the emergency brake, for the impending crash. He earnestly wishes to avoid an accident, and would do all in his power to save the motorist, but he is helpless. The reckless or careless pilot of the motor vehicle gives him no chance. Not very long ago a number of Canadian locomotive drivers gave their opinion of the man who tempts death at the level crossings. Every motorist who is tempted to flirt with death ought to ponder what these men say. It has been figured out that the longest freight train, travelling only fifteen miles an hour, can pass a given point in two minutes, while the average passenger train flashes past in ten seconds. To take the chance of ten seconds against instant death is unutterable madness.—Brantford Expositor.

THE RELATIVITY OF AGE.

Elbert H. Gary passed into his eightieth year one day last week, and on that day he was made a Doctor of Commercial Science by New York University. If the casual reader of such a newspaper paragraph were uninformed as to Judge Gary, he would quite naturally assume that this honor had been bestowed on a man long dissociated from active business interests and in that position which is comprehensively described as "retired."

But that would be a mistake. Judge Gary is still head of the United States Steel Corporation, the next largest industrial organization in the world to the Standard Oil Company. Not only that; but he is identified with a number of public bodies, and quite recently was made chairman of the Crime Prevention Commission of the United States. He also finds the time to contribute eminently rational and constructive interviews and articles on social and industrial questions. He is one of the great captains of industry, and is never spoken of, much less regarded, as "an old man."

Judge Gary does not stand alone as an example of virile old age. Our own John R. Booth, at 79, was as actively and efficiently the directing genius of a great commercial enterprise as he had been at fifty, and he has continued to be the active head of a great business at 92. There are many others; and the truth we must learn, as well as adequately value, is the relativity of age. One man is old at sixty, and another is still young, with the advantage of a ripe experience behind him.

Nevertheless, cases of men carrying heavy responsibilities at 79 are comparatively rare. To live that long is to pass not only beyond the Biblical span, but to enjoy an exceptional privilege. For every hundred men who reach 21, only five attain to 80. With such a statistical fact before us we are apt to take it for granted those men who are still going strong at 79 must be the possessors of some secret formula for the perpetuation of life, as well as of physical and mental activity. We should dismiss that suspicion. In ninety-nine instances out of a hundred they simply follow common sense rules as to diet, sleep and exercise—which is not a secret at all.

There is, however, something more to be said about Mr. Gary who, in his eightieth year, is directing the policies of a billion dollar corporation. He began life as a farmer's boy. At once there enters into the equation the suggestion of heredity. He came of sturdy, out-door-living stock. He early learned the value of the simple life in its bearing on health; and he never departed from those wholesome standards, notwithstanding his rise to one of the great places among men. As to how he got there, is another story as interesting and instructive as that which tells of his physical fitness. Yet it is an exceedingly common-place story. He did each job which came to his hands so well that he was moved upward step by step, not by big jumps, until he got to the top. He was nearly sixty before he reached his present eminence. That is the way all men who are thrown on their own resources reach lofty posts. There is no other; and every young man on the threshhold of life should realize that fundamental truth.—Ottawa Journal.

STERLING EXCHANGE

MONTREAL, Oct. 16 (Canadian Press). — Sterling exchange rates were quoted here yesterday as follows:

Sterling cables $4.83.
Sterling demand $4.83 1-2.

EGG MARKETS

OTTAWA, Oct. 16 (Canadian Press).—There are no changes reported from Canadian egg markets. American storage holdings show this year's figures to be approximately 1,200,000 cases in excess of October 1 last year. Expectations were that the excess would be a million and a half cases and as a result the market has shown strength.

Ontario dealers paying country points, extras 42-45; firsts 38-40, seconds 30-35.

Montreal—No change in the egg market. There is a good demand for fresh extras, but other grades are sluggish.

Winnipeg—Manitoba and Saskatchewan egg markets are quiet but steady. Winnipeg dealers are asking 38 1-2 for storage firsts and 31 for seconds f.o.b. Winnipeg. There is no trading, as Eastern buyers are not interest at this price.

Calgary—Egg market is unchanged. Jobbing extras $12.30, firsts $11.90, seconds $9.80.

MONTREAL MARKETS

MONTREAL, Oct. 16 (Canadian Press).—The local grain market was fairly active yesterday and closed strong with a net gain of 1 3-4 to 2 1-4 cents per bushel. There was no important change in the market for coarse grains, but prices were firm with a moderate amount of business passing in car lots.

A fair volume of business continues to be done in spring wheat flour, and the market was moderately active with a steady undertone. There was no change in the market for winter wheat flour.

A steady feeling prevailed in the market for millfeed under a fair demand for supplies. The demand for standard grades of rolled oats was steady. The movement for baled hay continues fairly good, there being a steady demand from both local and outside buyers.

Beans were quoted at $2.40 to $2.50 per bushel.

A good steady business continues to be done in eggs for local consumption, and the market was fairly active with a firm undertone. Supplies of strictly fresh eggs were again light and in consequence sales were confined to small lots in order to satisfy buyers' wants. Prices were unchanged. The receipts yesterday were 719 cases, as against 1,662 for the same day last week, and 1,963 for the corresponding day a year ago.

There was no further change in the condition of the market for potatoes but the undertone was reported strong at the recent advance noted, and the indications were that they would reach a higher level in the near future, as supplies coming forward were not sufficient to meet the requirements of the trade.

The receipts of butter yesterday were 2,477 packages, as against 1,003 for the same day last week, and 1,943 for the corresponding day a year ago. According to some cable advices that have been received here the seamen's strike at New Zealand, Australia and South Africa is nearing a settlement, and in consequence of which a very unsettled feeling has developed in the English markets with the result that there has been little or no demand from that source for Canadian creamery butter of late, and this coupled with the fact that local buyers show little disposition to operate at present, an easy feeling prevails in the market.

The receipts of cheese were 5,892 boxes as compared with 7,498 for the same day last week, and 4,424 for the corresponding day a year ago. Owing to the improvement in the volume of business with foreign buyers the past day or two and the increased movement of supplies for export account a firmer feeling prevailed in the local market yesterday and prices were a trifle higher.

CHICAGO WHEAT

CHICAGO, Oct. 16 (Canadian Press). — Snowstorms and heavy rains reported in some sections of Canada gave an advantage to the buying side of the wheat market yesterday, especially during the late dealings. Closing prices on wheat were unsettled, 1-2 to 7-8c net higher, new style Dec. 1.43 1-4 to 1.43 3-8 and May 1.42 1-2 to 1.42 5-8, with corn at 1-8c decline to 5-8c gain, oats at a shade lower to an equal advance and provisions varying from 45c drop to a rise of 5c.

Reports of adverse weather conditions likely to delay or curtail the movement of wheat were emphasized by strength which values displayed at Winnipeg and at Liverpool and by assertions that Japan of late had purchased 5,000,000 bushels of Canadian wheat to be shipped from North Pacific ports. Advices were also at hand that drought was causing serious crop damage in the southern portion of Australia.

Earlier the trade here was disturbed by word that milling demand for domestic wheat gave evidence of having decidedly fallen off. In this connection arrivals of Canadian wheat at Minneapolis lead to estimates that Number 3 Northern Canadian wheat laid down in Chicago would be 1.65 a bushel, duty paid—nearly 22 cents a bushel higher than the closing price yesterday for the December delivery here.

Corn and oats were governed largely by the action of wheat. Country offerings of corn to arrive were scarce.

Provisions averaged lower as a result of packers selling. A transient upturn early was ascribed to buying on the part of previous sellers of nearby deliveries of lard.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK

CHICAGO, Oct. 16 (Canadian Press).—Cattle receipts 14,000; extreme top 1,332 pound bullocks 16.00; yearlings upwards to 15.25; most western grassers 7.25 to 8.50; she stock, steady to weak; bulls steady; vealers steady to 25c higher, largely 11.00 to 12.00 to packers.

Hog receipts, 26,000; uneven; opened stead to 15c lower; closed active, strong at early prices; bulk desirable 100 to 310 pound weights 11.35 to 11.75; choice 140 to 150 lb.

A THOUGHT.

THE SAMENESS WOULD KILL.

With nothing but fair weather and no rain, life would be like a withered locust leaf.

Sunshine smiles and dewdrop tears develop us. A constant, never-changing season and the sameness would kill.

A more durable butter is being produced in Holland by churning in an atmosphere of carbon dioxide. The air is easily withdrawn from the churn and replaced with the heavier gas, and the portion of this worked into the butter remains a long time with ordinary handling, thus keeping out the oxygen to which natural deterioration is due. The process is said to be inexpensive.

OPEN LETTER NO. 22

RT. HON. W. L. MACKENZIE KING,
Prime Minister and President of the Privy Council,
Ottawa.

Dear Sir:

In attempts to belittle the importance of the home market to the Canadian farmer, the argument has been used over and over again that the prices obtainable in the export market always govern the prices obtainable in the domestic market.

Statements of that kind constitute one of the meanest forms of dishonesty, because they are used in the hope that the people who read or hear them will accept them as meaning that world prices absolutely fix domestic prices, whereas all they do is to affect them, and sometimes only very remotely.

It is probably true that, in the absence of an effective wheat pool, the Liverpool price pretty nearly fixes the domestic price of wheat. But the Liverpool price of hay, or of potatoes, is almost negligible in its effect upon the local prices obtainable for those commodities in Canada. And the reason for the difference is that wheat, besides being a commodity that can be stored indefinitely, has been provided with terminal facilities that enable it to be handled at a minimum of expense, and is carried at the lowest of all freight rates, whereas transportation costs on hay and potatoes substantially protect the producer against surpluses only a hundred miles away!

In 1923, for instance, farmers in Norfolk County (Ontario) received an average of only 81 1-3 cents a bushel for their potatoes, while farmers in Welland County, less than fifty miles away, received $1.00 for theirs. In that same year farmers in Perth County received an average of only $9.28 a ton for their hay, while farmers in the adjoining County of Middlesex received $11.05 for theirs.

Discount these illustrations as much as you like on the ground that differences of quality had something to do with the differences in price, yet do they not serve to shake your faith in the man who would have you believe that Liverpool prices govern domestic prices? Did Thunder Bay farmers, for instance, get $19.64 for their hay in 1923 because it was of such superior quality, or did they get it because of the high cost of bringing $8.98 hay from Huron County, or $10.11 hay from Lambton County? If Liverpool prices governed hay in the way and for the same reasons that they do wheat, Ontario farmers would have to pay shippers a premium to take their hay away!

My contention is that, in the case of all farm products that deteriorate in storage, the prices obtainable in any locality are determined by local supply and demand, plus transportation costs from the nearest available surplus, plus the tariff if that surplus happens to be outside of Canada, with quality always a factor to vary the result one way or the other. And if that is not a fair position to take, I will thank you to show me where I am wrong.

Belittlers of the home market assert that a tariff on farm products is of no benefit to our farmers. Is the United States tariff on farm products of no benefit to United States farmers? Is it no detriment to Canadian farmers? If a foreign tariff is a detriment to Canadian farmers, why should not a Canadian tariff be a detriment to foreign farmers and consequently a benefit to our own?

Suppose Canada were to impose a duty of 25 cents a dozen on all eggs, and 25 cents a pound on all butter, isn't it a certainty that the home production of those commodities would increase until it was able to supply practically the entire domestic demand? And wouldn't our farmers, besides selling more of each, get better prices for each?

The foreign market is admittedly an important market, but after all what does it consist of Isn't it made up entirely of town and city dwellers—wage-earners—who cannot obtain from their own farmers as much food as they require? That being the case, it would seem pertinent to enquire whether the city dweller is an asset to the Canadian farmer only when he happens to dwell in a foreign city? If we persuaded him, by the offer of a better job than he now has, to come and live in Canada, would he be less of an asset to our farmer than he is at present?

Those who scoff at the home market would encourage these people to stay where they are, in a foreign city, thus leaving our farmers in the position where they must take a chance on shipping their products long distances, and then selling them in competition with other products from all over the world! Isn't the plan of those who would build up the home market a better one?

Yours respectfully,

J. J. GIBBONS,
President.

ARCTIC VENTURE DID NOT SUCCEED

Carried Building Materials For Construction of Farthest North Police Post.

CONDITIONS NORMAL.

OTTAWA, Oct. 16. — (Canadian Press).—George P. Mackenzie, who was in charge of the Canadian expedition to the Arctic district, arrived back in Ottawa yesterday and will make a detailed report to the Interior Department on the season's operations. Owing to ice conditions, the expedition was not able to reach its objective, where building materials were to be landed for the construction of the most northerly police post in civilization.

This part of the cargo, however, was deposited at a point where transport will be easy next season. Conditions in the Far North are described as normal, and there has been no further outbreak of disorder in the district where two missionaries were murdered.

The most exciting episode of the trip was when the Arctic was nearly crushed by an iceberg and the peril was increased by a sudden stoppage of the engines. Headway was resumed, however, just in time to avoid the danger.

CANDIDATES ARE NOMINATED IN 27 CONSTITUENCES

Official Recognition Made of Aspirants in the Largest Constituencies.

LEGAL PROCEDURE.

Papers Must Be Signed By Ten Competent Voters in the District.

OTTAWA, Oct. 16 (Canadian Press).—Candidates have been officially nominated in 27 Canadian constituencies. As provided in the Dominion Elections' Act, nominations were received between twelve and two o'clock yesterday for those constituencies which would otherwise be seriously handicapped in their preparations for polling. Because of their broad expanse, sparse and scattered population and, in some cases, slow means of communication, certain ridings have been allowed two weeks instead of one week between nomination and polling days.

That official recognition which will next week be extended to eligible candidates in the 214 remaining constituencies of the Dominion, was yesterday given to those seeking election in the largest ridings, from the point of area. Some of these constituencies cover thousands of square miles extending into the remote parts of the country.

Yesterday's official nominations were generally speaking merely confirmatory in their character. Party nominations nearly always precede the official nominations sometimes by several months, and candidates are, to all intents and purposes, in the field long before they receive official recognition. The law, however, provides the procedure which a candidate must adopt in order to enter an election contest. This involves submission to a qualified returning officer of his nomination papers duly signed by ten competent voters of the riding, and witnessed. It also involves the payment of the deposit of $200. Yesterday, in the twenty-seven constituencies, the returning officers were on hand to see that the law was carried out. Now, in these advance nomination ridings, the candidates are officially in the field.

ELECTION SQUABBLE STRAIGHTENED OUT

General McCuaig Withdraws From Conservative Field in Montreal Division.

MONTREAL, Quebec., October 16—Canadian Press. — The political mix-up in St. Antoine division has been straightened out and Leslie G. Bell, Conservative candidate, will now receive the undivided support of all sections of the party.

Until and after the withdrawal of Brigadier General Eric McCuaig, who has been pressed by his supporters to become the official Conservative candidate, a controversy waged as to whether he or Mr. Bell would receive the nomination.

General McCuaig replied that as Mr. Bell was already in the field he would not enter, but that if the latter withdrew he would accept.

Mr. Bell did not withdraw.

PURER ORATORY IF MORE WOMEN ARE IN POLITICS

Speaker Thinks Their Presence Would Lessen Volume of Personalities.

SOCIAL LEGISLATION.

Meeting Was Addressed By Lady Who Was a Candidate in 1921.

TORONTO, Oct. 16. Canadian Press. — That the influence of women in politics would purify platform oratory by lessening the volume of personalities sometimes regrettably indulged in from the hustings, was the belief expressed by Dr. E. C. Beer, Liberal candidate for Toronto-Scarboro riding, when he spoke yesterday afternoon at a special women's meeting here.

"While I do not appeal to the women in any party sense," he told his audience, "I feel that the only effective way in which they can exercise their franchise is by supporting the party candidate whose platform most nearly represents what women are striving for."

He instanced what he classified as beneficial social legislation initiated by the King government, citing the Narcotic Act and the anti-rum-running and race track gambling legislation as examples of governmental effort which should have an appeal to women. He declared too that credit was due to the Liberal administration for its legislation relative to assisting the Home Bank depositors, and for its regard for the welfare of returned men in the amendments to the pension legislation.

Another point on which Mr. Beer asked for the suffrages of the women electors was in his stand on the desirability of establishing a properly functioning federal ministry of health, which could co-ordinate provincial measures and initiate new ones for the prevention of disease.

He pointed out the economic advantages that would accrue to the country through such hygienic legislation.

Mrs. Philip Kelly, who was Liberal candidate for East Toronto in the 1921 election, and Mrs. Harris McPhedran also addressed the audience. Mrs. A. H. Beaton took the chair.

N B LIBERALS ADOPT PROHIBITION PLANK

Convention Expresses View That Time Has Come For World Prohibition.

ST. STEPHEN, N. B., Oct. 16. — Canadian Press. — Endorsation of Federal prohibition was given by the convention of the Liberal party meeting here to-day which expressed the view that the time was ripe for world wide prohibition.

The resolution recorded the belief of the framers that the best interests of all would be conserved by a strict enforcement of prohibition and called for the rigorous execution of the provisions of the New Brunswick Intoxicating Liquor Act.

The convention nominated William A. Holt as the candidate to oppose R. Watson Grimer, who represented the constituency in the last parliament.

CANADA'S NICKEL IS CONTROLLED BY U S CONCERNS

Statement Made By Liberal Candidate Contesting Riding of Toronto South.

CITES FIGURES.

Declares Canada Might Be Able to Bargain on Her Own Terms.

TORONTO, Oct. 16.—(Canadian Press).—Declaring that the control of Canadian nickel had passed completely from Canada, Norman McEachren, president of the Central Liberal Association here, and one of the two Liberal candidates contesting the riding of Toronto South, last night urged an embargo on nickel and other mineral products in order to stimulate their conversion into finished articles in Canada.

Prefacing a recital of figures relative to Canada's nickel export before, during and since the war with the statement that this country practically supplies all the nickel the world uses, Mr. McEachren said the directorate of the International Nickel Co. interlocked with the United States Steel Corporation, which latter controlled the bulk of the steel industry on this continent and was capitalized at $1,512,000,000. The International Nickel Co., he declared, controlled the greater part of the nickel lands of Canada, and was capitalized at $47,000,000.

"The president of the American Navy League, Col. H. Thompson, is chairman of the board of directors of the International Nickel Co.," said Mr. McEachren. The steel, nickel and copper interests, all of which profited handsomely through war and preparation for war, interlock through Col. Thompson.

He said too that the Colonel is a director of the W. A. Clark Wire Co. of which W. A. Clark, the Montana "Copper King," is president; and that International Nickel also interlocks directly with the United States Navy Department through one of the nickel concern's directors, W. H. Brownson, retired admiral, on three-fourths pay in Washington.

The candidate cited further that International Nickel interlocked with the Midvale Steel and Ordnance Co. and with the Midvale Corporation, two American firms organized to handle the traffic in war material. He believed, he said, that with such a natural resource Canada could command a power over other nations which would enable her to bargain with them practically in her own terms.

DOMESTIC AFFAIRS COURT ADVOCATED

Eminent K. C. Attributes Youthful Crime to Infelicity at Home.

MONTREA, Que., October 16. Canadian Press. — Speaking at a luncheon here yesterday, R. L. Calder, K. C., former Crown prosecutor, advocated the establishment of a "domestic relations court" in Montreal, and in every city throughout Canada.

The speaker pointed out that an overwhelming percentage of criminals to-day are youths, and he attributed this fact to domestic infelicity in their homes.

The court proposed, he contended, would greatly help to remedy these conditions.

NO CHANGES IN FREIGHT RATES

Operating Manager of the White Star Lines Discusses the Matter.

SURPLUS TONNAGE.

MONTREAL, Oct. 16—(Canadian Press).—Ocean freight rates will remain stationary next year, according to the opinion expressed here yesterday by George H. Kidd, operating manager of the White Star Dominion Line. Mr. Kidd gave as his reason for this opinion the surplus of certain kinds of ocean tonnage and the fact that any steamship company increasing its rates would be faced with the competition of other lines to whom the present rates are adequate.

"There is too much capital made out of this question of rates," said Mr. Kidd. "We have found in Liverpool that the fluctuations of price in one article of food in 15 minutes on the Liverpool Exchange is at times greater than the freight rate on that article from Canada to England, so it can be seen that the effect of the rate on the price of the commodity crossing the ocean is comparatively small."

Mr. Kidd's opinion that the rates would not be increased next year was supported by other steamship companies' officials here.

SUSTAINED INJURY IN PICKING APPLES

Broken Shoulder Followed Snapping of Branch Supporting Ladder.

EAST EMILY, October 16. — The many friends and neighbors of Martin McAuliffe are sorry of his misfortune while picking apples on Monday. Mr. McAuliffe went over to help his brother, Mr. Robert McAuliffe to pick his apples and while he was up the ladder at the tree the limb which the ladder was propped against broke, letting him fall to the ground which was about 12 feet.

Dr. Earle was called and through examination found that Mr. McAuliffe's shoulder was broken. He was also suffering from shock.

Bethel Fowl Supper.

The members of Bethel church held their annual fowl supper in the basement of the church on Wednesday night, October 14th, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid. The basement was beautifully decorated for the occasion. There were seven small tables, each table seating 12, and in the centre was one long table seating 22, and they were decorated with flowers, mostly asters, which looked very attractive after the very heavy frosts which we have had. The tables were laden down to their capacity with fowl, different salads, cakes and pies and also raw fruit, such as grapes and apples.

The programme was also much enjoyed by all present. The main item was the orchestra from George St. church, Peterborough, which rendered some beautiful selections. Other items were:

Solo: Mrs. E. Coon.

Reading: Miss E. Outram.

Instrumental duet: Misses Trethewey.

Reading: Mr. R. Deyell.

After which everyone dispersed to their homes, much delighted with the pleasant evening spent. The proceeds amounted to about $127.

Personals.

Those who attended the Bethel fowl supper on Wednesday night from Omemee were Mr. and Mrs. H. McGinnis and daughter, Miss Muriel, Mrs. L. Stevenson, Mrs. J. Bushnell, Mrs. L. A. McPherson, Mrs. E. Bradburn, Miss Winnifred Bradburn, Mr. and Mrs. W. Moncrief, Mr. Bradley, Mr. G. Morton, Mr. and Mrs. D. Belche.

From Peterboro were Miss Lila Deyell, Miss Neva Low, Mr. C. Jackson, L. Ruth and son Clayton, Mr J. Boyd, F. Stephenson and others.

Mr. R. Deyell of Centreville attended the fowl supper at Bethel on Wednesday night.

Mr. and Mrs. William Kerr and daughter, Miss Sadie, of Lindsay, spent the past week visiting relatives in this district.

Mr. C. Casey attended the fowl supper at Fraserville on Tuesday night.

The stork called at the home of Mr and Mrs. Herman Franks on Sunday and left a baby boy.

Mrs. L. Wilson has returned home after spending the past couple of months with relatives in Wainwright Alberta.

LABRADOR DESOLATE.

TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 14 (By Canadian Press).—Deplorable conditions that exist in sections of Newfoundland and Labrador, and need and illiteracy of many of the people, were told of by Miss Margaret Robinson, addressing the Women's Mission Circle, Walmer Road Baptist Church. Miss Robinson has recently returned from Labrador, where she spent the past two summers as a teacher among the fisher-folk, associated with the Grenfell Mission.

Speaking of the first school, held in a storehouse overlooking a kennel where twelve dogs were quartered, Miss Robinson said that this particular Newfoundland community had been without a teacher for eleven years. Desolation was rampant in the majority of the fisher-folk homes, she stated—almost barren of furnishings.

During the year's leave of absence from the mission, Dr. Grenfell had interested himself in securing material that would be a benefit to the people, and among other things were looms brought from China that were proving invaluable to the women engaged in weaving.

ANNIVERSARY HELD AT LOTUS CHURCH

Rev. Mr. Patterson, of Janetville, Was Special Preacher.

PONTYPOOL, Oct. 16. — On Sunday, October 11th, the Lotus appointment held its anniversary services in the afternoon and evening, Rev. Patterson of Janetville being the officiating pastor for the day and Cadmus choir furnishing the music for both services.

On Tuesday evening the ladies provided a fowl supper, held in the basement of the church, and a sumptuous repast was enjoyed by all. This was followed by a play entitled "Mother of Mine" given by the Hampton Dramatic Club in a very capable manner. Music was furnished between acts by the Hampton Orchestra. The characters of the play were:

Cynthia Whitcomb—Elsie Langmaid.
Mirandy Peasley—Bertha Sargent.
Martha Tisdale—Louise Johns.
Lillian Whitcomb—Mildred Souch.
Mary Tisdale—Ruth Johns.
John Whitcomb— Laverne Clemens.
Jack Payson—Dr. Kerslake.
Joe Payson—H. Salter.
Jerry McConnell—P. Cowling.
Officer Lewis—R. Trenouth.
Sam Blunt—F. J. Groat.

The orchestra was composed of four violinists: Mr. C. H. Wallace, Dr. E. G. Kerslake, H. T. Skov and Miss Ruth Johns, accompanied by the pianist Mrs. C. J. Kerslake.

The proceeds were over $110.00.

On Tuesday evening, October 20th, Hon. Vincent Massey will speak in the Orange Hall, Pontypool.

Miss Mildred Delahey of Pontypool is recovering from an attack of pneumonia.

Mr. Willis of Pontypool is loading a carload of potatoes this week, the price being $1.00 a bag.

LARGE SUM RAISED AT ANNIVERSARY

Stanwood Church Services and Fowl Supper Well Attended.

CAMPBELLFORD, Oct. 16. — The congregation of the United church of Stanwood realized the sum of $218.00 at their anniversary services on Sunday and their fowl supper held on the following Monday evening. Rev. C. D. Daniel, pastor of the circuit, was chairman of the entertainment which followed the supper, the programme of which was furnished by Messrs. Campney, Chiles, Wilkinson and McBuiney, the well known quartette, of Havelock, and Mrs. R. S. Bell, elocutionist of Campbellford. All parts of the circuit were represented in the gathering and the entertainment was pronounced a success from every standpoint.

Secretary At Burnbrae.

Alex. Hume is secretary of the Unionists at Burnbrae only and not of Rylstone as well as stated recently. Sandford Meiklejohn is secretary of the congregation at the latter place.

Preparing For Election.

J. Nelson Stone, returning officer for Northumberland county is busy preparing a list of the polling subdivisions of which there are 67 in the riding and the deputies will be named later. Each of the two candidates will hold a meeting in Campbellford when well known speakers will make addresses.

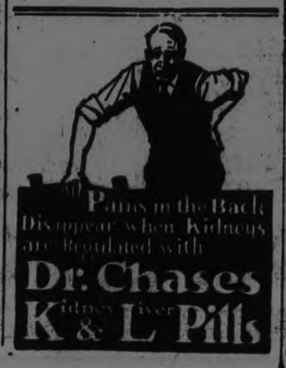
In Turkey, where women have for centuries lived a secluded life, there are few Modern telephone operators. The young women thus employed are usually Jews, Armenians or Greeks.

GRAVEL ON ROAD OVERTURNED CARS

Others Were Forced Into the Ditch—One Man Badly Cut.

LINDSAY, Oct. 16.—(Special). —Several motor accidents occurred on the Peterboro-Lindsay highway, in what is known as the long swamp, on Sunday. Repairs had been made to a culvert on the highway, and the filling in of gravel cause, motorists claim, a dangerous obstruction to traffic. Two autos containing Lindsayites returning from the Electric City were ditched at this point, but the occupants escaped with a shaking up. A third car hit the obstruction, and one of the occupants, T. J. Begley, was hurled with such force against the framework of the auto as to render him insensible. The bridge of his nose was shattered, and he also sustained severe bruises about the forehead.

Around the midnight hour Sunday another car, travelling at a fast clip, struck the gravel and was overturned. The driver had his shoulder injured, but the other two occupants escaped with minor injuries.



HONOR J. D. FLAVELLE.

Lindsay Curlers Will Place Bronze Tablet in the Rink.

LINDSAY, Oct. 16.—At a meeting of the members of the Lindsay Curling Club it was decided to erect a brass tablet to the memory of the late J. D. Flavelle, the dean of curlers, and the father of the game in Lindsay. This tablet will be placed in the rink and will be unveiled at an early date.

It was also decided to hold a monster bonspiel at a date to be decided later.

Lindsay Ladies Forward Resolution of Protest to Exhibition Secretary.

LINDSAY, Oct. 16.—(Special).—The directors of Lindsay Central Fair have been rapped over the knuckles for allowing the sale of 4-4 beer at the recent fair. At a meeting of Cambray Women's Institute the sale of the beverage was discussed, and by a unanimous vote a resolution of protest was forwarded to the secretary of the Fair Board. The resolution declared that the permitting of the sale of beer was in direct opposition to the expressed vote of the electors of Victoria county.

LOCARE, Oct. 16.—"Who pays —(Canadi[illegible]ervative advertising you mistice er on the billboards yesterday[illegible]he country and in the were ado[illegible] the big dailies down to renderl weeklies?" asked G. of that [illegible]then, M.P., Progressive Allied [illegible]n the new constituency a secu[illegible]bro-Hastings as he reached Whi[illegible]ternmost limit last night.

spru[illegible] have all seen them, no so[illegible]," Mr. Brethen continued. [illegible]ey are signed the Liberal-Conservative Victory corporation or association or something like that. Perhaps you have wondered who this Liberal-Conservative association is. They are men who hope to profit by the acceptance by the people of such utter buncombe as "Vote Conservative for a higher tariff and lower taxation". But if they fool the people into believing this thing of a higher tariff and a lower taxation, the Liberal Conservative Victory association will pay for that advertising today, but tomorrow the people will pay and pay dearly."

Mr. Brethen dwelt upon the Conservative party's slogan of protection and his assertion that it was the veriest "bunk."

"I ask you to remember this about these advertisements of "Vote for higher tariff and lower taxes" that any person with ordinary common sense and who can read a dictionary knows that a tariff means a tax and that it was never intended as anything else. And with that meaning the Conservative advertisement should read "Vote Conservative for a higher tax and lower taxation." Your intelligence tells you that these things wont mix. But why is it there on the advertisements? To catch the unwary voter. So I ask you to [illegible]t when you go to mark [illegible]tional [illegible]ison election day."

But these increased prices [illegible] not been brought about by [illegible]change in the tariff. You all [illegible]that. They have come about [illegible]he tariff remaining just the [illegible]same as it was. I don't need to tell any intelligent farmer that as soon as a lot of cheese are sold on the Liverpool market, the price is set for Canada just as soon as a cablegram can bring the news of the Liverpool quotations. So in this country with its large exportable surplus of farm produce the prices [illegible]f that produce are not affected by [illegible]e home market but by the Liverpool market. Please remember that when you see these big advertisements about protection and the home market."

Fordney Tariff Results.

Mr. Brethen said that in the United States as a result of five years of the Fordney tariff 95 national banks and 457 state banks had failed in six of the great middle west farming states, because these banks held the notes of farmers who had become bankrupt under the high Fordney tariff.

"The price of the surplus produce the American farmer had to sell was not determined by the United States markets, but the prices of the things the American farmer had to buy were increased by the Fordney tariffff. He had to pay more for all he had to buy with the result that there was an increasing spread between what he took in and what he paid [illegible]t until that margin actually disap- [illegible]red, and the farmer had nothing [illegible]or himself and went smash. [illegible] the same policy of protection [illegible]ighen promises for the Cana- [illegible]ner, and the billboards tell [illegible]ote for "Meighen and pros- [illegible]There was no prosperity for [illegible]merican farmers who went [illegible] under the high Fordney [illegible]hich increased the cost of [illegible]ngs the farmers had to buy, [illegible] the prices for their produce [illegible]re fixed in the world and not in the home markets.

"I would like you to get this" said Mr. Brethen. "I am here not in the old fashioned way of lambasting any party I disagree with, but I want you to think for yourselves and to get the truth.

Policy Rejected.

Mr. Meighen introduced his protection policy in the House on June 2nd last. All that day it was advocated by Mr. Meighen and his strongest men, and was opposed by Mr. King, Mr. Crerar and Mr. Forke. After that policy was presented to the members of Parliament from all parts of Canada, how many showed that they thought it best for Canada? Just 37. Those who opposed it number 147. Thus the House voted 4 to 1 against the adoption of that policy. I give Mr. Meighen credit for courage and nerve. When his policy of protection was defeated like that he picks up the remnants of it and gives it to the people of Canada in the same old way, and hopes to make you believe that it is best for Canada. I still believe the people of this country have some common sense.

Make Stirling A City.

I admit that a high tariff would be a big benefit to cities like Montreal, Toronto, Windsor and Hamilton, because under a high tariff the rest of the country is taxed for the benefit of the industries in those cities. Think it over and you will realize that by the same process you could make Stirling into a thriving town in one year with more banks, houses and so forth even if you simply employed men at digging post holes and filling them in again, and at the same time taxing all the rest of the Canadian people five dollars apiece and centralizing that money here. Thats' the way a high tariff works, and if I lived in Montreal or Windsor, and took a selfish view of our country's welfare I suppose I would vote for a high tariff."

The Reverse Side.

Even in the big cities, Mr. Brethen contended, there was another side of the picture. Last Easter he visited Detroit and found that the Ford company, perhaps the biggest company in the world, was working only three days a week and there were thousands of men in the bread line.

There were seventeen men out of every hundred were out of work while in Canada there were only six out of every hundred unemployed." The Progressive candidate touched upon redistribution as it affected the Peterboro and Hastings ridings, and blamed both the old parties for the final decision, and scored both of them for the $10,000,000 appropriation for the Quebec harbor, and declared that the reduction of taxes was the real issue in this campaign. These subjects have been reported from his previous meetings.

"We'll never get a reduction of taxes in Canada until we have enough politicians and people who are more interested in the welfare of Canada than they are interested in the welfare of their parties. Who is going to settle this? The people back on the concession lines, in the villages and in the cities. You people right here in Stirling can help settle it. When the people with their votes show that they demand a reduction of taxes then Parliament will have to fall into line.

I am more concerned about telling you some of the facts of this election and some of the truths of what goes on at Ottawa, than I am about winning this election. I have always had a little farm back at Norwood and managed to make it go; and I think I can continue to keep it going. In this matter there must be a single standard. There must be the same standard for you when you go to the polls as there must be for the man you elect. You mdst put the welfare of Canada first when you go to the polls and the welfare of party second."

Mr. Brethen's meeting was largely attended and his address was received with close attention to the very end.

LINDSAY DROPS IN POPULATION

Total is Only 7,711, a Loss of 224 in One Year.

C.N.R. EMPLOY LESS.

LINDSAY, Oct. 16—According to a statement issued by the assessor, Lindsay's population is only 7,711, a decrease of 224. The total assessment is down, owing to a drop in income tax assessment. There is a slight increase in property assessment.

The decline in population is largely due to the fact that Lindsay's industrial growth has not advanced during the past few years, and also because of the removal of a number of employees of the C.N.R. due to the installation of high powered engines on this division, which has been responsible for the cutting down of train crews.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

Toronto, Oct. 16—Nearly 1,500 cattle were sold at the Union Stock Yards on Wednesday, and this left around 500 head still for disposal. Yesterday's receipts were 25 cars, 329 cattle ,and 109 billed through, 12 calves, 114 hogs, and 306 sheep and lambs. Rogers and Maybee have exported 1,300 this week. A load and a half of their this week's purchase was resold yesterday morning to a local butcher. Fifteen steers sold at $7.75 and heifers and plain steers at $6 a [illegible]wt.

The principal part of yesterday's cattle consisted of Western stockers and feeders, and 14 cars of these are being reshipped to Lancaster, Pa. The only holdover yesterday will be this class of cattle. Yesterday's sales of butchers' cattle were mostly in cows. One choice cow brought $8.50 a cwt., and medium cows were $4 a cwt. A good export bull went at $5.50, and a fair quality baby beef at $10.50 a cwt.

The first decline in several weeks was made in calves on Wednesday. The drop was 50 cents to a dollar a cwt, and was partly due to an easier Buffalo market. Yesterday's calves were steady.

This week's heavy arrival of lambs made a little easier market, but the change was limited to about 25 cents a cwt. A few choice lambs sold yesterday for 12 3-4 cents a pound, other ewes sold from 12 to 12 1-2 cents a pound. Yearling sheep sold up to 8 cents a pound.

Hogs have settled at $12 a cwt. f.o.b. at this week-end, and no important change is looked for on Monday's deliveries.

SECRETARY'S FIRM TO BE INVESTIGATED

Government of U. S. A. Wants to Know About Fall's Transactions.

WASHINGTON, D.C., Oct. 16.—(Canadian Press).—All signs are that the mysterious Continental Trading Company Limited of Canada, from the profits of which, the Government charges, ex-Secretary of the Interior Albert B. Fall received not less than $230,000 in Liberty bonds, will become an issue of the first magnitude before the next session of congress is a month old.

A resolution which, if passed, will direct a committee to go into every angle of the Continental transaction is said to be already drafted, and every effort will be made to put it through the Senate before the Christmas holidays.

The Dominion Government has granted a site in Ottawa for a national women's memorial all, which will be used to house the general offices of virtually all of the prominent national organizations of women in Canada.

CONSERVATIVE POLICIES ARE EXPLAINED AT YOUNG'S POINT

Messrs. Peck, Soden and Medd Address Meeting of the Electors.

UPHOLD TARIFF.

Protection of Workmen and Farmers is Advocated—Hold Raw Materials.

A good number of the people of Young's Point turned out last night to hear the policies of the Conservative party explained by Messrs. E. A. Peck, S. T. Medd, and R. J. Soden. The meeting was held in Charlton's Hall and Mr. Johnston acted as chairman.

Mr. Medd was the first speaker. He said that Canada is a country that has all that a Good Providence could give and its greatest need is population. There is everything in the line of natural resources for the population to work with and all that is necessary is a protection to make it possible to start. Protection would include not only a tariff on the goods brought in but a system whereby the raw materials of Canada which are shipped out might be made up here so that Canadians would have the wages paid.

With a protective tariff it might cost a little more for some things but there would be more money to pay it with. Free trade would be a great thing if all countries had it but for one or two to advance such a utopian theory was useless, he said. With a protective policy the money would be kept in Canada which is now spent in other countries.

Referring to the record of the King Government Mr. Medd asked what it had done. In the last session there had been some attempt to make improvements in Canadian conditions, but even these had not been reasonable. He instanced the Petersen contract by which, with ten ships, the Government had expected to break the Ocean Shipping Combine. Now five members of the Government have entered the Senate and six others are seeking re-election in new constituencies. These Ministers, said Mr. Medd, cannot go back and seek re-election because they have done nothing in the last term.

Speaking of Mr. Peck, the speaker said that no person could ever suggest that he had been anything but a square man.

Mr. Peck.

E. A. [illegible] the Conservative nominee, [illegible] next speaker. He based his appeal first on the record of the Mackenzie King Government. Taking office just when Canada was recovering from the strain of the war, with her sons killed and her debt increased, he had a wonderful opportunity to do great things but instead he had done nothing. The national debt had increased, both general and railway indebtedness, and this debt must be met.

The fact that a country such as Canada, with such wonderful resources, should be unable to hold its population was then taken up, and Mr. Peck said that it was useless to bring people in from the Motherland and other countries when the Canadian born were leaving Canada for the United States. This exodus continues, he aid, because Canada has been the most wasteful country in the world with regard to protecting her workingmen.

The factories of Canada, said Mr. Peck, are languishing, because the low paid workmen of other countries enable their employers to put material in the Canadian market at a lower price. Again, the raw materials of Canada are shipped out. Only one-fifth of the Canadian export wheat is milled in the country. The European countries need the flour made from Canadian wheat, but why should it not be milled in Canada, he asked. This condition may be adjusted by a tariff or by other methods.

Speaking to the farmers, Mr. Peck said that if there was prosperity and plenty of employment in Peterborough and Lakefield the farmers would have a home market for their butter and eggs, their vegetables and other small produce, which would represent a large increase to their incomes. Even this market is not protected, he said, as the United States with an earlier spring is able to put many things on the market ahead of the Canadian farmer. Again, the Australians, who can keep their cattle and sheep on the ranges all the year round and consequently produce meat much cheaper, have, by the new treaty, to pay only half a cent a pound duty on what they ship into Canada. The farmer, said Mr. Peck, needs protection more than the artisan, who can pick up his tools and go to another country, while the farmer must stay with his land.

In conclusion he said that it war not a party question but a question of pocket.

Mr. Soden.

Mr. Soden said that Canada was his country and that he was in this election, not as a conservative, or to work for Mr. Peck, or Arthur Meighen, but working and voting in the way he thought best for R. J. Soden, as a citizen of Canada. He told his hearers not to vote as they were told but to think. "Has the MacKenzie King Government made Canada prosperous or not?" If it has made the country prosperous support it, he said. Whichever party is in power, said Mr. Soden, should never be allowed to forget that its members were the servants of the people and not the masters. "It is our country and we can make it the best in the world", he said, advocating a policy of Canada for the Canadians. He asked why the people of Canada leave for the United States and condemned a policy of bringing in immigrants who would be unable to find work when they arrived.

The Americans, he said, have learned that the workingman is the country's greatest asset and he is protected, while the present Canadian Government seems to care little whether he stays in Canada or goes to the United States.

He offered a suggestion that the Canadian National Railways should haul Alberta coal to Ontario, keeping millions in Canada and letting the people get some good out of their deficit they had to meet. He closed by urging his hearers to cast their vote for no candidate but for their own best interests.

In Abyssinia no one is allowed to use the telephone directly. All messages must be written out and given to the operator, who shouts them into the transmitter at the top of his voice, so that every one about can hear.

ACIDS IN STOMACH CAUSE INDIGESTION

Create Gas, Sourness and Pain—How To Treat

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach and not as some believe to a lack of digestive juices. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestents are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

AGGRESSORS WILL BE OUTLAWED UNDER RHINE SECURITY PACT ARBITRATION IS OBLIGATORY

Agreement Designed to Prevent Wars Between France, Belgium and Germany.

OTHER TREATIES.

Great Britain and Italy to Take Action Against Pledge Breakers.

LOCARNO, Switzerland, Oct. 16.—(Canadian Press).—Just as the armistice ended the Great War, so, yesterday, making history, treaties were adopted at Locarno designed to render impossible any re-opening of that great war. Germany and the Allied Powers approved the text of a security pact outlawing war.

When word of the agreement spread from mouth to mouth like some wireless flash this peaceful spot, nestling at the lakeside beneath towering mountains seemed to pulsate with the thrill of countless multitudes dwelling throughout the world.

The Rhine pact of security adopted yesterday, which will be initiated to-day or Saturday, pledges its signatories, France, Germany and Belgium, not to attack or invade one another's territory and to abstain from war. Great Britain and Italy stand as guarantors of this engagement and promise to throw their forces against any of the three parties which violates its terms.

France is allowed to keep certain rights embodied in the treaty of Versailles, and, notably, take immediate action should Germany commit a hostile act by constructing fortifications either on the left bank of the Rhine or within fifty kilometres (about 30 miles) of its east bank, or keep arms within that area. The pact ceases to hold when combined penalties against any aggressor nation are ordered by the League of Nations, or when by virtue of Article XV. of the League covenant and by reason of failure of the Council to reach unanimity on any dispute, the League members may take such action as they deem necessary for the maintenance of right and justice.

The Permanent Court of International Justice, boards of conciliation and the League Council are all possibilities for arbitration of all disputes under the pact, and arbitration is obligatory.

Besides the Rhine pact, an agreement was reached on collateral arbitration treaties between Germany and France and Germany and Belgium; these inter-lock with the pact itself. There will be, in addition, arbitration treaties between Germany and her Eastern neighbors, Poland and Czecho-Slovakia.

These are expected to be concluded to-day, and will follow the same scope as the Western treaties. There will also be separate conventions between France and her Eastern allies, guaranteeing France the right to come to the assistance of Poland or Czecho-Slovakia in case they are subjected to an unprovoked flagrant attack.

Lastly comes the gentlemen's agreement, whereby Great Britain, France, Italy and Belgium inform Germany that they interpret the covenant in the sense that no penalty contributions can be expected from members beyond the members' means. By this statement, which will take the form of a letter, Germany is relieved of the fear that the operation of League sanctions might embroil her with Russia.

Of the total meat consumption of Great Britain only about two-fifths is produced from home-bred animals.

CAMPBELLFORD MAN CAUGHT YOUNG BEAR

A. L. Riendeau Hopes to Raise Animal as a Domestic Pet.

CAMPBELLFORD, Oct. 16. — A. L. Riendeau went to Otter Lake the other day with Dr. Anderson of Wooler, the latter making the trip for the purpose of closing his summer cottage for the year. Otter Lake is a favorite hunting ground of Mr. Riendeau in season, and yesterday he returned home with a trophy really worth while, nothing less than a bear cub, which he captured in the wilderness, and which he now keeps a prisoner at his residence on Rear street. The animal is as playful as a young puppy and Mr. Riendeau hopes to be able to raise it as a domestic pet.

Trimming the Shade Trees.

A gang of four Bell Telephone men have been engaged for over a week trimming the shade trees where the branches interfered with the company's lines and the result is an improvement in the appearance of the trees and in the telephone service as well. Before the trees on the streets could be trimmed it was necessary to secure permission from the Council. The company agreed to do the work under the supervision of a representative of the town named by the council, and J. R. Wilkinson, a tree expert, was chosen for that position.

When trees stood on private property the consent of the owner to allow them to be trimmed had first to be secured, and this in every case was granted, the citizens realizing that their trees were receiving expert treatment without cost.

Mr. Wilkinson's wages while engaged in his work were paid by the Bell Telephone Co.

NEW INDICTMENT AGAINST PEPALL

Objections Raised Because First Contained Non-Extraditable Offences.

RETURNED BY JURY.

TORONTO, Oct. 16.—(Canadian Press). — Following the objection which had been made on behalf of Andrew Pepall that the indictment upon which he must face trial contained certain charges based on sections of the Act which would not have permitted extradition, a new indictment was preferred by the Crown and was returned by a grand jury before Chief Justice R. M. Meredith in the Assize Court yesterday afternoon. Under the new indictment the charges are laid under Section 404 of the criminal code.

A great programme of national and international sports is to be held in Philadelphia next year in connection with the Sesqui-Centennial Exposition in that city.

MANY ATTENDED TALK ON INDIA

Dr. Archer Gave Interesting Address on Mission Hospital.

FINE SLIDES.

CAMPBELLFORD, Oct. 16—An audience in which every congregation in town was represented and which completely filled the Parish Hall of Christ Church last night listened to an interesting address by Dr. G. D. Archer on Mission work in India, the lecture being illustrated with lantern views. Dr. Archer has been a medical missionary in that country for 14 years. When the war broke out he left the mission field and entered the medical service of the Empire spending four years in the military hospitals at the front and returning to India when peace was restored. He is located in a large hospital in Ranaghat in the province of Bengal near the city of Calcutta.

Native of Campbellford

In introducing the lecturer, Rev. G. C. Clarke, rector of Christ Church, said that Dr. Archer is the only missionary that Campbellford has in India. He is maintained in the foreign field by a society in England but Campbellford citizens regard him as one of themselves as he is a native of this town.

Dr. Archer is a member of one of the local pioneer families, being a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Archer. J. P. Archer is a brother. He has been home for some time on furlough but he has stood the climate and strenuous work in the mission field remarkably well and appears to be in vigorous health. He has been successful in the dual capacity of medical man and evangelist.

The lecture last night was a vivid exposition of the difficulties encountered by the religious workers in India, the prejudice that is met with, the ignorance of the lower castes of that country, the climate which at all times is excruciating and at certain seasons almost unbearable, and the physical diseases with which the natives are affected. The lantern views, however, showed that the society with which Dr. Archer has made progress in all branches of their service. A modern hospital and a church have been erected, the physical and moral well being of the Hindoos has been improved. Rev. G. C. Clarke's comment when Dr. Archer had concluded was that the lecture was just what was needed to awaken new interest in the missionary movement.

The silver collection was given to Dr. Archer to aid him in his work. During the evening the audience joined in singing missionary hymns, Miss Gertrude Maynard, organist of Christ Church, playing the accompaniments. The lantern was operated by Hylton Beatty and Staunton Archer, the latter a nephew of the lecturer.

COMRADES HONOR JAMES TURNBULL

C.N.R. Freight Office Staff Unites in Presentation to Member.

When James Turnbull pulled his freight from the C.N.R. office yesterday after several years association there he was the recipient of a handsome presentation which took the form of a pen and pencil set and a box of cigarettes. Alpine McNab, Station Agent of the C.N.R., made the presentation on behalf of the staff, and he was joined in the ceremony by F. V. Clementi, Chief Clerk, and Carl Smith. The other members of the clerical force extended their best wishes and formed an impromptu orchestra that rendered very fittingly "For He's A Jolly Good Fellow" and other airs.

The address, signed by Messrs. McNab and Clementi, was as follows: "We do not wish you to leave the staff of the Canadian National Railways after so many years of fellowship in this office without an expression of our regret in your loss. We are sorry to lose you, having enjoyed comradeship with you for so long, but we are also glad that your new duties will not take you from our city. You have built up a good foundation in your banking and railway experience, and we will follow with much interest your future career in newspaper life. This will open a wide field of endeavor for you. Journalism often opens up the way to the political arena, where there are opportunities of serving the country of your adoption. You are young and ambitious, and the world is ahead of you. You have our best wishes for a successful future."

Mr. Turnbull expressed his thanks in appropriate words, telling, too, his regret in severing the comradeship that had grown up through daily contact with the staff.

CORREPONDENTS SNUB MUSSOLINI

Refuse to Attend Reception Because of Suppression of Press.

SOCIALISTS LEAD.

LOCARNO, Oct. 16.—(Canadian Press). — As a protest against the Fascist Government's treatment of Italian and foreign newspapermen, most of the correspondents at the Security Conference here agreed last night to boycott the foreign press reception of Premier Mussolini dated for to-day. The protest was begun by the Socialist newspaper correspondents because of the Matteotti murder and the failure to bring the assassins to justice, but it soon grew into a general protest against the suppression of the press.

MEXICAN GIRL FOUGHT IN ARMY

Josefa Garcia, 16, Led Father's Regiment After He Fell.

HAS RETIRED.

To the present list of war heroes there can now be added the name of Josefa Garcia, a Mexican Amazon—not one of the buxom misses so beautifully described in the classic writings of the Greeks, but a sixteen-year-old youngster who has just retired after ten years with the army and is now peacefully kneading bread in a village bakery.

Josefa's father was an army man, a colonel under General Trevillo. When she was merely a mite, so young that she scarcely remembers it, her mother died, and her father, after a series of makeshift attempts to place his daughter temporarily with relatives, decided suddenly to take her with his regiment.

Dressed as a boy, she lived the life of a soldier and none of her father's friends suspected that she was not Jose but Josefa. Discipline was lax among Mexican troops. Officers and men were followed by swarms of people, whole families, dogs, pigs, and even carts, bearing their household chattels.

So there was nothing unusual about the presence of the colonel's so-called son.

Josefa saw a great many battles during the revolutionary period between 1915 and 1920. Perhaps the most outstanding in her memory was the brutal engagement on the oil fields at El Ebana, when soldiers on both sides threw away their arms in their efforts to avoid the deluges of burning oil which had suddenly been introduced by the commanders.

But it was Josefa's last act as a young soldier that makes her story remarkable, even for Mexico. Jack Starr-Hunt tells it in a recent issue of the New York Herald-Tribune. The girl was standing with her father in an observation trench. There were intermittent bursts of rifle fire, and Josefa, hearing a cry, turned to see her father fall. He died almost immediately. The rage of a tigress seized her and she leaped from the trench. The men of her father's command followed, amazed and a trifle bewildered at her fury. The opposing forces immediately in front were wiped out or put to rout.

Then, having had her revenge, a revulsion of feeling swept over the girl. She felt sick of war, sick of fighting, sick of the sound of guns and the smell of blood. She disappeared.

Months later a provincial newspaper man, passing through a small village, found her there, a baker's assistant, and once more in a feminine role. He heard her story from other villagers, and with the aid of army records checked up.

The facts related above are what he found.

EXPLOSION FATAL.

LONDON, Ont., Oct. 16.—(Canadian Press).—Cecil Angus, aged 23, of Wingham, died yesterday in Victoria Hospital of burns sustained when the gasoline can used in filling his car, at Tempo, a few nights ago, was exploded by the flame of a lantern.

THE HALL STORE

FEW ATTENDED MEETING HELD BY MR, BRETHEN

Progressive Candidate Acted as Own Chairman at Marmora.

TOLD OF RECORD.

Asked For Re-election on Basis of His Work in House.

MARMORA, October 16 (Special.) — There was a disappointing attendance at the Marmora town hall on Wednesday evening, when Mr. G. A. Brethen, the party's choice, addressed a group in the Progressive interest.

Having appealed vainly for a chairman, Mr. Brethen, undaunted, commenced his meeting by referring to his nomination having come from those at the Progressive convention held in Marmora, without there having been any personal suggestion on his part. He would not resort to the old fashioned way of slashing one's opponent. He would make no promises. His purpose in being there lay in this: After being elected as a member four years ago he was able to explain the workings of Parliament, and to tell them what he had done in past years. If then his hearers believed he had done the right thing, he asked for their support. Mr. Brethen described the formation of the new riding as a triple alliance—for better or worse. He declared that East Peterboro electors were not well pleased over it. They did not blame Hastings for it. The Conservative and Liberal parties were the ones who wanted the change.

This election was different from many others. Its issue, according to Mr. Meighen, was the tariff. Mr. Meighen's party would build up the towns and cities at the expense of the villages.

The Progressive policy was to make Canada better by removing every handicap from its basic industries. If the agriculturist can be made more prosperous it is a splendid thing for the other professions. That prosperity would not hurt anyone.

Mr. Brethen next referred to the King government as having merited his support in 1924 whereas on the 1925 budget he could not support them, for they had not budged.

Continuing he deprecated the tariff policy of Mr. Meighen as productive of class privilege. By a similar policy in the States 95 National banks and 457 State banks collapsed in five years.

Mr. Meighen appointed a tariff commission which ran up an expensive bill and yet never reported. This he would like explained. The tariff was not the issue, but was something to hoodwink people with reduction of taxation.

Reduction of taxation was the real issue. He then referred to Canada's position as the fourth heavily taxed country on the globe. The greatest curse was the servile allegiance to party. "What have we been saying for years?" he asked, "My party, good or bad—my party!" and Canada has fallen down between.

Mr. Brethen declared he was unpledged to any party. Very emphatically he exclaimed: "I support any party and follow any leader who will reduce taxation."

He concluded by mentioning assistance he had rendered to returned men and their dependents. If he could not be re-elected on deeds he did not deserve it on any promise.

After two songs by Mrs. Porter, James Caskey of Madoc spoke, reiterating many of Mr. Brethen's views on the high tariff. The meeting then closed with the National anthem.

RECTOR DELIVERED INSPIRING ADDRESS

Rev. A. T. Weir Spoke on "Why I Believe in God."

OMEMEE, Oct. 16. — Monday evening, October 12, the members of the A.Y.P.A. gathered together for their weekly meeting The business session did not occupy any lengthy period of time, therefore the topic for the evening was brought on without delay. In listening to Rev. A. T. Weir's address on "Why I Believe in God," it is questionable whether this A.Y.P.A. ever had the privilege of having anything much better. The subject is a deep one, but the speaker's ability to explain it made it very interesting. There must be a personality at the head of the universe and not merely a principle which governs automatically. We ourselves have a free will to do whatever we please to a certain extent, and the God Who made us and gave us personality, the ability to reason with, and to love, must certainly be a personal God.

After the address, the president, Mr. J. Bent, expressed the appreciation of the branch to the rector for his splendid address and then introduced Mr. Plant, who has been an active member in A.Y.P.A. circles elsewhere. In complying with the president's invitation to speak, he said that it would be well for all to meditate upon the rector's address.

At the close of the meeting, the president requested that all who were coming to the musical evening on Monday night to bring along a pencil, so no doubt there is another enjoyable time in store for the members next week.

UNITED CHURCH ANNIVERSARY

Bethany People Held Special Services Last Sunday.

FOWL SUPPER

BETHANY, Oct. 16.—The Anniversary Services in connection with the United Church on Sunday were in every way a success. The weather man was very kind in keeping off the threatened showers and the church, which was tastefully decorated for the occasion with flowers was comfortably filled, both morning and evening. The preacher, Rev. Mr. McIntosh, of Lindsay gave two very fine helpful and inspiring sermons. His text in the morning was found in Numbers 10:31, "And he said, 'Leave us not, I pray Thee; forasmuch as thou knowest how we are to encamp in the wilderness, and thou mayest be to us instead of eyes'." Mr. McIntosh's subject was the Challenge of the United Church, which he emphasized in three things—first, the capture of the non-Christian; second, the capture of the child; third, all for Christ.

The choir ably assisted with the service of song. The anthem, "Oh Magnify the Lord" was beautifully sung, Miss Verna Belle Lee and Miss Hazel Steer taking the duet part. The selection following the sermon was a solo, entitled, "pass it on" by Mrs. A. Poulter.

Sunday school was well attended at half past two, when Mr. McIntosh taught the Sunday School lesson: "Paul in Corinth; Acts 18th chp., 1-17 verses, to the adult members of the school, the Juniors taking their regular session in separate classes. Two pleasing features of the sunday school service were the attendance of the orchestra, which led in the music and the singing of the hymns, and Miss V. B. Lee's solo. The attendance was 105, with five visitors.

In the evening, Mr. McIntosh chose his text from Revelation chp, 21, 17th verse, "He that overcometh shall inherit all things; and I will be his God, and he shall be My son." The Anthem by the choir entitled, "The Light of Heaven Shining," was again greatly appreciated. The quartet part was taken by Mrs. Douglas Driver, Mrs. A. Poulter, Miss Jean Thorndyke, and Miss V. B. Lee. The offering selection was a duet, "Abide with Me," by Mrs. A. Poulter and Miss Lee. Rev. A. Poulter pastor of the church was in attendance at all three services and assisted in the services.

A pleasing coincidence of this anniversary service was, that, while this is the first anniversary under the United Church, it was also exactly twenty-five years since the present building was opened for worship. Previous to that time a small white frame church stood on the same spot, but it was found to be too small for the needs of the congregation and so, during the pastorate of the Rev. Thos. Brown, now of Lindsay, as senior pastor, and Rev. C. W. Barrett, now of Stirling as assistant pastor, steps were taken by the then Trustee board which included the Graham Bros., now deceased, with the able assistance of the Ladies' Aid, to build a new church, more suitable to the needs of the congregation and adherents. The old church was moved over to a more central spot on the lot and enlarged every way with a full-sized basement, including a kitchen, and brick veneered. Beautiful stained glass windows were put in. The bell, which calls the people to worship each week was installed by the Graham Bros., in memory of their departed parents. It took three Sundays to properly open and dedicate the church with three services a Sunday, and former pastors of the old white church, with some notable ministers of the Bay of Quinte Conference were the preachers. Since the erection of the present building an electric lighting system has been installed, during the pastorate of the late Rev. W. T. Wickett. A good sized furnace has since been installed, as the first furnace did not properly heat so large a building, and last year the church-yard was fenced with a neat wire fence, the cost of which was donated by some of the old boy and girl worshipperrs of the church. The present congregation, although not so large as twenty-five years ago is very active for a village church. There is a splendid Sunday school with an average attendance of 80, under the superintendancy of Mr. A. H. Monk, who has held this position for fourteen years. Previous to that Mr. J. W. Lowes was the superintendant, the Sunday school is fully organized and very much alive. There is also a Young People's League, with a membership of thirty-five, under the leadership of Mr. P. C. Brown and supervized by the pastor, so that the young people of the congregation are fully engaged. There is also a Women's Missionary Society, with a membership of twenty-seven, which was organized during the pastorate of Dr. G. W. Marvin, also a Mission Circle, which is doing good work under the leadership of Miss P. Howden.

On Monday evening, Oct. 12th, a fowl dinner was served to between four hundred and five hundred people by the ladies of the congregation. The tables were heavily laden with every good thing that one might wish, with an abundance of fowl. A splendid musical programme was given in the town Hall, by the members of Mark St. choir, Peterboro', under the efficient leadership of Mr. Boorman. It consisted of choruses, solos and quartets; Mrs. Russell Carruthers, who accompanied the choir gave several splendid readings as did Miss Reynolds, who was also with the group. They were both greatly enjoyed especially by the young people.

NEW GOWNS MAY BE FRILLY OR TAILORED

Fine Materials, Dainty Laces and Contrasting Colors Essential in New "Nigties." By Annette Bradshaw.

White Crepe de Chine Nightgown with Turquoise Blue Jabot Contrasts Sharply with the Old-Fashioned "Nightie" on the Right.

While lace is highly favored as a trimming for Fall lingerie, there are a number of smart new gowns which manage to be quite mannish in style, though they employ lace for a trimming.

The flesh crepe de chine model at the right has long sleeves and a very conservative neckline. The gown uses fine tucking at the shoulders, and the lace-trimmed neck just escapes being a high one. Note the long sleeves, reminiscent of the linen gowns of our grandmothers.

At the left is a much more simply-made model that employs the smart jabot treatment to accent its softness. The gown is of white crepe de chine, with a jabot of turquoise blue edged with white. This shade of blue is among the smartest for Fall and it is especially effective as a trimming for white. Note the simple V-neck and the deep-cut armholes.

We are told, also, that a number of the newest gowns take the man's stiff-front shirt for their inspiration. They are made with oval inset-front treatments, often tucked or finely pleated, the rest of the gown being plain.

A very effective model of this type is made of corn-colored crepe de chine. The inset-front is finely tucked, and the gown has a high neck and long sleeves.

The Secrets Of Charm

By Lucrezia Bori

Have you any conception of the benefit you can give your body by dancing?

I recently talked to a famous teacher of dancing. She confided to me that if many people knew the invaluable benefits from dancing, she felt sure she would have more applicants at her doors than she could well take care of.

She went on to say that there were very small children among her pupils, children sent by wise parents who knew what dancing would do to develop small bodies and give them added grace and strength.

She says there are many children who come to her when they are as young as four years, and that it is remarkable to see how their little bodies develop into sturdy roundness. Their muscles become firm and strong, and they learn how to stand well and walk well.

Now, the message I want to impart to grown-ups who read this column is that they, too, can accomplish these happy results. Their bodies are less malleable than children's, but this only means that it will take them longer to accomplish the same results.

The main thing you need is the determination to stick to these exercises which I will give you. You do not need to enroll in an expensive dancing class, if you will just make up your mind to do these exercises at home, and to persist in them, you will find that others suggest themselves to you when you have mastered these.

Here is a simple dancing step exercise, which you will find easier to do if you can have a musical accompaniment. A victrola is an excellent thing, or perhaps you can find someone to play the piano for you.

The exercise is this:

Raise your arms out to the sides at shoulders level and raise your right knee high.

Then bend to the right as you replace your right foot on the floor.

Repeat this to the opposite side, bending to the left as you replace your left foor on the floor.

The main thing to remember is that you must be regular in your performance of whatever exercises you choose to do.

Begin to-day to beautify your body by faithful practice of exercises. The movements you go through may be simple enough in themselves, but persistence will work wonders. An exercise does not have to be complicated. The thing that beautifies is strong use of the muscles involved. You must always use your muscles as firmly as you know how when you are exercising to gain beauty.

PETERBOROUGH FANCIES

By Jeannette.

EMBROIDERY COMMON.

Embroidery and beads adorn the winter frocks, whether they be intended for afternoon or evening wear. Long sleeves, with full lower portions th end in neat little cuffs, are much in evidence, but there are very few high necks. The tendency toward a retu of the tight silhouette appears to have halted at the neck and the waist-line still is an indeterminate factor.

Combinations of pretty colors distinguish the gowns for this season. A snuff-colored canton crepe with long lines of fine tucking has a poudre blue slip, its long sleeves embroidered in heavy metallic threads of gold and red. An almond green frock has odd little tabs for trimming, in grey, cerise and beige, and a charming gown is of beige crepe over blazing cherry red, pearl buttons in lines on front and shoulders, cream lace on the godet flares.

A rust georgette is stitched in vertical lines of gold silk and is trimmed with tiny red and gold buttons. A black dress of canton has deep encrustations of silver and purple embroidery on its cuffs and a pencil blue model has cascades of white trimming down its length.

A dinner gown of black is ornamented with big cerise velvet roses, outlined with thread that brings into bold relief its leaves of two shades of green velvet.

FIRST RECEPTION.

Mrs. Warren B. Snyder, bride of the popular football star of the University of Toronto team and daughter of Hon. Dr. and Mrs. Forbes Godfrey, Minister of Health in the Ontario cabinet, who held her first formal reception since her marriage at her mother's home recently.

ADVICE TO GIRLS

By Annie Laurie

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

1. On second introduction, is it the girl's place to acknowledge having met before?

2. Just how would you introduce a girl to a boy?

3. In a swell restaurant, do you allow the man to order for you?

4. After dancing, is it the girl's place to thank her partner for the dance?

CURIOUS.

CURIOUS: 1. The lady has the privilege of greeting the gentleman first, and he, in turn, always waits for a sign of recognition from her.

2. You never, introduce a girl to a young man, Miss Curious. The gentleman is always presented or introduced to the lady. Thus, you would say, "Miss Smith, may I present (or introduce) Mr. Jones? Less formally, "Elsie, this is Bob.

3. The gentleman always asks the lady what her choice is, because, regardless of the size of the restaurant, he is her host. She gives her order to him and ignores the solicitations of the waiter who may attempt to get it "first hand.

4. The gentleman thanks his partner for the dance and she, in turn, assures him that she has enjoyed it, too.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a girl sixteen years old and am in love with a young man four years my senior. I am away from home now and he doesn't even write to me as he promised.

He is going with another girl, but he doesn't know that I know he is going with this girl. He used to love me, I know, and I still care for him. Tell me how to gain his love again.

A WEARIED GIRL.

A WEARIED GIRL: You are too young, my dear, to be thinking of love. As long as you were not engaged to the young man he has the same right as you have—that of seeing his friends where and when he will. Your wisest course is to forget it and be happy with your other friends. It is time enough to settle down when you become engaged.

Annie Laurie will welcome letters of inquiry on subjects of feminine interest from young women readers of this paper, and will reply to them in these columns. Letters to Miss Laurie should be addressed to her in care of this paper.

With a woman the prime of life—that is, the period at which she is at her best, mentally and physically—is, on the average, between the age of twenty-five and forty. With a man the age is from thirty to fifty-five.

SMART HAT.

Above is a smart dove grey suede hat for present wear. This particular model is made with a treble brim and is especially useful for shingled heads, the hair in this case being dressed low over the ears.

Let's Talk It Over

"Will you some time express your view on the wisdom and possibility of giving folks second chances?" asks one of the Gang.

Second chances—also third, fourth and fifth—are hobbies of mine, so I print the following with pleasure:

Will you not some time express your view on the wisdom and possibility of giving folks second chances? How many are really willing to give the second chance to those about them who have failed, either wholly or partially?

Is it wisdom to stand at a distance and watch to see what will result before giving any approval or help?

How much right has a "downed" person to expect help from a people and world which must of necessity be partly or wholly at fault for his failure? How much moral right has the "strong fellow" to refuse to help the "weak fellow"? And may "strength" not be untried material, with as much flaw as perfection if once tested?

Making good may be anything from breaking deplorable habits to redecorating one's entire living quarters . . . then what would be your answer?

"I QUESTION."

There is nothing so beautiful as the beauty of charity and tolerance. There is nothing so expedient as to show charity and tolerance to all. For who knows when the tables may turn—and you may be needing charity and tolerance from the rest of the world.

You know the Society Leader who promises to introduce the struggling painter to "some people who'll be interested" and just never does. And the Plain Housewife who asks her shabby old maid aunt to have dinner with her "some time"—not to-morrow, or next week, nor two weeks from Tuesday—but—"some time." And the dear good Christian woman, who gives $1.50 a year toward the Society for Uplifting Fallen Women, and fires the maid whom she suspects of having been "taken advantage of" by the grocer's boy. And the Pillar of Society who lets his beefsteak grow cold at the Business Men's Lunch Club while he orates upon the Brotherhood of Men—and won't hire as office boy one who spent three months, when he was fourteen, in a reform school.

Yep, you know 'em—and so do I—the folks that warm the cockles of their hearts making charitable gestures. Perhaps you're one of them. Perhaps I'm one too. Most folks are, sometimes.

And here's another point—impoverishing the other fellow by spasmodic or too generous charity. When it's sometimes kinder to let him get on his own feet and try his own strength!

It's a big question—this question of charity and second chances. And when it comes down to brass tacks, we can't do better than to follow the old, old rule: "Do unto others as you would they should do unto you.

If you won't do that—you won't go far wrong.

SUGGESTIONS FOR SOLVING CROSS-WORD PUZZLES

Start out by filling in the words of which you feel reasonably sure. These will give you a clue to other words crossing them, and they in turn to still others. A letter belongs in each white space, words starting at the numbered squares and running either horizontally or vertically or both.

Easy Lessons in — AUCTION BRIDGE

New Series by WYNNE FERGUSON

Author of "Ferguson on Auction Bridge"

Copyright 1925 by Hoyle, Jr.

ARTICLE No. 1

Auction is a game of contrasts. One hand will play well and the next one badly; that is, on one hand you will get all the "breaks," and on the next, everything will go wrong. It is a game of such infinite variety that no player can ever hope to master all its quirks and turns. Even the best of players lose their judgment at times and allow their own hand to influence their bidding to their disadvantage when they should realize that their partner has an unusual or freak hand. The other night, the writer noticed two examples of this failure to be on the lookout for the unusual or freak type of hand.

The dealer with the following hand:
Hearts — A, 7
Clubs — A, 9, 4, 2
Diamonds — A, Q, J, 8
Spades — A, K, 4

bid one no trump. Second hand passed and the dealer's partner bid two hearts. Fourth hand passed and the dealer bid two no-trump. When his partner bid three hearts, the dealer failed to realize that if his partner had a justifiable three heart bid, they had a sure game in hearts, and bid three no-trump although there was no sure game in no-trump. The 100 aces were too much for his judgment and as a result he went down three tricks undoubled, a net loss of 50 points on a hand that would have scored game at hearts. His partner's hand was as follows:
Hearts — Q, J, 10, 9, 6, 4
Clubs — Q, 6, 3
Diamonds — 10, 9, 7
Spades — 5

Don't allow 100 aces to impair your judgment.

The same player made a similar error on the following hand:
Hearts — A, Q, 10
Clubs — none
Diamonds — A, Q, 10, 9, 6
Spades — A, Q, 10, 4, 2

His partner dealt and passed, second hand passed and he bid one spade. When his partner overbid with two clubs, he correctly bid two diamonds. His partner bid three clubs and he bid three diamonds. This bid is doubtful but when his partner bid four clubs, he should certainly have passed. He never stopped to realize that such bidding by his partner indicated a most unusual hand, one of the freak type and that his high cards in three suits would be of great help to his partner and that his partner's clubs would be of little value to his own hand, if he should obtain the bid at diamonds or spades. In spite of all these cogent reasons, however, he bid four diamonds and all passed. His partner's hand was as follows:
Hearts — 8
Clubs — A, Q, J, 10, 9, 7, 5, 4, 2
Diamonds — 8, 7
Spades — 3

At clubs, they could have made five odd, losing only one club and one diamond trick; while at diamonds they went down two tricks. It is a fine example of what not to do with a big hand. Play for the game, first, last and all the time, whether the hand is played by yourself or your partner. Always be willing to concede the bid to your partner when the bidding indicates that he has a freak hand. In the hand just considered, the dealer could have saved a lot of trouble by making an original bid of five clubs. It is a perfect example of the preemptive or shut out bid. If the bid fails, it will certainly save game; so that, in either event, it is a winner.

As a contrast to his bad bidding, the player whose bids have just been criticized played the following hand very cleverly:

	Hearts — K, Q, 7, 6 Clubs — 10, 4, 2 Diamonds — K, 9, 3 Spades — A, 6, 4
Hearts — 5, 4, 3 Clubs — A, Q, 7, 5 Diamonds — 6, 4 Spades — 8, 7, 5, 2	: Y : : A B : : Z :	Hearts — 8, 2 Clubs — J, 9, 3 Diamonds — Q, J, 10, 7, 2 Spades — K, Q, 10
	Hearts — A, J, 10, 9 Clubs — K, 8, 6 Diamonds — A, 8, 5 Spades — J, 9, 3

Z, the player in question, dealt and bid no-trump. All passed and A opened the five of clubs. Z won the trick with the king and led four rounds of hearts. B discarded two diamonds on the last two rounds of hearts. Z was now in a position where he could make two odd but figured that if he could force B to make another discard, he might possibly make three odd by making three diamonds or two spades. At trick five, therefore, he led the ten of clubs, forcing A to win the trick, who thereupon led three rounds of clubs. B was now forced to make another discard. He could have discarded either a spade or diamond. If the former, Z would discard a diamond and make two spade tricks. If the latter, Z would discard a spade and make three diamond tricks. It is a perfect example of the "squeeze" play. Study the play of this hand carefully for it was cleverly thought out. It is very unusual to win a game by leading your opponents' suit.

Problem No. 1

	Hearts — none Clubs — 8, 5, 3 Diamonds — 6, 4 Spades — Q, 8, 6
Hearts — none Clubs — Q, 7, 2 Diamonds — 7, 3 Spades — J, 7, 4	: Y : : A B : : Z :	Hearts — K, 8 Clubs — J, 9 Diamonds — K Spades — 5, 3, 2
	Hearts — A, 10, 9 Clubs — K, 4 Diamonds — Q, J Spades — 9

There are no trumps and Z is in the lead. How can YZ win six of the eight tricks against any defense? Solution in the next article.

GOOD NIGHT STORIES

By Blanche Silvar

DONALD AND DEE MEET MR. FLYING SQUIRREL.

Donald and Dee sat out on the porch just at sunset, watching the pink clouds turn to purple. Something fluttered from the nearest tree to the ground not far from their feet.

"It's a Flying Squirrel, as sure as I'm alive!" exclaimed Donald.

"Flying Squirrel!" laughed Dee. "Who ever saw a Squirrel that could fly, I'd like to know?"

"That's all right," said Donald, rather peeved. "If that fellow could talk, he'd mighty soon tell you he was a Flying Squirrel, all right."

"I'll bet my—" began Dee, when a soft twitter stopped her and a dear little nose poked up from the grass, near the porch.

"Be careful, be careful," he chattered. "Don't bet until you know what you are betting for. Hello there, Dee and Donald," and the very little fellow they were discussing ran up beside the astonished Donald and Dee.

"Aren't you a Flying Squirrel?" asked Donald.

"That's what they call me," chuckled the little fellow merrily. "But Dee is right in a sort-a-way. I can't really and truly fly. I just have a fold of skin that runs down my sides from the front to the hind legs, so when I sail through the air, I just stretch my legs and this skin keeps me up. I couldn't fly up in the air to save my life. If you know anything about me, you'll notice when I take a notion to fly,

"I Play at Night."

I run up a tree to a high limb and then sail down to a lower point. So, in a way, you both are right. I am called a Flying Squirrel and yet I really and truly can't fly, only drop down on the air. Haven't you ever seen a Flying Squirrel before?"

Donald and Dee both said they had never met a Flying Squirrel and Mr. Flying Squirrel turned around and around so they could get a good look at him.

He was a wee bit smaller than Chatty Chipmunk. His coat was of a soft, yellowish-brown above and white underneath. His eyes were large and so soft and pretty that Dee declared he was lovely.

"Isn't it about time for you to go to bed?" Dee asked. "Chatty Chipmunk and all his family are sound asleep by now."

"Let them sleep," chuckled Flying Squirrel. "They play in the daytime and I play at night. This early evening is the time I love. The sun isn't bright and the light doesn't hurt my eyes."

"Do you live around here, Mr. Flying Squirrel?" asked Donald.

"Yes, indeed, right up in that tree at your very front door," chuckled Mr. Flying Squirrel. "I have rented a hole Mr. and Mrs. Woodpecker used to have, right up in that tree. My wife is up there right now with her family. Why, I have the loveliest nest of bark linings, grass and moss. Come up and see us some time. My wife will be glad to know you are our friends," and away he scampered over the grass out of sight.

Mama called just then and Donald and Dee ran in to tell her what they had just heard.

My, how Mama and Daddy did laugh. They thought sure their little boy and girl had fallen asleep and dreamed the whole affair. But next day Daddy investigated, and, sure enough, up in Mr. Woodpecker's old home, there lived the happy family of Flying Squirrels.

Barries

We were talking, yesterday, about the foolish man who took some berry bushes into his conservatory for the winter, thinking to shield them from the nip of Jack Frost, in return for their kindness in giving him so many berries. "For," said he, "last winter I let you suffer in the cold, but you gave me good fruit, shmaing my neglect, so I will protect you."

Well now, the foolish man went into his garden in Autumn, just before the plants went to sleep, and he took them into his lovely warm conservatory, setting them in nice rows and making them, as he thought, the most happy of plants in the whole of Canada. Silly man!

The plants were very sad and sleepy. They could not tell him that Jack Frost is their great friend. They just had to let him find out for himself. They all went to sleep in spite of him and his foolish hot house.

"Oh dear, oh dear," said the man, "these plants have gone to sleep and have dropped all their leaves and do not seem to like comfort and sunshine. They are not dead, so we will leave them alone until Spring."

Jack Frost came to the glass and looked in and was very angry. He raged about and beat on the glass, but could not reach the plants to make them happy and strong. He could only find one berry bush, one of the poorest, which the man had thought was not worthy of a warm place and had left outside near the door.

"Ah ha!" screamed Jack Frost, in a frenzy of delight, "so he left you out in disgust, did he? Poor weak little bush, I will love and kiss you and caress you and you alone, of all the berry bushes, shall have rich fruit."

So Jack Frost loved and caressed the poor weak little bush at the conservatory door, visiting it in wild storms and touching it kindly, then dashing at the hot house glass and scolding the sad plants inside. What he said and what happened will appear to-morrow.

YOUR HEALTH

By Royal S. Copeland, M. D.,

DO YOUR JOINTS EVER GET INFLAMED?

Have you ever thought what wonderful mechanical perfection is demonstrated in the joints of the body?

Some of the joints are hinges—the knee is an example. Some of them possess all the advantages of movement which a ball and socket joint can possibly have. For example, consider the hip joint, with the freedom of movement to and fro, and of rotation possessed by the leg.

Work your ankle or your wrist joint. Note what flexibility there is. Up, down, in, out and all around—there is amazing facility of movement.

The ends of the bones are coverded with perfectly smooth material. Supporting bands of cartilage and powerful muscles hold and control the joint action. The lining membrane is constantly lubricated, the joints containing just enough fluid to prevent the slightest friction.

We must look upon the joints of the body as among the remarkable features of the human frame.

Like all other organs or parts of the body, the joints may become irritated or inflamed. They are subject to accident. Indeed, the very prominence of certain joints makes them peculiarly liable to damage.

Inflammation of a joint is called arthritis. All animals have it. For instance, the turkey, beloved of all boys at Thanksgiving time, is liable to have it. This noble bird perches high. Beginning at a tender age when the body is light and the wings strong, the turkey continues his instinctive habit of safety. As time passes, the bird grows big and heavy. No longer can an easy landing be made. On the contrary, the big bird lands on his feet with a great thud. The ankle joints suffer in consequence. Arthritis develops—"bumble foot" it is called in the country.

Careless use of the joints of the body, over-lifting, over-working at weeding in the fields or garden, any undue strain or effort may damage a joint. A fall or blow may set up trouble.

Likewise, a joint may become the seat of inflammation, due to germs or toxins which entered the body a long way from that particular joint. Pus infection somewhere may cause one joint or several to become seriously involved.

Tomorrow's HOROSCOPE

By Genevieve Kemble

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 17.

A fairly favorable day is forecast from the prevailing sidereal operations. Nevertheless, it is warned that speculation and extravagant outlay of money might be hazardous under an unfriendly Jupiter. Established business, as well as new ventures, are well aspected. Those in the employment of others are under excellent prospect for promotion or preferment. It is a favorable time for dealing with superiors or those in authority.

Those whose birthday it is are under good auspice for advancement and growth in business providing they shun speculative enterprises and handle their money conservatively, since there may be a tendency toward extravagance. A child born on this day should be industrious and enterprising but may need to be trained in prudent use of its fortune, since it may lean toward extravagance in personal indulgence and to speculative ventures in business.

LET'S GET THIS EMIGRATION BOGEY OUT INTO THE DAYLIGHT

AND in doing it let's not appeal in an unpatriotic way to United States publications, as Mr. Peck does. LET'S TAKE THE FIGURES GIVEN BY GOOD STAUNCH TORY PUBLICATIONS RIGHT HERE IN CANADA.

Mr. Peck has been stumping the country in a series of regular old-time hit-'em-on-the-head party hurrahs, and at every one he has presented the same old figures about the so-called "trek over the border."

What did he say, and what did his figures mean? NOTHING. Just that.

"In the last four years Mr. Peck claimed that the records bore him out in the statement that 100,000 Canadians left for the United States." That is the report as it appeared in the Examiner. Mr. Peck, you will notice, is careful not to say the 100,000 took up homes there. Mr. Peck is too honest to go that far. But you may take it that way if you wish.

BUT GIVE MR. PECK THE BENEFIT OF THE DOUBT, AND LET'S SUPPOSE EVERY ONE OF THE 100,000 LEFT CANADA FOR GOOD. THAT'S AT THE RATE OF 25,000 A YEAR AND THEN LET'S APPEAL TO A CONSERVATIVE-MINDED JOURNAL, THE FINANCIAL POST, FOR FIGURES WHICH MR. PECK DID NOT QUOTE TO HIS AUDIENCES.

Here is what we find:

IMMIGRATION FROM THE UNITED STATES TO CANADA:

1922-23 22,007
1923-24 20,521

AND remember, Mr. Peck's figures are just hearsay, multiplied nobody knows how many times by the calamity-howlers among his leaders. These other figures are the result of a careful computation by a responsible Conservative journal, made, it is true, before the possibility of an election became a probability.

AND then, having got these figures—emigration at the rate of 25,000 a year (problematical) and immigration at the rate of 21,264 a year—look back at the ten years immediately prior to 1921. The same Conservative sheet gives the total emigration as 1,297,740, or a rate of 129,774 a year.

The immigration from United States in the same period was 869,549, or 86,955 a year. The loss between 1911 and 1921, therefore, was at the net rate of 42,820 a year, whereas, even on Mr. Peck's "I have been told" figures, the net loss during the last few years has been at the rate of only 3,736.

AS A MATTER OF FACT, ANOTHER TORY NEWSPAPER, THE MONTREAL GAZETTE, PUBLISHED ON SEPTEMBER 25 A DESPATCH TELLING OF THE IMMIGRATION FROM UNITED STATES OF 19,044 PERSONS IN FOUR MONTHS OF THIS YEAR—OR A RATE OF 57,132 A YEAR.

On Mr. Peck's uncertain figures, and these exact returns, Canada is gaining 32,132 immigrants from United States every year, and getting all her emigrants back.

OUT of all the mass of rhetoric and asservation in Mr. Peck's campaign this alleged flow of Canada's young manhood over the border stood out as THE big point on which he appeals to the electors. And now that the bogey is out in the daylight it ceases to be a scare and proves to be only an election dodge.

CAR RAN INTO CREEK AFTER HITTING COW

Accident Happened When Boy Was Driving His Sister to Station.

DUNSFORD, Oct. 16 — What might have proved a very serious accident occurred on Tuesday morning, October 13th, when Valney Murdock of the Scotch line was bringing his sister, Flora, to Dunsford station that she might go to Lindsay on the train. When coming across Emily Creek some cattle happened to be on the road and as they did not get out of the way quickly enough the car hit one and the impact put the car into the creek. Before Valney could get it under control it ran against a 6 inch post at the end of the bridge, breaking it off going farther into the creek. We expect the car would have turned trutle only for a small tree being in the edge of the water, which offered a little support.

Both the boy and girl got out without being hurt and the car, though badly damaged will likely be made to run again.

SUCCESSFUL BAZAAR.

St. George's Anglican Church Concludes Two Day Sale.

The second day of the bazaar conducted by St. George's Anglican Church in Rye's Pavilion was very satisfactory, with a good attendance and the affair closed last night with a feeling of satisfaction manifested by those in charge. The total receipts for the two-day bazaar amounted to about $518. The musical programme last evening was provided by the De Laval Orchestra, led by Mr. A. Nicholls. The principal items on the programme were an overture, 'Northern Lights,' the March of the Manikins, an overture, "Mignonette," and a selection from Sullivan's operatic airs.

FORGETTING GRIT AND TORY AND LOOKING AT THE FACTS

Canada is Right Side Up and More Advanced Than Ever Before.

A HOARY ARGUMENT.

Same Old Points Brought Out in 1911 and Ghastly Failure Recorded.

Suppose you awoke in the morning with the names of Grit, Tory, Progressive and Labor absolutely out of your mind—forgotten as if they had never existed. Then you would have to examine every problem in the light of common sense. Imagine that when you awoke someone was explaining Canada's trade position to you and he said: "We are in bad shape. We exported to the United States last year only $417,457,174 of Canadian produce. We imported from the United States goods to the value of $510,003,256, or $92,546,085 more than we exported." Would you be alarmed?

We think not.

Many of those who read this article will recall the election campaign of 1911. The figures used in that campaign covered the year 1910. In that year we imported from the United States more goods than we exported to the extent of $113,884,881. You will recall that the Conservative party, frantic to save the country from such adversity, got into power.

As saviours were they a success?

In 1913, the last clear year before the war, under Conservative rule, the adverse balance was $297,161,362, an increase of $183,000,000. Evidently the Conservative plan of changing a debit into a credit did not work so far as our trade balance was concerned.

What has happened since? The figures for the year ending March 31, 1925 show the adverse balance has been reduced to $92,546,085. Therefore our adverse balance with United States has been cut in three under the present Government. We are not going back to 1913 for this comparison. In the year 1921, under Mr. Meighen, our adverse balance was over $313,000,000.

Now, using that common sense we speak of, if you honestly believed the protectionist doctrine would change completely the situation in 1911 and it failed, and again it failed in 1913, and in 1921, what do you say about it?

THE FACTS SHATTER INTO A MILLION FRAGMENTS THE AGE-OLD ARGUMENTS REHASHED BY MR. PECK THAT LOWER TARIFFS COULD CAUSE US TO HAVE AN ADVERSE TRADE BALANCE, AND THAT HIGHER TARIFFS WOULD INEVITABLY BRING A FAVORABLE BALANCE.

The present Government lowered the tariff on certain implements of production, helping the working man to earn his living. OUR TRADE POSITION IS STRONGER THAN EVER. And full credit must be given the present Government for resisting the appeals of personally interested parties to raise the tariff for their profit and the country's detriment. Never be deceived by these appeals to prejudice—Canada is a strong country. Temporarily we may have adverse balances of trade, but, unhampered by exorbitant tariffs, Canada will always stand right side up.

NEVER, LEAVING OUT WAR YEARS, IN ALL OUR HISTORY WAS CANADA'S TRADE POSITION SO SOUND AS IT IS TODAY. Our favorable trade balance last year against all the world was $285,000,000. There is economic soundness back of the business policy responsible for this development.

Is there an answer to these facts? NONE.

Will an answer be attempted? Yes. Mr. Peck will try to answer. He will tell you we are disposing of our raw materials—sending material out of the country that should be manufactured here.

We shall take great pleasure in kicking that hoary old argument to pieces just as soon as we can get around to it.

And in the meantime, remember GORDON IS THE MAN.

LIFE SAVING.

Y.W.C.A. Swimming Exhibition Will Show Good Work Done.

That Peterborough is keeping up to a high standard in regard to life-saving classes and tests will be fully demonstrated by the Y. W. C.A. swimming classes on Saturday afternoon and evening, when 23 of the Junior and Senior girls of the Life-Saving Classes, will be examined for the different awards of the Royal Life Saving Society.

This Society has its headquarters in London, England, and has set all the questions for the competitors for the proficiency and certificate, and the bronze and silver medalions since 1850; over 192,890 members have taken their examinations and passed.

Rev. J. D. Paterson will be the official examiner at to-morrow's examination, which will be held at the Y. W.C.A. pool.

The award of merit is a unique examination for Peterboro, as only five Peterboro girls have successfully passed: Mrs. Craig, Misses Grace Allin, Mary Dunlop, Eleanor Hilland, Matilda Dunlop.

The test is a difficult one and consists of swimming 600 yards fully dressed. To undress on the surface of the water. To dive from the surface of the water to a depth of at least five feet, and raise and land an object weighing 6 pounds. Carry a person by the second method of rescue a distance of at least 20 yards. To dive neatly from heights of 5 feet and 10 feet. To perform at least three special movements or stunts and to pass a written examination.

The following girls are trying the different examinations this year and the Y. W. C. A. and Citizens of Peterborough wish them every success:

Elementary: Doris Rogers, Rhoda Cullen, Margaret Antoine, Hazel Bradley, Jean Harvey, Mollie Wood.

Bronze: Jean White, Ina Terrance, Jean Robinson, Viola Harvey, Miss Hopkins, Miss C. Large, Audrey Evans, Mary Menzies, Mabel Nixon.

Award of Merit: Ina Terrance, Jean White.

Public is welcome.

PRESS BOYCOTTS MUSSOLINI WHEN IN CONFERENCE

Italian Premier Alleged to Have Been Muzzling Newspapers.

HAILS CORRESPONDENT

Voice From Ranks of Boycotters Charges Him With Being Often Mistaken.

LOCARNO, Switzerland, Oct. 16.—(Canadian Press.)— Allegations that Premier Mussolini was muzzling Italian newspapers caused the majority of British and French, together with some of the German correspondents, to boycott a press meeting arranged by the Italian delegation to permit the Fascist chief to give his views concerning the security conference.

Nevertheless the hotel room set aside for the purpose was filled when Mussolini entered. His appearance was a distinct shock to those who had not seen him since his short visit to Switzerland during the opening days of the Lausanne Conference in the summer of 1922. He was pale and haggard and seemed to have difficulty in giving clarity to his statements, which he had committed to paper.

When he emerged from the conference, he found the hotel lobby filled, the crowd including the boycotting correspondents.

Hailing a correspondent of an English labor paper, he asked: "Is Communism still going strong?" To which the journalist replied, "I am not a Communist." Premier Mussolini rejoined, "Pardon me, I am mistaken then." "Yes, as you often are," came a voice from the ranks of the boycotters. The Premier halted as if to make some retort, but either could find no suitable one, or thought better of it, and walked on.

A recess was taken until 6.30 p.m., when the delegates will initial the final protocol and seven treaties and then adjourn. It was decided to publish the texts of the agreements in all European capitals next Tuesday morning.

To Change Common Shares When Stockholders Meet

NEW YORK, October 16. Canadian Press. — A meeting of stockholders of the International Paper Company, at which it is contemplated to change the common shares of the company to no par value, will be held on November 6th, the Wall street Journal says to-day.

The meeting is also expected to offer additional common stock to the present stock holders on share-for-share basis at $50 a share.

The Journal continues: "Proceeds of the new offering will amount to around $10,000,000. About $4,000,000 will be used to purchase an interest in the New England Company, the holding company for the New England Power Company. Part of the remaining $6,000,000 will be used to start work on a new newsprint mill on the Gatineau river in Canada. This will will have an initial capacity of 400 tons of newsprint daily according to present plans."

Chicago Wheat Takes Jump Because Of Crop Reports

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—(Canadian Press)—Wheat prices scored a brisk early advance to-day, influenced by unfavorable crop reports from Australia and by the pronounced delay in threshing operations in Canada. The continued absence of rain in Australia tended to make the outlook for wheat growth still more critical, with early sown wheat already deteriorated 50,000,000 bushels according to some advices current. There were also estimates at hand that in some parts of Canada as much as 90 per cent. of the threshing yet remains to be done. The opening, 5-8 to 2¼ higher, new style, December 145 to 145½, and May 143¾ to 144, was followed by a rise to 147 3-8 for December and 145 3-8 for May. Corn and oats reflected the strength of wheat. After opening at 3-8c to 7-8c higher, December 73½ to 75 7-8, corn made moderate additional gains. Oats started at 1-8 to ¼c up, December 39 5-8 to 39 3-4c. Later the market hardened a little more. Provisions were firmer owing to upturns both in hog values and in grain.

TORONTO, Oct. 16 (Canadian Press) — Trading on the Standard Mining Exchange was somewhat quieter this morning, with transactions totalling 123,513 shares. Dome Mines advanced fifteen points to 14.50 while Wright Hargreaves sold 20 points lower at 625. Lake Shore declined five points up at 146 and advanced five to 525. Castle Trethewey was three points up at 146 and Vipond two points higher at 115. Teck Hughes and Keeley each declined one point to 191 and 144 respectively. Beaver and Mining Corporation sold one point up at 28 1-4 and 299 respectively.

Bear Trades Influence Trend of New York Prices

NEW YORK, Oct. 16 (Canadian Press)—Stock prices opened strong, broke sharply under an avalanche of selling orders around midday and then started forward again under the leadership of Standard Industrials. The break, which followed the marking up of call money at renewal rate, was inspired by bear traders, who sold the stocks freely on the theory that the rapidity of the recent advance had left the market in a weakened technical position. The lowering of the call money rate to five per cent. and the revival of activity and strength in United States Steel common, which crossed 126 to a new high on the movement, steadied the list and eventualy induced sufficient fresh buying to start the course of prices upward again.

Wide Range Of Issues Show More Action—Smelters Lead

TORONTO, Oct. 16.—(Canadian Press.) — Increased activity in a wide range of issues featured this morning's session on the Toronto stock exchange, with Consolidated Smelters in the lead with a net gain at the close of 6 1-2 points, after reaching 165, a new high level, during the morning's trading. More than 2,000 shares changed hands. Brazilian sagged on transactions of 1.300 shares, declining 1 1-2 points at 78 3-4.

GOVERNMENT CRAFT HAS THRILLING TRIP

Was Locked in Ice and Menaced By Giant 'Bergs—Escaped Safely.

OTTAWA, October 16. — Canadian Press. — How the government steamship Arctic was locked for 20 days in ice; how she escaped by hoisting a sail at 3 o'clock in the morning from menace of an iceberg towering 200 feet above her decks and low mounted police detchments had given her up for lost, are among the stories which are being hold now that members of the expedition have returned to the capital.

From members of the party it had been learned that the MacMillan party had been flying over Greenland, and also over Ellesmere Island in Canadian territory.

On Ellesmere Island two oil and gasoline depots had been established along the route leading to Axel Heiberg Island, which is within the areas claimed by Canada but has never actually been visited by Canadians. Soon after the arrival of the Arctic at Etah the MacMillan expedition left for the south.

The relationship between the official Canadian party and the party from the United States will be dealt with in a report to be made to the Minister of the Interior by G. P. MacKenzie, who was in charge on the Arctic.

CLAIM INSANITY IN MURDER CASE

Mrs. Ruth Janisse Charged With Slaying of Clayton McMullen.

WINDSOR, Oct. 16 (Canadian Press).—On the night of August 13, when Clayton McMullen, for whose murder Mrs. Ruth Janisse is now on trial in the Essex County Court at Sandwich, was sent to death in Windsor, Mrs. Janisse's mental state was such that she could not have been consciously aware of her actions in connection with the shooting, according to the opinion of Dr. Herbert Claire, superintendent of Homewood Sanitarium, Guelph.

Dr. Claire's testimony, presented late yesterday afternoon, was offered by the defence in an effort to prove Mrs. Janisse was insane at the time of the shooting. The alienist refused to state positively, however, that Mrs. Janisse was actually insane, but declared it to be his opinion her ordinary reasoning faculties were not functioning normally when the murder was committed.

RUMOR WAS FALSE.

Queen Mother Alexander Not Dead—Report Was Officially Denied.

LONDON, Oct. 16. — (Canadian Press).—A rumor that the Queen-Mother Alexandra was dead was persistently spread throughout London early this afternoon, causing considerable commotion until it was finally squelched by an official denial from Sandringham Castle.

OBITUARY.

N. THURSTON

The death occurred on Wednesday night at the Ross Memorial Hospital, Lindsay, of Newt Thurston. Mr. Thurston is only a young man in his 43rd year and has lived on a farm about a half mile west of Dunsford all his life, it being the homestead.

His death has been a terrible shock to the entire community for although not feeling up to the mark Mr. Thurston had been going around doing his work until about three weeks ago when he was confined to his bed, after which he seemed gradually to become in a more serious condition. He was under the care of Dr. Neil of Peterborough and Dr. Clarke of Lindsay on Thursday night of last week both doctors met at his home and decided to have him taken to the Ross Hospital whither he was moved on the following morning, October 9th, and on Wednesday morning they knew that the angel of death was rapidly carrying another good and loving soul across the sea and into that wonderful land of peace and happiness.

Left to mourn his loss are his very loving wife and one little daughter, Isabelle, 6 years old. One sister, Mrs. Alex Kennedy of Toronto, and three brothers, Mr. J. W. Thurston, Dunsford, and James and Gilbert in the West.

The funeral took take place on Friday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock from the family residence to Dunsford Cemetery.

MRS. SARAH E. RHODES.

The death occurred on Thursday afternoon, October 15, of Sarah E. Rhodes, widow of Edward Rhodes, of Elzevir Township, and daughter of the late Crandal Loveless and Elizabeth Secour. The deceased was born in Murray Township on January 18, 1838, but lived most of her life, after marriage in 1870, near Queensboro. She moved to Peterboro with her son four years ago, and although in her eighty-eighth year, she has been active until three months ago, when she was confined to bed. She was a member of the Methodist Church, and greatly beloved by all who knew her.

PETERBORO KENNEL IN BUFFALO SHOW

Bill Welsh's "Liftlock" Kennel Among Those Present Next Week.

FIVE POINT CLUB.

BUFFALO, N.Y., Oct. 16 (Special to The Examiner)—Lew Doughty, secretary of the Buffalo Boston Terrier club, after compiling the entries received for the annual Boston Terrier show to be held in Elmwood Music Hall here next Monday and Tuesday nights, declared the total exceeds that of every similar show ever held in Buffalo. Among the big kennels having terriers entered are the Liftlock kennels of Peterborough, Ont., owned by Bill Welsh, Paramount kennels of Cleveland, Ohio; Kingsbencher kennels of Islington, Ont.; Worthwhile kennels of Akron, Ohio; Prydoma kennels of Cleveland. Individual entries have been received from Boston, Mass.; Chicago, Ill.; Philadelphia, Pa.; New York and Brooklyn, and many other cities. The large entry enables the local club to maintain its five-point prestige, which places it on a par with all the big terrier exhibitons in the country. P. E. Dowd, the well-known terrier fancier of Worcester, Mass., will judge. The show will be open to the public.

LEFT WING PARTY TO RETAIN POWER

Indications From Greetings to Herriot Would Give That Impression.

NICE, France, Oct. 16.— (Canadian Press.)—That the party of the left wing will continue in power in France seems perfectly clear from the reception of the delegates to the congress of radical Socialists have given to the former Premier Herriot's opening address, intimating that France's debts can be paid only by a tax on private fortunes.

Consequently it is asserted that if Finance Minister Caillaux wishes support in the parliament of a majority drawn exclusively from the parties of the Left Wing for his financial resources, these must include some form of tax on capital.

Mr. Peck Replies To Mr. Gordon

My attention has been directed to Mr. Gordon's statement published in Thursday's Examiner instituting a comparison between the trade of this country in 1921 as compared with 1924. The comparison is entirely unfair, because during 1921 the value of merchandise was still much inflated as a result of the War. The very Year Book—a Government publication—from which he takes his figures, establishes this conclusively, and I give here an extract from that Work dealing with the exports of the country at that time. This is what is stated:

> "While exports reached the billion figures during each year from 1917 to 1921 this was achieved under abnormal war time demands or the PEAK PRICES OF THE POST BELLUM BOOM. and this CANNOT BE CONSIDERED A RELIABLE INDEX of the extension of the Country's productive powers."

The Year Book was dealing here with the subject of exports, but these words "peak prices. Etc" in the article equally apply to the imports. As a result of the high prices prevailing in 1921 the external trade of the country in that year reached in value $2,450,000,000.00 as compared with $1,951,000,000 in 1924.

VISITING SHRINERS HAD GREAT TIME

Went to Kingston on Monday For Initiation Ceremonies.

(Kingston Whig)

Oh boy! Did you see it? That strange vessel at the city wharf flying the flag of a foreign country, and having as its emblems the Arabic character of the scimitar, sphinx head, crescent and star. Many inhabitants wondered at the strange sight and the explanation followed by those who knew that it conveyed hot sand from the desert of Arabia for those who were to be initiated into the mysteries of the Ancient Arabic Order of the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine. In order to obtain these privileges a candidate must have the prerequisite degrees of a Knights Tmplar or thirty-second degree Scottish Rite Mason, and Monday evening was the stipulated time for making the pilgrimage across the hot sands towards the ancient city of Mecca.

The local Shrine Club, under the leadership of President Claude Gordon and Harvey Milne, potentate's aide, met the officers and members of Rameses Temple, who arrived in the city shortly after noon and were entertained at dinner at the Masonic Temple. The delegation was in charge of Illustrious Potentate Gus Hay of Peterboro, and Chief Rabban U. E. Gillen, superintendent of the Canadian National Railway at Toronto.

About one hundred and fifty members accompanied them, including the Shrine Band and Arab patrol. Past Potentate Frank Walker brought a delegation from Hamilton. After luncheon a procession, headed by the Kilties' band, the R.C.H.A. band and Rameses Temple band, marched through the principal streets to the armouries, where fifty-seven candidates crossed the hot sands of the desert towards Mecca.

The Ancient Arabic Order of the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine was founded in 1872 and now has a membership of 600,000 in the United States, Canada, Mexico, Honolulu, and the Panama Canal zone. It was only a few years ago that the present mayor of Philadelphia, Freeland Kendrick, who was then the Imperial Potentate and head of the order, conceived the idea of establishing Shriners' Hospitals in different parts of the jurisdiction for crippled children, regardless of race, color or religion. His ideas were adopted and eight hospitals are already in operation. A touch of pathos was added to last night's meeting when four crippled "kiddies" of this city were presented to the audience by Dr. J. L. Austin of Queen's University, who has interested himself in their behalf and undertaken to make them as other children are.

It was the midnight hour when Kingston said good-bye to its many distinguished visitors with the Arabs' greeting, "Peace be with you."

Held Big Parade.

The citizens turned out in large numbers to witness the parade of the Shriners from the Masonic Temple to the armories, where the Ceremonial was held. For at least half an hour before the scheduled time, the streets along the route of the parade were lined with men, women and children all eager to get as good a view of the proceedings as possible. In front of the Masonic Temple, the crowd of citizens and Shriners was so dense that it was hardly possible for pedestrians or motorists to get through. Cars were parked on both sides of the street for several blocks and desultory toots and squawks their horns augumented the noise and confusion.

It was a happy, good natured crowd, however, and on every side could be witnessed the reunion of Shriners who had met on previous like occasions.

The parade formed up under the supervision of Marshal W. Y. Mills, with the R.C.H.A. Band leading off. They were followed by the chief dignitaries of the order namely Potentate Gus Hay of Peterboro, Past Potentate Walker of Hamilton, Past Potentate W. A. Shaw of Toronto, Past Potentate A. J. Brown, of Toronto, Chief Rabban V. E. Gillen, Assistant Rabban Charles Sodte, Orator L. E. Bowerman, Oriental Guide Charles Pettit, First Cermonial Master Perry Cadieux, Second Ceremonial Master Jack Doughty. The Band from Rameses Temple, Toronto, followed and then came the patrol from Rameses Temple in full uniform. The float decorated by the Kingston club was a feature of the parade. It was decorated with the mystic symbols of the order and both the Union Jack and the Stars and Stripes were prominently displayed. A hearse was pressed into service and played a part in the ceremonies later in the afternoon. The Nobles marched two by two and both the P.W.O.R. Pipe Band and the Sea Cadets Bugle Band supplied music. The candidates for initiation into the order marched in a body holding a rope and marshalled by Shriners.

The parade presented a very gay specacle of the red fezzes of the Nobles, the varied uniforms of the Band and the gay costumes of the patrol all vieing for attention.

LOCAL COUNCIL HOLD MEETING

Considers Advisability of Having Full Time Medical Health Officer.

GENERAL BUSINESS.

The regular monthly meeting of the Local Council of Women was held yesterday afternoon in the Green Room of the Young Women's Christian Association, with a good attendance. The president, Mrs. A. Stevenson, was in the chair. Minutes of the previous meeting were read by Mrs. N. D. Seaton.

It was announced that the ladies will again take charge of the reading rooms at the Public Library on Sundays this year, Mrs. A. Mowat to be in charge. The first open Sunday will be the first Sunday in November.

The Local Council is extending its patronage to the moving picture, "Drusilla With a Million," to be given at the Royal Theatre on November 16, 17 and 18. The ladies are interested in the selling of tickets for this production, in an effort to raise an amount to augment their present bank balance. A number of the auxiliary societies at the meeting yesterday took tickets to sell to their friends.

Mrs. Stevenson referred to the receipt of a letter from Mayor Turner, asking the Council to consider the advisability of the city employing a medical health officer on full time who would have the supervision of all types of health activity in the city, and see that such work did not overlap among the different organizations interested. A motion was passed to have this project submitted for consideration to the associated societies of the council.

A pictorial circular emphasizing the need of great care with regard to fire hazards was passed among the ladies.

The meeting was enlivened yesterday by the presence of two members of the canine family, who engaged in an exchange of verbal warfare during the progress of the gathering.

A very eloquent and impressive paper on "The League of Nations and the Opium Traffic" was given by Mrs. K. S. Wightman. The beautiful flow of language, the pleasant voice of the speaker and the illuminating way in which the subject was handled, made this paper singularly effective and a motion was passed to ask The Examiner to print the address in full. This will be done in a later publication. Mrs. Stevenson expressed her great appreciation of Mrs. Wightman's paper, and a vote of thanks to the speaker was also accorded by the ladies present.

The ladies stood in accord for the resolution of sympathy to the families of the late Dr. and Mrs. J. B. Mann.

Soldiers Board Train and Clearance Only Effected By Authorities.

CONSUL ACTS.

SHANGHAI, October 16 United Press. — Silas H. Strawn, American delegate to the Chinese Customs Conference, proceeded with four Americans towards Peking to-day, after the soldiers had twic boarded the train on which he was riding and insisted that the journey should not continue.

Soldiers stopped the train from Shanghai at Nanziang during the night and said that the rails were torn up and all service toward Peking was suspended. Strawn and his wife and daughter, and Mahlon Perkins, a technical expert of the State Department, and his wife, and other foreigners, transferred to another train, which bore them back to Shanghai.

Again the soldiers boarded the train and would not permit it to enter Shanghai. The American Consultate was informed and after making representation to the Chinese authorities a clearance of the railway was effected and the journey to Peking continued by way of Nanking.

"Why I Should Vote Conservative"

Give Our People Work in Canada

Operate Our Factories Full Time

CANADA cannot hope to attract immigrants so long as her own people are leaving her in thousands, and going to the United States !

She cannot possibly compete for immigration with the United States so long as her manufacturers are denied the protection that would enable them to pay good wages, and still hold their own against importations from low-wage countries!

By steadily lowering her tariffs, Canada has been forcing her manufacturers into a position where they are between the devil and the deep blue sea. They must pay substantially United States wages or lose their skilled help. Yet when they do, without a tariff that protects them, they cannot control their home market against European goods that have been produced by sweat shop and child labor, and from countries where minimum wage laws are unknown.

If Canada wants immigrants, it must have healthy industries. And if it is to have healthy industries, it must protect them !

The best immigration policy is a tariff which ensures every worker a full time job at good wages.

We will get the immigrants we must have ..... the capital we must have ..... to make Canada prosperous !

KIKI CUYLER'S TWO BASE THRUST BROUGHT OVER THE DECIDING RUNS

Forty-two Thousand People Watched One of the Greatest Battles in the History of the Game—Peck's Two Costly Errors.

SENATORS OUTPLAYED IN EVERY DEPARTMENT

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 16 (Canadian Press)—The Black emblem of the Pirates flew aloft last night while a daring, swash-buckling crew rules the baseball world for the first time in sixteen years.

Through the haze of a rain soaked, furiously dramatic struggle on Forbes Field this afternoon, these ruthless Buccaneers — Pittsburgh's National League titleholders—beat down the resistance of their greatest foeman, Walter Johnson, and riddled the Washington craft with defeat by a score of 9 to 7 in the seventh and deciding game of the world's series.

Forty-two thousand frenzied fans, fired to a high pitch of enthusiasm, watched this terrific hand to hand fight under adverse conditions which have had few if any parallels in championship annals. They looked on, then broke loose afterward in a wild demonstration of joy breaking through the wire screens to swarm on the field where the Pirate attack, dominant and flashing, similarly had broken through all barriers to drive the Senators from the baseball heights and complete the greatest come-back any series has ever known.

In the final rush over the Washington ramparts, Hazen (Kiki) Suyler, a dark-browed, dashing young free-booter, struck the blow that decided the battle—a two-base thrust down the right-field foul line in the eighth inning with the bases full, two out and the score deadlocked, bringing over Carson Bigbee and Eddie Moore with the deciding runs and frustrating the greatest goal of the old master, Johnson.

Cuyler's smash—a drive that at first seemed labelled for a home run, then was held to two bases under ground rules because the ball buried itself in a pile of tarpaulin in deep right field—came at the crucial moment of the conflict. It was the climax of a succession of battering onslaughts against Johnson that had pulled the Pirates back to even terms after it seemed they had almost thrown the game away in a hectic first inning through the collapse of their pitching star, Vic Aldridge, and loop-holes in their defense.

Once they had survived that disastrous first, in which Washington gained a four run lead and Aldridge had given away to Johnny Morrison, the Pirates fought ahead with every weapon at their command. Trailing but always fighting back, as a steady barrage enveloped Johnson, the Buccaneers tied the score in the seventh inning, then fought their way to the front in the decisive eighth after Peckinpaugh's home run had put the Senators back into the lead.

This terrific attack, with the youthful Cuyler and the veteran Max Carey as its foremost figures, was the chief factor in the downfall of Johnson and the Senators but in the final analysis it was also due to the fielding weakness of Peckinpaugh, whose two errors came at critical junctures of Pirate rallies in the seventh and eighth, as well as to the relief pitching of Ray Kremer, who held the Senators to one hit in four innings after relieving Morrison, and Rube Oldham, who blanked the former champions in the ninth, striking out Rice and Goslin in a flourishing finish that sent the big crowd on to the muddy field in ecstacy.

These were the high spots of a battle jammed with thrills from start to finish, the major elements of a struggle that flashed in relief against a murky, rain - drenched background while the champions of two major leagues fought it out for supremacy in the mud and a drizzling shower that fell almost continuously.

It was in such a setting that the Pirates, proving their mettle as daring rovers of the high seas of Forbes Field, battered out their third straight victory over the Senators, completing their startling come-back after it seemed their cause was hopeless.

Against the heaviest sort of odds and always fighting up-hill, the Pirates out-played and out-steadied their more experienced rivals in a closing rush that knew no obstacles. Perhaps it was due largely to the steadying influence of the veteran first sacker, Stuffy McInnis, for the tide turned when he first took his place in the line-up in the fifth game at Washington last Monday, but it was fierceness on attack that had the most to do with the victorious Pirate march.

Never before in world's series history where the decision has gone to the best four out of seven games has any team pulled out triumphant as did the Pirates. Back in 1903 in the first modern championship, the Boston Red Sox won four straight from the old Pittsburgh club after losing three out of the first four but that series was on a nine game basis and Boston could have lost one more while still winning out.

Here, however, the Pirates won the last three games with the knowledge that defeat in any one of them would mean elimination. While no more spectacular when all elements are considered it was an even greater come-back than Washington staged a year ago in taking the last two games from the Giants.

Today's battle was expected to be a duel between the two moundsmen, who had each won two games in the series, with Johnson and Aldridge seeking the victory that would give either imperishable fame and glory. But instead it turned out to be a free-slugging drama. Aldridge' wild and erratic passed out of the picture in the first inning after issuing three passes and making two wild pitches, while Johnson was battered for fifteen hits and nearly always in trouble The big train had held the slugging Buccaneers to one run and eleven hits in his first two games but he had nothing with which to check his opponents yesterday. His greatest speed held no terrors for the Pirates and his curves had no baffling stuff on them.

Johnson, however, courageous and gallant even in defeat, took his bitter medicine to the finish, while the Pirates used four moundsmen in their triumphant sally. Morrison, temporarily checking the Senators after relieving Aldridge, was withdrawn for a pinch hitter after Joe Harris had combed him for a double and driven in two runs in the fourth. Kremer, back after a day's rest, and Oldham, twirling the ninth, were the final choices the most effective ones, permitting only one safe blow, Peck's homer, in a stretch of five innings and holding Washington at bay while the Pirate bats were rampant.

It was apparent from the start that Johnson faced trouble but he might have pulled out the game had it not been for the damaging misplays by Peckinpaugh that figured largely in the Pirate offensives of the seventh and eighth innings. Hard and timely hitting, with Max Carey's bludgeon most prominent, gave the Pirates three runs in the third and another in the fifth, but their next big spurt in the seventh, started when Peck dropped Eddie Moore's high fly and their decisive rally came in the eighth, after a wild throw to second by the veteran shortstop with a third out in sight that would have prevented any scoring.

But for that bad toss to Harris on Carey's grounder, Peckinpaugh might have been the hero instead of the "goat" of the final game, for in the first half of the eighth he had driven the ball over the barrier in front of the score board for a home run that put the Senators into a 7-6 lead.

Peck's error in the seventh was followed by Carey's second double and a triple by Traynor, who was thrown out at the plate trying to stretch his hit to a homer.

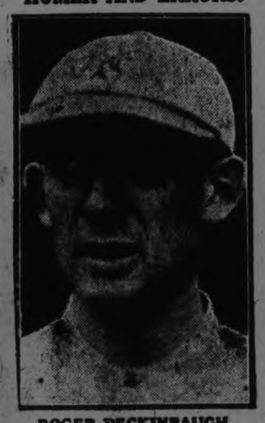
Two were out in the eighth before the Pirates got in motion again on a double by Earl Smith. This was the signal for a rush of Pittsburgh reserves, Yde replacing Smith on the bases and Bigbee going to bat for Kremer. There was a terrific roar as Bigbee's two-base smash scored Yde with the tying run and the din continued as Moore walked and was safe on Peck's high throw to second. Thus the bases were filled as Cuyler strode to the plate. Johnson, knowing it was the crisis, used every resource at his command. He called for sawdust to cover the quagmire in the pitching box. He worked the corners with his fast ball but with the count three and two, Cuyler swung and the ball streaked to far right field.

The tumult was at its height as four Pirate runners streaked about the bases. It was only partially stilled as the umpire called Cuyler back to second and Carey to third, ruling the blow a double, although the ball was not extricated from its tarpaulin resting place and returned to the infield until after Cuyler had dashed over the home plate.

This was the final of the Pirate drive. The Senators, for their part, had nothing to match it through the latter stages of the game. As a matter of fact, the Pirate margin of triumph would have been much wider but for the weird start they made in the first inning, when Aldridge's wildness, mixed with an error by Eddie Moore and detected piece of bat-tipping by Earl Smith on Peckinpaugh helped the Senators to score four times although making only two safe hits.

Thus the Pirates left the battleground decisively victorious from every angle, out playing their opponents in every department of the game, and beating down the strongest bulwarks of the Senators.

HOMER AND ERRORS.



ROGER PECKINPAUGH,
Washington shortstop, considered the most valuable player in the American League. He made a home run in yesterday's game. Against that he made two costly errors. He made a record number of errors in the world series.

ENGLISH LEAGUE CLOSE CONTESTS ARE ANTICIPATED

Sunderland and Newcastle United Will Engage in North Country Battle.

LONDON GAMES.

Arsenal Will Try to Improve Position at Expense of Cardiff.

LONDON, Oct. 16. — (Canadian Press) —A north-country battle is scheduled for the First Division of the English Soccer League to-morrow, when Sunderland, who again assumed leadership of the division by virtue of their victory over Bury on Wednesday, take a few minutes' train-ride northwards and engage Newcastle United for the first encounter between these teams this season. Few there be who will hazard a prediction with regard to the outcome of this contest, for these north-country fights are in a class all by themselves. To point to Sunderland's record is to recall among other things that they have been defeated by Manchester City, Aston Villa and Blackburn Rovers: to point to that of the United is to recall that they have lost and won to Blackburn, and have drawn with Aston Villa. Nothing in their previous performances can serve to furnish the fans here with any guidance for conjecture. The United have played only four games at home so far, and have won three of them, while of the five games that Sunderland have played away from home, they have lost three. This would indicate that the leaders figure themselves as having a disadvantage when not playing on their own ground, and that fact may redound to the benefit of Newcastle.

Two games are down for decision in the Metropolis to-morrow, one at Highbury and the other at Upton Park. In the former Arsenal play Cardiff City and in the latter West Ham are engaged with Sheffield United. Arsenal suffered a relapse last week when they dropped their game to Bury, and this trimming served to precipitate them down the ladder from second to fifth place. Prior to that they had done very well, succumbing only on a couple of occasions, to Tottenham Hotspur and Newcastle United. Cardiff's career this season has been chequered and the team have certainly not lived up to their pretensions, since they are the runners-up in the English Cup. It is difficult to find a basis for comparison between them, unless the fact that each club has played West Ham twice. Cardiff lost both games, while Arsenal won them. Cardiff are travelling in lowly company in the league standings. At that, however, they are slightly better off than the Cup-holders, Sheffield United, who travel to Upton Park. The United are far down in the cellar, their only victory this season having been registered against Birmingham two weeks ago. The Hammers' chances look bright.

The third Metropolitan club, Tottenham Hotspurs, travel to Old Trafford, where they will take on Manchester United. Of the two Manchester teams, the United have a better record than the City, and it is possible that their victory over Newcastle a week ago may have inspired them to continue in the winning direction. The 'Spurs' play has been excellent, but their disposition to take their opponents too easily has been their downfall before this, as witness their defeats from Cardiff and Bury. The United have the advantage of locale, and that may go a long way towards deciding the outcome.

A Midlands battle is slated for tomorrow at Villa Park, where the home team play Birmingham. Aston Villa leaped into leadership of the League last Saturday when they defeated Leicester City, but were overtaken again by Sunderland in mid-week. The Villae have not yet been defeated at home, their solitary trimming taking place at Old Trafford in their second game of the season when Manchester United took them into camp by three to nothing. Birmingham have been harder hit, having dropped five games in eleven.

SHEET METAL WON DE LAVAL SOFTBALL

Took Final Game From the Tool Room By Score of 9-6.

The final game of the De Laval Softball League was played at King Edward school grounds on Wednesday evening, the opposing teams being the Sheet Metal Department and Toolroom.

These two teams have played sparkling ball all season, the Toolroom being on top of the standing at the end, the Sheet Metal being a good second after beating out the Office team which was tied with them.

The game on Wednesday was a fast game and a big crowd was on hand to cheer their favourite team. The Sheet Metal Department eventually came from behind to beat the Toolroom by the score of 9-6.

The cup, emblematic of the De Laval Baseball championship, was presented to Mr. Fowler, captain of the Sheet Metal, at the close, by the secretary, B. Cutmore, who would have made a good speech but for the fact that he had left his notes behind.

Alex Kay kindly acted as umpire-in-chief, with G. Kennedy and R. Galbraith on the bases.

BRILLIANT SENATOR.

"Goose" Goslin, whose home run in the fourth game of the world's series, won for the Washington club.

PECKS POST MORTEM GETS HIM IN WRONG

Comments in Article Lead to Players Being Brought Before Baseball Commissioner.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 16 (Canadian Press) — Three Washington players, Manager Stanley Harris, Catcher Harold Ruel and Shortstop Roger Peckinpaugh yesterday were called before Commissioner Landis before the final game of the world's series started in regard to statements criticizing Umpire Moriarity in a story that appeared under Peckinpaugh's name. Moriarty was present.

After a lengthy discussion the Commissioner is reported to have demanded an apology. In case this was not forthcoming he is said to have promised some action on the player-writer matter.

The objectionable words, in an article on Tuesday's game are as follows:

"Ordinarily I do not blame any of our losses on the umpires, fearing that it will be looked upon as a cheap alibi. However, Umpire Moriarity yesterday missed one at a critical time which beat us.

"It came in the third inning when the Pirates made two runs. Moore opened with a walk and on Carey's grounder to me I beat Eddie to second by a full step, yet he was called safe. Naturally my arguments over the decision were just so much wasted words. Cuyler's sacrifice moved both runners along, one scoring on an infield out, and the other on Traynor's single, after Barnhart had grounded to Bluege.

"Had we got this decision—which we were entitled to—neither would have scored."

PIRATES REJOICE OVER VICTORY

World's Champions Behave Like Schoolboys Let Loose From School.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 16 (Canadian Press)—"Well, we had a pretty game ball club after all," said Bill McKechnie, Manager of the Pirates, when it was all over. "What can I say? We're over-joyed at the victory after coming back from Washington one behind, but after we started hitting Monday, didn't I predict that we would take 'em? Well, we did and there's not much to say.

"Johnson didn't seem to have much stuff out there today and the boys continued their clouting. Such hits would win any ball game."

Greetings poured in upon the leader of the Corsairs and he was the busiest man in the clubhouse. He had found no time to dress when the first of the champions of 1925, pounding each other on the back and yelling like school boys, left their lockers for the last time this year.

The greatest smile of all was on the face of the old gladiator, Stuffy McInnis, who carried on through rain and fair weather, his well-schooled brain urging the youthful Pittsburghers to tremendous deeds.

There were no hanging heads in the Washington quarters although there was a silence that bespoke disappointment. Manager Harris, foiled in his second attempt to gain world honors, only smiled and gave all honor to McKechnie and the men of Pittsburgh.

"It's only one of those things," he said. "We have a new champion, although we do not concede that they are any better than we are, any more than we thought last year that we were better than the Giants because we won. You remember we beat the Giants by playing the deciding game on the home grounds. I am confident that had we played the Pirates in Washington we would have won again."

The man who habitually kills time kills his own character, his own happiness.

JOHNSON DOES NOT PUT FORWARD ALIBI

"They Beat Us and I Guess That's All There Is To It.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 16 (Canadian Press)—The "Big Train" of baseball has been wrecked but will be back on the line within a few months.

While friends blamed slippery rails for the upset the "Train" himself, Walter Perry Johnson, of the Washington Senators turned from his preparations long enough to remark:

"It was as fair for one as the other."

He was sorry of course but his head was held high and at the age of 38 he looked forward to conquests on the diamond.

"I gave them all I had but it wasn't enough," he said. "My arm and my injured leg, wrapped in bandages, felt all right all the way. They beat us, and I guess that's all there is to it."

Pittsburghers gone wild again after sixteen years, became silent as baseball's great veteran left his quarters and went through the grand stand to his waiting car. Hand after hand reached to grasp his and many a time he was told: "We're sorry, Walter, that it had to be you."

So Walter Johnson left what may prove to have been his last world's series game, a vanquished pitcher receiving the honors of a conqueror, in a hostile city.

WORLD SERIES NOTES.

Roger Peckinpaugh broke all world's series records for the worst fielding in the big classic, making eight errors and breaking the marks of Hans Wagner who made six boots in 1903, and Joey Sewell, who ran up a string of six mis-plays in 1920.

Johnson bore down hard in the first two innings yesterday, but the Pirates were after his fast ball and they broke through with a barrage of hits in the third which sent over three runs and quickly shower that the speed ball king was not in his invincible form of last Sunday.

Carey was a constant thorn in Johnson's side. He maced him for three doubles and one single, and harried the Washington pitcher while on the base paths.

Ear' Smith did not help the Pirate cause any in the first inning when he tipped Peck's bat. Peck was given his base and a run was forced over the plate.

The Pirate pitchers' curved ball put the Senators out of the world's series honors. All through the seven games, the American Leaguers looked at little else but hooks and saw few fast balls of which they are particularly fond.

ACCIDENT MARKS FINAL WORKOUT M'GILL PRACTICE

Kick in the Back Sends Sullivan to Bed Suffering From Bruised Muscle.

NO INTERNAL INJURY.

May Yet Be Got Ready For Game Against Queen's on Saturday.

MONTREAL, Oct. 16—(Canadian Press).—McGill's training campaign for their opening Intercollegiate tussle of the season against the champion Queen's squad at the Stadium to-morrow has been concluded. The youthful band of footballers have been through practically four weeks of gridiron drill under the direction of Coach Shaughnessy, with the assistance of "Pep" Paisley and Dr. "Bones" Little, two former McGill captains and half-backs. This trio, aided from time to time by grads. who, in their days, starred on various Red and White squads, have taught the 1925 combination all the tricks of the game that they know—and now it is up to the players themselves.

The final heavy drill Wednesday afternoon ended under a bit of a cloud. Coach Shaughnessy had been particularly keen to avoid casualties in this last strenuous workout, but fates were against him and the team. Big "Tiny" Sullivan, snapback of the first squad, received a kick in the back which sent him to bed in the field house. At first it was thought that he might have suffered internal injury, but now it is believed he is only down with a bruised muscle and may be brought around in time to start against the tri-color.

In case Sullivan is not available, "Porky" Wright may get the call for the centre position. The absence of Sullivan would be a severe blow to the Red and White, as they are none too well fortified with good substitute line men, though they are reasonably strong in their regular front rank.

SCHOOL SOCCER CHAMPIONSHIP

Queen Alex and Queen Mary Meet at Oval—Kick-off at 3.15.

ALEX. KAY TROPHY.

The winners of Section A and B of the local School Soccer League meet on S turday afternoon for the Public School Championship at Nicholls Oval, for the Alex. Kay Trophy.

Queen Mary won four straight games in their league matches; while Queen Alexandra repeated the same performance in their schedule, and eliminated the champions of last year—Central—easily this season, but last year it took three hard fought tussles to separate them.

Kick-off is scheduled for 3.15 in the afternoon, at the Oval.

The well-known soccer fan and referee, Frank McKinley, has kindly consented to handle the whistle in this school championship match.

It is wonderful the great improvement the boys have shown in the recent encounters, as from last season. Some of the boys have a good knowledge of the rules and are beginning to show the scientific parts along with the occasional back-heeling and dribbling of the ball.

The public are cordially invited to witness this game and great praise is due the teachers who have encouraged the sport; also the relaxation afforded the youth after school hours.

Kick-off at 3.15 p.m.

TWO ARE DEAD; TRUCK HIT COW

Young Men Returning From Political Meeting Have Accident.

24 INJURED.

WATERLOO, Que., Oct. 16 (Canadian Press)—Two members of the party killed outright another not expected to recover, two more seriously injured but with chances of life, and twenty-one others more or less badly hnrt, was the toll exacted when a motor truck bearing twenty-six young men to this place from Granby, where they had been to attend a political meeting, struck a cow near Saxby's Corner, shortly after midnight. The dead are: Jules Gagne, 21 years of age, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gagne, of this town, and Adelard Gariety, 24.

It is expected that M. Duffault, who was very seriously injured, will not recover. Cut, bruises and a severe shaking up were experienced by other occupants of the truck.

There are more cattle in England to-day than there were before the war.

PRINCE OF WALES

Victoria Station was more elaborately decorated with flags and gay bunting than ever before in its history, and the picturesque Welsh Guards were drawn up at attention to greet the Prince, who is, their Colonel.

In spite of the fact that the general public was excluded from the station, it was crowded, and the train service in that section where the Prince's special train arrived was held up for a considerable time.

After formal greetings were finished, the King, the Prince of Wales, the Duke of York and Prince Henry drove out in an open carriage, to be met with tumultuous cheers by one of the greatest crowds that ever greeted Royalty in London.

In spite of a cold and drizzling rain, scores of thousands packed the streets through which the Royal carriage proceeded toward Buckingham Palace.

The Queen and other members of the Royal Family drove unostentatiously in closed cars direct to the Palace.

Enthusiastic cheering at Victoria Station, which lasted several minutes, was broadcasted by radio throughout England, giving those in the farthest points of the kingdom a chance to participate in the welcome. This cheering continued in great volume all along the route.

The Prince of Wales appeared bronzed and happy, but tired, although not too weary to greet the crowds with his famous smile.

HARRIS DEFENDS PITCHING CHOICE FOR FINAL GAME

Denies That He Pitched Johnson in Last Game Out of Sentiment.

JOHNSON CRITICIZES.

League President Casts Reflection on Great Pitcher's Ability.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16 (Canadian Press).—Denying that he had pitched Walter Johnson in the final world's series game at Pittsburgh yesterday for "sentimental reasons" Bucky Harris, manager of the Washington Senators declared on his return here early today that he considered criticism of his pitching selection by President Ban Johnson of the American League as a "reflection" on the Washington pitcher. Harris' statement was made in reply to a telegram sent to him by Johnson from Chicago, in which the league president tempered his congratulations for a "game fight" with the assertion that Washington lost the series because of "sentimental reasons" in pitching Johnson.

"Sentiment played absolutely no part in my decision to pitch Johnson," Harris declared in his statement. "He pitched wonderful ball. I regard it as a reflection on Walter Johnson to have such a thing said of him. President Johnson's remarks, if his telegram has been correctly quoted, are gratuitous and would have been better left unsaid."

THEATRES

AT THE GRAND.

"LUCKY 7" IS DUMBBELL'S LATEST.

At the Grand To-night.

The vivacity and versatility that made them from their very formation the cleverest entertainment troupe in Haig's armies, has not deserted the Dumbells.

Graced by the presence of such ever-popular favorites as Al. Plunkett, Ross Pamilton, "Red" Newman, Stan. Bennett, Pat Rafferty, "Jock" Holland, Ben Allen, Morley Plunkett, Glen Allan and Jimmy Devon, they will offer their latest and greatest success, "Lucky 7" at the Grand Opera House to-night and to-morrow.

The Dumbells are so firmly intrenched in the affections of local theatre goers that their engagements here have come to mean crowded houses at every performance. Relying on past records for his assurance of the future Captain Plunkett has increased his cost of production and weekly expense by over a third more than any preceding season and has adopted as his slogan "No empty seats" The management of the theatre and the box office staff are out for a new record this time.

AT THE CAPITOL

WHO KISSED BARBARA?

The cast:

Barbara Nichols, the bridesmaid, lithe, impulsive and distractingly pretty. Would much rather win a bet than lose it. Played by Miss May Perry.

Katherine Blake, the bride, Paul's sister. Slightly older than Barbara. Ordinarily a very sane and sensible person, but hardly to be held responsible under present conditions. Played by Mrs. Bingham.

James, the butler, enacted by Mr. Ted Crowe. He has been with the Blakes so long that he can express himself rather freely, but he also takes a good deal from them, especially the young fry.

Paul Blake, the best man, Katherine's brother. Romantic, boyish, and susceptible, keen for a joke, witty at times, distinctly eligible. He is cultivating a modest little mustache. Cleverly portrayed by Mr. Gaiger.

Horace Gregory, the groom, practical, efficient, but deeply in love just the same. We can imagine him, in a few years, a very much married man. Well acted by Mr. Fred Hudon.

Capitol Theatre, Oc. 19, 20, 21. Under the direction of Mrs. W. McKee-Bingham.

TOM MIX IN "THE LUCKY HORSESHOE."

One of the most popular figures on the screen today is at the Capitol Theatre for this week-end, in Tom Mix, star of "The Lucky Horseshoe." With his wonder horse, Tony, this actor is always sure of plenty of applause. Even his first appearance brings a volley of handclaps from his admirers in the audience.

The producers have used what is becoming a rather ordinary procedure, but always seems to be quite effective. They show one of the principal characters reverting back to another age and enacting a role which he might have played in times gone by. So Tom Mix works back in imagination and his thoughts are played out on the screen, to the merry times of Don Juan, ruffling it in Spain and acting as the judge for a beauty contest before carrying off the lady of his choice from her captors. The moated castles of bygone days are depicted in this scene, with men in armor guarding the damsel and her maidens, and Don Juan has a wonderful time rescuing her from the man who wants to marry her, and carries her off himself on his faithful steed. Eventually, of course, Tom reverts to present-day facts and tries to carry out the same role with the lady of his heart, taking her from a waiting bridegroom just in the nick of time.

Speed and action and romance abound in "The Lucky Horseshoe," which has the typical Mix atmosphere and goes over very well with its watchers.

There is a very clever Felix the Cat cartoon number this week, showing the vivacious little feline having a wonderfully brisk time, and there is also a good comedy creation, with plenty of laughs in the depicting of the troubles of Johnny Arthur as "The Tourist."—Jeannette.

AT THE ROYAL.

NOVELTY NIGHT AT ROYAL WENT OVER NICELY.

Last night being Thursday, Royal patrons expected something extra and were not disappointed. Sammie Harris put over "That Old Gang of Mine" with a new patter chorus, to good applause.

Little Miss Gilbert sang "How Do You Do," and little Willie and Marcelle Guinan made a hit with "No Wonder" and "The Pal that I Loved."

Harris had a new Remick illustrated hit, "Everyone's Asking For You." According to all reports, this song is becoming very popular in the United States, and deservedly so, as it is one of the best ballad fox trots we have heard.

Sid Lewis, a stock actor, who is a visiting friend of W. P. McGeachie, sang "Just a Flower From an Old Bouquet" and "Love Sends a Little Gift of Roses,"—and put over a line of funny chatter.

Mr. Lewis is in town until Sunday, and will appear again to-night.

"THE BEAUTIFUL SINNER" AT THE ROYAL.

A Well-Known Pair of Actors Do Great Work in New Presentation.

Eva Novak and William Fairbanks supported by George Nichols, Kate Lester, Carmen Phillips, Edward Borman and Carl Stockdale. This cast playing in the Perfection picture, "The Beautiful Sinner," made an exciting entertainment for the reviewer when he dropped in to see the picture. A detective tale full of incident was the subject of the picture. The Westervelt pearls were the subject of the thieves' latest plan. They were to have a dancer there during the reception and the dancer would be one of their own group. While entertaining the guests the rest were to steal into the library and make way with the gems. Their plan was frustrated by Avery, a young criminologist who was one man that the underworld feared. He had assisted the police on many a case and though they did not know it he was on this one. Just how their scheme worked out and how Avery was after a crook and found a girl to love instead the reviewer will refrain from saying since he recommends that the reader go and see it for himself.

Eva Novak and William Fairbanks are equal to their high standard in this picture in every way. The supporting cast has to step out to keep up to the tempo. The direction is by W. S. Van Dyke who has done good work for the producing firm of C. B. C. before.

KENNETH HARLAN IN HAMLIN CARLAND PHOTOPLAY OF THE FOREST RANGERS.

Kenneth Harlan is featured in "The Ranger of the Big Pines," the Vitagraph picture which will open on Monday at the Royal Theatre for a three-day engagement.

"The Ranger of the Big Pines" is the picturization of the novel, "Cavanagh, Forest Ranger," by Hamlin Garland, adapted to the screen by Hope Loring and Louis Lighton.

William Van Dyke directed the production, which is a Rocky Mountain romance of cattlemen and their loves and hates, of the old West and the new, of a ranger's sacrifices for the safety of his woods and the power of love over family pride and conventions.

The cast includes Kenneth Harlan, Helen Costello, Eulalie Jensen, Will Walling, Lew Harvey, Robert J. Graves, Eugene Paulette, Harvey Clark and Joan Standing.

Allan Thompson was cameraman for "The Ranger of the Big Pines," and the production is said to have some remarkably beautiful shots of the magnificent forests of the West.

ORCHESTRA PREPARES.

Professor Rupert Gliddon Directs Study of "In a Persian Market."

The Peterboro Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Professor Rupert Gliddon, is busily engaged in practising for a series of popular programmes to be given during the winter months. The orchestra has a personnel of about fifty members at the present time. One of the prettiest numbers is now being studied by the musicians, and is a new composition by Albert W. Ketelby, entitled "In a Persian Market." It is a descriptive number of the type that lends itself admirably to orchestration, and blends within it the approach of the camel-drivers, the cry for "back-sheesh" of the beggars, and the arrival of the beautiful princess carried by servants, and followed by a crowd in which the cries of jugglers and snake-charmers are heard.

HON. G. H. BOIVIN DENIES REPORT THAT HE REQUESTED PORTFOLIO FROM THE MEIGHEN GOVERNMENT

Minister of Customs Replies to Affidavit Read at Patenaude's Meeting.

RECEIVED AN OFFER.

Cites Hon. C. C. Ballantyne as Proof That Move Came From Conservatives.

MONTREAL, Oct. 17.—(Canadian Press).—"I know that for my friends and for the electors of Shefford my word is worth equally as much as the affidavit of Mr. Bernard, but I do not ask them to found their opinions simply on my assurance. Go and knock at the door of Hon. C. C. Ballantyne, who is still one of the devoted friends of the Conservative party, but whom I consider to be a man of honor. He will tell you that Boivin never rapped at the door of the Meighen Government to ask for a portfolio, but that it is the Right Hon. Arthur Meighen himself who, through an intermediary, knocked at the door of Mr. Boivin. Place the disinterested declaration of Mr. Ballantyne in the scale with the affidavit of Mr. Bernard, whom you know so well, and judge for yourselves whether it is Hon. Mr. Patenaude or myself who is right." This formal declaration was made by Hon. G. H. Boivin, Minister of Customs and Excise, as a reply to the incident arising at a recent meeting held by Mr. Patenaude where the latter read an affidavit, sworn to by L. P. Bernard at Waterloo, Que., last month, and wherein the statement was made that in 1921 Mr. Boivin had summoned Mr. Bernard to Ottawa and informed him that he (the Minister) was to receive a portfolio in Mr. Meighen's reconstructed Cabinet. Mr. Bernard's affidavit further set forth that he (Mr. Bernard) had advised both Mr. Meighen and Mr. Boivin, in conference, that Mr. Boivin could not be elected in Shefford as a Conservative supporter, and that following this announcement the matter of a portfolio for Mr. Boivin was dropped.

The Minister of Customs stated that it was Hon. C. C. Ballantyne who had called Mr. Boivin into concultation, together with Sir Robert

HONORS WON BY DR. N. H. SUTTON

In Four of Seven Subjects For Diploma After Taking Course in One Year.

Plans of the systematic examination of the milk supply of the cities, towns and incorporated villages in the district over which he has charge will shortly be put into effect by Dr. N. H. Sutton, District Officer of Health. The work will probably take up the most of two months, and in that time Dr. Sutton will himself visit the premises of milk producers supplying the people of the larger communities in the counties of Oshawa, Durham, Victoria, Northumberland, Peterboro, Hastings and Prince Edward. He will be accompanied by the sanitary inspectors of these urban centres which do not include Oshawa, Bowmanville, Lindsay, Peterboro and Belleville, where the inspection of the premises of milk producers has been established for some time.

It is understood that this district is the first in Ontario in which this work will be carried out to the extent contemplated by Dr. Sutton.

Dr. Sutton was recently notified by the Senate of the University of Toronto that he had passed successfully the examination completing the requirements for the Department of Public Health. Dr. Sutton took the course is specially helpful for public his examinations showed four first honors out of seven subjects. This course is specially heluful for public health officers, and is given under the Hygiene Department of the University of Toronto. Dr. Sutton will receive his diploma at the meeting of the University Senate in November.

BUILD BIG AIRDROME.

Finest Commercial Station in the World to be Near London.

CROYDON, Oct. 17.—(Associated Press).—A scheme, which it is stated will make the London terminal airdrome the finest commercial station in the world and which will cost nearly a quarter of a million pounds, has now been begun in earnest.

Much work will have to be done before the airdrome is complete. Trees and hedges are being removed and a road diverted in order to take in an adjoining stretch of land. When this additional ground becomes available the air expresses will have a clear unobstructed space of between two and three miles upon which to take off and alight.

Here's New Air Crisis Who Pays For Pink Teas?

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17. An entirely new aircraft controversy bobbed up yesterday with the conflicting roles assigned to Comptroller-General McCarl and Lieut.-Laclair D. Schulze, Army Air Service Officer, who acted as advance man for the world flight. Lieut. Laclair D. Schulze, Army for teas, dinners and other social events to pave the way pleasantly in advance of the globe girdling fliers. His g ranged from oil company representatives to Danish naval dignit es.

He submitted his expense account on the orthodox War Department form, but Mr. McCa disa proved the claim, holding it had no legal basis.

STRAIGHT FIGHTS OF OLD PARTIES IN 42 RIDINGS

Party Nominations in 82 Ridings in Ontario Ratified Next Week.

ONE ACCLAMATION.

Twenty Constituencies Have No Liberal Candidate—Sixteen Conservative-Progressive Battles.

TORONTO, Oct. 17.—(Canadian Press).—With all advance official nominations disposed of in Ontario and contestants for 7 of the 82 seats for the province in the next Parliament lined up, there remain official nominations to take place in 75 Provincial constituencies next Thursday.

Provided all party nominations made are ratified next Thursday, and assuming that there are no additions, there will be straight two-party contests between major party candidates in 42 of these 75 ridings, and three-cornered contests, or ones involving more than three candidates, in 14. In 20 of the constituencies no Liberal candidate has been nominated. The contest in 18 of these 20 will be between a Conservative nominee and a third party candidate, who in 16 ridings is a Progressive, in one an Independent Protectionist and in one an Independent Liberal. This is Russell, where Gordon C. Edwardes, the official Liberal nominee, withdrew, so that this may be counted as a straight fight between a Liberal and a Conservative.

Present indications are that there will be one acclamation, Col. W. F. Maclean, Conservative nominee in York South, nominating Dr. H. H. Kirby in Prescott.

APPROVAL OF PACT OF SECURITY OPENS UP A NEW ERA IN EUROPE

The Exulting Delegates Announce the Welcome Tidings Through an Open Window to the Waiting Crowd at the Palace of Justice.

WILL BE SIGNED IN LONDON DECEMBER 1.

LOCARNO, Oct. 17.—(Canadian Press).—European's great security conference ended last night in a victory for peace. At exactly 7.20 the European statesmen who made this victory possible threw an open window on the second floor of the Palace of Justice, and, rejecting decorum, announced to the waiting multitude that the Rhine pact and other treaties had been formally approved. One of their number held aloft the final protocol bearing the signatures of all the delegations as proof that the conference had succeeded in its mission.

Instantly the crowd gave vent to enthusiasm. Rockets were sent into the air, their balls of fire narrowly missing falling on the delegates. The appearance at the window of M. Briand, the French Foreign Minister, was greeted with prolonged cheering. When the British Foreign Secretary, Austen Chamberlain, came and waved his hand, the crowd clamored for a speech. Chancellor Luther and the German Foreign Minister, Dr. Stresemann, were acclaimed with no less fervor than their colleagues.

M. Briand's speech at the closing session of the conference, which adjourned with the understanding that the treaties will be signed in London December 1, was qualified by his colleagues afterward as the most brilliant effort of his long career.

Dr. Stresemann had spoken first. Summarizing the work of the conference and emphasizing that its success spelled a new era in European relationships, he declared solemnly that Germany would loyally live up to the peace pact. He made a discreet allusion to foreign occupation of the Rhineland.

In response Mr. Briand said that Locarno was not the end but the beginning of a new epoch—an epoch of co-operation and friendship. He gave unstinted praise to the noble ideals and generosity of the German statesmen who had originated the idea of fashioning security pacts for the maintenance of peace, and declared that the world would duly render homage to this happy initiative. He frankly took up Dr. Stresemann's allusion to the occupation, and made it clear that this occupation would be so reduced as to give Germany no cause for complaint or uneasiness.

TWELE HURT IN GREAT TORNADO

Kentucky Counties Were Swept By Terrific Storm.

HEAVY DAMAGE.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 17 (Canadian Press)—Twelve persons were severely injured, one perhaps fatally, houses unroofed, barns and farm dwellings destroyed, trees uprooted and telephone lines torn down when a tornado travelling at an eighty mile an hour rate swept the south central part of Kentucky late yesterday. The stricken region was virtually isolated. It is expected that the casualty list will amount to 25 and the property damage to tens of thousands of dollars. At least twelve towns were hit by the storm which swept over four countries.

Glaciers, although solid, flow like rivers, the center and surface moving nearly twice as fast as the sides, which are retarded by friction with the valley.

IINJURY TO NONE SAYS PREMIER

Would Safeguard Industries Against Unfair Foreign Competition.

MODIFY TARIFF.

LONDON, Ont., Oct. 17 (Canadian Press)—We wish to work injury to none" exclaimed Premier King last night outlining the government's policy on the tariff. "We want to further, as far as we can, the greatest good of the greatest number."

Mr. King described the working of the proposed tariff revision board. "We purpose as we take up the tariff," so he proceeded, "to take it up in the light of the advice given to us by the board. That advice will be available to the government. It will be available to parliament. We feel that guided by this experience and advice we should be able to work out such modification of tariff as may be necessary (either in the way of raising it in some place and lowering it in others to give us what we need in the way of revenue and also to give our industries what they need in the way of safeguarding them against unfair competition from other parts of the world.

"I have only one message to give. That is that beneath all policies, more fundamental than all questions of administration, is the great question of the unity of the country—unity between all parts of the Dominion and how best that unity may be maintained.

The tariff issue, Mr. King thought, might have been left altogether out of account in this contest.

ROSENEATH FAIR, SEASON'S LAST, MAKES NEW ATTENDANCE RECORD

Gate Receipts $300 More Than Best Previous Year —Weather a Factor.

BAND A FEATURE.

Fine Display of Horses, Cattle and Sheep—Afternoon of Races.

ROSENEATH, Oct. 16 — The $1500 gate receipts at the Roseneath Fair yesterday set up a new local record of about $300 in excess of the highest returns of other years. And as money is the universal criterion of material success, President A. Dawe and his ascoiate directors have attained a new level of progress for their Alnwick township exhibition.

Roseneath had kept the last of the fair dates in Central Ontario, and the weather generously favored them. The sweet calm sunshine of October was the biggest drawing card for the thousands of motorists who parked their cars about the grounds and cluttered the village streets. Later in the afternoon gray clouds drifted across the sun, deepening the haze of autumn that wrapped the hills of Northumberland in misty veils, and as the light winds fell their slight chill gave way to a comfortable warmth that denoted the approach of rain.

It was ideal Roseneath Fair weather that brought together town and country people from the extensive district between Peterboro and Marmora on the north to Cobourg and Belleville and Trenton on the south. Such was the social success of this exhibition, and on its practical side the results were almost as satisfactory. The display of horses, cattle and sheep was commended by the judges for both quality and quantity, and the house-

New Radio Station Links The Arctic With Civilization

OTTAWA, October 17. — The Arctic Circle now is in daily touch with civilization through the opening t the public of the most northerly commercial radio station in Canada. This station is at Aklavik, at the mouth of the Mackenzie River, 1300 miles north of Edmonton, and 125 miles beyond the Arctic Circle.

The new station, with others in the far north, is expected to prove of great value in the trading and transportation companies operating in the Mackenzie basin.

The country is rich in furs and there are evidences of rich mineral deposits. Oil wells at Fort Norman, 30 miles south of Aklavik, are already being developed.

LEVEL CROSSING DEATH AVERTED BY A FEW INCHES

C. N. R. Train Crashed Into Coupe on Whitby Street.

AUTO HIT POLE.

Body of Car Ruined—Driver Escaped With Cracked Ribs.

OSHAWA, Oct. 17 (Canadian Press)—A level railway crossing fatality was averted by inches this morning when the coupe in which Bob Hodgins was driving was crushed between a Canadian National railway train and a street pole near the uptown station in Whitby.

Hodgins was travelling west from Oshawa towards Toronto and when reaching the level crossing east of the main corners of the county town a train on the Whitby - Port Perry line of the C.N.R. came up from the south which the driver of the auto only noticed in time to swerve to the north to avoid going into head on and in doing so hit a street pole and failing to clear the path of the train the body and top of coupe were totally destroyed but all four wheels left in perfect condition while the driver himself although badly shaken up came through the accident with a couple of cracked ribs. Wreckage was shoved over into a nearby service station and later towed into Oshawa and all day the local young man has been receiving congratulations from his friends over his miraculous escape from instant death or fatal injury.

WINNIPEG, Man., Oct. 17. — (Canadian Press).—Convicted on a charge of stealing four beavers from the Zoo at Assinaboine Park here, Alphonse Gallagher, a Fort Garry dairyman, was yesterday sentenced to two years in Stoney Mountain Penitentiary.

The pets disappeared from the park enclosure several months ago. The discovery of beaver pelts on a drying rack behind a suburban home resulted in the arrest of Gallagher two weeks later.

A similar term was meted out to Max Susska on a burglary charge.

MANSLAUGHTER IS JURY'S VERDICT IN TRIAL OF MRS. ARTHUR JANISSE FOR KILLING CLAYTON M'MULLIN

HOPE HELD.

Count de Topor of Cromwell Hall, East Grinstead, Sussex, England, who for the past thirteen years has made the welfare of Canada his chief interest in life, expressed, in an interview recently, his firm belief that the future of Canada should give cause for nothing but optimism if Canadians will only have faith in their country.

Four Hours Were Required For Deliberation on Evidence.

NOT SENTENCED.

Husband of Woman Has Yet to Face Trial on Murder Charge.

WINDSOR, Oct. 17 (Canadian Press).—After considering the evidence for four hours, the jury at the Essex Assizes, at 8.15 o'clock last night, returned a verdict finding Mrs. Ruth Janisse guilty of manslaughter in the death of Clayton McMullin, a young battery service station proprietor and her self-confessed lover.

Sentence will probably not be imposed until after His Lordship Justice D. I. Grant has finished the hearing of the remainder of the long docket with which he has to deal.

When Arthur Janisse, husband of the woman, who occupies a cell not far removed from that of his wife, heard the jury's verdict, he contented himself with the remark "That's not so bad, it might have been worse." Janisse evinces less concern over his own case than that of his wife. He is to be tried also on a charge of murder, the Crown charging that he conspired with his wife to shoot McMullin.

JOINT MEETING HELD BY RIVALS

Messrs. Meighen and Leader Speaks to Constituents at London.

POLICIES ATTACKED.

LUNDAR, Man., Oct. 17. Canadian Press. — Right Hon. Arthur Meighen and Harry Leader, the two candidates for the Federal seat of Portage La Prairie, met on the same platform last night in a tiny hall in Lundar.

The Conservative leader had been billed to speak here as well as Mr. Leader and when it was learned that only one hall was available the two contestants agreed to a joint meeting.

Mr. Leader spoke first attacking Mr. Meighen's attitude towards the McKeown-Oliver order on freight rates. When Mr. Leader said that Mr. Meighen had threatened to restore the tariff on implements the Conservative leader said "Hear, hear."

Mr. Meighen referred to charges Mr. Leader had made that the Conservatives had delayed the work of Parliament. Referring in particular to the Petersen report, the Conservative leader declared that the objections raisd by the Conservatives had saved the country $13,000,000.

Mr. Meighen asserted that he had never heard anyone but a government supporter speak in favor of the contract.

Painleve confessed to his friends that all the ministers were greatly moved during the reading of the text of the pact which, as he declared:

"Brings once more within the statute on international morality that portion of Europe which throughout history has always been one of the chief causes of sanguinary strife—the Rhine."

SIR A. CURRIE'S CHEERY OPTIMISM

McGill Principal Sees Signs of Prosperity in Canada —Outlook Good.

VANCOUVER, B.C., Oct. 17. — (Canadian Press).—"In spite of all the murmuring and declamations of pessimism there seems to be peace and prosperity and happiness throughout this land," declared Gen. Sir Arthur Currie, Principal of McGill University, addressing a largely attended luncheon of the Canadian Club yesterday. His message was that if the qualities which made for Canada's great success in the war were applied to her general activities in peace, the troubles of the spirit with which she is unnecessarily beset would disappear.

WOMEN'S MEETING.

Business, Reading of Study Book and Duets Comprised Programme.

WELCOME, Oct. 17. —The monthly meeting of the Women's Missionary Auxiliary was held at Welcome parsonage on Thursday afternoon.

The president, Mrs. Ed. Martyn, had charge of the opening exercises and the business. The members have been divided into four groups and it was decided to leave the raising of the finances for the year to the efforts of the different groups.

Plans were made for an open meeting to be addressed by Miss Paul, a returned missionary.

Group B was responsible for the programme. Mrs. D. R. Clare took the chair. The devotional leaflet was given by Mrs. Little. Mrs. Scuthorpe and Mrs. W. Symons sang a very effective missionary duet. The first chapter of the new study book, "Building With India," was taken by four ladies, Mrs. Runnals, Mrs. Jones, Mrs. McConnell and Mrs. Arthur Lewis.

A reading, "Margaret's Might Box," was given by Mrs. Clare. Then the mite boxes were collected for the first opening of the year. Misses Florence and Ida Clare sang a duet, after which lunch was served by the ladies of Group B.

A marriage was solemnized between Miss Mary Best of Port Britton and Mr. George Hicks, of Corbeyville, at the Welcome parsonage on Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock. Rev. D. R. Clare officiated. Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Darke accompanied the bridal couple.

The bride wore a becoming gown of grey crepe de chine and black stain.

On Tuesday evening the friends and neighbors of Miss Best met at her home at "Willow Beach" and presented her with a gasoline reading lamp and some cutlery.

County Mayo Has Reduced Allowance For Teaching of Irish.

DUBLIN, Oct. 17.—(Associated Press).—The Technical Committee of County Mayo has reduced from 670 to 400 pounds the money provided for the teaching of the Irish language, and forecasts a further reduction next year.

Monsignor D'Alton who introduced the motion said that he knows mothers who threaten to withdraw their children from school if the teaching of Irish is not dropped. He declared that the spoken language is losing ground, even in districts where it was generally spoken till comparatively recently.

The Government recognizes this, but thinks it regrettable, and is taking steps in all directions to remedy it. Irish is now made a compulsory subject in the primary schools all over the country, and the Government has appointed a commission which is taking evidence as to the condition of the language in the Irish speaking districts and the reason for its decay. The chief reason is economic.

SWEDISH CROP HURTS U.S.

Breadstuff Crop Doubled Over Last Year—Reduces American Imports.

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 17.— The breadstuff crop in Sweden this year is more than twice as large as that of last year and the requirements for imports of American wheat flour will be correspondingly reduced. Not since 1921 has there been such a harvest. The greatest grains have been made in rye and wheat sown last fall. The unusually mild winter is believed to have been chiefly responsible.

The yield of rye has been more than sufficient to satisfy the country's normal needs and the calculated requirements for imports of wheat have been reduced from 339,000 tons in 1923 to 180,000.

MAYBEE SPOKE IN GRAFTON HALL

Conservative Candidate Was Greeted By Very Small Audience.

FARMERS BUSY.

COBOURG, Oct. 17 (Special)—There was a small attendance at the meeting held in the Town Hall at Grafton on Tuesday evening in the interests of the Conservative candidate, M. E. Maybee, in the riding of Northumberland. But this apathy on the part of electors does not confine itself to any one place or party, but seems to be quite general. Farmers are very busy at the present time and have little time to attend political meetings. Whether this is an indication that they consider conditions to be good enough as they are, remains to be seen. Mr. Wentworth Roberts ably presided as chairman, and the speakers, besides the candidate, were Hon. J. R. Cooke and Mrs. Thos. Bowman.

The candidate in appealing for support in his candidature claimed the King Government had been guilty of extravagance.

Mr. Cook dealt with the tariff issue and advised a high tariff for Canada as the country's greatest need and in fact this was a particular point in the Conservative platform emphasied by all the speakers.

Other Meetings

Mr. M. E. Maybee, the candidate of the Conservative party in Northumberland County, has arranged for a series of meetings to be held throughout his constituency as follows: Friday, Oct. 16, at Lakefort (Colborne Harbor); Monday, Oct. 19 at Burnley; Tuesday, Oct. 20, at Wooler; Wednesday, Oct. 21, at Trent Bridge; Friday, Oct. 23, at Campbellford; Monday, Oct. 26, at Cobourg; Tuesday, Oct. 27, at Roseneath and Harwood.

On Thursday, Oct. 22, Nomination Day, Mr. Maybee and his supporters will of course, be at Warkworth.

The Campbellford meeting, Oct. 23rd, is to be addressed by Hon. J. R. Cooke and Mrs. Howard Fallis. Mrs. Fallis will address the Cobourg meeting on October 26, and an outstanding man speaker will also address this meeting.

Wednesday, Hon. J. R. Cooke and Mrs. Thos. Bowman addressed a meeting at Colborne in Mr. Maybee's interests, and the same speakers were at Grafton on Tuesday night.

Mr. Slade's Meetings

Mr. F. J. Slade, Liberal candidate for Northumberland County, will hold his first public meeting in Cobourg during the present Federal campaign on Monday Oct. 19, at 8 o'clock in Victoria Opera House. The speakers are Hon. Geo. P. Smith, general manager of R. R. Dalley Co., Hamilton, formerly Minister of Education in Alberta, and a well known manufacturer. Addresses will be given also by the candidate and by Mr. Sam Clarke, M.L.A., and Mrs. (Dr.) Richards of Warkworth.

ROSNEATH FAIR

hold work classes were never so well filled as this year.

N. McAdoo of Kingston, who judged the light horses said that the competition was close and that the road horses were especially worthy of mention.

The chief attraction for many of the visitors was the band concert by the Cobourg Kilties. They are a well balanced concert band, producing splendid effects of harmony, and playing their lighter popular numbers with the verve and finish of professionals. The booths and games were numerous, and several near-gambling stalls were toned down to wheels of fortune by provincial plain clothesmen. Four booths run by sharpers who have been hovering about the Central Ontario fair circuit for the last month were opened here yesterday as Norwood, Mormora and other places, and their games of diminished chance were either wheels or roll-down devices. At Norwood the other day, the Hon. J. S. Martin, Ontario's Minister of Agriculture, advised the directors that even the roll-down games should be barred next year, and it is likely that the Department itself will adopt measures to shut them out.

The Roseneath directors are to be congratulated upon the improvements they have made in their grounds and plant. Their track was in fine condition. They blossomed out with a new office for their secretary, C. W. Varcoe, and there were other evidences of progress that speak well for the future extension of their facilities.

As usual the horse races filled in the afternoon for the track enthusiasts who were still crowding the rails at half-past fifive o'clock. The free-for-all resulted as at Norwood with R. Elmhirst's "Peter Direct" winning in straight heats from Stan Blewett's "Major Hal" and Eddie Jones finishing third with "Bub."

HAVELOCK HEARD DR. EMBURY TALK ON PARTY ISSUES

Two Other Leading Speakers Failed to Appear at at Meeting.

TEMPERANCE QUERY.

Refused to Bind Himself to Support Any Measure in Advance.

HAVELOCK, Oct. 17.—The first political meeting in the interests of Dr. A. T. Embury, Liberal-Conservative candidate for Hastings-Peterborough, was held on Thursday evening in the Town Hall. The two principal speakers were unable to be present, namely Mayor Mikle of Belleville, and Mrs. Bowman of Toronto. The latter being ill.

Mr. Isaac Barlow, chairman of the local Liberal-Conservative Association, occupied the chair.

The candidate was the first speaker called, and in opening said, it was his first appearance in Havelock on a public platform, and that he was the least acquainted with this section of the riding, owing to its size and the short time allowed in which to cover the territory.

He was seeking election as the standard bearer of the Conservative Party in the new riding of Hastings-Peterborough and was an opponent of the King Government and Progressive ideas. The election of Mr. King was an accident. During the time of war Mackenzie King could not have been elected to any English speaking riding owing to his opposition to conscription, but was chosen by Sir Wilfrid Laurier as his successor. Rt. Hon. Mr. Fielding would have been Ontario's choice but after the war, things were upset in such a manner that the people had no use for any government or any one connected with a government in power at war time.

Talks on Railways.

The doctor said he was district medical health officer for the Canadian National Railways and had come in contact with railway men, and that the C.N.R. employs a class of men that any country should be proud of.

There is a rumor afloat that Mr Meighen is in favour of amalgamating the C.N. Rys. with the C.P.R. Ry. and he denied that such was the case. The railway deficit was brought about by blundering politicians and an idea which prevailed among the people that Canada would have a population of thirty or forty million and thus require greater transportation service. The railroad problem was one of the hardest and most difficult problems that any government had to deal with.

Favors Revised Tariff.

He favored an upward revision of the tariff and believed that Canada should have a tariff that would protect the industries, especially of Ontario.

Taxes.

Owing to the decrease in the population of the cities the burden of the taxation would fall on the farmers.

In speaking of Mr. Brethen Dr. Embury said he was in a peculiar position, not knowing his opponent's politics, as Mr. Brethen holds himself free and does not bind himself to any particular policy, while he (Dr. Embury) had enough confidence in the old Conservative party to throw his lot in with them.

Temperance.

The next question that was dealt with was the temperance, and the following public reply was made to a communication from Mr. A. C. Denike, the secretary of the Temperance Union for this district, asking the candidate to pledge himself to support certain measures governing the sale of intoxicating liquors.

"It I am sent to Ottawa as your representative it will be as the mouth piece of the majority of the people of this riding and I am not going to tie my hands down to anything I amn not sure I can support. I will support any reasonable temperance legislation. I am as good a temperance man as I can be, and have never handled a drop of liquor in my drugstore, and do not intend to do so. I am not going to use the temper nec quention or the Church of God to put me into Parliament."

In closing Dr. Embury expressed confidence that Hon. A. Meighen would have the majority of the House, and he promised if elected to do all in his power to further the interests of Peterboro-Hastings, and the Great Dominion.

S. S. Joyce.

Mr. S. S. Joyce quoted the following figures to show the difference between the Australian tariff and Canadian tariff, according to the treaty made with Australia by Premier King:

Fresh and smoked meat — Australian tariff, 5c lb.; Canadian tariff, ½c lb.

Onions—Australian tariff, $1.50 cwt.; Canadian tariff, free.

Butter—Australian tariff, 6c lb.; Canadian tariff, 1c lb.

Eggs—Australian tariff, 18c doz.; Canadian tariff, free.

And if there was a farmer present who would support that kind of a tariff he was not working in the interests of his pocket-book. He also referred to hard times and the exodus of the young people to the U.S.A., claiming that all the material should be manufactured in Canada and employ our Canadian boys and girls.

It made no difference who was Premier if he will give the right kind of legislation.

He was also confident that Meighen would be returned and Dr. Embury elected with a majority of 1,500 or 2,000.

J. Kinnaird.

Mr. J. Kinnaird, the next speaker, took a firm stand against Premier King's policy. The main question to decide was the doctrine of Protection and he used the Guelph Iron Co. as an illustration of the ill effects of a low tariff. This factory is kept going sometimes one day and sometimes two knowing that if the Hon. A. Meighen is returned to power they will employ as many men as they did before the tariff was reduced.

The present government was causing a bloodless revolution. in the country, killing our industries, driving our citizens across the line for work, and lining up the unemployed in our cities in a bread line.

The speaker said he would like to say a few words to the railway men. He had been informed that at one time they could scarcely get rest; and to-day they were afraid to leave the house for fear of missing a call.

John A. Sexsmith.

Mr. John A. Sexsmith, ex-M.P., was next called, and expressed pleasure to again address a Havelock audience, and said he was asking the electors to vote "for a cause that would save Canada.

Mr. Sexsmith spoke at some length on the railway situation, tariff and the re-distribution bill, recalling the time when he had gone through a fight to save East Peterborough and pointed out that the party in power has always the majority on a committee. In the early stages of the committee an effort was made to keep the two Peterborough ridings together, and Mr. Brethen would put the blame on the Conservative party which is absurd, and when he had an opportunity on the last day, he did not take it.

Short addresses were also given by Mrs. John A. Sexsmith, Mrs. Wm. Vance, and Mrs. E. Mathison.

A short programme, consisting of selections by the orchestra, piano duet by Miss J. McMaster and Mr. Wallace Denike, and solo by Miss V. Davidson, was rendered between addresses.

BETTER SYSTEM NEEDED.

The controversy over the voters lists in some of the Toronto ridings will have served a useful purpose if it creates a demand for a more systematic and businesslike way of preparing these lists.

It is undoubtedly the fact that lists everywhere contain names that should have long ago been stricken off, the names of people who have died or have moved away.

In small communities where practically everybody is known this does not matter so much, but it can readily be seen that in large centres with thousands of voters on the lists the conditions make it possible for fraudulent voting and duplication.

It is said that on the local lists the name of one woman appeared in four different places—and she is not even living in Peterboro now.

The case, if as reported, argues for a less haphazard way of making up electoral lists.

DRAWING CONTESTS.

The Ontario Safety League with the help of members and contributors from all over Ontario, has subscribed to a special fund of $320 for cash prizes to be awarded in a school children's drawing contest, which the Examiner is glad to bring to the attention of local teachers and school pupils.

The contest, it is announced, will be open to the pupils of all schools in Ontario, and is to be divided into two classes—one for children of 12 years and under, the other for children from 13 to 16 years, inclusive—and the drawings submitted must deal with one of the following subjects: Accidents, fires, accident prevention or fire prevention

The full details, of course, will be sent to all the schools in the Province, and the Examiner, realizing the necessity of interesting the children in safety first principles, hopes that the school staffs will endeavor to have their pupils who have a talent for drawing take part in this competition.

The large number of accidents involving children shows the necessity of education along lines of accident prevention, and the Ontario Safety League's drawing contest should prove a novel and effective aid in a campaign designed to interest parents and children in safety first matters.

THE EVER-POPULAR DUMBELLS.

Canadian playgoers have the war to thank for one thing—the development of that most popular organization of entertainers, the Dumbells, which owes its origin to the desire of war-weary Tommies for entertainment behind the lines, and which ever since the end of the conflict has been pleasing Canadian audiences at home as it did the Canadian soldiers in France and Belgium.

Canadians like the Dumbells because they are Canadians themselves, home folks all of them, and men who showed their love for Canada by going out and fighting for her.

And they like their revues because they are clean, bright and snappy.

The suggestiveness of the average musical show of today is missing from the Dumbells performances—and Canadians enjoy the work of the former soldier entertainers all the better on that account.

Captain Plunkett and his men occupy a place in the affections of the theatregoers in this country that is unique as the crowded houses for the present visit of the Dumbells most effectively testify.

HARD ON THE LEADERS.

A contemporary, pointing out that the two Presidents of the United States immediately preceeding Mr. Coolidge practically killed themselves by the immense burden of public service they attempted to carry, sounds a warning to Canadian political leaders, and asks if the game is worth the candle.

There can be no denying the fact that both Premier King and Mr. Meighen must be undergoing a tremendous nervous and physical strain as a result of the exertions they are making in the present campaign.

Both have travelled down to the Maritimes and then west to the Pacific Coast, and are now working back over the Dominion, the Premier having reached Ontario and the leader of the Opposition halting for a short time in Manitoba.

They have made two or three speeches daily—Mr. Meighen is announced as having made seven on Thursday in Manitoba—for the past month, have travelled thousands of miles, had to meet thousands of electors, keep in touch with the developments of the political situation throughout the Dominion, and use what little time is left to get rest enough to be fresh for the next day's campaign.

It is strenuous work—and neither leader is showing any tendency to save himself.

PARENTS AND TEACHERS.

Are parents as interested in education as they should be? asks the St. Thomas Times-Journal. Do they watch and encourage the children in their studies? A few do, but the majority are indifferent. They send their children to the schools and, unhappily, that is the end of their responsibility. Few ever enter a school room, few ever come into personal relationship with the teacher. This is a bad sign of parental interest. City life is so full of activity, so absorbing the business and social life, that the little folks are left to themselves, to worry along at school without encouragement and without knowledge of their progress. True, the reports are scanned and signed, if they see them, but few take any direct personal interest in the plans of the teachers or of the Board of Education.

The home and school clubs, an organization of parents, chiefly mothers, is doing something to change conditions, and for this they are entitled to support and commendation. In New York, for example, there is a United Parents' Association, which has demonstrated its interest in the question of education by sending out fourteen suggestions. Some of these suggestions may seem commonplace, and yet it is the sum total of ordinary things which make up the solution of what is regarded by the association as a serious problem. Here are some of them:

Arrange the breakfast and lunch hours so that there is no rushing at home or at school.

Encouraging punctuality and regular attendance, not permitting trifles to interfere.

See that the children are dressed simply, neatly, modestly and suitably in accordance with the weather.

Insist upon children under 14 having at least ten hours' sleep.

Find out how much time should be devoted to home work, and see that it is faithfully done.

Provide a quiet place for home study, with good light and ventilation. Prevent interruptions as far as possible.

Show an interest in the children's school work, athletics and other activities.

Visit the class-room during Open School Week and at other times for a better understanding.

Do not criticize the teachers or school at all within the children's hearing. Always hear both sides of every question and ask the teacher about it.

Instill in the children habits of obedience and respect for authority.

Picture the school as a happy, desirable place rather than as one children should dread.

LABOUR AND MACHINERY.

The delegates attending the convention of the American Federation of Labour in Atlantic City after considering for twenty-four hours the report of a theory of wages presented by the Executive Council adopted it unanimously.

The suggestion of a scientific basis for the adjustment of wages, indicates that the labour unions are beginning to recognize the existence of economic principles which must lie at the base of the relation between employer and employed.

The Council proposed that the Federation declare as a policy that wages be increased and the working day be shortened in proportion as the development of labour-saving machinery and water power increase industrial productivity.

There was a time when labour fought the introduction of machinery. The protest of the English weavers in the early part of the last century against the introduction of the power loom fills a long chapter in the history of the industrial revolution brought about by the invention of machines to do the work once done by hand. The seamstresses who fought the sewing machine on the ground that it would take the bread from their mouths made a valiant but a losing struggle. When the typesetting machine was invented, however, the printers, who constitute one of the most intelligent groups of workmen, adjusted themselves to the new method of composition. The machine, instead of throwing printers out of work, has increased the number employed, for it has made possible the publication of larger newspapers. In the days of hand composition an issue of the Evening Public Ledger of fifty-two pages, such as appeared one day last week, would have been virtually impossible.

The history of the last hundred years has proved that labour-saving machinery benefits the workman in the long run. It reduces the cost of nearly everything that he has to buy and thus indirectly raises his wages But there is usually some suffering caused by the change from hand work to machine work. The clothing workers of Rochester were confronted with this possibility some time ago when machines for pressing garments were introduced. The hand pressers objected in spite of the offer of the employer to pay them their old wages while running the machines. They said that he would train other men to work the machines and pay them lower wages, while the skilled hand pressers, who had devoted years to learn their trade, would be turned out. A compromise was reached, but the problem was not solved.

Now, the Federation of Labour proposes that when machinery is introduced which increases the productivity of a man the rule should be laid down that he should share in the profits of that increase. Matthew Woll, the Vice-President, was opposed to the indorsement of the suggestion. "The less theory we have the better," said he; "theory often leads nowhere, and the crude judgment often gains more." He was apparently overruled. There is a group in the Federation which insists that successive increases in wages shall be demanded until labour receives everything. The Federation as a whole, however, while recognizing the partnership between the employer and the employed, holds that the employee does not get his proper share of the profits.

The most causual study of the progress of the machine age discloses the increasing prosperity of the workingmen. The power saw and planing mill have not driven the carpenters out of work, nor have they reduced their wages. An American carpenter today gets a wage that would have been regarded as a reasonable income for a professional man seventy-five years ago. Machinery has brought within the reach of the workingman luxuries which he could not have afforded in the day of hand work. He has really been getting, both directly and indirectly, a share of the benefits of machinery. Why, the machines that Henry Ford has invented for use in his factories have brought the motor car within the reach of almost every one.

If the labour unions can agree on an equitable theory for the adjustment of the wage scale, some progress will have been made toward the elimination of strikes and industrial peace will loom above the horizon.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

The fact that the verdict given by Canada on October 29th may stand for four years is the best possible reason why you should vote.

The Cobourg Sentinel-Star complains that the campaign in Northumberland is dead. The neighboring riding of Durham has no complaint to offer on that score.

The Financial Post calls Miss Agnes MacPhail as a successful candidate. If the Post is right, Canada's only woman member of Parliament will get a chance to remedy the mistake she says she made in not taking her full sessional indemnity.

FROM MR. BURNHAM

To the Editor of The Examiner;

Sir.—Letters and kind words from ministers and others thanking me for my letters in The Globe and The Examiner concerning the great struggle between Fundamentalism or the Old Faith and Modernism or the New One, induces me to ask you for a little further space to refer to one of the utter fallacies of Modernism.

Modernism does not believe that there is any revelation by God of Himself to man, but that what man learns of God he finds out himself through his own reason. This would mean that those who cannot reason to God cannot have Him, and that both God and Heaven are dependent upon what the reasoners think about them which of course means that there may be no such thing as either.

Fundamentalists believe that God has Himself revealed Himself and the future life to man and has given him His directions and commandments for man's guidance.

In the one case "the assurance" to the human soul comes from God; in the other from man!

Who could be a Modernist?

Is it any wonder that the head of American missions in China says that Modernism has wrecked Christianity there as here?

A HUMANE CREED.

To Editor of Evening Examiner.

I believe in a vital relationship between man and the animal world, and that the Golden Rule should be applied in dealing with dumb creatures as well as human beings.

I believe that a sense of justice, mercy and sympathy for the suffering of any creature is the foundation of human character and evidence of the divine quality of man.

I believe that the finest civilization recognizes man's responsibility to minister to the needs of the lower animals, seeking to increase their happiness.

I believe that common humanity should outlaw all deliberate cruelty and unnecessary abuse of dumb creatures.

I believe that animals killed for food, for clothing or because of being pests should be dispatched with the least pain possible.

I believe that unkindness or cruelty is a type of selfishness which leads to disrespect for law.

I believe that education, in the fundamentals of kindness, is essential in the training of the child in the home, the school and the church.

I believe that man partly demonstrates his fitness for heaven by the manner he feels towards God's creatures.

Why should not anti-cruelty laws be as faithfully enforced by all police officers in any city as the laws against theft and drunkeness and disturbing the peace?

A THOUGHT.

"IT ISN'T LOADED."

Almost since the discovery of firearms "It isn't loaded" has taken its toll in accidental deaths, and, in spite of all the warning propaganda, still continues.

Only the other morning I read of a boy who came home from a vacation in the West, and, in showing his mother his automatic pistol, accidentally shot and killed her. Imagine that terrible feeling of tragedy of having killed one's own mother. Imagine having the thought follow you through life that through your own criminal carelessness you have deprived yourself of one of the greatest gifts on earth.

"It isn't loaded," like "Stop, Look and Listen," forces humanity to pay a stiff price for negligence, and yet it seems that no two faults of humans have been given greater and more forceful publicity.—The Silent Partner.

CATTLE, GRAIN AND PRODUCE

Peterboro—Toronto—Montreal
Winnipeg

MONTREAL MARKETS

MONTREAL, Oct. 17 (Canadian Press).—There was some enquiry from New York houses for wheat in the local grain market yesterday and bids of 6 3-4c per bushel over the Winnipeg October option, c.i.f. were made for No. 3 Northern with sellers asking 7c over. Business in ocean grain room was reported slow. The trade in cash grain in the domestic market was quiet but the undertone was steady.

There was no actual change in the condition of the local flour situation. The tone of the market for winter wheat was firm.

A fair volume of business was done in most lines of millfeed and the market was moderately active with a steady undertone. The movement in standard grades of rolled oats was fair and prices were unchanged.

Beans were quoted at from $2.40 to $2.50 per bushel.

There were no new developments in the local egg situation yesterday, prices for all grades being fully maintained with a fair amount of business passing in a wholesale jobbing way, but the trade in car lots was reported quiet owing to the fact that dealers generally have ample supplies on hand to meet their requirements, but apart from this the market was moderately active. The receipts Thursday were 1,893 cases, as compared with 2,997 for the same day last week, and 1,433 for the corresponding day a year ago.

The feature of the potato trade was the further strength that developed in the market owing to the small shipments from the interior and the light supplies on spot with the result that prices scored another advance of 15c per bag for Quebec varieties. The demand from local buyers was good.

The receipts of butter in Montreal yesterday were 1,190 packages, as compared with 2,093 for the same day last week, and 2,719 for the corresponding day a year ago. A firmer feeling prevailed in the local butter situation, which was attributed to the stronger cable advices noting an advance of 6s. per cwt. in the price of New Zealand butter in the English markets, but there was no demand from that source for Canadian creamery butter, and in consequence business in an export way was quiet. There was some trading in the local market, but the volume was small and prices were unchanged.

The receipts of cheese yesterday were 9,942 boxes, as against 6,286 for the same day last week, and 7,732 for the corresponding day a year ago. The demand from foreign buyers for supplies was steady, and as the prices bid in most cases were satisfactory, some further sales were made, and the undertone to the market at the close of the day was reported firmer.

STERLING EXCHANGE

Sterling cables, $4.83.
Sterling demand $4.83 1-2.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, Oct. 17.—Shipments of cattle bulked up fairly heavy this week at the Union Stock Yards, with receipts of over 8,000 head. Nearly a third of the supply, however, were stockers and feeders, and there were, therefore, not too many butchers. Sters and Maybee were smaller exporters this week, and did not buy much over 500 head on the market. Heavy steers and heifers were lower by 10 cents a cwt., and in cases this extended to 25 cents a cwt. The top for steers was $8.20, for heifers $7, and export bulls were $4.75 to $5.50 a cwt.

There were few, if any, choice handyweight butchers for sale, and the top on this class was $6.75 a cwt. Good butchers sold from $6.25 to $6.50 a cwt medium butchers 35.25 to $5.75 a cwt, and common butchers were $3.50 to $4.50 a cwt. Baby beeves were well bought from $9 to $12 a cwt., and more could have been sold. Butchers' cows were fully steady. Choice cows were up to $5.50, good cows $4.25 to $4.75 and medium cows $3.50 to $4 a cwt. Canners and cutters were unchanged.

The lamb section was congested with feeders both western and domestic, were not all sold up till Thursday, but prices were somewhat firmer, and good breedy 800 to 900 cattle went up to $6.25 a cwt. Small 500-lb. steers and heifers sold from $4.25 to $4.75 a cwt. The milchers and springer trade was not too good, and cuts were made to effect sales. The exporters will need about an average number next week, and there will be a steady demand for any good to finished handyweight butchers. Cleaning up grass cattle will likely see bigger supplies of poor butchers.

Late in the week calves felt the loss of support from Buffalo buyers and prices dropped 50 cents to $1 a cwt. Choice calves still hover around 13 cents, good calves are selling up to 12 1-2 cents, mediums up to 10 1-2 cents and common calves are 7 to 8 1-2 cents a pound. Grassers are good for from 4 1-2 to 5 1-2 cents a pound.

The lamb section was congested with shipments on Monday and the price was dropped a full 25 cents a cwt. Prices remained steady after this and the market closed on good ewes at 12 to 12 1-2 cents a pound. Sheep are a little easier with choice handyweight tops at 7 1-2 cents.

Hogs are down 25 cents for the week, with the close at $12 a cwt. f.o.b. Packers are not bidding better than $11.75 a cwt fo.b. for over the week-end shipments.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK

CHICAGO, Oct. 17 (Canadian Press).—Cattle receipts 4,000; fat steers unevenly lower; clearance poor; stockers and feeders weak, unevenly lower; best matured steers offered 13.00; bulk short fed 9.00 to 10.50; odd lots Western grassers 7.25 to 8.50; she stock steady to weak; bulls and vealers fully steady.

CHICAGO WHEAT

CHICAGO, Oct. 17 (Canadian Press).—Drought in Australia and rain in Canada sent the wheat market soaring yesterday as much as 4 1-8c a bushel, but the flight became more rapid than a majority of traders were ready for, and a sudden reaction developed near the finish. Wheat closed nervous at 3-8 to 1 5-8c net gain, new style, December 144 3-4 to 144 7-8, and May 143, with corn 1-4 to 1-2c up, oats at a shade to 1-8c advance and provisions varying from 15c decline to a rise of 25c.

Persistent lack of rain in two of the largest wheat growing districts of Australia were reported in some of the advices current here as having already caused early sown wheat to deteriorate to the extent of 50,000,000 bushels, although copious moisture would yet save the situation, it was said. Meanwhile, 115,000,000 bushels to 150,000,000 bushels of grain, mostly wheat was represented as being still unharvested in Canada and being damaged by adverse weather. Furthermore, Russian shipments came smaller than expected, and Argentine shipments also showed a substantial decrease.

Official announcement that Argentine wheat acreage this season is the largest recorded, 15,000,000 acres, was more or less of a factor in the late downturn of wheat values. Besides, an increase of 1,600,000 bshls. in the world shipments for the week was also a bearish influnce prior to the close. Another of the interesting developments at the last was that the price differences between Chicago new December wheat and Winnipeg December had widened to 24 cents as compared with 21 cents the day before.

Corn and oats paralleled the action of wheat. Upturns in corn value were partly due to wet weather unfavorable for conditioning the new crop.

In line with hogs and grain, the provision market was firmer.

OPEN LETTER NO. 23

RT. HON. W. L. MACKENZIE KING,
Prime Minister and President of the Privy Council,
Ottawa.

Dear Sir:

It is a comparatively simple matter to determine for any particular year—if not accurately, at least approximately—what proportion of our total agricultural production is marketed at home. Our trade returns itemize the exports; your Dominion Bureau of Statistics gives us an estimate of total agricultural revenue that it assures us is fairly dependable. Subtracting one from the other, the remainder must represent the value of what was consumed by the home market—always on the supposition, of course, that stocks on hand at the end of the year would be offset by stocks carried forward from the previous year and sold within the year

For the following calculation I have taken the latest figures reported in the latest edition of your Canada Year Book. The export figures (unrevised) are for the fiscal year ended March 31st, 1924, and the production figures are for the nearest corresponding period, viz., the crop year 1923. In computing exports I have taken the totals by classes of products, as shown in the volume referred to, stating in general terms what all is comprised within each class and deducting those items that are not the production of Canadian agriculture.

TOTAL EXPORTS, 1924, OF AGRICULTURAL AND VEGETABLE PRODUCTS—including fresh dried and preserved fruits, grains, flour and milled products, bakery products and prepared foods, vegetable oils, tobacco, fresh and prepared vegetables, maple syrup, maple sugar and miscellaneous, but excluding rubber, sugar (other than maple), molasses and confectionery as products not of Canadian agricultural origin also excluding alcoholic beverages whose export value is out of all relation to the value of the agricultural products used in their production..... $394,407,246

TOTAL EXPORTS, 1924, OF ANIMALS AND ANIMAL PRODUCTS—including live animals, hides and skins, leather, fresh meats, cured and canned meats, milk and its products, oils, fats, greases, eggs, honey and miscellaneous, but excluding fish, fish oils, seal and whale oils, and furs, other than black and silver fox skins, as products not of agricultural origin..... 91,939,306

TOTAL EXPORTS, 1924, OF FIBRES, TEXTILES AND TEXTILE PRODUCTS—including all wool and woollens, also flax, jute and hemp products, but excluding binder twine, manufactures of cotton and silk, manufactures of mixed textiles and certain kinds of wearing apparel, as products not of Canadian agricultural origin..... 2,747,573

Grand total exports, all kinds of farm products..... 489,094,124

In the above calculation, I have tried to leave no room for the charge that I have done the farmer's export market less than justice. It is possible that some of the exports of confectionery I have deducted were the product, not of imported cane sugar, but of sugar made from beets grown in Canada; if so, the proportion would in any event be small, because the great bulk of our sugar is of cane origin. And certain it is that agricultural production should be credited with some small share of the $14,854,175 worth of alcoholic beverages exported.

But, as off-setting these and similar considerations, it is to be remembered that the values at which many of these exports are carried are not the values of the commodities as they came off the farm, but the enhanced values they have acquired in the process of manufacture. To mention only a few of the more important items, agriculture is given the entire credit for the export of $62,783,118 of wheat flour, $6,364,989 of manufactured and unmanufactured leather $18,113,755 of bacon and hams, $5,070,691 of butter, $23,426,282 of cheese and $5,577,265 of condensed milk. With this explanation it should be apparent that I have preferred to err on the side of over-estimating, rather than under-estimating, the importance of the farmer's export market.

Now the gross agricultural revenue of Canada for 1923 is given as $1,342,132,000. Deducting grand total exports, all kinds of farm produce, of $489,094,124, it leaves a balance of $853,037,876 to represent what must have been consumed by the home market. In other words, making out the best possible case for the export market, it took only 36 1-2% of our farm production; the balance, 63 1-2%, was consumed in Canada!

The reason some people have an exaggerated idea of the importance of the export market for farm produce is that they have looked at it solely from the standpoint of wheat! It is true that we export in one form or another about 75 per cent. of our entire wheat crop. We reserve 10 per cent. of it for seed, so we don't consume, as food, more than 15 per cent. of it in Canada. But the wheat crop, important and all as it is, represents only about one-fourth of our total annual agricultural production, and it is only when we take into account what becomes of the other three-fourths that we can arrive at a true estimate of the value of the home market to the average Canadian farmer!

Yours respectfully,

J. J. GIBBONS,
President.

LI'LE OLD NEW YORK LOSES ITS GLAMOR

Hamilton Boy Found No Attraction in Bright Lights When Stomach Empty.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—(Canadian Press). — Fifteen-year-old Archie McFadyen, who left his home on Rosslyn Avenue, Hamilton, Ont., four weeks ago, "because he tired of the local scenery," is on the way back to his family, and "glad of it." A pair of swollen feet and the experience of how it feels to be hungry are all that he acquired during his month's roamings.

When Archie shook the dust of Hamilton from his shoes in September he progressed toward New York by various means, but mainly on foot, he said. His travels brought him through Kingston, Montreal, Quebec and Albany, and after three weeks of tramping, he reached "the Bright Lights" which he yearned.

"The lights don't look so good, however when your hungry," Archie told officials of the Children's Aid Society when he appealed to them for aid. He had tired of sleeping in hallways and eating nothing, he said.

The Children's Aid communicated with Archie's father and he was put on a train last night with Hamilton, home, a bed and food, as his first stop.

DROP 6 CHARGES LAID AGAINST FRUIT DEALERS

But Accused Still Before the Court on Ten Other Counts.

COMBINES ACT.

Fifty-three Men Involved in Alleged Breaches of the Law.

VANCOUVER, B.C., Oct. 17.—(Canadian Press.—Prosecution of fifty-three Western Canadian fruit dealers on six charges for infraction of the Combines Act, 1923, was abandoned in Assize Court yesterday.

"I got in touch with the Attorney-General of Canada and pointed out to him that there was no appeal from Your Lordship's judgment on the constitutionality of the Combines Investigation Act," said Mr. J. C., McRuer, Crown counsel, to Mr. Justice D. A. Macdonald.

"I pointed out to him the undesirability of leaving the matter in that position and that there remained in the indictment other charges substantially like those under the Combines Act. As far as the prosecution is concerned, we are willing to withdraw the charges under the Combines Act from the indictment.

"Your Lordship can strike them out, so as not to embarras Your Lordship, my learned friends and the Attorney-General of Canada."

Mr. McRuer formally moved that counts 11 and 16 inclusive, which had been preferred under the Combines Act, be struck from the indictment and that the final trial proceed on the remaining ten charges.

OCCUPANTS SLEEP BURGLARS PLUNDER

Intruders Stole Money From Trousers Hanging on the Bedposts.

OSHAWA, Oct. 17 (Canadian Press)—At an early hour yesterday morning, burglars entred the home of Mr. and Mrs, Oke on Bloor Street here and while the occupants of the house were sleeping, stole $20 from the trousers of Mr. Oke which were hanging on the bedpost and then entered the room of a boarder and relieved the slumberer of $50. During the operations of the intruder he was compelled to reach over Mrs. Oke to where her husband's trousers were and for those of the boader, the burglar was compelled to walk from one room to another and around the bed. Mrs. Oke of Toronto who is visiting with the Oshawa family had a light burning in her room all night, but same failed to unnerve the burglar who had gained an entrance through a door left unlocked.

DOCTOR HAD ISSUED TOO MANY SCRIPTS

Did a Brisk Business in Spite of a 50c Rise in His Fees.

LINDSAY October 17 (Special) The Ontario License Department has again found it necessary to curb the activities of local doctors in issuing liquor prescriptions. Lindsay had a provincial-wide reputation for the indiscriminate manner in whch scripts were issued to the thirsty ones with the result that twod octors were disciplined and were deprived of the privilege of issuing the much sought after forms. A few days ago another local doctor received notice that he had been deprived of this privilege.

According to reports the said physician had tacked on an additional fifty cents to the cost of the scripts. The authorities claim that in spite of the additional increase in fee, he appeared to be doing a lively business.

King Reads the Bible Daily Translations Now Total 835

LONDON, October 17.—"King George has let it be known that he reads a chapter of the Bible every day of his life," Rear Admiral A. R. Emdin said in a speech at a "Bible and Empire" demonstration held at Wembley under the auspices of the World Evangelical Alliance. Admiral Emdin's speech was a condemnation of Bolshevism on account of its rejection of the Bible.

The Bible has been translated into 835 languages, according to a chronological list of translations made by Dr. R. Kilgour, Superintendent of the translating and editorial department of the British and Foreign Bible Society. In 1804 the Scriptures were available in only 72 languages.

'MAGNETIC POLE' 'WOBBLING' SAYS VETERAN SAILOR

Captain Bernier Tells Radio Men of Experiences in Arctic Exploration.

TWENTY-ONE YEARS.

Greenland Eskimos Are Civilized—Have Own Parliament and Newspapers.

MONTREAL, Oct. 17.—(Canadian Press).—Captain J. E. Bernier, commander of the Canadian Government steamer Arctic, and one of the oldest sea-captains in the world still on duty, being nearly 74, yesterday told a gathering of radio men at luncheon that the Eskimos of Greenland are five hundred years ahead of other Eskimos, having their own parliament and newspapers. It will be a very long time, he said, before Canadian Eskimos reach this advanced stage.

The veteran skipper, who has circled the world twenty-seven times and dropped anchor in practically every port, described the many trips he had made to the frozen north during the last twenty-one years, explaining that each of these expeditions usually lasted fifteen months, during which time he and the members of his party travel from island to island, covering approximately 4,700 miles.

The addition of a radio to the ship's equipment, he said, was an inestimable boon to everybody, enabling them to hear concerts and so forth while hundreds of miles north of the Arctic circle, "shut away from the world by leagues and leagues of snow and ice."

Captain Bernier said he believes the magnetic pole is "wobbling," owing to "the changing of the earth's centre." He explained that millions and millions of tons of ice were constantly changing position and, the world being a ball, he did not see how it could fail to affect the Poles.

AMERICAN TOURIST SEASON WAS RECORD

Figures Show an Enormous Yearly Increase Throughout the Dominion.

WINDSOR, Ont., Oct. 17 (Canadian Press)—Figures obtained today from customs offices at border points indicate that practically twice as many American tourists visited Canada through these gateways this season than the number who entered the same ports in 1924.

The figures show that the tourist traffic is increasing yearly by leaps and bounds in the Dominion.

Approximately 25,000 permits of the thirty days variety were issued at Windsor and Walkerville customs offices, the records show. In addition there were hundreds of permits handed out to United States citizens for a prolonged stay of upwards of six months.

Street Railway Company Makes Parking a Business

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 17.—The Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company, which controls all the street car lines in Philadelphia, has gone into the automobile parking business. It announced that for 25c it will give motorists the privilege of parking all day at the western terminus of its subway and elevated lines.

The parking plan of the company will benefit the suburbanites, who would not have to drive into the traffic-congested streets where parking is forbidden or difficult.

NO SIGNS OF END OF COAL STRIKES

May Last Till Dec. 1—Rumor Says Lewis Wishes Congress Intervention.

OFFICIAL OPINION.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—(Canadian Press).—Federal Government officials see little indication of an early end of the country's hard coal strike. Although the anthracite miners are receiving little encouragement and the soft coal strike in Northern West Virginia has so far been a failure, predictions here are that there will be no settlement in the anthracite fields until the pinch of winter comes. The authorities expect the suspension to continue at least until December 1, and probably longer.

Reports persist that President John L. Lewis, of the United Mine Workers of America, is anxious to keep the strike going until Congress meets, in the hope that agitation for Government intervention will be aroused in the House and Senate.

CHILDREN READING UNHEALTHY FICTION

Survey in Woodstock Reveals Large Number Juvenile Readers of Sex Stories.

WOODSTOCK, Ont., Oct. 17.—(Canadian Press.—That eighty per cent. of the books sold to children in the stores of Woodstock were books containing a decided appeal to the sensual, and calculated to excite the sex instinct, was the statement made yesterday by John Scott, member of the Board of Health and Board of Education of the city. This information, he said, was secured by the medical health officer in a survey made by him of the local book stores, which all reported that books dealing with sex stories were sold in enormous quantities to children.

W.C.T.U. BRANCH IS STARTED IN MADOC

Mrs. Gordon Wright Was the Speaker at Organization Meeting.

MADOC, Oct. 17—A meeting was held in the United Church Wednesday afternoon for the purpose of organizing a W.C.T.U. society in Madoc. The meeting was scheduled for three o'clock, but owing to the fact that the C.N.R. train was nearly two hours late, proceedings did not begin until after four.

During the interval of waiting, Mrs. Ludbrook, organist of the United Church, helped to pass the time both profitably and pleasurably by playing a number of selections which were much appreciated.

Mrs. Gibson of Belleville opened the meeting with prayer. Mrs. Gibson spoke a few words regarding the purpose of the gathering, and in referring to the formation of a Junior branch, she recalled the incident which happened some time ago in the north country, of the appearance of a wolf which endangered the lives of children on their way to school with the result that the fathers had to take the children each day. The wolf was a great menace to their safety, said Mrs. Gibson, but now the children must organize against a worse enemy.

Mrs. Gordon Wright of London was the chief speaker of the afternoon. Owing to the lateness of the hour, her address was necessarily a little hurried, but it was much enjoyed by her audience. Mrs. Wright is a very pleasing and forceful speaker. Mrs. Wright said that on the occasion of her visit last week when she addressed the W.M.S., she was the guest of Mrs. George Harris. The latter, on learning that Mrs. Wright was to address W.C.T.U. meetings in Belleville this week, signified her desire to become a member. This incident suggested to Mrs. Wright that a branch might be started in Madoc, and led to the present meeting.

Mrs. Wright spoke of the fame which the W.C.T.U. had won for its splendid organization and the business-like way in which the meetings were conducted. At the meeting of the National Council of the W.C.T.U. in Boston, Mrs. Wright said, a member of Parliament from England came because he said he had heard that it was the most parliamentary organization in the world.

"And?" Mrs. Wright had laughingly questioned him.

"And," he replied, "The Women don't say too much."

Mrs. Wright briefly described the world's congress of the W.C.T.U. which was held in Edinburg last June. During this time, Mrs. Wright was a guest of Lady Carlyle at her castle home. Mrs. Wright remarked that she was deeply impressed with the way Lady Carlyle's daughters had been brought up. Although these young ladies had been presented at Court, and were familiar with many social functions, they did not devote their whole time to them, but were very active members of such societies as the W.M.S. and W.C.T.U., and they had been taught that the highest ideal in life was service.

In referring to the elections, the speaker said that the present campaign was a crucial time for prohibition. She spoke very strongly against Government control. "I would rather," she said, "see open bars than Government control. The Government is supposed to control the liquor, but liquor controls the Government." Mrs. Wright also condemning the Moderation League, which she characterized as "pure wets."

At the close of Mrs. Wright's address an association was organized and the following officers were chosen:

President—Mrs. Wm. Cross.

Vice-President—Mrs. J. McCaffery.

Secretary—Mrs. Chas. Whytock.

Recording Secretary—Mrs. F. Dafoe.

Treasurer—Mrs. Geo. West.

Twentyeight members joined the Union, of whom Mrs. E. D. Harrison was the first to receive the white ribbon.

Mrs. Wright closed the meeting with prayer, and Mrs. Gibson led in the singing of the Doxology.

A few of the ladies remained to meet the speakers of the afternoon and to have a social cup of tea with them, which was served by three or four members of the United Church.

On Monday last Mr. Wm. Chambers of Eldorado was bringing a valuable Shropshire lamb down from the station in Madoc, and made the mistake of tying it by the neck in the back of his car. While the car was standing in front of M. W. Connor and Son's hardware store, the lamb must have become frightened at something, and leaping out of the car he struck the pavement and broke his neck.

MAKING OUR RAILWAYS PAY

The sure way—the only way—that our perplexing railway problems can ever be solved.

Temporarily our Canadian National Railway system is in a hole. To deny the fact would be rank untruthfulness, to belittle its importance would be sheer folly.

But this huge public ownership enterprise CAN and MUST be pulled out of the hole, and it's up to the men and women voters of Canada to do it!

A Loaf Big Enough for Two

If our foresight had been as good as our hindsight, we would never have built the excessive railway plant we have today. But what is done cannot be undone. There is no use crying over spilt milk. The problem now is to chart for ourselves the course that will most quickly and most surely place the Canadian National Railways on a paying basis.

Thus far the main effort of its management has been to get more business—freight and passenger—for the C.N.R. by taking it away from the C.P.R. By that method, the cost of securing business is greatly increased for both systems, with no real advantage to either. They are merely fighting over the division of a loaf, which isn't large enough to provide sustenance for both.

The only way our railway problem will ever be solved is for the voters of Canada to see to it that our railways are given a bigger loaf to divide—a loaf of freight and passenger traffic that will be large enough for both systems to thrive on.

We Have the Acorn, We Must Grow the Oak

How to increase freight traffic—that is the kernel of our problem! The average Canadian freight train earns $5.00 per mile travelled; the average passenger train earns only $2.00. So it's upon the freight end of the business that we must concentrate!

Of course, some kinds of freight are more profitable than others. There is very little margin of profit in carrying grain, first because the rates applicable to it are lower per ton per mile than the rates on any other commodity, and second because the grain movement is a peakload traffic, calling for an enormous investment in cars that are idle the greater part of the year.

But there is a substantial margin of profit in hauling general merchandise. What can we do to ensure our railways getting more of it?

Higher Tariff the Cure

Increase our population—start a big immigration movement—and the rest will follow as a matter of course! Easier said than done? Not at all! All we have to do to start the tide of immigration flowing through our ports is to hold out to the prospective immigrant the assurance of a steady job at good wages, or the chance to engage profitably in farming or some other form of production or service.

A higher tariff, that will be a real Protective Tariff, will give him a guarantee covering every point. And nothing else under Providence will!

A Lower Tariff is Poison

A Tariff policy that allows the Canadian market to be supplied more and more by outside workers, automatically operates to reduce the freight traffic available for our railways. When for instance, due to insufficient tariff protection, the Libbey-Owens glass factory in Hamilton was forced to surrender the Canadian field to its sister plant in Belgium, Canadian railways lost the hauling of 2,000 carloads of raw material per year!

If Canadian cotton and woollen mills only had the making of the textiles that we import every year, our railways would have the hauling of another 50,000 carloads per year of raw material freight.

Picture to yourself the scores of other things that under a low tariff policy we import, when under a higher tariff policy we would be making them in our own workshops, and you can hardly fail to realize that the sane—the sure—solution of our railway problem is all ready-made for us, and awaits only our order via the polls to put it into operation. The necessary traffic is there. All we have to do is reach out and get it!

Increasing Imports Mean Bigger Railway Deficits

Every time that low duties take away a portion of the domestic market from a Canadian industry and give it to a foreign industry, our railways suffer in four ways.

1. They lose the hauling of the raw material that such industry would have used.
2. On the finished product, instead of the full local rate, they get only their proportion of the through import rate—a much lower net.
3. When it results in the Western Canadian market being supplied from a U.S. factory, they lose the long East and West haul, and get only the short haul from the international boundary.
4. They lose the hauling of all the merchandise that would have been consumed by the workers who, due to the resultant unemployment, emigrate to the United States.

Lower duties throw people out of work. They just as surely throw railways out of work. We can never save our railways by giving them less work. We must use our brains and our courage to secure them more work—better paid work! Higher tariffs will do it.

GORDON BOOSTER BOYS HAVE ENTHUSED RALLY AT ROOMS

Three Speakers Enlarge on Issues of Impending Election Battle.

ORGANIZATION PLANS.

New Speaker Ascends Rostrum in Interests of the Liberal Cause.

A fresh voice was heard in support of the Liberal candidate last night when Thomas Shields addressed the youthful electorate gathered at Gordon's Committee Rooms. Directed solely at the young men his plea was for a greater understanding of great national issues by the youth of the day. He pointed out that as a rule the young man did not interest himself in great crises, seldom read editorials and confined his attention mainly to a hasty glance at head lines of the papers. On the plea of obtaining the best possible of governments it was essential that people send to parliament the representatives who would do the greatest good in the advancement of the country.

Joseph Wearing was there with his booster programme and led the assembly in the singing of rousing campaign ditties. A solo by Dr. Graham won rounds of applause which followed the singing of "Men of Harlech" and "Sussex by the Sea." Mr. Wearing's ambition to put pep into the campaign would appear to be getting results if the enthusiasm of last night's meeting could serve as an indication.

Ronald Deyell occupied the chair.

Hon. G. N. Gordon

After a brief review of the campaign work under way in the constituency Mr. Gordon proceeded to defend himself from certain "whispered imputations similar in character to those which marked the bye election of 1921."

He said that it had been told among his Italian friends that entrance to Canada would be refused any of their countrymen if the Liberal Government were returned to power. In his denial of that allegation Mr. Gordon stated that to the contrary there was a demand in this country for the market gardeners from Italy and that furthermore he had never at any time been responsible for such a statement. It had also been said that he had declared there was no room here for the Irishman. This too was faise. What was a fact, he announced, was that no mechanics were wanted here at the present time from any source. There must be no move made which will increase the urban population beyond the labor supply.

In 1921 unemployment was so common in the large centres that soup kitchens and bread lines were found in numbers to feed those who could not find work.

In 1913 and 1914 during the Borden administration Canada had opened her doors and the in-coming hordes had flocked to the cities. The correct policy to pursue was not one which would further populate the cities but rather one which would turn the tide westward in order that the non-productive areas might be put under cultivation.

The fact that people were going to the States was no alarming problem, he asserted, as people had always gone there in thousands.

Mr. Peck and his supporters were preaching despair and saying that the country was going bankrupt while as a matter of fact the available supply of labor in Canada and the city of Peterborough in particular was being utilized. There were many jobs for which no men could be found. Unemployment, Mr. Gordon stated was 10 per cent worse in the U.S. than it was in Canada. Naming several prominent Peterborough manufactories he submitted that the orders were coming in better than last year and that business in reality was in a healthy condirion.

Separate School Question

It had been intimated by the Opposition that he (Gordon) was opposed to Separate Schools — as a matter of fact he declared that he had never said anything of the kind. The Separate school was an agreement which had been struck between the provinces and had nothing to do with Dominion legislation. Catholic people had felt that the children needed religious instructon in the schools. The Separate Schools act was a complimentary arrangement for Catholics to have them in Ontario while the Protestants had similar institutions in Quebec where they were in the minority. Accordingly the Imperial parliament had passed the British North America Act for the purpose of confirming the agreement and removing any source of irritation which might have otherwise been fostered between the two religious groups. He had never disapproved of this course as he believed that the system was conducive to harmony.

Faced by such mis-statements as were whispered about him by Mr. Peck's supporters he said he felt that it was only in justice to himself thus to make public a denial of the slanderous impeachments. (Voice in the audience, "They always do that.")

Continuing Mr. Gordon characterized Mr. Dobbin's publicity regarding taxation and the cost of government as "absolutely false and not a word of truth in it."

The whispering campaign had thus far accused him of a mortgage on his house, (which he admitted), of entertaining a rabid dislike for certain classes of people and of making an attempt to keep certain elements out of the country.

Mr. Gordon would like to see, for a change the employers getting out to look for workmen instead of what has come to be the commonly accepted state of affairs, huge line-ups waiting at the time keeper's office for a job. By excluding the mechanics this desirable change might be effected. It was not fair to have a portal wide open to all classes of labor and he intended to see that there was no glut on the labor market.

The extensive advertising campaign which is being turned loose by the Conservative party will have to be paid for and should that party be returned to power it will be paid for by an increase in the tax of certain goods and eventually the amount will come from the consumer's pockets.

With a tribute to the industry of R. R. Hall, K.C., for his untiring efforts in the Liberal cause and a word of appreciation for the large audience which came out in such inclement weather the candidate retired.

Thomas Shields

"Young voters have a duty to perform for the country and the Empire. As the people elect those who will guide the affairs of state, and as it is to the interest of the country be elected to such positions of trust the electors were then indirectly concerned with the results obtained and in a measure responsible for the government.

"It is up to the young people, then to fit themselves for active participation in National affairs by becoming acquainted with the realities of legislation and they must also prepare to take over the positions which the older people will, in time, vacate. Young men are apt to shirk responsibility of this kind, and a fair test of that contention is that very few read the newspapers except for a possible skimming of the headlines. The editorials dealing with the heart beats of the nation are negelcted."

The speaker said that the tariff was the main issue but that it long had been punted about as a political football.

After giving a brief but pithy explanation of the meaning and functions of the tariff the speaker referred to conditions in the textile industry which prevailed at the present time in the United States where those goods are protected by such a tax wall as to practically insure the home products from competition by foreign concerns. The high prices put upon their goods have strangled the market, he intimated, and as a consequence the industry is on the verge of blue ruin times.

When the tariff on farm machinery was lowered a short while ago many predicted that the great implement manufacturing concerns would be forced out of the country. But with agricultural prospects brighter now than ever before and with Toronto fast becoming a great and prosperous centre there is ample proof even for the credulous that a medium tariff has in fact been an aid to prosperity.

With wonderment he had noted the school boy jealousy of people who were trying to defame the Hon. G. N. Gordon with their whispered barbs of criticism.

He said it was characteristic of some people to allow their envious prejudices to interfere with their good judgment and blind their eyes to the essentials.

Appealing to the young men he asked them to support Mr. Gordon that he might complete the career started so auspiciously.

R. R. Hall, K.C.

Judging by Mr. Meighen's dependence and belief in the protective tariff policy it might be imagined that the fate of all the industries in the Dominion was to be decided on whether or not that policy were to be put in operation, said Mr. Hall but Napoleon Bonaparte declared at one time, "Tell me what a man has done, and I will tell you what he is." While in power, Mr. Meighen had plenty of opportunity to establish a practice for peddling his pet panacea, but he had not taken such measures. The contrary is true, as reported by Hansard in a speech which he delivered in the House of Commons in 1920, as follows:

"We never can have a high tariff in Canada. We cannot have a high tariff in Canada for the most obvious reasons. In the first place, a high tariff is unsound in principle and tends to eliminate one of the factors of competition, namely foreign goods. Foreign goods must be allowed to enter into competition under fair conditions in this or in any other country. But the conditions under free trade or without protection are such that the foreign competitor has every advantage.

"So I say that we cannot have any immoderate or high tariff for the reasons, first, that it tends to exclude that healthy element of fair conditions, namely, foreign competition secondly, we have in Canada a territory of wide extent. We have one portion of Canada newer than the other portion, a more predominatingly agricultural country, newer to manufacturers and industrial development, and consequently the advantages of tariff do not accrue to them as yet as they ultimately will accrue to them. They come more immediately to one portion of this country than to the other. On account of these two reasons, we must always have in this country nothing more than a moderate tariff under any conditions whatsoever. That will be the purpose of the vision under the principles clearly set out."

Meighen himself, commented the speaker, said those words in the House, so with profit we can recall Napoleon's words concerning what a man has done in relation to what he is. He is busy now throwing sand in the eyes of the electors and his policy is merely a hollow sham with which he is attempting to mislead the working people, said Mr. Hall.

When Massey had seen that the duties were being lowered on farm machinery, he had felt and said at the time that his business was being jeopardized. Now, realizing that he erred, he owns up to it manfully and in a statement which he made, declared that he was mistaken in his conclusion. For that reasons, he consented to be a supporter of the King Government. When large corporations such as is represented by the Hon. Vincent Massey ally themselves with the past legislative house, it means something more than an idle guess.

During the term of the King administration, the trade balance had improved, customs receipts swelled, the Canadian National system had been operated on a margin of profit since 1922. Added to those facts was the one which set the King Government apart as one to which the stigma of scandal could not be attached.

Canadian paper producers were ranging up alongside American firms and if things continued as they were there was no doubt, said Mr. Hall, but that the output from Canadian mills would exceed that of the United States.

Mr. Hall called upon the electors to vote for their own personal interests and stated that those interests would be embodied in the national development as had been, and would continue to be, carried out by the King Government.

COLBORNE CASES IN SUPREME COURT

Appeal on Jury Awards For Crossing Accident Was Heard.

DECISION RESERVED.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

COLBORNE, October 17. — The cases of Jessie Hodge and Dr. Aylea versus the C.N.R. were reviewed on appeal in Osgoode Hall yesterday and after the hearing the three sitting Justices reserved judgment. H. C. White, K. C., and F. L. Webb appeared for the plaintiffs, and D. L. McCarthy for the railway company.

Mrs. Jessie Hodge and Dr. Aylea, of this town both sued the railway company for $5000, Mrs. Hodges claiming damages for the death of her son Melville, and Dr. Aylea the same amount for his 17-year-old son, Clifford, who it was claimed, was permanently injured when an auto truck in which he and the Hodges boy were riding were struck at a C. N. R. crossing in Colborne in the autumn of 1924. Young Hodges was killed instantly and the Aylea boy was so badly injured that he lay unconscious in the Cobourg hospital for five days after the accident.

The cases were heard jointly at the March sitting of the Supreme Court in Cobourg before Justice Rose and a jury. Three days were occupied in hearing the evidence, and the jury awarded $50000 damages to Mrs. Hodges, $2500 to Clifford Aylea, and $1100 to the father for his expenditure in caring for his injured son, and for the loss of his truck, which was a complete wreck.

A poor man is one who gets his money by earning it.

MR. PECK HAS NOT A CHANCE IN THE WORLD

Pessimism on Which Hope of Victory Rested is Swamped.

BEGINS TO HEDGE.

Milk Diet Fed by Meighen is Not Enough to Carry Through.

Mr. Peck is running in hard luck. Pessimism which was his best hope is submerged under the rising tide of prosperity. The head of one of the greatest manufacturing industries in Canada, Mr. Vincent Massey has joined the King Government. Mr. Peck has begun to hedge on his high tariff policy, which is as unworkable in Canada as free trade. Business men want stability, and the only way to stability is to give the Mackenzie King Government an assured working majority. Henceforth tariff changes will be made only after careful investigation by an advisory board containing representatives of agricultural and manufacturing industries and of the great consuming classes who pay the taxes. The home will be represented by a woman, who will know how the taxes increase housekeeping expenses.

Meighen Cannot Win.

Meighen cannot win. It is a mathematical impossibility. An avalanche would be required to give him eighty more votes in addition to his present fifty one, and the most ingenious manipulator of figures cannot work out such a result. He has shot his bolt and failed. His following will be only a small minority of the new House. He has made no impression on the Country. He has raised no great issue. He has given Conservatives no effective campaign material, and he has given Canadians no inspiration. Talk with any of Mr. Peck's friends and you will be struck by an appalling poverty of constructive ideas. They are not being fed solid food.

On the Other Side.

On the other side Massey and Gordon are real additions to Ministerial strength, and Dunning, Premier of Saskatchewan, is right in line with Mackenzie King, and is booked for the portfolio of Minister of Immigration. He is a young Englishman who has worked his way to independence and a high public position, and will be an inspiring example to other newcomers. He is one of the acknowledged leaders of the West, as Gordon is in the East, and will be an outstanding figure in the national life of Canada.

The country needs steady firm government in the next Parliament and the only way to ensure that is to strengthen the strongest party, the party which is now equal to the other two combined. Any other course will mean uncertainty which will be bad for business.

SITUATION GOOD IN TRENT TOWN

Campbellford Cloth Mills Are Working Full Time in All Departments.

IMPROVING GROUNDS.

CAMPBELLFORD, Oct. 17. — The industrial situation is looking up here, and for the first time since early summer, the town's chief manufactory, the mills of the Campbellford Cloth Company, have been running on full time in every department, working on a large order that has been received by the central plant in Toronto. No one appears able to say how long the improvement will continue but the revival is looked upon as an encouraging sign of better times ahead.

The company still has men engaged in improving the surroundings of their plant. The vacant land that lies in the angle formed by the office building and the main factory, and which is bounded on the east side by the river, has been levelled and will be planted to flowers around the border, with a grass plot in the centre. Shrubs will be planted along the Bridge street side. Already 50 vines have been planted along the walls of the office and part of the factory and these will be continued around the entire building at a distance of eight feet apart. The vines cling to the building as they grow, and in time will cover the entire walls.

The vacant plot which is being improved lies nearly six feet below the street level. It has always in its natural state been an eye sore, but when the work is completed and flowers and shrubs make a start, the place will be one of the beauty spots of Campbellford.

J. L. Hoover, an employee of the company, of long standing, is superintending this work.

LAWYERS REVIVE MOATS.

Purchase to Give English Barristers Experience in Court Procedure.

LONDON, Oct. 17.—A revival of the old custom of holding "moots" in the Middle Temple is being planned for November.

The moot is a mock trial designed to give men in the legal profession —and now women—the opportunity of arguing legal problems arising from the established facts, in the form in which cases are argued in the Court of Appeal. Two counsel are assigned for each side and when they have put their case, the judge gives judgment. Justice Sankey has promised to preside over the first moot.

This is considered to be one of the best methods of giving junior counsel an opportunity of putting and arguing a case, as well as gathering hints regarding procedure, and pitfalls to be avoided when taking a legal case into the glare of a public court.

BRANDED!

MR. GORDON and the Liberal Publicity Committee entered this campaign with the expressed hope that it might be waged and won on national issues fairly presented so that the people might select their representation on its merits. Mr. Gordon was prepared to present his case fully and honestly and leave the electors to judge.

BUT THE CAMPAIGN OF DELIBERATE MISREPRESENTATION INDULGED IN BY MR. PECK AND HIS HELPERS FORCES MR. GORDON TO ADOPT ANOTHER PLAN, AND IN THE INTEREST OF THE ELECTORS HE IS COMPELLED TO BRAND AS UNTRUE MANY STATEMENTS OF HIS OPPONENTS. MANY OF THESE ARE WITHOUT A VESTIGE OF TRUTH, WHILE IN OTHERS THE HALF TRUTH THAT IS TOLD IS CUNNINGLY WOVEN AROUND WITH MISINTERPRETATIONS TO MISLEAD THE PUBLIC.

It is regrettable that the electors should be so victimized, and to protect them the following facts are given:

. .Mr. Peck at Bensfort: "Last year the imports of vegetables and fruits was valued at $10,000,000 and during the same time meat to the extent of $7,000,000 was imported."	In 1924 Canada imported $31,500,000 worth of vegetables and fruit—three times what Mr. Peck says. BUT in 1921, under Mr. Meighen, the total was $38,000,000. or $7,000,000 MORE. And in 1924 Canada imported $4,000,000 worth less meats than in 1921 under Mr. Meighen.
One of Mr. Peck's speakers said the King Government, by admitting foreign made watches and clocks is ruining the business of the Westclox factory.	In 1921, under the same leader whose policies are now lauded by Mr. Peck, $1,600,000 worth more clocks and watches came in than in 1924.
Much capital is being made of the high tariff in U.S. against Canada's farm produce and the low tariff here against U.S. farm produce, as though Canada were being flooded with United States farm products. Hay and potatoes are mentioned.	In 1924 Canada imported $220,000 worth of hay against $1,301,000 worth in 1921, under Mr. Meighen. And as for potatoes, the protective Mr. Meighen was satisfied to protect the farmer to the extent of 20 cents a bag duty, whereas the present Government taxes every hundred pounds of potatoes from United States 35 cents.
"There have been three revisions of the tariff, all downward."	Out of 109 articles on which the rate of duty was changed by the present Government 17 underwent an increase of duty, so all revisions were not downward. Of the remainder 58 were articles entering directly as raw material or otherwise, into production.
"We are exporting our pulpwood, nickel, asbestos, in its raw state and receiving it back from the United States in its manufactured form."	Under Mr. Meighen Canada shipped out 33 per cent of her pulpwood without manufacture. Under Mr. King only 29 per cent was not manufactured here. In 1921 Canada exported $7,234,000 worth of raw nickel. In 1924 the exports were $4,567,000. And in 1924 Canada imported $1,000,000 worth less nickel products. The exports of raw asbestos dropped from $12,000,000 in 1921 to $7,000,000 in 1924.
"Eggs to the value of $2,000,000 had been imported. This sum was irretrievably lost for Canadian use."	In 1921 Mr. Meighen, for whose policy of "protection" Mr. Peck stands, allowed to be imported $369,000 worth more eggs than this sum.
"Unemployment is worse."	In 1921 the Deputy Minister reported: "The decline of employment began in October (1920), and the volume of unemployment steadily increased until the number of unemployed was estimated in round figures at 200,000." This, of course, was during Mr. Meighen's premiership in 1921. The next year, also a Meighen year since King had not assumed office, was "substantially unchanged" and the problem of unemployment again "demanded federal attention." In 1922-23, Mr. King's first year, the deputy minister reported: "Greatly increased industrial activity practicaly ended abnormal unemployment."
The national debt is higher.	The present Government reduced the National Debt $82,871,647; Reduced ordinary expenditure $36,304,955; and had an operating surplus on the Canadian National Railways of $40,000,000. This is a total saving to the country of $159,176,602.
Mr. Peck at Young's Point: "Only one fifth of the Canadian export wheat is milled in this country."	In 1923-24 Canadian exports of flour increased 218 per cent over pre-war figures. In the same period United States exports of flour increased only 61 per cent. Canada shipped out 12,000,000 barrels last year against 7,000,000 barrels under Mr. Meighen.

"They Say; What Say They? Let Them Say."

¶Mr. Peck and his platform orators say manufacturing is a gentle and fragile flower checked by the first breath of competition and scarcely able to appear above ground in the more or less erratic climate of Canada. They might talk their heads off without hurting Canada in Canada, but their loose tongues are spreading a false idea of Canada throughout the world.

¶The conception of these speakers is built upon a wrong premise, based upon lack of knowledge. Every country passes through several stages—the first is usually pastoral, then agricultural, and then commercial. Manufacturing begins only when the primary industry is developed.

¶You recall our hectic efforts to build industry in Peterborough some years ago. We tried all sorts of baby incubators. Free sites, lowered taxation, taxation exemption. We are growing wiser now. We are learning our lesson. "It is written," as John Ruskin would say, "in the walls of cities and in their dust thou canst not build the dome before thou hast laid the foundation."

¶Industry develops naturally in a country such as Canada, and no hothouse methods will produce anything but a skinny plant in comparison with the robust natural growth. Canada during the past four years has made marvellous progress in manufacturing.

¶Take, for example, our great industry of paper making. In the production of newsprint Canada leads the world. Our exports of newsprint last year totalled almost $92,000,000. It climbed up $20,000,000 in three years. No paper manufacturer in Canada ever looked at Mr. King and said "Ruin!" Newsprint, of course, has very little tariff protection. IT IS ONE OF THE PECULIAR THINGS OF OUR EXPORT TRADE THAT THE ARTICLES IN WHICH WE ARE MAKING HEADWAY HAVE VERY LITTLE TARIFF PROTECTION.

¶Turn from paper to flour. Here "They" say we are falling down, and Mr. Peck bemoans Canada's backwardness in coming forward. But in flour production WE ARE MASTERS OF THE WORLD. Leading millers of United States confess that eventually the milling business of America will centre in Canada. Exports have gone up $10,638,000 in three years. In the United States, on the other hand, exports are declining. As in paper, so in flour; as Canada steps up, United States declines.

¶Last year we shipped of milk and its products, cheese, butter, condensed milk, etc., $10,000,000 more than in the fiscal year 1922 under Mr. Meighen. Did you ever hear of milk powder? Did Mr. Peck ever hear of it? Well, let us tell that warrier over trifles of infinitesimal diminutiveness that we sold more milk powder—a manufactured and finished product, remember—to United States than we imported of butter from all the world, with the value of the mutton we bought from Australia thrown into the bargain.

¶That is enough for one day. Stand erect, Canadian—away with the gobs of gloom that Mr. Peck and his satellites are throwing around so handily. YOUR DOLLAR IS AT PAR—YOU ARE EXPORTING MORE THAN YOU ARE IMPORTING—YOUR SHIPS SAIL ON EVERY SEA. You hesitate to pick up the wealth that lies at your feet because these pseudo-statesmen are full of gloom.

Let them say on. THIS IS CANADA'S DAY.

WHICH DO YOU PREFER?

TO HAVE YOUR COUNTRY BLACKBALLED TO SERVE POLITICAL ENDS AND TO VENT THE JEALOUS SPLEEN OF A COTERIE OF DISAPPOINTED PROFESSIONAL POLITICIANS;

OR TO KNOW THE TRUTH—THE GLORIOUS TRUTH—THAT THE DOMINION OF CANADA IS FORGING AHEAD BY LEAPS AND BOUNDS?

There is no suggestion that Mr. Peck's reputation for honesty which he bears in private life is laid aside for the term of the political campaign, BUT HE IS UNFORTUNATE IN HIS CHOICE OF PLATFORM SUPPORTERS AND PROPAGANDA WRITERS. THEY are misrepresenting facts right and left, tripping each other up in their rush to tell the public some new perversion of fact. And doubtless some of the misstatements made by Mr. Peck are on their say-so, or on facts imperfectly studied by the speaker.

The main point is THE SPEECHES AND ADVERTISING PUT OUT BY MR. PECK AND HIS CAMPAIGNERS ARE FULL OF INACCURACIES INTENDED TO MISLEAD THE HONEST PEOPLE OF PETERBOROUGH.

The facts and figures presented in these columns by the Liberal Publicity Committee are exact presentations of things as they are and were.

MAILMEN PLEASED

Decision of Department To Grant Holidays Welcomed as a Boon.

CAMPBELLFORD, Oct. 17.—The five rural mail carriers who carry on from this office are well pleased over the recent order of the Post Office Department, allowing them all the legal holidays in the year with the exception of Christmas Day. There is a vast amount of mail handled at this centre, and some of the rural carriers have an especially large share of the letters and newspapers to distribute.

Mrs. Charles Macoun, secretary of the West Seymour W. I., and who resides on Route 7, is probably the best patron of the postal service in the district. Besides being secretary of the local branch, Mrs. Macoun is also Provincial lecturer for the organization, so that her correspondence is noticeably heavy. She sends out and receives an average of 3,000 letters a year, and has mailed as many as 2,100 of these during the three months when the Institute session is at its height. Mrs. Macoun, who has the duties of a family and farm home to superintend, says that the most of her correspondence is done after 10 o'clock at night.

Charles Cochrane is the carrier who handles this mail matter, and as the resorts at Healey Falls are also on his route, there are seasons of the year when the amount of business devolving upon him is abnormal.

CANDIDATES REPLY TO PROHIBITIONISTS

Hastings-Peterboro' Nominees Were Asked to Sign Pledge.

The following reply was received from G. A. Brethen, Progressive candidate in Hastings-Peterborough, when he was asked to sign the candidate's pledge prepared by the Ontario Prohibition Union:

"Your letter enclosing pledge for signature received.

"I have always taken the ground that only when the temperance voters elect to public office men who are prepared to place their temperance convictions above the welfare of their particular party will we make any marked progress in the promotion and enforcement of advanced temperance legislation.

"As the spirit of the pledge submitted is in direct harmony with my temperance convictions, expressed privately and publicly, I have no hesitation whatever in signing enclosed document."

Dr. Embury made his reply during his speech at Havelock on Thursday evening.

The pledge submitted to the two candidates for signature is as follows:

"I hereby pledge myself to support any measure introduced in Parliament for the national prohibition of importation, exportation, manufacture, transportation, or sale of alcoholic liquors except for sacrament or medical purposes."

FAIR OF BACON HOGS WAS HELD STIRLING

First Exhibit of the Kind Ever Held in Northumberland County.

STERLING, Oct. 17.—On Tuesday morning all the roads leading towards Sterling were used by farmers to convey their bacon hogs to the first Bacon Hog Fair ever held in Hastings County under the auspices of the Department of Agriculture of Ontario, and the Lowe Stock Branch of the Dominion Department of Agriculture. The District representative, Ray Atkin, had the matter in hand locally, and was ably assisted by L. W.. Pearsall, of the Dominion Live Stock Branch, who acted as judge of the market classes, also Wm. Knox, Professor of Animal Husbandry at the O.A.C., judged the other classes; and J. B. Martin, Provincial Department of Agriculture, who acted as the Superintendent of the Fair, and arranged the different classes in such a manner that they could be examined without any difficulty.

There were 90 entries made, between 180 and 200 hogs were exhibited, 100 of these being market hogs, all of which were purchased by the Harris Abbatoir Co., at 12½ c per lb. with a premium of $2.50 for selects.

The judges gave their reasons for the awards they made, and the occasion should be of great educational value to those interested in the breeding and feeding of bacon hogs. The Fair was held in a field on Thos. Spry's farm, near the G.T.R. station.

The Ontario Department of Agriculture furnished the pens to confine the hogs in, and all market hogs were weighed and graded before being placed in the pens. YOUNG COUPLE FETED.

Mr. and Mrs. Barlow, Newly Married, Received Gift From Friends.

BONAR LAW, Oct. 17.—On Monday, Oct. 5, a very pleasant event took place at the home of John S. McKeown, when about three hundred friends, neighbors and relatives gathered together in honor of their daughter, Laura, whose marriage took place on Sept. 23, to William Barllow. The numerous expensive and beautiful gifts show the high esteem in which the young couple are held. About 10 o'clock, Mr. and Mrs. Barlow entered the parlour and commenced their task of reading out the names each parcel contained owing to the intense crowd and the abundance of presents they found it impossible to have them all shown that night.

Mr. and Mrs. Barlow thanked their friends and invited all to visit them when they get settled in their new home at Bonar Law. Lunch was then served by the Ladies and everyone enjoyed a piece of the bride's cake.

Music was supplied by Freida Mathews, Winnie Spencer, Mr. and Mrs. John Wellman and Ed. Anderson. The party closed by singing for they are Jolly Good Fellows.

DIED AFTER ACCIDENT.

Norman Wellman Passed Away September 26—Injured When Horse Bolted.

SPRINGBROOK, Oct. 17.—The grim reaper visited Springbrook on Oct. 10th, at 1.30 p.m., and claimed as a victim Mr. Norman Wellman, 65 years of age. On Sept. 24, Mr. Wellman had an accident when his horse ran away and little hope was entertained for his recovery at that time, but his condition improved until Wednesday, when his heart began to grow weaker. And—at last—on Friday night, his spirit departed to be with Christ, which is very much better.

The late Mr. Wellman was born in Rawdon township, where he resided most of his life, with the exception of a few years he spent in Edmonton, Alta.

He left to mourn his loss, his widow, one daughter, Mrs. Stewart Mitchel, of Wooler, two brothers, Barton Wellman and Arnold Wellman; both of Rawdon.

The funeral service was held on Sunday at the gospel Hall. Mr. John Gilchrist, of Peterborough, and Mr. Ray, of London, conducted the service. Interment was in Barton's cemetery.

The many beautiful floral offerings given by relatives goes to show the high esteem in which he was held. Friends from a distance that attended the funeral were—Dr. and Mrs. A. L. Wellman of Waterloo; Mr. Clare Wellman and Miss Iona Wellman of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sexsmith of Trenton; Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Barton of Norwood; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Barroness of Cordova Mines; Mr. and Mrs. Eggbert Fitchett of Eldorado; Mr. and Mrs. Wellman Logi of Belleville; Mr. Perry of Belleville; Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Belcour, Oak Hills; Mr. and Mrs. Wannamaker, Holloway; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Elliott, Oak Hills.

The late Mr. Wellman was a faithful child of God, and will be sadly missed at the Oak Hills and Bancroft, also Springbrook, where he helped with the work of the Gospel. He was a loving husband and father, and also a good neighbor, always seeking to do the will of His blessed Saviour, whom he has trusted so earnestly for a great many years.

He is gone but not forgotten;
He has left this world of care.
Gone to be at home with Jesus,
In His loving, tender care,

JANITOR APPOINTED FOR VILLAGE SCHOOL

OMEMEE, Oct. 17.—At a meeting of the school board on Monday night, Mr. William Magee received the appointment of janitor, for the High and Public school, to succeed, Mr. Isaac Glenny, who has handed in his resignation. Women Meet.

The regular meeting of the Omemee branch of the Women's Institute was held on Thursday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. J. Widdes. The greater part of the afternoon was spent in quilting a quilt, and at the short business meeting which followed, it was the decision of the ladies to sell tickets for same and the lucky number will be drawn by a little girl at a feature entertainment. Already many tickets have been disposed of, for the small sum of 10c., and some person will be the winner of a handsome quilt.

Successful Sale.

The Wide Awake Mission Band held a very successful bake sale on Saturday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. C. J. Morcombe. The tables were laden with donations from the ladies of the congregation, consisting of pies, cakes, tarts, cookies, tea-biscuits, home-made bread, chicken, jam, jelly, and cream, all of which was rapidly disposed of. The proceeds amounted to about $18.00.

Motored to Bethel.

The members of the choir of the United church motored to Bethel on Sunday evening where they supplied special music for the anniversary services of the Methodist Church there. An anthem entitled, "The Lord is my Light and my Salvation," by the entire choir, with obligato solo by Miss Parsons, a duet by Misses Vera and Mary Lowe and a solo by Miss Mary Lowe, "Teach me to Pray," were rendered and were much appreciated by the Bethel people.

False Alarm.

On Saturday morning, a report was sounded in Omemee that Mr. George Henderson's house was on fire. Several cars proceeded to the scene but found, upon arrival, that only a chimney fire had resulted, and this was soon quenched.

Mrs. Otto Bannon.

The death of Mrs. Otto Bannon (nee Gertrude Maye Dickson) which occurred on Saturday morning, cast a deep gloom over the entire countryside. Death was not unexpected, Mrs. Bannon having been confined to her bed for the past two and a half months, the victim of a creeping tumor. Deceased lady fought bravely for life and although all that medical skill and loving care could do was done, she passed peacefully away on Saturday morning at the early age of twenty-six years.

Mrs. Bannon was the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dickson, of Halls Bridge.

The funeral service, which was held on Monday afternoon was very largely attended by friends from near and far, and was in charge of Rev. A. T. Weir, Rector of Chirst church, who spoke feelingly of the patient suffering endured by the deceased. "To the friends of the departed, death coming to one so young was a mystery but God always has a purpose in view in removing from our midst a young life."

Left to mourn the loss of a loving wife, mother and daughter, is the sorrowing husband and little two year-old son, "Jack," as well as the parents. Mr. and Mrs. Dickson, one sister, Mrs. Charles Jones, of Halls Bridge, and three young brothers, Mx Malcolm, and Robert, to all of whom is extended the sincere sympathy of the entire community.

The following beautiful floral tributes banked the grey casket.—Wreath, Otto and son, Jackie; wreath, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jones; wreath, Mrs. C. Bent and family, Spray, Mrs. Maye Kelly (nurse); spray, Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Bannon; Spray, Mr. and Mrs. G. Magee; Spray, Mr. and Mrs. W. Skuce.

The remains were tenderly borne to their last resting place in the Emily cemetery by Messrs. R. Calvert, C. Jones, S. Bannon, J. Wilson, W. Skuce and R. James. Among those from a distance, who attended the funeral were: Mr. and Mrs. Wilson, of Harvey, Mr. and Mrs. McLean and Mrs. Stephenson, Peterborough; Mr. Calvert and four sons, of Harvey; and many others.

Joseph Sanderson.

The grim reaper again visited this community on Saturday morning, when Mr. Joseph Sanderson, an old and much respected resident of Emily township passed away following a lingering illness.

About six years ago, the deceased gentleman suffered a paralytic stroke, and although he partially recovered, he was more or less of an invalid since that time. Two months ago, he again became bed fast. All that the care of a loving and faithful helpmate could do, was done for his comfort, until called by death on Saturday morning.

Mr. Sanderson, was a member of the Methodist Church. He was also a member of L.O.L. 114, under whose auspices the funeral was conducted.

The service on Monday afternoon was largely attended. Rev. E. W. Rowland, of the United Church, assisted by the Rev. R. F. Stillman, of Norwood, a former pastor, conducted the service at the house. The service at the grave being taken by the brethren of L.O.L. 114. Interment being made in Emily cemetery.

Left to mourn his passing are—a sorrowing widow, three daughters, Mrs. J. Kennedy, of Lindsay; Mrs. E. Jones, of Hamilton; Mrs. R. McConnell, East Emily, also three sons, Ben, of Saskatoon, Percy, of Toronto, and Harry, at home.

FIGHTING FOR BABY'S HEALTH

Is the Constant Care of Every Young Mother.

The young mother has a constant care in looking after the welfare of her little ones. Childhood ailments come on so suddenly—sometimes without a minute's warning—the mother may have a very sick baby on her hands before help can be obtained. That is unless she has a remedy in the house which she can safely give the baby for any of the many minor ailments of babyhood and childhood.

Such a remedy is found in Baby's Own Tablets. Thousands of mothers throughout the country always keep a box of the Tablets on hand and they proclaim them to be without an equal for sweetening baby's stomach; regulating his bowels, and thus driving out constipation and indigestion, colds and simple fevers, and making the dreaded teething period easy.

Baby's Own Tablets are an absolutely safe remedy. They are guaranteed to be free from opiates or any other narcotic drug which are so harmful to the future welfare of the baby. Mothers, if you value the life of your little ones give him Baby's Own Tablets when he is ill,or, better still, give him an occasional dose of the Tablets to ward off illness. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or will be sent to any address, post paid, at 25 cents a box by addressing The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Four Hundred Experiment in "Beating Company"—Only Five Caught.

TOKIO, Oct. 17.—(Associated Press).—Four hundred officials of the Tokio Electric Bureau in disguise discovered that they could "beat the company" in stealing rides on the street cars. Reports of many free rides had received little credence until this experiment. The final report showed but five of the 400 were caught by the vigilant conductors.

Fashions

(By HEDDA HOYT, Written for the United Press).

NEW YORK, Oct. 17 (United Press).—The V-shaped neckline is again being sponsored for the evening gown. Some of the new gowns are cut with both front and rear V-neckline, the rear being deeper than the front.

Uneven lies the hem that's on the gown. Skirts of dinner and dance frocks are running to uneven hemlines, the uneveness due to drapes or to flares apon the skirt. Some hems are short in front and dip in the rear, some are long at one side only and others dip at either side, being of the same length in front and rear.

Spanish shawls still continue their popularity at all smart evening gatherings. Not all of the 'so-called' Spanish shawls hail from Spain or China, however. Some of the loveliest are trimmed with appliques of velvet flowers instead of embroidery work. A large square of cream colored silk crepe has a border of purple, yellow and green velvet. We see so much of this material lately and the velvet designs on chiffon are often very rich in coloring. The velvet is quite appliqued to form a border for the fringed shawl. Large flowers, of course, are more effective than small inconsequential ones. Fringe matches the shade of the silk square.

Newer than white collar is the gold satin collar lined in black satin. Due to the vogue for gold and silver, the gold collar will perhaps have some popularity. Such a collar is very effective on frocks of wine and green shades.

Those who have pieces of Paisley will be interested to know that some of the smartest envelope purses in Paris at present are made of Paisley shawls. Usually there is some embroidery done in silver thread or siler beads which casts the Paisley into relief. One can have this embroidery done at the embroidery shops and any bag store will make an envelope bag. The larger the envelope the better, this season.

ADVICE TO GIRLS

By Annie Laurie

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:
I am a girl of eighteen. While living in another province I met a very respectable young man. For different reasons I left suddenly. When he heard of my departure he called at once to see me about it. We corresponded for a short time. I waited three weeks for an answer. I wrote again, thinking, perhaps, he had not gotten it. Now I have waited two months and no answer. Please don t tell me to forget him. I can t. What shall I do?
ANXIOUS KID.

ANXIOUS KID: There is an old saying, my dear, "Out of sight, out of mind, and this is probably what has happened. The young man may have had the very best intentions in the world, but once you were away where he couldn t see you he probably became interested in someone else. Of course, this is his privilege, as you were not engaged. I know it will be hard for you to forget, but, my dear, what else can you do? Wouldn't you rather know his true nature before things got to the serious stage than to go through greater suffering afterwards? Be a brave girl and don t write any more and try and interest yourself in those who are near you.

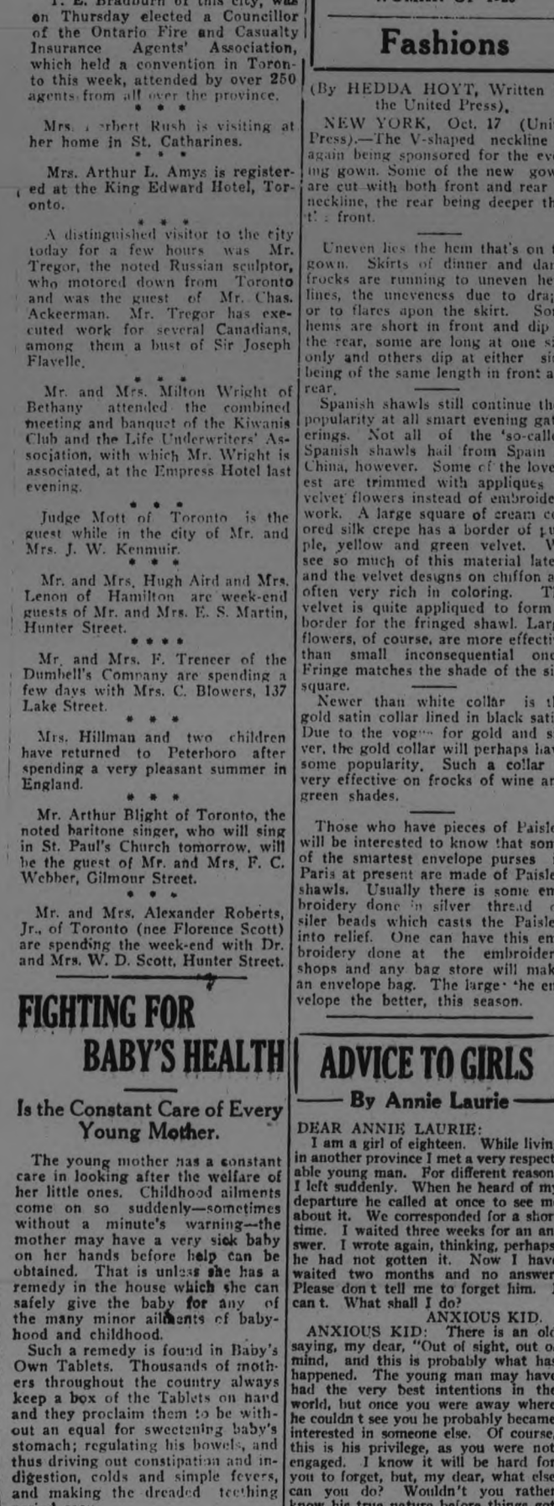
DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:
I am a stranger in the neighborhood and have met the usual "young crowd. There is one young man among them whom I find amusing, but he is going with another girl. She doesn't seem to be so popular, so should I allow him to "throw her over for my sake? They are engaged. DON-KNOW.

DON-KNOW: If these people are engaged to be married, I really don t think the young man will invite you out, my dear. But if he does, decline his invitations and he will understand your reason.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:
Is it proper to go swimming with a young man without a chaperone?
JUNE ROSE.

JUNE ROSE: If your parents do not object, it is quite proper to accept this kind of invitation unchaperond. But usually, when you are going away for the day, it is best to ask an older sister or your mother to accompany you. This avoids all harsh criticism and consequently makes the trip more pleasant

Annie Laurie will welcome letters of inquiry on subjects of feminine interest from young women readers of this paper and will reply to them in these columns. Letters to Miss Laurie should be addressed to her in care of this office.



HIDE AND SEEK

By Eleanor Hope

What else is the Game of Love but the old childish game of hide and seek First you're sure she's just within your grasp, then she turns and laughingly runs away, and you go hunting, seeking, until you find her again. And then? The same thing over and over again. But wait! It's fun for her to keep you guessing, and you wouldn't really want her without having to make some effort to catch her and hold her safely. And when you do finally catch her and hold her safely within your arms, and claim the kisses that you have been waiting for so long, won't it be wonderful? So be patient until she's willing to be caught. Her shy surrender to Love's call will be something you'll never forget.

A Fashion Model's Diary

By Grace Thorncliffe

SHE DESCRIBES AN UNUSUALLY SUCCESSFUL BRIDESMAID'S FROCK.

"I'm leaving for perhaps an hour," Madame said yesterday afternoon as she donned a smart velvet toque and powdered her nose critically. "It's a wedding of one of my nieces' daughters, and although this is the rush season I promised Elsie faithfully that I would find a moment to be present at the ceremony."

"What luck," I answered. "I love weddings and I know hers will be a lovely one."

"Then slip on your things and come along," said Madame. "We'll sit in the back of the church, anyhow, and come directly back to the shop."

Secretly delighted, I rushed for my hat and meekly followed Madame into the warm afternoon sunlight. The avenue streamed with people as we taxied the few blocks to the church. We slipped quietly into a back pew as the subdued notes of the organ gave out the last few tones of the prelude and changed subtly into the opening chords of "Lohengrin," I sighed happily and fixed my eyes on the church door to catch the first glimpse of the bridal procession.

"You haven't seen the bridesmaids' dresses," whispered Madame. "Young Elsie insisted that they be something that the girls would enjoy using after the wedding, and I think she made a wise choice."

Chiffon and Embroidered Satin Are Accented by a Touch of Silver Embroidery.

At that moment the first bridesmaid appeared in the doorway. I caught my breath as the slender, golden-haired figure drew nearer, the soft folds of hydrangea blue draperies swaying gracefully at each slow step.

"Notice the embroidered satin on the foundation," murmured Madame's voice. And I realized that pink satin of the rosiest hue had been shot through with both a silver and a blue thread, so that the pink of the foundation and the blue of the over-drapery were successfully combined.

The golden-haired girl drifted past and another bridesmaid came into my line of vision, this one quite dark and carrying her head so proudly that I almost forgot to look at her dress. This time I noted that the waistline, which was quite high, was designated by a sash of hydrangea blue taffeta twisted into a huge bow and continuing in one wide double streamer well below the hemline.

As two more beautiful girls, with armfuls of roses and delphiniums, came slowly past, I reflected that it certainly was evident that waistlines were either quite high or so low as to become hiplines.

For Baby's Bath

More than that of any other member of the family, baby's tender, delicate skin needs the greatest care and attention. The soft soothing oils in Baby's Own Soap make it specially suitable for babies, and its clinging fragrance reminds one of the roses of France which help to inspire it.

YOUR HEALTH

By Royal S. Copeland, M. D.,

You hear doctors and nurses talking about "good patients" and" bad patients." What do they mean?

I have been thinking about this. I have been wondering if I might say something to help increase the number of good patients.

Nobody can tell beforehand how he will act when he gets sick. The most amiable person in the world may become a petulant, impatient, fault-finding and obstinate sick person.

A good patient is one who co-operates with the doctor and nurse. A good patient realizes that the nasty medicine, the vile gruels, the nauseating "spoon vittels," are given for her good. They are not given to annoy and disturb the suffering patient. They may be most unwelcome to the sick one, but they have a purpose, haven't they?

Everybody strives to promote the comfort and to lessen the misery of the sick. Nobody would think of scolding a sick person. It would be the height of cruelty to do this. But when you get sick, bear in mind how anxious are the family and the medical attendants. They work day and night to defeat disease. But they will fail if you don't help.

A great deal depends on getting the patient to take a reasonable quantity of nourishment every day. The food doesn't taste good and it is hard to swallow it. But it will help very much if the patient will co-operate.

You just can't force a patient to drink or to swallow food. That is out of the question. Without the assistance of the patient the needed nourishment cannot be given. You see, co-operation is absolutely essential.

I am telling you these things while you are well and strong. You should ponder them and get them into your subconscious mind. Then when you are sick you will be a good patient.

There are some folks who go to bed "sick" when they are not half sick. They grumble and scold, fight the nurse, push the medicine away and sneer at the doctor. They are just too disagreeable for anything. They are, indeed, bad patients.

Don't be a bad patient. I beg of you to co-operate with your friends, the doctor and the nurse. If you help just a tiny bit the battle is won. If you are a good patient you are almost sure to get well no matter how sick you may be.

Be a good patient!

UFO SHAREHOLDERS SETTLING MEETING

Beef Ring Has Been Very Successful During Past Four Years.

BAILIEBORO, Oct. 17. — On Monday evening, previous to the fortnightly business meeting of the U.F.O. Club, the members of the South Monaghan beef ring held their annual settling up meeting in the club-rooms at Centreville Hall.

The South Monaghan beef ring has been in existence now for four successive years, and the results have been most satisfactory.

There was a good turnout, as mostly every shareholder was present at the meeting, and the reports of the past year were very satisfactory. The business of the meeting took a very brief time to be transacted. The price per pound charged to the shareholders whose cattle were not heavy enough to come up to the standard weight, and the amount paid to those who had put in animals weighing over the standard weight was thirteen cents per pound.

The new officers appointed for the ensuing year were: Geo. Anderson, President; Chas. Fisher, Vice-President; Wilfred Brown, Secretary-Treasurer. The same group of officers were elected to act as directors for the coming year. Mr. Hy. Dawson has acted as butcher since the organization of the ring.

To Hold Social Evening.

The Cavan and South Monaghan U.F.O. Club, at their regular fortnightly meeting on Monday night, decided to hold a social evening and entertainment in their hall in the near future. They are hoping to be fortunate enough to secure the services of J. J. Morrison, secretary of the U.F.O. of Toronto, to address the members and their friends.

Epworth League Resumes.

The Union Epworth League has resumed its weekly meeting in the church again after the long summer months.

The officers for the present year who were appointed at Monday evening's meeting are: Fred Barnard, President; Geddas Harper, Secretary; Eldridge White, Treasurer; Miss Jean Dawson, Organist. Rev. Folley, Hon. President; Jno. Porter, Vice-President for the Christian Endeavor department; Mildred White, Vice-President for the Social and Literary department; Mrs. J. Jewison, Vice-President for the Mission department; Miss K. Barnard, Assistant Organist.

It has been decided to hold the weekly meetings under the three departments mentioned, and at the fourth meeting of the month the pastor, Rev. Folley, will lecture to the members of the League upon the lives of the great leaders of the past Presbyterian and Methodist Churches in John Knox and John Wesley, as well as other religious talks upon the Bible.

Personals.

Mr. Jno. White, general merchant, Front Street, has installed a new up-to-date gasoline tank in place of his old one.

Quite a number of the older residents of the village attended the funeral of the late Jno. McBride of Millbrook this week. Mr. McBride was formerly a resident of this village, and was well-known and respected by the older element.

Geo. Fletcher has commenced to build his new residence beside the Anglican Church. Jos. Lang and sons have the contract for the building.

Keith Moffatt of Port Hope was the guest of Keith Barnard over last week-end.

The Union Church anniversary services are to be held on Sunday, October 25. Rev. Mr. McLaughlin of Keene will preach at the morning service and Rev. McConnachie of Springville at the evening service. The annual bazaar will be held on Tuesday, October 27.

Lawrence Dawson, of Peterboro, spent Sunday the guest of his parents.

The recent heavy frosts have done considerable damage to the apple crop, potatoes, corn and roots. Farmers are now busily engaged in picking their apples, raising their potatoes and roots, etc. There is already considerable ploughing done in South Monaghan.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Hibbard have moved to their new home at Rice Lake.

Mr. P. Dawson was a visitor to Peterboro this week.

Mr. Rennie of Toronto loaded a car-load of peas at Fraserville this week.

ONCE UPON A TIME — JACK AND THE BEAN STALK. IV — by W. J. ENRIGHT.

The story about how kind Jack Frost is to the plants, and how he kisses each one and touches it gently, made some of my boy and girl friends ask me questions that I hardly think Jack Frost could answer himself, were he here to do it.

One little girl said, "Well, why didn't the plants that the man took into his conservatory, stay awake? Why did they go to sleep when it was going on be such a nice summer for them all the whole winter long?

I don't know the answer. Maybe it is just plant bed time in Autumn, and they disrobe and go to sleep until some nice Spring morning, when they awaken, refreshed and strong.

Another curious lad wanted to know if the plants could talk and play. Well, that is a poser. I really think they must, sometimes, for we learn so many things that we did not know about Nature.

I used to think it queer that little birds had to stay in the nest until flying time, then come out full grown birds, and no longer children. I used to think they never had any fun as little children birds, but how silly I was, for here, along comes a story of a bird lover who watched some young swallows actually playing a game like football, with a feather.

All we do in one kind of football is to catch an egg-shaped ball and run with it, until someone gets it away, or we drop it.

That is just what these swallows were doing with a feather.

They had a white feather for a ball, and the game was to take the feather up high, drop it, then see who could catch it, and the one catching it would try to fly for a goal, so to speak, but soon was overtaken, or lost the feather into the air, when a wild dash would be made to see who could get it next.

When I told this to a group of little boys, one of them, little Sammy Church, nine years old, looked at me accusingly, scratched his curly head and said, "That s a queer one, you ve been dreaming again! but of course it is true, every word.

GOOD NIGHT STORIES

By Blanche Silvar

DAVID TAKES A PEEK AT A DEAR LITTLE ACROBAT.

"Oh shoot!" David exclaimed crossly when his Mama called him in to wash his face. "Shoot-shoot, shoot.?"

"Go on and shoot," laughed a merry voice, and a funny little head with dancing black eyes peeked up at David from the rose bush. "Shoot if you must but don't point your gun this way. What's the trouble, David?" and the wee elfin sat down on the steps beside David.

"Hello there, Happy Giggles," David drawled. "You knew I wasn't going to shoot anything, but goodness, I just hate to clean up."

"Well, if you had to stand on your head while you washed your face, you might have cause to complain," laughed the elfin. "On my way over here I saw one of your neighbors standing on his head washing his face and combing his hair."

The wee elfin saw by the expression on David's face he thought he was funning so he caught hold of his hand and away they ran towards the orchard behind the barn.

There hanging to a branch, head down was a dear little tree Bat busily washing his face and cleaning his wings.

"Just in time, Mr. Tree Batt," laughed Happy Giggles. "I guess, David, there isn't a cleaner fellow among the meadow folks than Mr. Tree Bat.

"Nothing like being neat and clean," chuckled Mr. Tree Bat, putting his wing into his mouth and drawing it back and forth, licking it carefully with his little tongue. "And we don't have it quite as handy as you boys do. We have to hang by our hind toes when we clean our faces and wings. You don t stand on your head to wash your face, do you, David?

"Nothing Like Being Clean."

"My goodness me, David replied laughing merrily. "Youre some acrobat believe me, to be able to hang head down and wash your face.

"Yes and I comb my hair the same way, chuckled Mr. Tree Bat and with the little claw of his thumb, he scratched his head and combed his hair. "Could you do that?

"I know I couldn t, laughed David. "It s hard enough for me to stand up straight and comb my hair. I know it would never get combed if I had to hang down to do it.

"Then I knew you wouldn t be able to sleep like I do," squeaked Mr. Tree Bat. "Take a look right over there on that limb nearest the barn." David and Happy Giggles glanced over, and there, hanging by her toes was Mrs. Tree Bat, fast asleep with two little baby bats clinging to her wings. "You'd get so dizzy you'd fall off, I'll bet."

"You are right," laughed David, "Ssh, Happy Giggles, let's not awaken Mrs. Tree Bat and her Babies. I've heard Mama say Bats didn't like the day-light."

"We don't," laughed Mr. Tree Bat, "But sometimes before the sun is down you'll see a Tree Bat flying around. You can always tell him by his red coat, just like mine, and Tree Bats, or Red Bats as some folks call us, are the very first to venture out of an evening."

Just then David saw his Daddy coming down the road and, bidding Happy Giggles good-by, he hustled in the back door to wash and clean up before his daddy turned in at the gate.

YOUR HEALTH

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M.D.,
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

WHY APPENDICITIS IS DISAPPEASRING FAST.

When I was a medical student we used to observe that cases, even surgical cases ran in "strings." We would have a lot of broken arms and then a series of broken skulls. There would be a number of gall-bladder cases and then a lot of appendicitis.

There was a time when appendicitis seemed almost epidemic. What has become of it?

In order to get this disease it is necessary to have lowered resistance from some cause or other, and then to have floating about in the system one of the pus producing germs.

Undoubtedly we are learning how to avoid lowered resistance. We are finding out that the simple hygiene measures --fresh air, sunlight, plenty of sleep, good food and exercise—are making us stronger, more vigorous, and more resistant to disease.

Likewise, we have been forced to believe that pus centers are dangerous. No longer is a "running ear" regarded as a harmless thing permitted to exist through a decade. No longer are diseased tonsils, pussy germs or abscessed teeth, "outgrown."

Very wisely we are giving an energetic attention to what used to be regarded as thrilling things. Experience and more advanced knowledge have taught us that we cannot afford to disregard enervating conditions and pus propagation.

But we continue to have occasional cases of appendicitis. We cannot expect to be 100 per cent perfect in our preventive measures.

Is pain in the abdomen a sure sign of this disease? Of course not, many a painful abdomen is nothing more than a sign of indigestion. But well defined and localized pain over the right side of the abdomen must give rise to the suspicion that all is not well with the appendix.

Rigidity—hardness, stiffness, tenseness—of the abdominal muscles in this region, is another suspicious symptom.

Digestive and intestinal symptoms, too, are likely to be observed. Almost always constipation is present. Except in the very gravest cases diarrhea is never met.

Sickness at the stomach and vomiting are among the signs sometimes seen. Tenderness on pressure over the right side may or may not be observed.

The temperature may not run above 103 degrees. If the temperature is high the pulse low, or vice versa, it is a disturbing combination.

Space does not permit discussion of treatment. The best advice I can give you, is to put the victim to bed, apply quantities of ice to the abdomen and send for the doctor. Do nothing else if the doctor is within reach.

Thin, Pale, Tired? Look Out For Chronic Fatigue

One of the most insidious ailments today is chronic fatigue. Thousands are only half-alive, constantly suffering with weakness, nervousness, palpitation of the heart, headaches, etc.—continually taking medicines—when, in the great majority of cases, the real trouble is chronic fatigue.

Chronic fatigue is entirely different from the "healthy" fatigue you feel after hard work. Chronic fatigue comes from within. Your nerves, muscles, organs, etc., have become run-down and cannot function properly.

To conquer it you must go to its cause—in the blood. For it is from the blood that every muscle, nerve and tissue gets its nourishment. So when you are thin, pale, tired and run-down, it is usually because your blood is thin and pale, lacking in sufficient organic iron to carry strength to the starved tissues.

What you need, then, is not mere tonics, but more organic iron in your blood, so it can carry strength and vigor to every part of your body.

But don't take the older mineral iron medicines which many doctors now say do little good. Take organic iron —Nuxated Iron—which is like the iron in your blood and like that in spinach and lentils. Unlike ordinary mineral iron it will not injure the teeth nor disturb the stomach, but is promptly assimilated.

Take Nuxated Iron for just two weeks and you'll be amazed how much stronger you feel—how the color comes back to your cheeks and the sparkle and life to your eyes. Money back if not improved. At all good druggists.

FAMOUS FORTUNES

By Barbara Bayne

JAY GOULD—
The "Financial Buccaneer."

Jay Gould, the founder of one of the most powerful fortunes in America, was one of the shrewdest and boldest financiers of modern times.

He was born in 1836 in New York, and his early years were spent in the environment of hard, grinding poverty. First, working for a blacksmith mornings and evenings for his board, he managed to attend school for several years, then, employed in a country store he arose at 3 a.m. to pursue his studies until time to begin the long day's work.

Later, he engaged to work for an engineer who was making maps, until he learned how the thing was done, then he went into the map-making business himself, clearing $5,000—his first money.

Casting about for another opening, he met a New York merchant, Zodac Pratt, who furnished $120,000 for the venture, and Gould went into the tanning business in Pennsylvania. Followed an intrigue with a leather merchant, Charles Leupp, whose subsequent suicide caused quite a stir in New York and some unfavorable comment anent Gould's methods.

Meanwhile, he had been quietly investing every dollar he made in the first mortgage bonds of the Rutland and Washington Railroad; gaining control, he manipulated them until they reached a high figure, then he sold out.

That trick had been turned so easily that he launched boldly into the railroad business, and from 1867 Gould's career attracted considerable attention. A quiet little man had bobbed up in the financial world that had to be reckoned with.

Gould saw that great land grants and railroad projects were easily acquired by having friends at the Capitol, and on the bench. So he proceeded along the line of least resistance. He did not differ, except in degree, from the rest. The Erie Railroad coup d'etat was a stirring chapter in Gould's career. He had gotten into the Erie on a fluke. Then, for once, Commodore Vanderbilt was caught napping, and Gould got out from under with a cool $2,000,000 the best of it.

But the most spectacular episode in Gould's meteoric career was when he planned the "gold conspiracy" which brought about one of the greatest panics in American history. On that memorable "Black Friday," Sept. 24, 1869, there were thousands ruined and dozens of suicides, but Jay Gould was richer by about $12,000,000.

Having accumulated $30,000,000 he was qualified to play with the Russell Sage group, and they secured control of the Union Pacific Railroad. In a period of 15 years Gould had become a power in the country, with the controlling vote in several railroads with their vast ramifications.

At Gould's death, in 1892, he left an estate of $140,000,000 to his six children. In the mausoleum in Woodlawn Cemetery, New York, costing $110,000, rests the body of the man who, in his boyhood, was too poor to afford shoes.

George J. Gould, his eldest son, a director of many railroads in the United States and Mexico, died May 16, 1923, in France.

Notwithstanding the great wealth of the Gould family, they are generally counted to be one of the most democratic of the present-day millionaires. And one can find much pleasure in contemplation of the satisfaction which Jay Gould would feel could he but see his descendants and know of their democratic activities.

In the early days of wireless the distress signal was CQD, but as the letters CQ were used for other abbreviated signals it was decided to use a distinctive signal that could be easily picked up. Hence SOS, consisting of three dots, three dashes, three dots.

ENTERS MAN'S FIELD.

Tired of Stenography, Becomes London's First Woman Conveyancer.

LONDON, Oct. 17.—(Associated Press.)—Kathleen Britter has become London's first woman conveyancer. And she does not see why any capable woman could not do her sort of work if she was interested in it.

The trouble with so many girls is that they get into a groove and stay there," she said. "I got tired of being a stenographer, studied real property and persuaded a firm that was advertising for a male conveyancer that a woman who handled that sort of work for solicitors for years could fill the place as well."

Miss Britter is 24 and has been a business woman for about five years. Her mother was housekeeper for the late Lord Leverhulme, who took an interest in the ambitions of the young stenographer and encouraged her to study law.

SOLUTION OF CROSS-WORD PUZZLE IN LAST ISSUE.

THIS BLOOD-BUILDER STRENGTHENS NERVES AND PROMOTES VIGOR

Everywhere You Will Find People Who Have Gained New Health Through the Use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Worry, overwork, severe shock and improper nourishment will lower the bodily tone, upsetting the delicate balance we call health. Those who can read the early signs of thinning blood can generally arrest the decline before any of the more painful symptoms appear, but the disease creeps on so stealthily that it is frequently well advanced before it is discovered.

Among the early symptoms of decline are pallor, especially of the lips, a slight palpitation of the heart, shortness of breath after walking a short distance and a tendency to tire easily. Continued decline causes nervousness, irritability, depression, sleeplessness, headaches and fainting spells.

If you want vigorous health, strong nerves and good blood begin treatment now with a tonic that has been used successfully in many families for generations. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills build up the blood and enable it to carry nourishment to enfeebled organs, nerves, muscles and tissues. This new blood will so tone the entire system that colds and epidemic diseases cannot get a foothold.

Proof of the value of the remedy is found in the statements of those who have used it.

When Nerves Are Starved.

Men and women with nerves out of gear become irritable and fretful and are blamed for ill-temper; whereas the fault is not theirs. Their poor health is the cause. The tired, overbusy wife or mother, whose household cares have worn her out; the breadwinner whose anxiety for his family has worried him until he is thin and ill, are the nerve sufferers who become rundown. Their nerves, like all bodily organs, need healthy red blood; worry tells on their digestion and their nerves are ill-fed. In such cases a course of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is necessary, for these pills make new blood and tone up the nervous system. The patient becopes full of energy and happiness for themselves and others returns. Mrs. Wm. Hughes, Coldwater, Ont., has proved the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and does not hesitate to say so. She says: "Two years ago I suffered untold agonies with my nerves. The pains in my head and the back of my neck were unbearable. I was depressed and cranky all the time. All the rest I took and best of medical attention did me no good. I was advised to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and after taking them for a time felt much better. I continued their use with great benefit, and after my baby was born they were the only tonic that helped me nurse her. I found them a splendid blood enricher, and cannot recommend them too highly."

Advice to Young Girls.

The anaemia of young girls comes on gradually, beginning with languor, indisposition to exertion and a feeling of fatigue. Later comes palpitation of the heart and headaches. In the majority of cases constipation is present, and the complexion takes on a greenish-yellow pallor. The treatment is quite easy and simple. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are just the tonic to remedy this wretched state of health. They act directly upon the blood, and as it becomes rich and pure, strength and activity returns, the glow of health comes to the cheeks, and soon the trouble will disappear and good health follow. Miss Pearl Parks, R. R. No. 1, Reaboro, Ont., has proved the value of this medicine, and her statement will point the way to health to all other weak girls. She says: "I was very ill with anaemia. I could not sleep at night; my appetite was poor, my face and lips were very pale and my eyes dull. I got so weak that I could not go upstairs without resting. I took dizzy and fainting spells, had no ambition whatever, and did not care to go about. I was in this condition for nearly a year. I had treatment from two doctors; but did not regain my strength, so my mother, who was very uneasy about me, decided I should try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. After using the pills for a while I felt somewhat better, and continued taking them until I had used about a dozen boxes, when I was again well and strong. I can strongly recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for the treatment of any suffering from anaemia."

Rheumatism in the Blood.

Rheumatism comes with thin, impure blood, and can only be driven out of the system by enriching and purifying the blood.

The chief symptom of rheumatism is pain. The most successful treatment is the one that quickly banishes this disagreeable symptom. Many rheumatic people suffer pains that could be avoided by building up the blood. The value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in rheumatic trouble is proven by the testimony of Mrs. A. Bryson, Arthur, Ont., who says: "I was so used up with rheumatism in my shoulders and neck that I could not turn in bed without the help of my husband, and the pain at times was almost unbearable. I took doctors' medicine which did me little or no good. Then I began taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and have since been free from rheumatism. I can also recommend the pills to young mothers, as in my own case I found they are unexcelled. I may also add that I recommended Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to a neighbor who took fainting spells at the change of life, and who could not walk any distance. She took the pills for nearly three months and they made her a strong well woman."

Unable to Do Any Work.

Among those who have proved the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is Mr. Austin Wile, Hemford, N. S., who says: "I have reason to be deeply grateful for what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done for me. An abscess developed in my head, and the doctor who was called in said my whole system was poisoned. My appetite completely failed and I grew so weak I was unable to do any work. The doctor's medicine did not help me so I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. At this stage I was reduced almost to a skeleton, and my friends did not look for my recovery. I soon found, however, that the pills were helping me, and after taking them for about two months I was fully restored to health. My case was known to all my neighbors and my recovery looked upon as almost a miracle."

Keep Your System Toned Up.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills assist digestion, correct the lassitude, the palpitation of the heart, shaky nerves and the pallor of the face and lips that are the results of thin impure blood.

Try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for anemia, rheumatism, neuralgia, nervousness. Take them as a tonic if you are not in the best physical condition and cultivate a resistance that will keep you well and strong. Get a box from the nearest drug store and begin this treatment now.

If you will send your name and address to The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., a little book, "Building Up the Blood," will be mailed you postpaid. This little book contains many useful health hints.

You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville Ont.

HOME BREW NECESSARY.

Says Astronomer, But Opinion Refers to Life on Mars.

PASADENA, Cal., Oct. 17.—Home brew is a necessity on the planet Mars, provided there is life there and also provided that life requires moisture to live in the opinion of Dr. Charles E. St. John, astronomer and physicist of the Mount Wilson observatory near here.

The water supply on Mars, as revealed in a series of tests just completed by Dr. St. John, is about one-twentieth that found on the tops of the semi-arid mountains of Southern California.

Besides being on perpetual emergency rations of water, the Martians, if there are any such creatures, also are short of what this planet calls air. The oxygen supply there is only 60 percent of that on the heights of Mount Everest in the Himalayas, and on Mount Everest explorers must use oxygen tanks to keep alive.

In the matter of heat Mars is better off than was formerly supposed. In fact, says Dr. St. John, the Mars temperature, often described as excessively cold, may be nearly the same as that of this earth, since Mars absorbs all but about fifteen percent of the light and heat reaching it from the sun. As a basis of comparison, it is stated that this planet absorbs only one-half the light and heat received from the sun, and reflects the remainder.

Tomorrow's HOROSCOPE

By Genevieve Kemble

SUNDAY AND MONDAY OCTOBER 18 19.

Sunday s horoscope holds promise of lively conditions in all that pertains to the spiritual and mystical. There may be a favorable change and those in the employment of others are under fortunate rule.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a lively year, with possible change and new enterprises. Advancement is probable for those qualified in the employment of others. A child born on this day should be lively, enterprising and may be gifted with peculiar talents.

Monday s astrological forecast is rather contradictory, there being sighs of good fortune as well as reverses, gains and losses. There is promise of important change, but at the same time a serious disappointment or setback. The health should be given proper attention. Postpone travel.

Those whose birthday it is may have a checkered year, with gains and loss, good fortune and ill. The health should be cared for and travel, change and removal deferred. A child born on this day is likely to have a rather eventful career, successes following reverses. It should be warned to be careful in selecting friends, as it may be subject to betrayals.

THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS AND THE OPIUM TRAFFIC

The following address on the League of Nations and the opium traffic was delivered at the last regular meeting of the Local Council of Women by Mrs. K. S. Wightman:—

"The work of the League of Nations is of such tremendous scope—its various facets, ramifications and activities are so numerous, so world-embracing, and so interesting, that one feels at a loss to decide by what avenue to approach it. The more I have read—and I confess that because of my dark ignorance of the subject I have had to do a great deal of reading, to attain to even my present very incomplete knowledge of the League's activities—the more I have been convinced of my own unfitness, to prepare a paper which will do justice to even one phase of the subject.

"One thing however, I feel I have learned very clearly. My early impressions of the League of Nations were very vague and hazy, as of a faraway, distant, impersonal force, blank as to personnel, slowly evolving gigantic ideas and operations, very general, very extensive but like some great cosmic force, little related to the lives of individual members of the human family—little related to us here in Peterborough at the other side of the world. I know now that these early impressions were wrong; that, on the contrary, the League is the personal and representative creature of each and all of us, directed by us to do certain specific tasks not otherwise possible, responsible to us for their execution, and dependent upon us for the support which makes its work possible. Even though the personnel of the League be a compendium of the most colourful, vivid and forceful personalities of our twentieth century world, its work can never advance, so long as the individual citizens of the nations regard it with that indifference that is born of ignorance.

"On the 28th day of April, 1919, in the beautiful salon of crimson and gold, in the Quai d'Orsay at Paris, the League of Nations was born. Here and now took place the most solemn and august assembly in the history of the world. At the end of the green-covered table, directly before the statue of Peace over the mantel, in a golden throne, sat the venerable and bushy-headed Clemenceau. At his right, with the American delegation, was President Wilson. At his left, with the British delegation, sat Lloyd George. These men were the Big Three of the Conference. In the chairs of rose satin and ebony ranged along the table, were President Venizelos of Greece, Europe's foremost Democrat; Field-Marshall Foch, the saviour of civilization; the two British envoys from India in native costume of picturesque and flowing robes; General Bliss; Arthur Balfour, England's statesman-philosopher; these, together with representatives of other allied powers, while a hundred or more diplomats from the four corners of the world looked on, put in motion the machinery of the most ambitious experiment in government, man has ever essayed.

Since that time the League has grown and waxed strong. It has permanent quarters of its own, the Palace of Nations, on the North shore of the Lake in the beautiful and world-famous city of Geneva. Here in September last met the Sixth Assembly of the League of Nations. In a number of the Atlantic Monthly sometime past, appeared a description of the League Assembly as it now is. It runs something like this, as I remember it—I haven't been able to find the magazine——. 'Geneva, in September means blue lakes between purple hills, showing the first suggestion of the glorious colours of Autumn, and Mont Blanc, snowcapped, and radiant, through the Autumn haze. A noble setting for the greatest of adventures in the political laboratory. Here are assembled the ablest men, and a few of the women of our twentieth century world, at grips with the problem that has baffled us from the time of Aristotle until now—the problem of how to enable sovereign states, some three score there are now—to live together in the world in peace. The little provincial city is transformed for the mouth into the world's capital.' For days before the Assembly, trains from Paris, Milan and the East, pour delegations into the city. In the Assembly Room of the Palace of the League of Nations is a cosmopolitan gathering. Picture the scene: Representatives from more than fifty countries, speaking all the languages of the world. Men and women, ambassadors, prime ministers, secretaries for foreign affairs, members of parliaments, professors of international law and specialists in social welfare from the four quarters of the globe. Persian fez and Hindu turban, tall clean-shaven men from Britain, bearded Frenchmen, solidly-built Hollanders, fair-haired Lithuanians, olive-skinned Latin-Americans, swarthy Greeks, almond-eyed Orientals, vikings from the North, these, dominated by the fine and courtly presence of Lord Robert Cecil, the guardian spirit of the League, working together, and somehow getting along together in one compact organization, harmonizing ideas, ideals and standards, as variegated as those of the forty different states in the family of nations, and bringing about nothing less than a revolution in international relations.

"We shall not look in vain for our own countrymen, for Canada, who proved herself fit to stand with the foremost in the stress of war, has not been backward in this great work of peace. Lord Robert Cecil told us in Toronto, in April, 1923, that the Canadian delegates to the Assembly, have been among the most distinguished and effective of all the delegations, and the value of our co-operation was recognized this September by the election of Senator Dandurand, President of the Assembly. Sir Herbert James has been Financial Director of the League since its inception, and Canada has now a permanent office at the Quai de Mont Blanc, in charge of Dr. W. A. Riddel, Professor Eastman of the University of British Columbia, is now chief of general studies in the Research Division of the Labour Office. And this year, Miss Elsie Henderson of Winnipeg, has been appointed to the staff of the information section, with the special task of co-operating with the women's organizations of Canada.

"In its short term of life, the League has checked five wars, has repatriated its hundreds of thousands of prisoners of war, has stopped epidemics, has saved refugees, has fed famine-stricken multitudes, has checked the traffic in white slaves, and has grappled with the trade in opium.

"Each of these activities of the League is a story in itself—a story of misunderstandings overcome, of dangers averted, of co-operative action secured. It is the story of the last-named—the trade in Opium, that I shall ask you to follow with me into some of its details. It is a story bristling with technicalities, statistics, disagreements and misunderstandings.

"Long before the war the problem of the opium traffic had assumed such proportions that attempts at international action were made. The International Convention of Shanghai opened the question in 1909. Our present Premier was Canada's representative on that occasion and the direct result for us was the Canadian Narcotic Drugs Act, which is still in force, and which brought to an end the refining of opium in Vancouver. In 1912, a Conference at the Hague prepared a Convention for the control of the production, export and import of the drug. The difficulty then remained of securing ratification of this Convention, by the Nations concerned, and this difficulty had not been overcome at the outbreak of war in 1914.

"Here, then, was a task awaiting the League of Nations. The First Assembly accepted the duty of collecting data on the subject, dealing with disputes, and exercising general international control. An Advisory Committee was appointed which has met at Geneva each year since 1921. The Convention of 1912 has been accepted practically universally, and the Committee has dealt with a large number of questions connected with the traffic. An important part of its work has been to devise methods of preventing contraband trade in drugs, and considerable success has attended the plan proposed by the Commission, and accepted by the leading countries, of using import and export certificates. The Committee has also collected data on the production, manufacture and trade in opium, and has investigated other phases of the problem.

"Long continued as the fight against opium has been, facts about it are being continually forgotten, or obscured by political or financial obsessions. The difficulties to be overcome are well illustrated by the events of the Conference of February, 1924, when a somewhat serious difference of opinion between England and the United States, resulted in the withdrawal of Mr. Porter, the American representative. In reality of course, since both governments have the same objects at heart, the difference may be regarded as arising out of a mere misunderstanding, due to differences of situation and lack of knowledge of the problems faced by countries with Eastern dependencies. Mr. Porter, representative of a non-producing country, and apparently unable to look at things from anything but the American viewpoint, was led by his uncompromising zeal for the instant abolition of a drug which has been lin genera and continuous use in Asia, since the days of Babylon, to the use of somewhat intemperate language. He refused entirely to meet the views of England, and went even so far as to hint that the attitude of the British Government was not bona fide; that it really desired to safeguard the continuance of a trade, which is of considerable importance to certain of its Eastern dependencies. Fortunately for the sake of international co-operation, Mr. Potter's attitude is not a typical one. Lord Robert Cecil, in his reply, expressed more truly the spirit of the League, when he said that while such remarks, if addressed to him in a private house, would lead him to take up his hat and leave, it must be kept in mind that a great principle was at stake, and an effort must be made to arrive at an understanding.

"The basis of Mr. Porter's attack appears to lie in the fact that India is a producer of opium, that opium is exported from India to British Borneo and the Malay Dependencies, and that the Indian Government derives a revenue from its control of production. Added to this is the assumption that the morphia and heroin which are said to be ravaging American youth, are derivatives of Indian opium, produced under the sanction of the British Government. The inference is, that since Britain does not immediately and totally prohibit the production of the drug, she is not sincere in her avowed desire to check its use. Since this view has been widely expressed in American publications, it may be worth while to examine it in some detail.

"Opium has long been widely used in Mohammedan countries, where alcohol is forbidden, and recently the use of its main derivatives, morphia and heroin, has been increasing in the United States. But the ways in which the drug is used, and the effects of such, differ very widely in different countries. In Persia, Turkestan, Arabia and India, opium is eaten, as a stimulant, a febrifuge, a narcotic, a prophylactic, the most universal and well-understood of medicines; somewhat as we use asplrin and bromides I believe. It is rarely abused, and it is the almost universal verdict of expert medical opinion in India, that in the case of a native population, lacking adequate medical care, it does far more good than harm.

"The smoking of opium, which is practically confined to China and to places like Burmah and the Malay Peninsula, which have large Chinese or semi-Chinese populations, is quite another matter. In moderation it may do little harm to the invididual smoker, but it has an undoubted tendency to create a "craving," and when used to excess may lead to results quite as bad or worse, than those due to the excessive use of raw alcoholic spirits. This Britain has recognized, and has used every effort to stamp out opium smoking in India. That she has been successful in doing so may be inferred from the statement of Girja Shankar Bajpai that in five years' experience as magistrate, in two of the most cosmopolitan cities of Northern India, he met with not a single case of the infraction of these laws.

"Finally there is the use that is made of it in America, where it is consumed almost exclusively in the form of its main derivatives, morphia and heroin. The use of these drugs, is, of course, entirely vicious, even in the smallest quantities. It is strictly comparable to the use of cocaine. By common consent it should be absolutely prohibited, except where it is ordered by a qualified medical man and administered under his direct supervision. Even then it must be classed as a most dangerous drug.

"It would require the descriptive power of a De Quincey to give an adequate idea of the horrors of drug addiction. It is usually a difficult matter to decide how far the deficiencies of health or capacity in the body, affect temperament and character. We do not always know what is primary cause and what is reaction. But in the case of drug addiction the results are startling. Health is gradually undermined, but far worse than this is the effect upon character. Drug addicts become cunning, vindictive, untruthful, careless about personal cleanliness, subject to other temptations than those of drugs. So specious are the effects, that to the victim, the result at the moment seems exactly the opposite. A drug addict, listless and depressed, suffering from a sense of degradation and failure, suffering too, great physical discomfort, (and if the drug is too long withheld, acute physical pain) to these, the little prick of the needle, the smff of "happy dust," brings instant ease; still more enticing, brings too, a meretricious exhilaration, a sense of power and brilliance, and a lift of the being out of the gloom of a grey fog, into the warmth and brightness of a radiant though artificial sunlight. Everything seems easy, contempt of self is suppressed, grief is assuaged. Let us not forget that it is often the agony of grief which has driven people to this terrible anodyne, and not merely a vicious desire for sensation, or even hope for the relief from physical pain. Morphine dulls grief, and for that very reason no doubt, it can maim character.

"Once in the grip of this habit, cure is extremely difficult, entails terrible tortures to the patient, and often results in complete mental collapse. The cure requires in the patient the very qualities of determination and idealism, which have been undermined and partially destroyed by the habit itself. Cures are occasionally effected, but I fear that the large number of confirmed addicts are released only by death.

"In this connection one word may be said of the constant stimulation of this and other vices, by a race of creatures who, for the sake of money, make it their business in life to tempt people, especially young people. So lucrative is the illicit trade in these drugs, that the vile traffickers use every means to stimulate the demand which it pays them so well to supply. They seem to have an uncanny knowledge of those who are good subjects for temptation, and are unerring in detection of anyone who, even though cured, has once been a drug addict.

"I have sketched this lurid picture because I wish to give some idea, of why people feel so passionatelyab the question, and why the League of Nations is in the forefront of the fight against the production of these drugs.

"However, the argument of Mr. Porter, American delegate at the February Conference, that India is responsible for these drugs, chiefly morphia and heroin, is entirely without grounds. It seems not generally known that Indian opium is unsuitable for the manufacture of these derivatives, and is not in fact employed for that purpose at all. So far as the manufacture of derivatives is concerned, India practically does not come into the picture. So much has been written and said about this question of India, especially by American protagonists, that it is really necesszry to be quite clear on the point.

"Great Britain demonstrated her integrity of purpose regarding the export of opium nearly twenty years ago, when in 1907, she came to an agreement with the Chinese Government, that the export of Indian opium to China, should be reduced by ten per cent. per annum, provided that the cultivation of the poppy in China was simultaneously reduced in the same proportion. Both parties observed the agreement, and in 1917, export to China totally ceased, entailing a sacrifice of $20,000,000 on on the part of the Indian Government. No doubt China carried out her part of the contract by the use of very drastic measures, far more drastic than any Western State would venture to use. People found with a patch of poppy cultivation were apt, not only to have their crop destroyed, but to be executed. Unfortunately the outbreak of the Chinese Revolution disorganized the Government, and cultivation of the poppy has again sprung up vigourously. The crux of the matter is of course, the restoration of a strong Chinese Government, able to give effect to her undoubted desire to restrict production.

"Britain, in the meantime, is faced with the necessity of exporting opium to her Eastern Dependencies rather than see them flooded with smuggled drugs, outside government control. The question of contraband trade in these drugs is a very serious one, and after a certain point, every restriction of legitimate supply means an increase of illegitimate supply. Therefore we have denied ourselves the gratification of making the fine gesture demanded by Mr. Porter, of an immediate suppression of the export and import of opium. Ours is a nation not fond of gestures which cannot be a guide to action. Only very recently, at the August Conference, this question of smuggling was brought into some prominence. There was some doubt as to whether Portugal was keeping faith in her pledgees. The Secret Service discovered that imports opium to Macao during the past year have been far in excess of the stipulated amount and that a part of thisexces had been re-exported to China. Portugal offered no adequate explanation, the Minister from Portugal merely remarking that in the matter of smuggling opium, they were only a minnow among whales. It is worth noting, however that the Indian Government has forbidden all exports of opium to Macao and China.

The Conference of February continued its work and formulated practical measures, for the control of these drugs. Unfortunately until all producing countries accept these measures, the possibility of contraband trade cannot be removed. The August Conference carried the work along still one step farther. It is aiming to secure complete prohibition of the manufacture of heroin, and has secured the consent of most of the leading countries. Measures are being taken too, to check the smuggling evil by treaties modelled on that of the United States and Canada, for the extradition of drug-smugglers. It is yet too early to estimate the progress made by this last Conference, but the fight continues with every hope of ultimate success.

I should like to add a word as to our individual and personal duty to the League of Nations. In all the speeches and writings of the protagonists of the League, it is interesting to note that the theme sustained throughout, is an insistent dwelling upon the dependence to the success of the League, on the individual and collective interest, and imagination, and stimulation of all members of the human family. Its Assembly and Council, its Court and Secretariat, its Commissions on Disarmament and Mandates, its international organizations for health and for labour, will ultimately cease to act if the peoples which have created them lose interest and turn away. The nations will never disarm because there is a Disarmament Commission, nor submit their troubles to a Court simply because a Court has been created. No body of men in Geneva or any other place, no matter how sincere and devoted, can give life to principles which should be given world-wide stimulus. The success of the League will depend, not on its written powers and its organization, but on the life-blood of popular interest.

We may think that the driving force needed to make the League effective, must come from the few who are leaders in the nations of the world. Their share is indeed a large one; but in these democratic days, the motive power for any great undertaking, must be provided by the public opinion of the great mass of the people. No individual, however insignificant, and no organization, however narrow in its scope, can evade the duty of helping to create that public opinion. Only so can we hope that the League of Nations—the most promising method of international action yet devised—will be successful in curing the weary world of its age-long ills.

This great enterprise has been dreamed of by poets and prophets in past ages, laboured for during recent decades, and actually produced through the travail and bitter agony of the World War. For this, those boys whom we watched march away, hearts full of unavailing valour,' suffered torture, mutilation and death. The League is a living tomb of everlasting remembrance, wherein their glory is enshrined. If we stand behind it, not in dumb colourless acquiesence, but with enthusiastic support, it may influence the lives of millions of humans for centuries to come. It is for us to be able to say of the League of Nations, to our children and our children's children, This is the sword of your fathers that has cloven dragons, so use it that we, who have kept it bright, may be proud of you, and of our pains, and of its continuing valiance'."

EXCEPTIONAL RIDING COMFORT

The riding comfort of a motor car is not dependent upon its length, weight or cost, any more than the comfort of a home depends upon its size.

If the seats are deep enough and the proper distance from the floor; if the seat backs are correctly pitched for relaxation; if the upholstery is sufficiently stuffed and there is plenty of leg room; above all, if the springs are rightly designed and of proper length, you will have exceptional riding comfort. Otherwise, you will not.

Dodge Brothers, with characteristic thoroughness, studied and experimented with these details for years. Their findings were ultimately incorporated in the design of Dodge Brothers Motor Car—without question now a vehicle that ranks with the first in this vitally important feature.

Policy-holders in the Mutual Life of Canada earn $3,697,142.38 on their investments

Mutual Investments Help Men Sleep at Night

THE MUTUAL LIFE OF CANADA has had the benefit of shrewd, far-sighted counsel in the placing of its investments. Government bonds, Municipal bonds and debentures and such securities form a very large proportion of the total investments of the Company. Many of these, purchased during the war period and its aftermath, will yield high interest for long terms to come.

The strength of these selected investments means absolute security for Mutualists. The profitable income they assure lowers the cost of Mutual insurance, because under the Mutual principle, the entire net profits are paid back to policyholders.

Let us send you the Mutual Book which explains in full detail.

MOST EVERYBODY every day—everywhere—READS A NEWSPAPER

What Do They Read Most Thoroughly in the Smaller Cities and Towns?

Is it the big metropolitan daily, some of which arrive in the morning? IT IS NOT! It's the local daily paper of the home town—every time! It comes first in popular demand. The city paper, as a rule, is merely glanced over hurriedly for important news of world events.

National Advertisers Should Heed This

Don't be misled into thinking your advertising campaign in the large city papers is all that is necessary for complete coverage in the smaller cities and towns. It is not—far from it! The metropolitan dailies coming into the smaller cities of Ontario cover a mere fraction of the residents of these places and districts surrounding and the very people you want to reach with your advertising message.

About one-tenth is the estimated coverage of the market outside the cities by the large city papers. And the richest market in the Province, concentrated in and around the smaller cities, is merely touched.

The Small City Dailies Afford a 90% Coverage of Their Important Fields

It's the home town paper, with its local current news and reader-interest, that dominates the local field.

Here's the list of Ontario small city dailies that are absolutely necessary for complete coverage in an advertising campaign outside the large cities. Note the way they cover their respective fields:

KIWANIS LADIES' NIGHT

Kiwanis Ladies' Night, held at the Empress Hotel last evening, was a big event. The Life Underwriters' Association of the city, who had arranged for a visit from Judge Mott of Toronto last evening, combined their meeting with that of the Kiwanis Club, and the members of both societies numbered one hundred and fourteen, including a large number of ladies, who enjoyed an excellent repast in the Empress dining-room, listened to two exceptionally brilliant addresses and remained until midnight to dance to music provided by Roy Nickrenz' three-piece orchestra. The special speaker for the evening on the Kiwanis programme was Dr. Ira McKay of Montreal, Dean of Arts at McGill University.

Seldom has any Peterboro audience been enabled to listen to two such splendid addresses on one evening. Dr. McKay, of the visionary type, looking forward into the future and back into the past with the eyes of a seer of dreams, couching his thoughts in eloquent periods, and injecting all the force of a dynamic personality and a vast enthusiasm into his address on "Some Pressing Problems of Canadian Citizenship," and Judge Mott, of the Juvenile Court, Toronto, the former schoolmaster who has made such a name for himself in his work among the juveniles of the big city. Giving the impression of a powerful brain whose activities have been turned to the task he has set himself, the reclaiming and re-generating of children whose first steps have been along the wrong road in life, Judge Mott has a broad, humorous outlook and a plain-matter-of-fact way of setting forth opinions and facts gleaned from a long experience in his work. While the first speaker dealt more with abstract problems of a wide nature, Judge Mott came down to cases in his delineation of some of the trials of youth in his discourse on "Your Boy and Mine." The applause which followed both addresses was long-continued and enthusiastic.

The president of the Kiwanis Club, Mr. Charles Cook, presided during the first portion of the programme, and Mr. Isaac McNabb, president of the local Life Underwriters' Association, introduced Judge Mott later in the evening, taking the chair for the latter's address, and incidentally presenting Mr. Cook with a life insurance policy, written in Chinese hieroglyphics, with the demand that it be read by the receiver. Mr. Cook made a brave attempt and got through the difficulty in his usual canny fashion. Dr. McKay was introduced by Mr. Joseph Wearing.

Mr. J. John acted as sergeant-at-arms, and boosters for the evening were Messrs. Harry Huffman and Jack Jeffries. Prizes were won by Mrs. I. W. Scott, Mrs. I. Lillico, Mrs. Jack McNabb, Mrs. N. Tobin, Mrs. V. Moffat and Mrs. E. R. Bolin. Community singing was led by Hugh Niven, with Fred. Chenhall at the piano. During the evening, Mr. Francis Sutton contributed a violin rendition of "Souvenir" that called for an encore, following hearty applause.

Dr. McKay's Address.

"We must be able to idealize the real before we realize the ideal," declared Dr. McKay, toward the close of an address that illustrated very effectively the clear, analytical idealistic trend of thought of the speaker, whose talk on "Some Pressing Problems of Canadian Citizenship" covered a wide range of thought.

Referrng first to the "divided allegiance' 'of Canadians some of whom thought that Canada should be for the Canadians, others determined everything with regard to its relation to the Mother Land, and still others who only thought of Canada as a small portion of a great Empire. Dr. McKay alluded to the sentiment between the two great provinces of Ontario and Quebec as being one of "friendly juxtaposition" only with many gestures of friendliness and no real mixing. Adverting to the problem of the Maritimes, a section evidently dear to his heart as a native Nova Scotian, he enumerated its difficulties as having been caused by several elements; the substitution of steel for wooden ships, and the consequent closing of the various establishments connected with the old-time wooden vessels; the mixed farming problem; flotation, an evil which had touched the Maritimes dangerously, when any promising industry in that section was instantiy open to the touch of the promoter who watered the stock, and to the evil of the "absentee financial magnate, who conducted a business with no vital interest in its success"; the isolation of the Maritimes; for "the Prime Minister is right he say that the Eastern provinces should look for markets elsewhere, but they are not going to do this with trade treaties made at Ottawa"; the educational system in vogue which turns out University professors and professional men by the score, but has little regard for the real needs of the community, and finally, bad government, which had increased the debt of the Maritime Provinces from a total of $450,000 in 1882 to its present bulging proportions of thirty-seven millions, and an annual cost in the Provincial services of five and one-half millions.

Going on to speak of the problems of the West, "from Thunder Bay," the speaker enumerated the differences of opinion with regard to a question like the tariff as held by residents of different sections of the country. "I live in Peterboro, I am a protectionist, but if I live in Saskatoon, I am a free trader, and I can't escape from either conclusion. There is something fundamental in the tariff problem that should life it out of the realm of politics altogether. We do not want more politicians in our country, but rather free-minded people who are prepared to make sacrifices for the sake of a common destiny."

The Second Problem.

"The other problem is the railway problem," said Dr. McKay, quoting figures with regard to both railway systems. Last year, the receipts per mile on the Canadian Pacific Railway were $8,900, and the cost per mile $7,100, leaving a profit per mile of $1,800. On the C. N. R., receipts per mile were $10,771, and the cost $9,900, leaving a profit of $871. "Now supposing we had the receipts of the C.N.R. and the cost of the C.P.R., the profit per mile would be $3,671. On 21,000 miles, that would equal $77,091,000, or within a penny of the total capital and current deficit of the road. Give the C.N.R. the same type of management of the C.P.R., and you will see it succeed. There is only one way to solve the railway problem, and that is to take it out of politics altogether, just as there is one way to solve the labor problem. If the working man would do a fair day's work for his money, there would be no need to decrease his wages, and if the capitalist would do with less personal extravagance, the same result would be attained."

Dr. McKay recommended the employment of more men of science, as a solution for the nation's ills. "Science, touched by sentiment and illuminated by patriotism, is the greatest instrument for good that any nation can possess." He admitted that Canada was not rich in such scientific material but said, "We have sent abroad for a Van Horne and a Shaughnessy. We can do the same again." He also asked his audience to remember the men who had made this country what it is, the coureurs du bois, the Scotch pioneers, the courageous Roman Catholic missionaries who had blazed the trail for the men and women of to-day, "Tupper and Cartier and Thompson and Laurier, the goodly company of incorrigible optimists who made this Canada of ours. Boast about your country. As someone has said, 'If you can think of nothing else to boast of, boast of the tides in the Bay of Fundy. They have nothing like them anywhere else in the world'."

"Your Boy and Mine."

Judge Mott of Toronto prefaced his talk on boyhood problems with an extremely complimentary reference to the address given by the previous speaker.

"The problem of the rearing and training of the child of to-day, whether in the home or the school, has not received consideration commensurate to its needs. The problem is not one of arithmetic. How many parents are there that think much about their relationship with their own children or give it an opportunity to unfold itself. The problem to-day is a consideration of the means of eliminating the wastage in the child life of the country. We have all been seized with the idea of getting a living and not for what or why we are getting a living. We are not here to get a living, but we are here to make a contribution from our own life or through our children for the welfare of the land in which we live. Some parents think of little else than making a living, but the great problem is the home life, and the centre of the home is the child. All men and women should see that every child has a fair chance to develop. If the children of Peterboro are growing up under abnormal conditions, who is to blame? We can never get away from our responsibility and our inter-relationship, one with the other. To every weak one in the community should be extended the strength of the many.

"The corrective view of life is best instilled in the home. I wonder if we place more obligation on the school in the bringing up of our children than we do on the home?

"The mother is the centre of the life of the tiny boy, but in the habit forming years between ten and twelve, the father should look after his boy. In these years the child is like clay in the potter's hands and if you neglect him you will inevitably see the folly of your ways.

"The old idea of education was to consider a child's mind like a sack and to pour knowledge into it. Now we think of education as the power to know and feel, but above all, to express. The negative command in a child's life is useless. There are many instincts that must be expressed and one of the applications of this expression is the provision for physical exercise.

"There is a difference in the habits of boys and girls in their manner of doing things. A boy does things for the doing, but a girl does them for the pleasure she will give others, as a woman's life is largely one of service. Just as a woman bobs her hair because she feels by doing so she will be appreciated by another all the more.

Judge Mott illustrated his idea of allowing certain instincts to have their expression by recounting the instance when he sent two boys out from his school to have it out with each other, and after the fray, watched them develop a lasting friendship. "The pugnacious instinct is natural to the bay. Character is the result of the play of instincts or environment. The boy with a pubnacious instinct allowed to develop to a certain extent will grow up to be a man who fights for what he thinks is right and fights against that which is wrong."

The acquisitive instinct, the instinct of the boy to gather up articles of little value and make treasures of them, was also alluded to, and recommended for tolerance on the part of the parents. This instinct, suppressed in early life, often led, in the speaker's opinion, to the habit of thieving in later years, just as the suppression of the gang instinct leads to "what you all recognize—a lodge-crazy man," he declared amid much laughter.

"Let your boy join the gang, but be sure the gang is under good leadership."

Many of the problems of boy life arise from the inferiority complex development, said Judge Mott, relating the story of the little boy who ran away from home because he was made to wash the dishes and the clothes in a poor household, and consequently earned the name of "Bridget" from his playmates. The correction by the mother of this condition and the presentation to the child of a collie dog which gave him an enviable position among his mates, turned him into a contented and home loving child.

A hearty vote of thanks to the two speakers of the evening was voiced by Mr. W. W. Richman, representing the Life U[illegible]rs, and seconded by Rev. J. D. Paterson for the Kiwanis club.

MISS MACKENZIE FETED BY CLUB

Address Full of Enthusiasm and Encouragement to Young Golfers.

COMPLIMENTS COURSE

TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 13 (Canadian Press.)—Miss Ada Mackenzie, who is conceded by her golf associates as probably the leading lady golfer in Canada, was the guest of honor at a luncheon given by the members of the Ladies Golf and Tennis Club. Mrs. Cockshutt, wearing her Canadian-made purple and grey woolen costume with purple hat adorned with grey cocque feathers, gave an address, complimenting Miss Mackenzie on her golf victories and the club members on their new clubhouse and links. The address given by Miss Mackenzie, who won the Duchess of Connaught s Challenge Cup this year, was full of fine enthusiasm and encouragement for the new players of the club to go on and win the Challenge Cup for the Ladies Golf and Tennis Club another year. "This will be very different, as our standing is not as high as the American or English, and the golf season is shorter, she warned. An interesting feature is that the Women's senior golfers of Canada have accepted an invitation to play their championships on this new course next year, and hope the following year to hold the Canadian open championships on it. Miss Mackenzie said they had achieved all their objectives so far, and had completed all the constructions of the course excepting one green, and that would be finished before the season ended.

BOY DROWNED.

Harry Ground, Six, Slipped From Log Into the Water.

TORONTO, Oct. 17 (Canadian Press.)—Harry Stanley Ground, 6-year-old son of Herbert Ground, farmer, of White Rose, near Aurora, was drowned in Haine's Lake yesterday. The boy was standing on a log near the bank, and slipped into the water.

Wild Session Of Exchange With Upward Price Move

NEW YORK, Oct. 17. — Canadian Press. — The flood gates of speculation staggering under the load of swollen streams of buying orders pouring in from all sections of the list, burst upon the floor of the New York Stock exchange to-day, and swept the prices upward on one of the wildest sessions witnessed in recent years. The deluge reached its maximum intensity in motor stocks, which were whirled up one to seven points on sales running into hundreds of thousands of shares. The total number of transactions in the first hour were over 700,000 shares.

When the National Championship Three-Cushion Billiard League opens its fourth annual season on October 19 the field will consist of six contestants for the title, instead of twelve as last year. The reduction in the number of players is expected to result in a tighter race and a higher caliber of billiards.

REPORT TO INSTITUTES

The following report was read at the various Teachers' Conventions by the delegates who attended the Ontario Educational Association meeting in Toronto:

Although Easter came particularly late this year, the 1925 meeting of the Ontario Educational Association was in no way inferior to any one of its many successful predecessors. The attendance was an advance on that of even the previous year and the interest was sustained by a fine array of speakers who presented topics of interest at this present junction of the world's progress in education.

The meetings of the General Association, which included all the Sections and Departments of the Association, were held in Convocation Hall, at which Dr. McDougall, Principal of Ottawa Collegiate Institute, presided with dignity and grace. His presidential address was a review of the wonderful growth of the O.E.A. showing the progress that had been made from the days when the Association was composed of a mere handful of enthusiasts who met in one room and whose report was a little vest-pocket pamphlet of a very few pages to its present proud position of influence and leadership.

The meetings of the Association have always been opened with devotional exercises in which the very leaders of our foremost churches feel it a privilege to be asked to take a part. This year, Rev. Dr. Chown, the General Superintendent of the Methodist Church in Canada, and Rev. Dr. Sclater, Minister of Old St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Toronto, conducted the exercises at the two evening meetings—reading a portion of Scripture and leading in prayer.

Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Prime Minister of Ontario, graced the occasion by delivering a very interesting address, extending a welcome to the educational leaders of the great Province of Ontario to their annual meeting, expressing his appreciation of the great service they were rendering to the Province and to the Empire at large and assured them of his great desire to have their advice and their constructive criticism in the proposals which, from time to time, the Department was making to improve the conditions under which teachers were laboring.

He reminded them of the announcement he made last year regarding his proposal to simplify the curriculum, and the request he had made at that time for full and free criticism and suggestion. He said that the modified curriculum had since been issued to give each teacher every chance to give it a practical trial. He now appealed to the teachers to improve the opportunity by forwarding any communication which they might see fit to offer.

Dr. W. T. Sanger, Secretary of the State Board of Education, Richmond, Va., gave a very interesting chain of thoughtful educational addresses at various meetings of the association—"Analyzing the Teacher's Job," before the General Association; "The Good Citizen—How to Produce Them," before the Public School Section; "The Soul of Supervision," before the Supervising and Training Department, and "The Cost of Ignorance," before the Urban Trustees' Section. His remarks were very appreciative of the work of the teacher and his appeal to them was a challenge to them to rise to the full dignity and service which their position offered.

Canon A. P. Chatsford of Montreal gave a very eloquent address on "Essential Features of Education," and Chancellor Capen of the University of Buffalo, presented some of the "Outstanding Problems of Modern Education," showing that the many problems with which we were contending were features of the times, and not of merely local occurrence. Most of these addresses will appear in the Report of the Proceedings when issued from the press.

On Tuesday night the singing was contributed by the pupils of Perth Avenue School, Toronto, under the leadership of Miss Anna Hunter; and on Wednesday night it was contributed by the Girls' Glee Club of Riverdale Collegiate Institute, under the leadership of Miss Tedd. The School Choir of Memorial School, Hamilton, gave a fine rendition of many selections, in beautiful tone, in the Music Section, and also in the Elementary Department. These music demonstrations show what can be done in our schools, developing the vocal talent which is always present—in every community.

The Elementary Department is composed of the ten Sections of the O.E.A. associated with Public School interests. Principal C. A. Dakins of Cobalt, who was elected to the Presidency last year, withdrew from the profession and Miss Sarah Lawrence of London, the Vice-President, acted as President, giving a very inspiring address on the personality of the teacher.

Principal Dr. Morris Hutton of the University College, Toronto, delivered a very earnest address on "The Signs of the Times," showing some serious conditions which called for drastic action if the world is to be redeemed from moral destruction.

As usual, the Public School Section was the strongest of the Association, being rivalled in membership by the Trustees' Department only; but it was not as strong as it should have been. Every Public School Teacher in the Province should be a member, and there should be a strong effort in every Institute to enroll every teacher on its list. The membership fee is the modest sum of One Dollar and the volumes received are worth that sum many times over. Let our Institute start this year and see what can be done. Sudbury Institute headed the list again this year.

The Public School Section was presided over by Miss Edith Armstrong of Orillia, who is to be congratulated on the way in which she filled the place and conducted the business. Her address was a thoughtful appeal for a proper provision for defective children, to bring sunshine to their lives and prepare them to occupy places of usefulness in the community. She herself is closely associated with the work.

Principal Moore, of Dundas, Chairman of the "Library Committee," presented a very valuable report regarding the reorganization of the Libraries of the Teachers' Institutes, proposing a way in which they might be used to greater advantage. As a feature of the report, a list of fifty books suitable for a Teachers' Library was appended.

Inspector J. E. Benson gave a very interesting description of the Rotary System of schools which they have established in Windsor. Half the teachers are in charge of "Home Classes," where the class takes up Reading, Spelling, Writing, Arithmetic, Grammar and Composition, and the other half of the teachers each have charge of one subject—Geography, History, Literature, Music, Library, Gymnasium, Nature Study, Art, Auditorium Work, Manual Training or Household Science.

He showed the advantages to the teacher and to the pupils of allowing the teachers to specialize on one or more subjects and told of the interest which it created in the minds of the boys and girls. He assured us that no subject was skimped and the result as shown at the conclusion of the course was a larger number who were desirous of going forward in the work and a larger percentage of pupils were ready to take up High School work.

Dr. Amoss of the Normal School, Hamilton, gave a very interesting analysis of the new Geography Course showing the very excellent points which it featured and the new interests which it was calculated to arouse.

Three Committees reported on the new course of study—Arithmetic, Geography and History. In the main, the new courses were considered an improvement but some suggestions were offered as to the course in Geography, and the text-book in History. These are to be presented to the Department of Education.

Mr. Ralph C. Gadshy, the General Passenger Agent of the C. N. R., Toronto, gave a very instructive illustrated address to the part the Canadian National Railways werecontributing to the solution of the Canadian transportation problem.

Treasurer R. M. Speirs gave a very interesting account of his visit to the National Educational Association, Washington, in July, 1924, as delegate from the O. E. A. He told of the great numbers that attended, the means adopted to conduct the monster outdoor evening sessions so that all could hear plainly and the devices which were employed for registering the great crowds of members.

The Reports of the Committees on Resolutions were not so satisfactory as they have been on some former occasions, but the progress should encourage us to continue to urge our claims for the privilege of advising on practical details pertaining to our work.

The report regarding the Institutes which had paid the Institute Delegate Membership Fee was very gratifying. Only a small percentage of the Institutes had refrained from contributing their share to the support of the work.

NEW ISLANDS FOUND.

Are Situated in South Seas and Are Not Inhabited.

TOKIO, Oct. 17.—(Associated Press).—The newspapers report that a group of more than ten coral islands, the total value of which is estimated at about 200,000,000 yen, has been discovered in the South Seas by a Japanese explorer, M. Inouye.

The Japan Geographical Society has started a technical survey of the islands, it is said. They are situated about 350 sea miles off Mindanao Island, Philippines, and the actual position will be made public after the discovery is reported to the International Geographic Association, states Mr. Inouye.

These coral islands are not described in the sea-charts, and the largest one is reported to be some fifteen miles in circumference. They are uninhabited.

The Quondam "Go-Getter"

The Gordon publicity bureau is beginning to drag the old slogans out of the moth balls for use in the present campaign.

You all remember the stuff—it stared you in the eyes from every telegraph pole and from almost every page in the newspapers in 1921.

"Gordon is the man," "Gordon the go-getter," etc.

The principle of successful publicity is that behind the advertisement must be the goods.

The people of West Peterborough know in 1925 what they failed to realize in 1921.

They know that the slogan more fittingly might read, "GORDON IS THE MAN—FOR GORDON."

THEY KNOW THAT A "GO-GETTER" IN THE SENSE IN WHICH MR. GORDON DEMONSTRATED IT IS A MAN WHO GOES AND GETS THINGS—FOR HIMSELF.

As a go-getter, he got himself a couple of lucrative berths—but in coming before the electors now he has to answer the question as to what he got for anybody else. His political promotions are the reward for political service for the government of Mackenzie King, not for service on behalf of the people of this riding, or of the country generally. Mr. Euler stood up for Kitchener; Mr. Gordon deserted Peterborough.

They are the sign posts that show that G. N. Gordon was too busy looking after himself and the interest of his party, to care what happened to the industries of the city whose representative he was supposed to be.

THEY ARE THE EVIDENCE THAT JUSTIFY THE BELIEF THAT HON. G. N. GORDON, THE QUONDAM "GO-GETTER" WOULD MEEKLY FOLLOW HIS LEADER INTO ABSOLUTE FREE TRADE IF ABSOLUTE FREE TRADE WERE THE PRICE THAT MACKENZIE KING HAD TO PAY THE WESTERN PROGRESSIVES FOR A CONTINUANCE OF POWER.

The 1921 slogans will give the electors a hearty laugh in this campaign.

They have had four years to realize just what "Gordon is the man," and "Gordon the go-getter" really mean.

This time they are going to add a few words to the first, making it read, "Gordon is the man—to leave at home."

They're going to vote for

PECK, PROTECTION AND PROSPERITY.

QUEEN'S LINE-UP SHOWS CHANGES FOR GAME TODAY

Injuries in Last Saturday's Match Have Necessitated Re-Shuffling.

SULLIVAN READY.

Coach Looks For An Improvement Over Last Week's Form.

MONTREAL, Oct 17 (Canadian Press).—Queen's rugby players arrived in Montreal last night, led by Captain Harry Batstone and Coach Bill Hughes, and accompanied by a host of beribboned supporters, and promptly proceeded to their hotel, which they have turned into headquarters. Up at McGill, the Red and White players took matters easy yesterday, resting for the opening game at the Stadium today. All is in readiness for the big battle and it only remains for the weatherman to keep back the clouds and ensure a dry gridiron to make the contest one of the greatest drawing cards of the gridiron in Montreal in recent years.

"Hank" Brown will play left middle wing for Queen's according to Coach Hughes, filling the gap caused by the injury to Bert Airth in last Saturday's Queen's-Varsity struggle. Bud Thomas will be started at his old position at right outside, while "Bubs" Britton, former Balmy Beach star, will go to flying wing. These are the only changes announced by the tri-color coach over the squad which so narrowly escaped defeat at the hands of Varsity last week-end.

"Tiny" Sullivan, McGill snapback, who was injured in the back on Thursday, was up and around yesterday, and will be ready for a turn in the game today. There are usual crop of near-casualties reported in both camps, Hughes announcing last night that neither of his quarterbacks, Baldy Baldwin or Thick Mundell, had been able to engage in a scrimmage all week, thought they were out for signals Thursday, and will both be used today, Baldwin starting at the key position.

"We will be a different team from that which played Varsity last week," stated the Queen's coach and former Montrealer. "The team will show more fight than they did against the Blue and White, for we look upon McGill as the chief obstacle in our way to another championship."

Hughes is somewhat perturbed at the statements of rubgy critics who hold that Queens' are slipping and that opposing teams are solving the Batstone-Leadley secrets of attack. The claimed the tri-color, while probably not fighting as well as they might, showed good football against Toronto in the opening game. Hughes' point is that now they are champions, rugby followers expect them to tower over the other teams and if they fail to do so immediately, cry calamity.

Varsity has been under-rated, according to Hughes, who claims the Blue and White have a real fighting team, and one which it will be difficult for any squad to defeat.

Queen's expect a hard battle against McGill, but believe they will fight through to victory. They anticipate much stronger opposition from McGill than last season, when the Red and White gave them two stiff battles, but they hope to be able to rush the McGill team with its less experienced players, and set them at an early disadvantage over which the Red nad White will find it hard to hurdle.

VARSITY SEEM LIKELY TO WIN TRACK HONORS

Inter-Collegiate Title Held By McGill Since 1914 is Practically Lost.

RECORD BROKEN.

Three Mile Run Champion Has to Give Way to Unknown Newcomer.

MONTREAL, Que., Oct. 17 (Canadian Press)—Intercollegiate track honors held by McGill University since 1914 are practicaly lost to the Red and White. University of Toronto made good their bid for the laurels at the Percival Molson Memorial Stadium in the annual competition yesterday afternoon when they left the track at the conclusion of the day's events leading with a total of 59 points, McGill having 54 and Queen's University 12. One more event remains, the one-mile relay, to be run this afternoon at the half-time interval in the McGill-Queen's rugby game.

One record was shattered in today's meet. In the final contest, run in semi-darkness, Keith Patterson, of McGill, went over the 220-yard low hurdles in 26 4-5 seconds, clipping three-fifths of a second off the mark formerly held by Sidney Pierce, of McGill. Patterson was closely followed to the tape by Blemer, a newcomer to McGill from the University of Southern California and who also was well within Pierce's old mark.

Varsity's victory resulted largely from their splendid showing in the short distance events, where Russell and Mabee were well to the fore.

While only one record was broken, the meet provided some exciting contests. A high wind militated against fast times, but keen competition forced close-to-record marks in several events. The most thrilling encounter was the three-mile run, which saw the downfall of Wally Goforth, who has reigned supreme at this distance for several years. The McGill man failed to get within the point scoring section. The event was won by Stanley Trenouth, of Queen's, about whom little was known before the race. When he stayed with the leaders for the first two miles, he beagn to draw attention. He stuck alongside Graham, of Varsity, on the last lap after Goforth, McGill, and Mitchell, Varsity, had dropped back. Then with a final spurt that was a magnificent effort the diminutive Queen's runner fairly left Graham standing as he tore over the stretch for the laurels.

McGill figured on losing in the sprints but noped to pick up good points in the one-mile and three-mile run. Their margin came through smart performances in the field events by Earl Amaron, Willie Consigli, T. M. Cole and K. M. G. Patterson. The latter won the long jump, doing just over 22 feet, but only after he had made three foul jumps in the six which were allowed him, seeing only four were entered in the event.

In the high jump, Consiglio won for McGill and the Red and White had a good chance for second when McDiarmid was tied with Marshall, of Varsity, for second place. But in clearing the bar for a tie McDiarmid loosened the cartilage of his right knee and had to be carried off, Marshall thereby taking the two extra points for the Toronto team.

TORONTO'S NEW SPORTING ARENA

Work has been commenced on the Toronto Stadium, which, when completed, will be one of the best on the continent.

TIGERS ANXIOUS TO LEVEL SCORES

A Stronger Team in the Field To-day Against Montreal.

TO USE OPEN PLAY.

HAMILTON, Oct. 17 (Canadian Press).—With a stronger team ready for the fray, Hamilton Tigers hoped to put up a better fight today against the Montreal A.A.A. outfit than they did at Montreal last Saturday. The local men feel the a victory must be won if they hope to remain in the race for interprovincial rugby honors.

The Montreal players did not arrive in the city until this morning, but advance reports were that a heavy team was to be in the field against Tigers.

Several changes in the Hamilton line-up are forecast. Brian Timmis, whose injuries have kept him out of the game for some time, will be back among the subs for to-day. Pete Burton, for many years a favorite in local football will be in the game but will not start. Small will start at flying wing, and when Timmis is used, wil drop back to centre half, and Rayner will be given rest. Dr. Carl Quinn has fully recovered from injuries received last Saturday and will do the kicking any time Raynor is out of the game. Burton will be saved for substitute at quarter and outside wing.

Tilley will be unable to play and Partridge will be used at outside wing. Bush Hunter one of this year's recruits, will be given a chance to show his wares.

Taking into consideration the the greater weight of the Montreal wings, Coach Marriott planned an open style of play, hoping to use end runs to good advantage. He felt that the Tigers' defeat last Saturday was due to a great extent to the slippery field, and with dry weather counted on out-playing Montreal. However, a heavy rain was falling last night and there was every indication of a greasy field today.

DEFEATED TEAM GOT NO PLAUDITS

Senators Find Themselves Fallen From the High Estate of Last Year.

HAMS BLAMED.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17 (Canadian Press).—Having tasted the nectar of victory, the Washington American League baseball team last night is finding the green persimmon juice of defeat unusually bitter.

As the players who had been hailed twenty-four hours before as world's champions, strolled about the town there were no admiring throngs to cheer them, as a year ago. There were no hurrahs, and few pats on the backs no floral showers from a hysterical populace; no triumphant processions.

Rather, a few friends gave them sorrowful words of sympathy, while the rest of the national capital turned to other pursuits, the least of which were thoughts of baseball, the uncertainties of life on a throne, and the bumps encountered in a fall-down stairs.

Whereas a year ago Bucky Harris was hailed as the king of mastermind, yesterday found many putting him into the class of John Anderson, the first man to steal second with the bases full. This was because he allowed Walter Johnson to stay in the box at Pittsburgh on Thursday until the bitter end.

Roger Peckinpaugh, wearing the fresh garlands betokening the most valuable player in the American League, was running Harris a close second among the more disgruntled, because he set up a worlds' record for making world's series errors.

Before meeting yesterday, to divide the losers' end of the world's series booty, the players were handed stocks of mail, written in most part while the club was on the crest and figured an easy winner. But Nick Altrock, the Washington coach-comedian, exhibited a telegram from a friend.

"I took your advice," the telegram read, "and bet $50 on Washington. Please lend me $50 on my 7-jewel watch."

Many football players have their superstitions, particularly as to what they wear when playing. If a player, while hastily dressing for the game, tries to put a boot on the wrong foot, he considers is to be a good omen. But if he should break a bootlace just before the game, disaster is likely to overtake his team. To go on the field clad in borrowed boots or any borrowed article of clothing means that the wearer's team will suffer defeat.

CHAMPION WALKER.

Philip Granville, formerly of Hamilton, Ont., now settled in England, won the Manchester-to-Blackpool road walking race of 51¼ miles. He walked it in 8 hours 6 minutes and 50 seconds. Last year's winner, F. Holt, of the Yorkshire Walking Club, was second, in 8 hours 20 minutes and 40 seconds. Granville recently finished second in the annual London-to-Brighton race of 51 miles and some yards.

INSIDE GOLF.

Maker of 51 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans

By CHESTER HORTON

When the golfer begins to sense, through practicing of his swing, that the application of clubhead to ball is largely in the hands, he begins to realize how the hands work the golf club. In proportion as this develops, too, he forgets all the other details that have perhaps bothered him for a long time. That is the way the thing usually works out, and the player is able to notice it because, unknown to him, his hand finger and arm muscles have strengthened up to the work required of them. It is an old truism of golf that your swing is as strong as your hands, no matter how strong your hands are. What really happens is that the muscles, under training, become sensitive and thus you can feel the weight of the club. You wouldn't have any trouble swinging an axe. It is the inability of untrained muscles to feel the weight of the golf club that causes the trouble. Through practice you acquire the sense of touch, and this is one reason why you should work to master the swing.

(Copyright John F. Dille Co.)

There are golfers and you may be one of them—who, trying diligently to follow the swing style of one or more good players, have never got anywhere with their own game. Such players could change their scores for the better if they stopped trying to imitate and began finding out how the things they know about golf's fundamentals are to be applied successfully by them. In other words, follow correct methods, not successful players. When you adopt a correct method and begin applying it you know exactly what you are doing. When you blindly try to imitate some expert player you are working in the dark. The fundamentals of golf never change, but the application of them is never the same with two golfers. Therefore begin with a swing that suits you and practice it until you feel you have it. When you get it—even when you begin to get it—the whole sport of golf will become something entirely different in your life.

Death Rate Alarms Japan.

Government Provides Stations, Doctors and Nurses For Infants' Protection.

TOKYO, Oct. 17.—(Associated Press.)—The death rate of infants in Japan is on the increase, principally because of the deficiency of relief and sanitary measures. Official statistics disclose that more than 1,300,000 babies die in the Empire every year. In the light of these facts the Home Ministry has decided on the establishment of sanitary stations in every city throughout the country in which the population is more than 50,000. It is expected that more than 3,000,000 yen will be expended in this work. Physicians and nurses will be on duty at each of these stations.

IS POKER SKILL?

Status of Game to be Decided in Filipino Courts.

MANILA, Oct. 17.—(Associated Press).—Meeting with adverse results in the courts in the prosecution of persons arrested on charges of playing poker, the constabulary authorities have concluded that further raids on these games would be useless expenditure of time and money until the question of whether poker is a game of skill or chance is decided by the Supreme Court.

The courts of first instance have held that poker is a game of skill, while the Attorney General has rendered an opinion that it is a game of chance and as such is punishable under the laws.

Brigadier General Rafael Crame, Chief of the constabulary, calling the attention of the Secretary to the subject, says:

"Since the Attorney General in his opinion of several years ago held that poker was a game of chance and punishable, instructions were given the constabulary to apprehend and prosecute all persons engaged in playing poker and these instructions are still in vogue. However, since judges have taken upon themselves to acquit persons engaged in poker playing, there seems to be no further need of the constabulary spending time and money in raiding these games, if the men caught will be acquitted."

Steps have been taken to bring a case before the Supreme Court in order that a final decision on the subject may be obtained.

VETERAN ELECTORS WILL EXERCISE VOTE

Four Octogenarians and Several Septuagenarians in Campbelford District.

CAMPBELLFORD, Oct. 17.—The two oldest men in this town are Samuel Diamond and James Thomson, both of whom were born in 1836, Mr. Diamond on January 4, and Mr. Thomson on October 31, so that only a few months separates their ages. Both were born on the other side of the Atlantic, the former in England and the latter in Scotland, both came to Canada in their youth and helped to connect the primeval forest of Seymour township into a settlement. They will vote at the general election on October 29, Mr. Diamond in Ward 1 and Mr. Thomson in Ward 3. The political habits of nearly 70 years are binding. They have voted the Liberal ticket since they were old enough to exercise the franchise, and will repeat when the opportunity again presents itself.

A Farmer First.

Mr. Diamond came with his parents from England, when he was eight years old. The family lived four years at Picton and then moved to a bush farm on the first concession of Seymour. When Samuel was 25 he purchased a farm on the second concession, and cleared it up. At that age he was married to Margaret Little, who died 32 years ago. For 18 years he lived on another farm near the town limits and six years ago he retired making his home in Campbellford ever since. He is hale and active and seldom fails to attend service twice every Sunday in St. John's United Church.

Mr. Diamond never aspired to public office and never took an active part in Federal, Provincial or Municipal politics, although he was frequently urged to stand for the Township Council. All his energy was expended in his private business, and although he has come through some of the most crucial periods in Canada's political history, these stirring events have left little impression upon his memory. He voted as a matter of duty and professed, no matter which party happened to be in power, making progress in his chosen calling when protection was an iridescent dream of politicians, as well as when the tariff was at its peak.

Mr. Diamond has a family of three sons living—T. L., who is in business here, and Will and J. E. of Toronto. The late Mrs. George E. Hay was a daughter. T. L. was former deputy reeve of Seymour, and J. E. at one time a member of the Campbellford Council and afterward reeve.

James Thomson.

James Thomson was 18 when he came to Canada from Scotland, and like Mr. Diamond, he helped to clear up the farms at Crowe Bay, where his son, John, now lives. He gave up active work and moved to Campbellford, 22 years ago. Like his fellow octogenarian, he never held public office, but voted at every election and regarded his duty as done. He was married 56 years ago, and his family consists of two sons and three daughters—John, on the homstead; William in Toronto; Mrs. Sam Johnston of town; Mrs. John Simpson of Peterick's Corners, and Miss Ethel, a trained nurse.

Two Other Octogenarians.

Bracketed on the list as the two next oldest voters in Campbellford are Fred Dinwoodie and William Smith, who like Messrs. Diamond and Thomson are retired farmers and each of whom is in his 84th year. Mr. Smith being the eldest by a few months. As to the political affiliations of these gentlement, it may be no betrayal of confidence to say that, if the four veterans in question were all who voted at an election, the result would be a dead heat. Mr. Dinwoodie, especially is regarded as one of his party's most devoted adherents, a man who for 63 years has trod the political pathway without so much as a stumble.

Plenty of Septuagenarians.

There is a long list of Campbellford voters in their seventies. Among these are T. J. Horkins, who barely qualifies and whose age would never be suspected but for the fact that he insists upon the figure as a matter of pride. When Mr. Horkins is asked to explain how he maintains his youthful appearance, he ascribes the phenomenon to an abstemious life. He has never used tobacco or liquor, never played cards or indulged in dancing.

C. S. Gillespie is 71 and still going strong, and others in this class are John Sanders, C. L. Owen, ex-M.P., and now postmaster. Of the trio, Mr. Gillespie is a Liberal, while the others make no secret of the fact that they are just as firmly entrenched over the way.

Borden, in Montreal, and had offered on behalf of Mr. Meighen any portfolio except that of Finance and Railways.

"I declined the offer as courteously as I could," said the Minister, "contenting myself with the statement that the electors of Shefford purposed staying faithful to the Liberal Party, and would never consent to elect even a Minister who had promised to support the policy and the Government of the Right Hon. Arthur Meighen."

Hon. Mr. Boivin further explained the situation as follows:

"I believed the affair closed when, at the beginning of the 1921 session, several chiefs of the Conservative Party approached me with the request that I reconsider my decision and accept the portfolio. Mr. Meighen himself gave me to understand one day that, without my personal knowledge, he had delegated Senator Aime Bernard to proceed to Shefford County to consult certain of my constituents and had returned with the report that my election as a Minister would be easy.

"A few days later, I met Mr. L. P. Bernard, who informed me that he had knowledge of Senator Bernard's visit. I said to him:

"'Bernard, you know very well that I could never be elected, and that even with your sunport I would lose my deposit in Shefford as a Meighen candidate.'

"Since he told me he knew this quite well, I asked him to oblige me by going to Ottawa and expressing his opinion with regard to the matter to his chief, so that the latter might not again put the same request to me."

Hon. Mr. Boivin said that Mr. Bernard said he saw Mr. Meighen at Ottawa in the latter's office and that Mr. Bernard informed the then Prime Minister of the impossibility of electing Mr. Boivin in Shefford as a Conservative.

"That's the truth," said Mr. Boivin. "These are the facts as they actually took place."

Hon. Mr. Ballantyne will make a statement on the foregoing on Monday.

DAIRY CATTLE SALE

Herd of Registered Holsteins Failed to Bring in High Prices.

BURNBRAE, Oct. 17.—In spite of the pressure of fall work, the first auction sale of the local season, that of Mr. Wm. Akins, Stanwood, was well attended. The chief item of interest was the dispersal of Mr. Akins' herd of registered Holsteins and the fanciers of the Dutch cattle were well represented from Burnbrae and Rawdon, as well as other neighborhoods.

The prices paid for the cattle were not in keeping with the price of dairy products, nor the exceptional breeding value of the stock offered. This was in a measure due to the lack of outside competition, no buyers being present from a distance. The foundation cow of the herd, Morningside Bessie Echo, with a two-year-old record of 16,037 lbs. of milk and 735 lbs. butter in a year, sold for the small price of $58 at twelve years of age, while her 10-year-old daughter, sired by a son of Brethen's 29,000-lb. cow, only brought $63. A good bull calf from this cow was sold for $52.50, bulls seeming to be more in demand than cows. The top price was $101, paid for a good five-year-old daughter of Purvilla King Colantha, the high record herd bull which Mr. Akins used for seven years; two sisters sold for $85 and $88, while one two-year-old reached $80. A good grade cow sold for $79. The total of 23 head, comprising about half under two years of age, brought $1,187.00.

Horses sold fairly well, a well-matched team of greys bringing $225, while a nine-year-old general purpose mare was knocked down at $103.

Oats sold at 55c, being higher than the usual price here, which is around 47c to 50c delivered.

FRUITS PROVE IDEAL.

Hawaiian Variety Superior-Successful Extraction of Syrups By Freezing.

HONOLULU, Oct. 17.—(Associated Press).—The high sugar content of Hawaiian fruits makes it possible to produce syrups at a less cost than synthetic syrups are produced on the mainland, it has been revealed by experiments conducted by Dr. S. E. Oliver, chemist, who is experimenting at the Hawaiian Homes settlement on the island of Molokai. He announced the successful extraction of syrups of varying degrees of concentration through a freezing process on which he has been working several years. The experiments here were confined principally to pineapples, which contain an average of 14 per cent. of sugar, but he said he was able to extract a syrup of triple that strength.

night in their scrub-woman number, "Us Girls Must Have Our Fun," which was about the funniest thing of its kind the Dumbells have given us. Later on the same four scored heavily in "The 'Bus Scene," in which Stan Bennett in a most unsual role for him, made a tremendous hit as the Cockney 'bus driver. This skit was full of rich comedy to which Pat Rafferty, Red Newman, Morley Plunkett, Will Roberts, Jock Holland and Glen Allan all contributed.

Newman was the principal figure in another funny skit "Red Goes on Leave," in which the popular comedian earned plenty of laughter.

The Dumbells' Orchestra, under the direction of Howard Fogg, and with Harold Rich at the piano, proved better than ever. This organization, now an outstanding feature of the Dumbells, has grown steadily more efficient and their half hour last night was full of good things. Their numbers included "The Toy Drum Major," with Pat Rafferty and Glen Allan as the toy dolls; "Lilting Lucia," "Shanghai." and a striking arrangement of "Faust." During the orchestra's specialty, Harold Rich sang most effectively 'Yes, Sir, That's My Baby." Al. Plunkett was head to advantage in the "Gypsy Love Song," and Red Newman made a bit hit with "Riley's Cow Shed."

Al. Plunkett introduced three new songs with great success, "Whiter Than Snow," "So Long as She Loves Me," and "Hi, Hi, Ho," the chorus of the latter being sung by the audience at Al's solicitation. All three numbers were enthusiastically received.

Ross Hamilton, more lavishly gowned than ever and still more effective in the art of impersonation sang "I'm Wonderful," and "Darling I Love You," in effective fashion.

Individual numbers by Red Newman that went over big were "Col. Thinghabob," and "Start the War Again," two lively numbers that were cleverly handled by the clever "Red."

Stan Bennett made his usual hit in two characteristic numbers "Stop, Look and Listen," and "Reckless Reggie."

Ben Allen told some new jokes in his old effective style, and in addition sang "Susannah's Squeaking Shoes," with great success.

Clever dancing by Glen Allan and Jimmy Devon was another bright feature and the allegorical tableau, "Up the Hill," based on a speech of Lord Byng at Vancouver, made a fine impression.

"Lucky 7" is at the Grand again to-night, and will draw another capacity house.

Contracts have been signed by the management of the Grand Opera House for an engagement of three nights, beginning October 29, with matinee on Saturday, October 31st, of Anne Nichols' wonder comedy of the age, "Abie's Irish Rose."

This mere announcement will no doubt be welcome news to local amusement seekers who delight in good clean wholesome entertainment, and will give them an opportunity to arrange their social engagement accordingly.

Everyone who keeps posted on theatrical doings in the Metropolis knows "Abie and his Co-Workers," and what the playgoers in the larger cities think of this laughter-producing comedy by Miss Nichols, which has revolutionized all precedents for long runs.

Miss Nichols will present what is known as her Rochester Company here, the organization having recently completed a run of eight consecutive weeks at the Gayety Theatre in that city, the cast and production remaining intact.

The regular sale of seats will open October 26th, but those wishing to may send in their mail orders, accompanied by remittance, and they will be filled in the order of their receipt.

One of the outstanding musical hits of the new season will be seen at the Grand Theatre next Thursday and Friday, October 22 and 23, as a special attraction, when Empire Productions present the "Cheer-Uptomists" in their latest musical revue "What's Next." In presenting "What's Next," Empire Productions has assembled a brilliant array of talent which, by comparison with any musical offering that has been brought into Canada, stands second to none.

"What's Next" is in two acts and twenty gorgeous scenes, some of these being unusually attractive. Lilting melodies and haunting refrains with vivacious beauties of the chorus and a generous share of comedy and instrumental music vouch for entertainment of the highest calibre. Each member of the cast from the principals to the individual chorus girl is an accomplished vocalist and clever dancer. In fact "What's Next" can safely be called the Canadian "Chauve-Souris" so brilliant and kladeoscopic are its fast-moving scenes.

Heading the large company of entertainers, Aileen Hyndman will be featured as the prima donna. Famed for her phenomenally fine vocalism, Miss Hyndman will be sure to be remembered as unusual even in such excellent offerings as are being presented. Clifford Lewis, the tenor of the company, will be remembered as lately taking principal roles in the Chicago Grand Opera Company and has been especially secured for this production. Jean Shaw and Billy Garden will display, individually and collectively, amazing feats of terpsichorean accomplishments and will at various times lead the dancing chorus girls through lively ensembles or stepping, par excellence.

There will be a veritable riot of color in "What's Next," the production having been equipped with scores of beautiful gowns and brilliantly colored settings. A chorus of dazzling beauties compose an aggregation that can sing and dance to perfection and one that has been drilled to the last word in pep and rythm.

Others among the featured cast are Jack Williamson, whose pleasing baritone will be sure to charm; Russell Lavery, the comedian, lately of the Robert Courteneige productions in England, will maintain the comedy element throughout the show, ably supported by Martia Masters and "Jock" Simpson, their witticisms and antics causing a veritable side-splitting entertainment.

"What's Next," which has been surpassing all records in musical comedy offerings of this season, will be seen in Peterboro for two performances.

NORMA SHEARER IS LUCKY TO BE ALIVE AFTER CLOSE SHAVE.

Star of "A Slave of Fashion" Tells How Burning Tree Almost Ended Career.

HER MOST THRILLING ROLE. She and Irene Rich Were Taking Part in Realistic Fire Scene When Accident Occurred.

Norma Shearer starring in Hobart Henley's production of "A Slave of Fashion," the Metro - Goldwyn-Mayer picture, playing at the Capitol Theatre Monday, has had many thrills during the few years she has devoted to screen acting. But looking back over five years of picture adventuring, one thing she says stands out as the most exciting thrill of all.

"It was during the making of 'Lucretia Lombard.' Irene Rich and I were in a scene together. It was night, or rather early in the morning and we had been working since dark, getting a realistic fire scene. Big trees had been brought to the studio and put on the back lot, and timber was burning in every direction. Everything had been safeguarded before shooting and one tree which was to fall at the very last minute had been securely wired At the right moment the wires would be clipped and the tree would fall. It's direction was toward Miss Rich and me and because it was such a difficult scene to take it was only to be photographed once, so there were four cameras grinding on it.

"But some of the timing was not right and the tree in falling headed directly for us. Miss Rich and I were terrified. In trying to run away we clutched one another and both tripped and fell.

"The crew were aghast. They told us afterward they were certain that the burning tree toppled over on us. To show the terrific seriousness of it the cameramen who always grind on despite what is happening, left their cameras and jumped in to help rescue us. We were both unconscious, but fortunately our injuries were not serious. We were bruised a bit, and our hair was quite severely singed, but the horrifying fright of it comes back to me every time I think of it and I sincerely hope I shall never encounter such a dangerous thrill again."

"A Slave of Fashion," a story of a country girl's rise to luxury in New York's beau monde, is Miss Shearer's second starring vehicle for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Lew Cody is featured and others important in the cast are: Vivia Ogden, Mary Carr, William Haines, Miss Dupont and Estelle Clark.

WHO KISSED BARBARA?

Katherine—Was there anything about him, dear, that made you think it was Horace, especially?

Barbara—I couldn't get the light on soon enough Katherine. I didn't get anything but a glimpse of him as he flew through the hall door. He was in full dress and that's why I thought it was Horace.

Katherine—A dress suit, Bob? Well, that's something to start on—wasn't there anything else?

Barbara — No-o. Oh, Katherine, there was, too! His breath smelled terribly of peppermint.

Katherine—Is that all? Didn't he say anything?

Barbara—He didn't have a chance to—(startled pause) Katherine, he did too! When I screamed he said—"D——!"

AT THE ROYAL.

HAMLIN GARLAND'S EXCITING PICTURE.

"The Ranger of the Big Pines" a Photoplay of the Real West.

In a drama of the West there is a certain thrill somehow lacking in picture productions with eastern backgrounds. Some of the majestic beauty of the Rocky Mountains, in the rugged strength of the men and women of the West, adds considerably to the enjoyment of "The Ranger of the Big Pines," the Vitagraph picture which opens Monday at the Royal Theatre.

This picturization of Hamlin Garland's well known novel, "Cavanagh, Forest Ranger," has Kenneth Harlan in the featured role of Ross Cavanagh, a handsome ranger in the woods of the West. Helene Costello plays the leading feminine role of Lee Virginia Weatherford, the lovely flower of a corrupt stock, and acquits herself with genuine ability in her first big characterization. Eulalie Jensen, always to be depended upon for excellent acting, gives a perfect performance in the role of her slatternly mother, who, through misfortune and poverty, has run to seed. Others in this uniformly good cast are Will Walling, Lew Harvey, Robert J. Graves, Eugene Paulette, Harvey Clark and Joan Standing.

William Van Dyke directed "The Ranger of the Big Pines" with a keen eye upon its dramatic moments from the scenario of Hope Loring and Louis Lighton. None of the original flavor of this virile and stirring story has been lost in the screen version, and the beautiful photography by Allan Thompson is still another reason why you are certain to enjoy "The Ranger of the Big Pines."

AT THE REGENT

"WITHOUT MERCY" ABOUNDS IN ACTION.

"Without Mercy" the George Melford Production presented by Metropolitan Pictures, Inc., which appears on the screen at the Regent Theatre Monday for a 3 days' run, is a story of two women, mother and daughter, who have both fallen into the clutches of the same man.

The mother, who learned her lesson and luckily escaped him twenty years back, is faced with explaining him and his wiles to her susceptible daughter, who is much enamoured with him.

To do this she suffers her life to be bared to the girl, and proves her case with scars she still bears from his hands. But the man's hold is strong on the girl, who loves him and believes in him.

The subsequent decision of the daughter changes many lives, sends one man to prison, and keeps another man from being elected to the English Parliament, before she sees her error. The story vibrates with action, and is tense with the emotions arising from great loves and hates.

In the cast are Dorothy Phillips, Rockcliffe Fellowes, Vera Reynolds, Robert Ames and Lionel Belmore. The picture is released through Producers Distributing Corporation.

PASS OVER FAIRS

Duty of Silo Filling Takes Precedence Over Visits to Exhibitions.

BURNBRAE, October 17. — The people of this locality have not been atending the fall fairs this year in as large numbers as in former years due to the pressure of farm work. The old favorites, Warkworth and Norwood, were overlooked in the more important business of silo-filling. The job has been one of long duration this fall and is fully two weeks later than ever before. The corn has been in a hopeless tangle following the storms and frost which has delayed the cutting.

Several Burnbrae folks visited Stirling on Tuesday evening, Oct. 13, the occasion of the St. Andrew's annual church supper. A number also attended the anniversary services the preceding Sunday. All report a most enjoyable time.

WOMEN SEE DANGER.

Hold Conference in Favor of Local Option in Germany.

BERLIN, Oct. 17.—Women doctors, lawyers and economists of Germany favor local option and see in the excessive use of alcohol one of the worst dangers confronting Germany. They held a joint conference, with delegates from the Association of German Women Physicians, the Federation of Women Lawyers, and the Association of Women Economists, at the conclusion of which a resolution was adopted memorializing the Reichstag in favor of local option.

CASE OF INSANE ANT.

Treated With Scientific Seriousness By Well Known Nerve Specialist.

ZURICH, Oct. 17.—(Associated Press).—The story of a demented ant is recorded in the Swiss Archive for Neurology and Psychiatry with all due scientific seriousness by Dr. Rudolph Brun, widely known nerve specialist.

The ant was discovered in one of the artificially constructed nests for scientific observation. The insect ran about incessantly while others remained quietly in the corners of the nest, apparently shunning the demented one. The momentum of the wildly rushing ant was such that it was unable to stop when anything in its path was encountered.

After six days the ant was dissected and, under a microscope, it was found to have suffered a tumor in the left lobe of the brain, which had destroyed several of the most important centres.

SPEED UP CENSORS.

Italian Newspapers Opposing Fascist Government, Plead For Consideration.

ROME, Oct. 17.—(Associated Press).—Italian newspapers allied politically with the parties opposing the present Fascist Government, whose daily destinies are at the mercy of the Press Censor, have addressed a plea to the Censor that "he condemn them quickly if he intends to condemn them."

The press law provides that the censor approve each issue of each newspaper, the penalty being suppression of the edition if anything is found objectionable.

Recently the censor changed his office hours so that he did not examine the newspapers until several hours after their appearance. The result was that condemnations came so tardily that the newspaper was unable to print a later expurgated edition, as was previously the custom. Consequently all the copies of the newspaper were seized and the regular readers had no copies at all.

"Please, Mr. Censor," the newspapers said, "would you mind condemning us quickly if you intend to at all?"

AT THE GRAND.

LUCKY 7

"Lucky 7" is the Dumbells at their best.

The seventh revue of Captain Plunkett's entertainers, greeted by a crowded house at the Grand last evening, was a typical Plunkett production, in which all the popular stars were given a full opportunity to shine with their old-time brilliance in new settings and with new material throughout. Everything indeed was new except the cast and there wasn't a dud number on the whole programme, which sparkled from the novel opening to the medley of old time songs with which "Lucky 7" was brought to a close. The Dumbells improve from year to year—which goes to explain the tremendous popularity they enjoy from one end of Canada to the other.

The fun-makers, Red Newman, Morley Plunkett, Pat Rafferty, Stan. Bennett and Ben Allen all are given plenty of scope in the latest revue, with the result that last night's audience found it almost impossible at times to stop laughing. The first four earned the biggest laugh of the

YOUTH INJURED AT NOON TO-DAY

Was Crossing Street To Get Groceries When Knocked Down.

CUT ABOVE EYE.

Double calamity visited little Melville Stabler at noon today, when he was first knocked down by a bicycle and then a passing motor car went over his body. Despite the rough treatment meted out to him, the little fellow was sleeping peacefully at 2.00 o'clock this afternoon, his head swathed in yards of bandages.

He lives at 543 Bethune Street, but was visiting his sister this morning at the corner of Aylmer and McDonnel. At noon, she sent him across the street to get something for dinner.

Carrying 50 cents, he started out. S. Ivey of Wolseley Street was riding a bicycle and knocked the little chap prostrate, and Luther Tucker of 106 McDonnel Street, while driving his auto, ran over him. A deep cut was made just above his eye and his arm was hurt, although not broken. Four stitches were necessary to close the wound in his head.

F. Stabler, the boy's father, says that his escape from more serious injury was miraculous. Gerald, the brother of the injured youth, was hurt in a somewhat similar way this summer on Hunter Street Bridge and bears a scar from his encounter.

MILLERS HONOR E. VERN MORPHET

Traffic Manager of Quaker Oats Co. Elected Vice-Chairman.

At a meeting of the traffic department of the Canadian Millers Association held at the offices of the Western Canada Flour Mills Company in Toronto yesterday, Charles LaFerle, traffic manager of the Maple Leaf Milling Company was elected chairman, and E. Vernon Morphet, traffic manager of the Quaker Oats Company, Peterborough plant, was elected vice-chairman.

The Canadian Millers' Association is the governing body for all the milling concerns in Canada, and in connection with this association, there is a traffic club made up of all the traffic managers of the larger concerns. It is the duty of this committee to handle all traffic matters for the milling industry, including the smaller mills as well. As the Canadian Railway Commissioners have been given full power to reconstruct the freight rates in Canada, there will be a great many issues that affect the milling industries of Canada, that will occupy the attention of this committee, until the freight rates are set on a permanent basis.

The executive of this club has always hitherto consisted of Montreal and Toronto traffic representatives, and Mr. Morphet is the first Peterborough man to be elected to the executive.

MRS. J. CROWLEY HURT IN CRASH

Thrown Through Windshield When Car Struck Verandah To-day.

OCCUPANTS STUNNED.

A big car driven by James Crowley of Brown Street jumped off the beaten path on Charlotte Street this morning and crashed into a verandah pillar, breaking away the support of brickwork. Mr. Crowley and his wife, who was in the front seat with him, together with F. C. Brecott of New Chamberlain Street, suffered a violent shock. Mr. Crowley was momentarily stunned and suffered cuts about the head, while Mrs. Crowley sustained several minor injuries when she was hurled through the windshield.

The forward part of the car is seriously damaged.

According to the story of witnesses, Mr. Crowley was driving east and saw another car coming, which he thought was going to turn down Maitland Ave. In order to avoid it, Mr. Crowley swung his car to the right, bumped over the curb and smashed into the corner of the house. James Marchen was driving the other car.

The impact of the car striking the brickwork caused the rear end of it to leap violently to the left, one rear tire being blown out in the process. One front tire was torn from the rim, while the fender and lights were broken.

Dr. F. C. Neal was the attending physician.

SILK SMUGGLERS WORRY CUSTOMS

Wiles and Artifices of Females Outclass Mere Man.

HAVE SANG FROID

LONDON, Oct. 15. — (United Press).—Silk smuggling between French and British ports is on the increase, according to British Customs officials.

Women, of all nationalities, are the chief offenders. Attractive silk frocks, lingeries, and silk stockings that can be bought at low cost in consequence of the existing rates of exchange on the Continent, prove an irresistible temptation.

Customs officials at Dover, one of the leading British ports for continental traffic, have had one busy time this year spotting feminine silk smugglers.

They aver that the wiles and artifices of mere man are nothing compared to the subterfuges adopted by women.

Recently a woman passed the Customs carrying a travelling cushion. A Customs officer noticed that the cushion was sewn together with rather rough stitches. An examination revealed it contained a flannel dressing gown. The gown had frills. The frills were sewn down in a suspicious manner. A further examination revealed a beautiful silk opera wrap sewn between the cotton lining and the material making the gown.

A raincoat thrown carelessly over the arm has been known to hide the most expensive of silk garments.

In one day, as much as $1,000 has been collected in small fines by British Customs officials for silk smuggling.

FEWER NEWSPAPERS.

But Circulation Increases in Soviet Russia, Magazines Are Scarce.

MOSCOW, Oct. 17.—The number of newspapers in Soviet Russia in comparison with 1913 has decreased by 32 per cent. There are now published throughout the Federation 586 newspapers, as against 870 in pre-war times, but the circulation of the Soviet papers exceeds the pre-war time circulation by 110 per cent, having reached by July 1 this year nearly 8,000,000. The large political papers, like Pravda and Izvestia have a circulation of more than 1,500,000 each.

The present number of magazines published in Russia is about the same as before the revolution, but owing to their high prices, they are practically inaccessible to the average reader. The magazines seldom find their way to the villages.

SEARCHING FOR OIL.

Commission Urges Australia to Continue Prospects in Papua Hopeful.

MELBOURNE, Oct. 17.—(Associated Press).—While the prospects of the discovery of oil in commercial quantities in Australia are generally unfavorable, indications in the Roma district of Queensland and the Kimberley district of western Australia justify the recommendation that further detailed geological mapping should be undertaken and trail boring conducted, says a report of the Federal Joint Committee of Public Accounts on oil exploration in Australia and Papua.

The prospects in Papua are generally hopeful and the report adds, work should continue to be carried out by a private company on behalf of the Federal Government, such as the Anglo-Persian Oil Company which is now operating in Papua.

At the end of a year a pair of rats and their descendants would number 1,130 if their progeny was unchecked; in four years they would number 11,000,000.

LOCARNO, Switz, Oct. 17. — Canadian Press. — Europe's security conference ended early this morning literally in a blaze of glory. Throughout the night there were fireworks, music and dancing to commemorate the initiating of new pacts which the allied and German statesmen have formulated with the idea of a new Europe arising from the old slough of despond.

WOMEN OUTNUMBER MEN.

In Oxford Summer School. Are More Conscientious, Work Harder.

OXFORD, Oct. 17.—(Associated Press).—The Oxford Summer School was outstanding for its great proportion of women students. They were numerous in all lecture rooms and often well outnumbered the men, especially in the libraries. Oxford experience shows that women in a university are more conscientious and work harder than do men, without winning proportionate honors in final examinations. This fact tends to reconcile the men to the admission of women, for they now are losing their fear of female predominance.

It is often remarked that several Oxford colleges were founded by women, either alone or with their men relations, but that in no case were women students admitted to the foundation. This fact is the more noticeable in that co-education was not unknown at that time.

MASSEY TO RECEIVE PORTFOLIO IF GOVRNMENT GETS RETURNED SAID PREMIER AT BOWMANVILLE

King Has No Doubt as to the Outcome of the Election.

SUPPORTS DRURY.

Tells Voters Progressives and Liberals Have Common Purpose in View.

BOWMANVILLE, Ont., Oct. 19.—(Canadian Press).—Hon. Vincent Massey is to be given a portfolio if the Government is returned in the general elections. Premier King on Saturday night made this announcement here in the riding of Durham in which Mr. Massey is a candidate. At present, Mr. Massey is a member of the Government without portfolio. "I intend," announced Mr. King, "to give him one of the best portfolios I have. I think, by so doing, I shall be meeting the wishes of the Canadian people.

"Perhaps," continued the Prime Minister, "you are thinking that I am going a little quickly. Perhaps you are asking yourselves how I know that we shall be returned. As to that, I can tell you that anyone who has travelled about the country as I have within the last few weeks, who has come into contact with the numbers of people I have come into contact with, will have no doubt as to what the outcome of the election will be."

There was an outburst of applause as Mr. King made his announcement. He thanked Progressives of the riding for their recognition of the "common purpose" that Progressives and Liberals had in view. He had, he went on, not hesitated to support Progressives where they were prepared to co-operate with Liberals in the House. He instanced three Progressive Independents in British Columbia. They were sound Liberals at heart.

"I have said to our friends in British Columbia," he added, "make sure they are returned."

He mentioned further that he had asked Liberals to support the candidature of ex-Premier Drury. "When I was asked," he said, "Whether we should put in a Liberal against Mr. Drury, I said: 'Why, he is a Liberal to the core. If he is elected, he will not support Mr. Meighen. He may try to drive me a little faster than some would like to go, but that is all right.'

"If you feel the Liberal Party is not going fast enough," proceeded Mr. King, "the thing for you to do, if you are of pronounced ideas, is to get into the Liberal Party and make it go a little faster."

Mr. King thought it was "really funny" to listen to Mr. Meighen's attacks on the Australian treaty. Mr. Meighen said that under the treaty the cost of living would go up because the housewife would have to pay more for the raisins she used in making raisin pie. But if raisins were to go up in price because of the higher duty on United States raisins, what, Mr. King queried, would be the effect on the cost of living when Mr. Meighen increased duties all round.

Mr. King pressed this argument further at a subsequent meeting in Oshawa.

He held that the cost of living was an important factor in the overhead charges of a manufacturer, especially when he had to compete in world markets.

"If," he said, "you can bring down the cost of living without lowering wages or profits, you are helping both capital and labor"; and how could this be done? It could be done by lightening the tax burden instead of making it heavier.

Mr. King proceeded to Ottawa after the meeting. His next speech will be at the mass meeting in Montreal to-night.

Doctors To Study Effect of Blow Alleged Slayer Received When a Child

Judge George W. Martin of Kings County Court signed an order in Brooklyn yesterday directing that Frank Malone, now in Raymond Street Jail under indictment for murder in the first degree, be taken to Kings County Hospital and to have his head X-rayed.

Dr. J. J. A. O'Reilly, medical examiner at the jail, reported that the prisoner when 8 years old had suffered a fractured skull which physicians at that time said might affect his sanity later.

Malone is alleged to have stabbed and killed Mrs. Anna Wengelsen, with whom he was living, at 182 Sands Street, Brooklyn, on Sept. 19. He has had no counsel.

Sparkling Red and White Vintages Of Bordeaux Prove Irresistible Lure To Radical Delegates

NICE France, Oct. 19 Canadian Press).—The wines of Bordeaux, Red and White, proved a more solid attraction than the champagnes of Rheims or the violets of Toulouse, when the delegates to the Radical Socialist Congress came to choosing a place for next spring's meeting.

It was a spirited battle while it lasted, and the champions of the various bidding cities grew lyrical in their description of the vintages they had to offer. Bordeaux and Rheims started off in the bidding; Toulouse chimed in with its sweet scented flowers, and Tours and Angiers modestly recounted the charms of the products of their vineyards.

But Bordeaux won by a majority of fifty.

Frank Waiwood, 45, was drowned while hunting ducks in Cedar Lake when a home-made boat capsized. James McCarney, 8 years of age, died in the General Hospital. PARIS, October 19. — Canadian Press. — Foreign Minister Briand, and his British colleague, Right Hon. Austin Chamberlain, were given a warm welcome on their arrival here to-day from Locarno, where they played leading parts in the successful security conference.

A huge crowd greeted them at the station and shouted "Long Live the Peace."

M. Briand's fellow cabinet members, wringing his hand, congratulated him on his success.

Mr. Chamberlain will be the guest to-night at a dinner to be given by Premier M. Painleve.

RAILWAY TRAFFIC IS STOPPED WHEN STEAMER CRASHES INTO THE INTERNATIONAL BRIDGE

Ames Motor To Rest On Ridge As Monument To the U.S. Air Mail

BELLEFONTE, Pa., Oct. 19 (AP)—The big Liberty motor of mail plane 385, on which Pilot Charles H. Ames of Cleveland rode to his death, will be allowed to lie in its rocky bed on one of the highest points in the Nittany Mountain range as a monument to the air mail.

Ames's disappearance attracted nation-wide attention and his fate was revealed on Oct. 10, after ten days of intensive search.

A wrecking crew from the Bellefonte landing field has stripped the machine of all parts worth salvaging, burned the broken and twisted wings and fuselage and left the motor, which was damaged beyond repair to lie where it had fallen.

Sound of Crash Was Heard in Canal Office Half Mile Away.

TWO WEEKS REPAIRS.

Locking Devices Smashed and Beams Buckled—Vessel Was Undamaged.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., Oct. 19.—(Canadian Press).—Transportation between the two Soos via the international bridge is at a standstill since two a.m. on Sunday morning. In the murky mist of an October morning and scattered flurries of light snow, the steamer W. J. Crosby, of the North Shore Transit Company, was making her way out of the Poe Lock. The swing bridge of the international bridge which links the upper entrance of the Poe and Weitzel Locks was closed. Suddenly with a crash which was heard in the canal office, half a mile away, the steamer struck the bridge, smashing the locking devices on the shore ends and buckling the beams at the same time, twisting it out of the way of passing vessels. The damage done will halt all transportation over the bridge between the two Soos via railroad.

Two main line daily passenger trains connecting the Soo line and the Canadian Pacific railroads and two Soo-Toronto Canadian Pacific locals are most affected. For the time the bride will be out of commission. All passengers will have to be transferred by ferry as will also perishable freights. Other freight will be re-routed if necessary.

Immedately after the crash Captain Conlin of the Crosby called to the bridge tender to ask if any damage was done, but claims no reply was made. He also reported the collision to the Canal authorities and his owners. The Crosby apparently suffered no serious damage. From reports current it appears that the swing bridge had been closed for a considerable time after the last freight had passed over, which was about midnight. According to traffic rules, the bridge should be swung open as soon as the trains pass to not obstruct navigation.

This bridge suffered a similar accident about a year ago, but with not the same extent of damage. There will be no delay to navigation as the bridge was pushed out of the way when the Crosby forged ahead. It is estimated that the railway crossing will be interrupted about two weeks while repairs are being made.

LOCARNO AGREEMENT REGARDED AS PAVING WAY OF A NEW EPOCH UNTROUBLED BY WAR IN EUROPE

Britain Congratulates Germany on Her Initiation of Successful Negotiations.

BRIAND PLEASED.

Talks of Organizing Franco-German Party to Work For Peace.

BERLIN, October 19. — The German delegation headed by Dr. Hans Luther, the chancellor, and Gustav Stresemann, the foreign minister, reached Berlin shortly after one o'clock yesterday. The ambassadors of Great Britain and France, the Belgian minister and other diplomats as well as the members of the cabinet greeted the returning delegates at the station.

As it was not known to the general public when the train would arrive there was no manifestation of any kind, but Lord D'Abernon, the British Ambassador at the request of Austen Chamberlain, the British Secretary for Foreign Affairs, congratulated Chancellor Luther and Dr Stresemann on the success of the conference and expressed Mr. Chamberlain's joy at the spirit of honesty and integrity shown by the German delegates.

"To the German government," he said, "will always be accorded the honor of taking the initiative which led to the Locarno negotiations."

After stating that Mr. Chamberlain regarded Locarno as the turning point in European history, Lord D'Abernon voiced the hope that the friendly relations begun between the German and British delegations would mean a new relationship between the two nations.

The Extreme Nationalist Deutsche Tages Zeitung, publishes an amusing interview with its Locarno correspondent had with M. Briand, the French foreign minister, who declared himself so optimistic about a peaceful future that he finished by saying in German "together yon and I, you as a German Nationalist, I as a French democrat, will organize a party of Locarnists. You will see that we will achieve actual peace in Europe and mutually renounce resort to arms."

As to events between now and December 1, when the security pact is to be signed in London, M. Briand remarked, "not only will your expectations not be disappointed, but on the contrary you will be surprised."

The correspondent also interviewed Mr. Chamberlain, who addressed him in German, saying that he was determined to learn to speak anew the language he had once mastered. He had the honest conviction, he said, that a new epoch in European development had been reached.

Reversible Dressers Are Season's Latest Novelty

MONTE CARLO, Oct. 19. — (Canadian Press).—A reversible dress is a novelty of the season. By an ingenious arrangement of large ornamental buttons the dress may be easily turned inside out or outside in. Usually one side is white and the other in beige shade, or black and white, or blue and black are used with excellent effect. Reversible cloaks for evening and day combined have achieved remarkable popularity here. Reversible hats too have appeared. Straw or felt composes one side, silk or soft material the other.

British and French Ministers Discussing Problem in Paris.

PARIS, October 19. — Canadian Press. — The evacuation of the Cologne bridgehead, now held by British troops, is exected to result from an agreement reached in the security conference, although it was said in French official circles to-day that no promise, verbal or written, had been made to that effect.

Foreign Secretary Chamberlain of Great Britain, and French Foreign Minister M. Briand, who returned to-day from Locarno, were discussing with Premier Painleve this afternoon the question of re-allotting territory in the Rhineland between the forces of the allied powers after the evacuation of Cologne. This was taken to mean that the bridgehead would be returned to the Germans within a few weeks.

GALLANT CREW OF BURNING BOAT SAVE THE LIVES OF PASSENGERS

Fire Broke Out in Cargo of Resin on Steamer Comanche.

RESCUERS' LABORS.

Captain Maintained Sea Traditions—Was Last to Leave the Ship.

JACKSONVILLE, Florida, Oct. 19.—(Canadian Press).—All but one of the passengers and crew are accounted for of the Clyde liner Comanche which was abandoned through a fire that broke out 3 hours after leaving Jacksonville.

Eight persons were injured, most of them during the transfer of the passengers to the Reaper, a Texas oil tanker, which proceeded to the assistance of the Comanche. The injured were reported resting easily in Jacksonville hospitals yesterday afternoon.

The origin of the fire remains a mystery. The Comanche left Jacksonville at four o'clock Saturday afternoon with a passenger list of 73 and a general cargo. She carried a crew of 82 men. The fire broke out in a consignment of rosin in foreward hold No. 2, shortly before 7 o'clock. It spread rapidly through the foreward holds and the ship sent out S.O.S. calls for assistance soon after the foreward deck began to blaze.

The Reaper responded to the call, and by 8 o'clock the passengers were being transferred to the Reaper. Twenty minutes after Captain E. E. Curry followed the last load of passengers and his crew over the Comanche's side, the supststructure burst into flames, which were visible for miles.

The flames from the forward deck lighted the sea for rescue work, accomplished under difficulties and with a heavy sea running. The pilot boat Meta from Mayport also went to the Comanche's assistance.

Many of the passengers were drenched and were brought to Jacksonville for attention. The rescue of the passengers was not accomplished without difficulty. One lifeboat filled with passengers was crushed when the bow of the Reaper swung toward the Comanche, and those in the lifeboat were plunged into the water.

Some of these in another lifeboat were precipitated into the water when one end of the boat was lowered too rapidly. Members of the crew displayed coolness and heroism and plunged into the water after the passengers. It was in the mix-up in the water that the person unaccount-

MARLBORO, Mass., Oct. 19. (United Press.) — To the residents of Sudbury Henry Ford is an innkeeper and his fairly well-established automobile business is merely a side line.

The latest edition of that town's weekly paper, "The Sudbury Enterprise," has on its front page the following news item:

"Henry Ford, who runs the Wayside Inn, over on the Marlboro Road, left for Detroit this week, where he also makes motor vehicles. He has been tinkering on a new airplane and expects to get it out for sale soon."

LONDON, Oct. 19.— (Canadian Press.)—The Prince of Wales began his first week end at home after his return from South America by rising early yesterday and going through a voluminous mail.

Meanwhile, at St. James' Palace, the staff of the Prince's household was busy handling the tons of baggage with which he returned, containing an amazing variety of gifts from all parts of South Africa and the South American countries he visited.

John Grabbed Umbrella Wife's Jewels Are Lost

CHICAGO, Ill., (United Press. —John Aylesworth grabbed an umbrella from the hall rack of his home and departed to his office. Some time during the day it rained, and John naturally sought the umbrella's protection. He returned home to find his wife in tears.

"Did you take the umbrella?" she faltered.

John admitted that he had.

"We'll, we lost all my jewels. They were hidden in my umbrella, so that the thieves could not find them," Mrs. Aylesworth mourned.

Finance Minister Likely To Fight Measure When it Reaches Parliament.

DID NOT VOTE.

Proposal Made That France Pay Debts in Accordance With Payments From Germany.

PARIS, France, October 19. — Canadian Press. — A capital levy, also described as "a special contribution on all forms of fortunes and wealth," was decided upon yesterday by the Radical and Radical-Socialist parties. The decision of the congress was unaimous, except for the abstention from voting of M. Caillaux, the Finance Minister and some of his adherents, who opposed the measure throughout the discussion.

The congress refrained from discussing the motion presented on Thursday by Henry Franklin-Boillon and adopted by the political and financial committee, relating to war debts The motion reads: "The congress invite the present government and all future governments, to enter into an undertaking never to pay the Allies any more than France receives from Germany."

M. Caillaux, facing inevitable defeat, refrained from making an open fight before the congress, but skilfully managed to leave the door open so that he might oppose the measure in Parliament. His followers in the Radical party are ready to give him their support, but they feel that his luke-warm opposition was a retreat from his uncompromising attitude, when he declared:

"I will work with you in the elaboration of the most advanced fiscal programme possible, but I must warn you that before I adopt it I must feel that it is not dangerous to the country. I am in command of the Financial ship of state and I shall never steer it on the rocks."

It is reported that the Cabinet is certain not to endorse a capital levy bill, leaving M. Caillaux free to fight it when it is taken up by Parliament.

TUG BOAT SINKS WITH SEVEN MEN

Balance of Crew and Longshoremen Are Rescued.

BOAT OVERTURNS.

VICTORIA, B.C., Oct. 19 (Canadian Press).—Seven lives were lost Saturday night, when the local tug boat Hope, carrying 28 longshoremen and six of a crew, sank off Rentinck Island, Straits of Juan de Fuca, at the entrance of Puget Sound.

The Hope was despatched from here at 4.3 p.m., to assist the salvage steamer, Salvage Queen, in removing the cargo from the stranded freight steamer Eemdyk, of the Holland-American Line. The Hope was caught in the tire and thrown against the bow of the Salvage Queen, which was standing by the Pemdyk. The impact threw the Hop back about eight feet, she careened over and commenced to fill immediately. Two minutes later she had disappeared. All the men aboard the Hope were thrown into the water. Life lines were thrown out from the Salvage Queen, a lifeboat from Eemdyke was lowered and all but seven of the men were rescued from the icy waters.

LIBERAL SPEAKERS AT HASTINGS EXPLAIN POLICIES OF THE PARTY

Every Phase of Situation Was Covered By Able Orators.

VARIED PROGRAMME.

Meeting Was Held in Interests of F. J. Slade, of Northumberland.

(By a Staff Reporter)

HASTINGS, Oct. 19 — Every phase of the political situation from the Liberal standpoint was discussed at a meeting held here in the village hall Saturday night in the interests of Fred J. Slade, the Liberal candidate in Northumberland. Mr. Slade discussed the tariff and other issues, R. R. Hall dealt with the resources of the country and the expenditures of the King Government as compared with those of previous administrations, Mrs. (Dr.) J. P. Richards of Warkworth spoke specially to the women voters, Archie Cochrane of Cobourg criticized the propaganda and the newspaper tactics of the Opposition and Sam Clarke, M.L.A., in a characteristic address, bright with epigram and at times sharp with sarcasm, in Clarkesque hrases, replied to some of the statements made by speakers at the Conservative meeting held in Hastings the preceding Monday evening. The programme was agreeably varied with a solo by Miss Jessie Wilcox, accompanied on the piano by Miss Carrie Doxsee, a performance that was heartily encored.

John Collins presided and the following occupied seats on the platfrom: Mrs. Richards of Warkworth, Mrs. B. F. Doxsee and Mrs. T. A. Walsh of Hastings, F. J. Slade, the candidate, A. Cochrane of Cobourg, R. R. Hall, K.C., of Peterboro, and Sam Clarke, M.L.A.

New Liberal Speaker

The Liberals have discovered, in Mrs. Richards, a new orator to preach their principles to the women voters in the party. Mrs. Richards has a long ancestry of stalwart Liberals, being a member of the Curtis family that for over 100 years have owned a farm in the outskirts of Warkworth. Mrs. L. B. Glover of Campbellford is a sister.

Mrs. Richards speaks freely, using choice language. Her address was free from extravagant assertions or exaggeration, her reasoning was logical and she showed intimate knowledge of the past and current political history of the country. Sam Clarke said that her address was one of the best he had ever heard made by a woman.

The Candidate's Message.

Mr. Slade, the first speaker, said he was proud to come before the people as a follower of Premier King. While the latter may lack the magnetism of Sir John Macdonlad or Sir Wilfrid Laurier, he was an excellent business man, as was shown by his ability to command fully 75 per cent. of the members in the last House. Premier King is in favour of a tariff for revenue. The tariff will be revised as occasion arises. Any industry that needs protection will get it while another making undue profits would have the tariff lowered.

If, said Mr. Slade, the Fordney tariff of the United States, is a detriment to the farmers of Canada, the Conservative party, by rejecting reciprociety in 1911, are responsible for that tariff. The Opposition says Canada is in a financial crisis, but bank and industrial stocks are higher to-day, and the Canadian dollar is at par. Everything shows that we are prosperous and are on the eve of greater prosperity than ever.

New Cabinet Timber.

Mr. Meighen, continued the speaker, says all the good men are leaving the King Cabinet for the Senate. That, if true, should tend to improve the latter body. Mr. Slade said that the new men being taken into the Cabinet were sources of strength to the country and among these he instanced Hon. G. N. Gordon and Hon. Vincent Massey.

Mr. Slade maintained that the standardization of cheese and the grading of hogs for export had done more to assist the farmers of Canada than any other agricultural measures that had ever been passed. He asked the electors to vote conscientiously, in their own interess, and for the good of others.

Women urged to Vote.

"Let us as women," said Mrs. Richards to her sister electors, try to make politics honorable instead of a term of reproach. Let us see on the 29th that every Liberal woman who has a right to vote does vote."

In 1921, Mrs. Richards said, it was predicted that the King government could not carry on for six months. It had however lasted for four years, and at no time had it been embarrassed for lack of a majority.

Mr. Meighen is going around the country preaching blue ruin, but Mrs. Richards said, it is a poor patriot who believes his country cannot take care of its own or that it is less prosperous than the United States.

Supported as Premier King is sure to be by the farmers, the fishermen, the miners and the lumbermen of the country, Mrs. Richards had no doubt that he will be triumphantly re-elected on the 29th.

R. R. Hall, K.C.

Mr. Hall said, "The last time I had the honor and pleasure of addressing an audience in Hastings was when the Great War was on and recruits were appealed for to defend our freedom and civilization. We were then working together in the discharge of a high patriotic duty. So we have met again to discharge a great patriotic duty. We are now engaged in discussing great questions which have to be solved and it is the duty of every voter to give an answer on the 29th of this month to these questions which involve the general welfare of each and all. We have one party headed by the Prime Minister, Mr. King, and the other headed by the leader of the opposition, Mr. Meighen.

"We have a fair record of both and by their records they both must be judged. We have their promises for their future acts and by their past records we must judge which one of them furnishes the best evidence upon which we can express our faith at the polls in the promises each of them are making.

"In 1920 our national debt increased $92,000,000 under Mr. Meighen and in 1921 it increased another $81,000,000, but under the King administration our national debt in 1922 only increased $30,000,000, and in the following year there was not an increase in our net national debt. There was on the other hand a surplus of $35,000,000 available to be paid on account of our national debt. Next year, 1924, there was a cut in our tax bill to the extent of $20,000,000, and still a surplus of $4,816,000. In 1925 the surplus is still climbing because for the year ending 30th Sept., 1925, the surplus stands at $25,805,000. That is a good record for King as against a poor record for Meighen.

"Our annual tax bill under King has been reduced from $41.99 per head of our population to $31.38. There is a four to three shot in favor of King as against Meighen as a tax reducer. We voters may well say 'Keep on going reducing our taxes under Mr. King.' We voters are in duty bound to say 'Well done, good faithful servant, you will not be discharged.' King is wanted on the job and by our votes he will remain on the job as a debt payer and a debt reducer.

"Look at the way our foreign trade has extended. Since Canada shook off Mr. Meighen and his sulky sullen gloom the favourable balance of exports over imports has increased from $6,122,677 to the enormous sum of $284,429,000 in 1925. Why should the voter say make a change when he can plainly see we are sailing on the rising tide of prosperity. It would have been a crime against Canada to have turned Laurier out in 1900 but it would be a greater crime to turn King out in 1925.

"The King Government has been and is now on the job looking for more trade for the Canadian people. They have made trade treaties with several countries and the net result is that for every $47.00 we sell we get back $75.00 in return. Let down the bars of restriction and let trade come in. The latest law of health is 'open up the window, and let the sunshine in.'

"Now for promises. Mr. Meighen says raise the tariff. Let us increase our taxes. That will make us rich. It will give employment. Do not forget that an increase in the tariff means an increase in our taxes. Can the farmer increase his income if he votes to increase his tax bill? Can the working man benefit himself if he votes to increase the taxes on everything he eats and wears? Can the producer increase his earnings by voting to increase the taxes on everything he touches his hands to, in the course of his daily toil? It cannot be done. The great quack doctor says it can. He says he has a remedy he did not use when he was in power. That remedy was high tariff. When Mr. Meighen was Prime Minister he said, 'We never can have a high tariff in Canada—a high tariff is unsound in principle—it tends to eliminate foreign commpetition—it tends to exclude that element of foreign competition—we must always have a moderate tariff.'

"We have Massey in Durham who says lower duties on farm implements means an increasing business to his company. We have Goodison in London who says lower duties on threshing machines means increasing business to them. We have these Liberal candidates and other Liberals whom time would fail to tell supporting King.

"The evidence in favour of King is overwhelming. Vote in your own best interest and in doing so you will vote for yourselves and in favor of the many and against the few, who gloat in increasing their own riches and in giving a glad hand to the many that are deceived."

Mr. Meighen in Quebec.

After discussing the duty on automobiles and criticizing some of the campaign tactics of the opposition, Mr. Cochrane predicted that Mr. Meighen would be defeated in Quebec. He has not spoken in that province during the campaign and is not wanted there. Lavergne is telling the people of Quebec that if Meighen is made premier, the teaching of French will be made compulsory in all Canadian schools but Mr. Meighen is not making any such promises in Ontario.

Sam Clark in Rebuttal

"Mr. Maybee, when he was speaking from this platform Monday night," said Sam Clarke, M.L.A., spoke of an auditor getting a raise of salary. Why did he not tell the whole truth, and say that in Meighen's time there were three auditors; now there is one, and he gets less than the others.

"When he spoke of the $65,000 salary paid Sir Henry Thornton, as manager of the C.N.R., why did he not tell you that in Meighen's day there were three general managers of the roads that make up the C.N.R. system today, and that Sir Henry Thornton gets less than these?

"Mr. Maybee spoke of the extravagance of the King Government, yet for four years he sat in the House, at $4,000 a year, and never opened his mouth in protest until he came to Hastings, and told you about it. He never squeaked once while in Parliament. What was he there for?"

King and the Flag.

Mr. Clarke referred to the statement made by a lady speaker at the Monday night meeting, that Premier King had tried to destroy the flag.

"What rot," said the veteran member of the Legislature. "I have lived 70 years and cannot recall 50 people, Canadian born or Old Country stock, who were not loyal. Conservatives seem to think they own the flag, and sometimes they even think they own the whole blooming country.

"Thank God, King will be premier again. Destroy the flag! Such rot! The Grits are just as loyal as any Tories that ever stood."

Mr. Clarke predicted that the Liberals will have the biggest plurality of any of the three groups, and that the Progressives will carry the West.

The meeting broke up with cheers

DIPLOMAS GIVEN ENTRANCE CLASS

Thirty-four Pupils Received Certificates at Queen Alexandra School.

GOOD PROGRAMME.

The large kindergarten room at Queen Alexandra School was filled to capacity on Friday evening, when the Home and School Association entertained the entrance pupils, with Dr. J. E. Middleton in the chair.

A short programme was enjoyed: Selection—cornet, violins and piano —The Big Four; vocal solos, Mrs. Ford Turner; instrumental solo, Mrs. P. P. Westbye; reading, Miss Irene Wright.

The Principal, M. H. Park, welcomed the members, visitors and graduating class. He commended the present custom of presenting certificates, and expressed satisfaction at the good standing—six pupils doing junior and senior work in one year—and of thirty-five pupils, thirty four passed. He also expressed appreciation of the work of all teachers —from the kindergarten to the fourth book—in preparation of the pupils for the entrance and then presented the diplomas, which were tied with the school colors, black and gold, to Muriel Boorman, Archie Inch, Albert Bonney, Margaret Reid, Vera Pinn, Harry Tewsley, Archie Cocks, William Martin, Jean Fairweather, Donald Mackey, Irene Mark, Vera Stephens, Dorothy Pogue, Leona Kingdon, Miriam Purdy, Edmond Johnston, Margaret Vance, Lily Barton, Gertrude Butcher, Alice Donley, Bella Hamilton, Kathleen Simmonds, Isabel Mackay, Leslie Reid, Olive Delong, Nora Hayward, Albert Clark, Kenneth Lee, Alvin Tedford, Edward Kingdon, Ina Terrace, Rodney Theobald, Bernard Walton and Percy Ellison.

He closed with good wishes from the staff and Home and School Association, and a stanza from Sir Henry Newbolt's "The Best School of All":

"We'll honor yet the school we knew,
The best school of all:
We'll honor yet the rule we knew,
Till the last bell call.
For, working days or holidays,
And glad or melancholy days,
They were great days and jolly days
At the best school of all."

Mrs. G. H. Roper's donation of a couch rug for the teachers' room was acknowledged.

Several made congratulatory remarks.

The members were reminded of the pledge to assist the Local Council by selling tickets for "Drusilla With a Million," to be at the Royal in November.

Dainty refreshments were served by the convenor, Mrs. Robert Reid, and members of the Association.

The meeting closed by singing God Save the King.

Reduction in the National Debt:
$82,871,647.00

ACCORDING to the laments of Mr. Meighen and his ally, Mr. Peck, things are going from bad to worse in Canada, and the Liberal Party, they claim, is leading the country to ruin.

WHILE facts prove that prosperity is returning to Canada today, a greater era of prosperity would already be attained had the Conservatives under Mr. Meighen properly conducted the affairs of the country during their regime. A great portion of the heavy burden of debt which Canada is called upon to bear today is the result of Mr. Meighen's mismanagement, waste and extravagance.

NEVER in our history has a Government been called upon to face such a tremendous task, such colossal obligations, as the Liberal Party had to face when it entered office in 1921. In spite of this, however, thanks to wise and careful administration, the King Government has established great economics in every department in the Administration.

NATIONAL DEBT

PREVIOUS to 1921 our debt, under the Meighen Administration, showed an increase, which from 1919 to 1921 was augmented by the Conservatives by the huge amount of $225,846,392.00. Under King, to the contrary, our debt showed a decrease, and from 1922 to 1924 the Liberal Government reduced our debt by $82,871,647.00.

Operating Surplus National Railways

Reduction in Ordinary Expenditures:
$36,305,955.00

ORDINARY EXPENDITURES

WHEN the Conservatives were in power ordinary expenditure was greatly increased each year, the amount of this increase reaching the sum of $128,386,862.00 from 1919 to 1921. Under the Liberal Administration, instead of an increase, the ordinary expenditure was reduced each year, and from 1922 to 1925 the King Government effected a saving of $36,304,955.00.

NATIONAL RAILWAYS

MR. Meighen and the Conservatives, while so severely criticizing today the administration of our National Railways, have surely forgotten that the responsibility for the purchase of the railways, and the tremendous burden placed upon the Canadian people by so doing, rests on their shoulders. Under Mr. Meighen's Administration these railways showed a yearly deficit which, during 1920 and 1921, amounted to $43,000,000. Since the Liberal Party entered office, however, the operation of our railways has, each year, shown a surplus which, during 1922-23 and 1924, amounted to $40,000,000.00.

IF you wish to see the country well administered—to see it continue to develop and occupy a fitting place among other nations—vote for Gordon and the Liberal Party.

CITY LIBERALS EXTOL GORDON AND HIS POLICY

Dr. Holloway Says Credit Due Liberals For Position of Canadian Dollar.

HISTORY RECALLED.

J. Wearing's Suggestions as to to Composition of Next Meighen Cabinet.

The Liberal Association committee rooms were crowded to capacity on Saturday evening at a rally in the interests of the Liberal candidate, J. J. Hartley, president of the local association, acted as chairman, and the following speakers took part. Dr. W. T. Holloway, Joseph Wearing and W. Scollard. Owing to the big meeting in Lakefield, the Hon. G. N. Gordon was unable to be present, but he sent his regrets to the meeting.

Dr. W. T. Holloway.

Dr. Holloway said that he did not feel competent to give a political speech, but he realized that to win the fight everyone must help. There are enough good ideas about Liberalism to enable you to recommend it to your friends. Mr. Gordon is an absolutely clean politician and has risen to the top of the heap in a very short time. Hansard shows Mr. Meighen to have said on May 15, 1920, that "Canada can never have more than a moderate tariff," and yet today we have the spectacle of him going around the country preaching high tariff or blue ruin. All the high tariff does is to give the manufacturer more profits to put in his pocket. A moderate tariff is the only sane way of protecting industry, and whilst high tariff might increase the size of our cities, it would mean ruin to the farmers. The other side tell us we are singing too much, but I would rather sing than groan and moan. I am sincere about this election, and I want you all to vote for the Hon. G. N. Gordon, as it is due to him and his party that our Canadian dollar is the best dollar in the world. The Liberal party has always been loyal to Britain, and it is nothing short of a crime to blame Mackenzie King for wanting to change the Union Jack. Get out and vote on the twenty-ninth, said the speaker, and you will be doing both your country and the Hon. G. N. Gordon a great service.

Joseph Wearing.

Just the other day commenced Mr. Wearing, one of our most prominent citizens passed away, a man who lived in this country before Confederation, and yet within that man's lifetime Canada today stands to the forefront with the nations of the world. We forget the great responsibilities that have come to us due to the expansion of this wonderful country. When I read the Conservative papers, said Mr. Wearing, I cannot help but come to the conclusion that somehow or other a real Tory never seems to wake up. Dogs and cats get their sight in nine days, but Tories can't even see in 999 years. In reviewing the history of Canada, Mr. Wearing stated that Canada owed Confederation to two great Liberals, Joseph Howe and George Brown. Now what happened after Confederation? Sir John A. MacDonald came along with a high protective policy, which was alright when Canada consisted of Ontario and Quebec. It succeeded for a short time, as in those days the West was just beginning to develop and naturally had to purchase everything from the manufacturers in the East, but around 1890, the bubble burst. Mr. Wearing told of how in 1893 he had sold grain in Barrie market for 18 cents a bushel, hardwood at three dollars a cord, and hay at seven dollars a ton. This was after fifteen years of so-called national policy, but in spite of these conditions the Tories then said as they are saying now, "If the Liberals go in, the country will go to the dogs." They never grow up and their eyes never open. When Sir Wilfrid Laurier came into power, we started on a golden era of prosperity, he was the first man to be able to understand the problems of the entire country and not only Quebec, and the prosperity was due to Sir Wilfrid being a real Liberal. This country will see it's flood tide in future when another such man comes along. This tariff question is nothing but a tariff armament between us and the United States—a tariff is nothing else but one man pointing a gun at another. The speaker described what he considered to be the "most dastardly political campaign in the history of the country." The result was the grandest defeat Liberalism could suffer, as it proved the worth of Sir Wilfrid. He characterized the Union Government of 1917, as a "government of graft and extravagance," which became so bad that all true Liberals got out of it, but unfortunately some of the so-called Liberals stayed with the "flesh pots of Egypt." We have had for the last four years as fine an administration that any country could wish for, when you consider the adverse circumstances at the time they took it over. This country has since been on a slow but steady limb to prosperity as our exports will testify. The hardest thing we have to overcome is not the state of affairs but the Tor mis-statements that are being scattered around. Take this home with you, "If the Conservatives could not use these mis-statements they would have no ammunition." This is a critical time in which we live, and we cannot afford to put a man in Ottawa who has not the support of the whole country. Mr. Wearing said that if Mr. Meighen was elected, he would not be surprised to see the eMighen Cabinet consisting of the Hon. Bob Rogers, Minister of Public Works, as he had had lots of experience on Government buildings; Hon. R. Foster, as Minister of Agriculture, as he knew something about horses, having been kicked out of the party for trafficking in them; Hon. R. B. Bennett, as Minister of Justice, and anyone who knows Hansard, knows what he thinks of Meighen; Hon. E. F. Patenaude, as Minister of Militia, he was formerly a Nationalist and was greatly opposed to sending troops to the front in 1917; Hon. A. Lavergne as Minister of Marine, the man who wanted to shoot holes in the Union Jack. We might as well throw this country to the dogs, declared the speaker, and while it is alright to laugh, we must in all seriousness put the best men into power. Let us rally round, and by letting the people know our policies, the result will be that the Hon. G. N. Gordon will be elected by the largest majority ever known in Peterboro.

W. Scollard.

Mr. Scollard stated that he had just come from the large meeting in Lakefield. The handwriting is on the wall, said Mr. Scollard, and it says that "Gordon is the man." I am a staunch Liberal, and I am proud of it. I have just come back from an extensive tour of the eastern part of this province and the province of Quebec, and have it on good authority that in Quebec not more than five Conservatives will be elected. The same man estimated a total of from 129 to 135 seats in the whole country for Mackenzie King. Mr. Meighen blames Mackenzie King for everything that has happened in the last four years, but as yet he has not been accused of causing the Japanese earthquake. It would be a crime, said Mr. Scollard that if by any accident the Hon. G. N. Gordon was defeated. If the shoe was on the other foot, and a Conservative was a Minister of the Crown, we as Liberals would not oppose him. We must elect the Hon. G. N. Gordon with a majority large enough to show how we are proud of him, and if we put our shoulders to the wheel we cannot help but win out.

Goliath Plane Crashes Into Tree Seeking a Landing Place.

WADHURSTE, Sussex, Eng., Oct. 19.—A sad ending has come to the Holy year pilgrimage by New York family to Rome in the death in an airplane accident to one of the party and serious injuries to two others.

In the crash of a large Goliath airplane in which they were travelling from London to Paris Miss Katherine Burke of New York, sustained injuries from which she died shortly afterward, her brother, Monsignor Daniel Burke, pastor of the church of St. Philip Neri of New York, suffered a compound fracture of the leg and Joseph Burke, another brother, had both his feet injured and his scalp lacerated. A niece of the Burkes and three British passengers and the French pilot and the mechanic escaped with only a shaking up. Apparently the pilot who was flying low was seeking a safe landing place, when the machine struck a large tree.

SHORTAGE OF COAL WORRIES U. S. CITIES

WASHINGTON, D.C., Oct. 19.—(Canadian Press).—Buffalo and one or two other cities in the northern section of New York state which are reported as suffering because of the scarcity of hard coal, have complained to the Federal authorities here of alleged large shipments of anthracite passing through to Canada. Other complaints are heard of large shipments to the Great Lakes region. Buffalo and other nearby cities state that they cannot secure coal "at any cost."

Just what action might be taken by the government on the complaint is unannounced but it is anticipated no interference with the present course of shipments will be made.

AMERICAN METHODS AROUSE PROTESTS

French Tradesmen Object to Showing Books to Treasury Agents.

PARIS, Oct. 19 (Canadian Press) —French tradesmen and exporters ave formally asked Premier Painleve to intervene with Washington, with a view to obtaining the suppression of what is considered here s the inquisitorial method of American Treasury agents in France. A big meeting of protest was held in Paris Friday on the initiative of the Jewelers' Association. It was decided to request the Government to take immediate action in order to free French exporters from the obligation of showing their books to treasury agents and a committee was appointed to draft a letter to Premier Painleve on the subject.

FIREMEN HURT IN FACTORY FIRE

Two Were Injured When Victoria Mills, Montreal, Were Destroyed.

IN EARLY MORNING.

MONTREAL, Oct. 19.—(Canadian Press).—Two firemen were slightly injured by falling glass when a fire of undetermined origin partly destroyed the Victoria Mills, cotton goods manufacturers, near Victoria Square early Saturday morning. The blaze was discovered by a passerby at 1.30 and shortly after the flames were shooting from all parts of the four storey structure and threatened a neaby paint warehouse.

With the arrival of the first detachment of firefighting apparatus, the fire was confined to the Victoria Mills building. The flames were brought under control at 2.30.

HALO SEEN ON WALL.

White-Washed Building Becomes Famous, Visited By Thousands Daily.

MINEAOLA, N.Y., Oct. 19.—(Canadian Pres).—Visitors by the thousands are flocking to St. Martin's Roman Catholic church at Central Park, hamlet near here, and there is talk of making the little white washed building a shrine church. The stain on the plaster wall, the visitors say, has assumed the shape of Madonna and the Child. They point out a light spot at her throat as the halo above the child's head, a cross held by the child, and a halo appearing above the virgin's head.

Rev. Daniel H. Dwyer, pastor of the church, is seeking an explanation of how the stain assumed this shape. "I see no more than anyone else does", he said, "but certainly the image of the Christ child is clear."

MONDAY, OCTOBER 19, 1925.

SOME OF THE STARS.

Outside of the nomination meetings and the committee room rallies of the two candidates, Peterboro electors have had no opportunity to hear the issues of the day discussed, but the last ten days of the campaign will make up for this deficiency, bringing to the city some of the big stars in the political firmament.

Tonight Hon. Chas. Murphy, Postmaster General, is to speak here; Right Honourable Arthur Meighen, leader of the Opposition, will be in Peterboro on Saturday, and on the following Monday it is expected that Hon. Vincent Massey, newly appointed Cabinet Minister, will address the electors.

The Examiner believes that it is the duty of as many as possible of the voters to attend these meetings in order that they may hear the issues that are before the people discussed by such outstanding figures.

Election day is drawing near, and every man or woman on the voters' lists should not only realize that it is his or her duty to vote on October 29th, but to take every opportunity of hearing the policies of the two parties explained by leading members of those parties.

A SPORTSMANLIKE TRIBUTE.

A news picture of one of the recent world's series games between Pittsburg and Washington offers evidence that the standard of sportsmanship in baseball is improving.

The photograph shows Moore, young Pittsburg second baseman, crossing the plate after making the home run that won the second last game for the Pirates, and the striking feature is that behind the plate is seen "Muddy" Ruel, Washington catcher, applauding the feat that meant defeat for his club.

The incident will elevate the little Senator catcher high in the opinion of sportsmen generally, and his graceful tribute to the prowess of an opponent will be remembered as one of the bright features of the series of 1925.

There was a time when baseball was not considered to be on a high level as regards sportsmanship.

The story about the manager who tossed a copy of the rule book to each of his players and said: "Here, boys, are the new rules. Let us figure how we can beat them," is not only amusing, but it is true in the conception it gives of baseball as it was and perhaps is still played, in professional circles.

"Muddy" Ruel's tribute to an opposition player shows that there is hope that a new condition of affairs may arise.

PLEDGING CANDIDATES.

Temperance leaders who attempt to make candidates in a Federal election pledge themselves in advance without reservation to support any temperance legislation that may be brought forward, are taking a course that will antagonize a very substantial portion of the electorate toward the cause of prohibition.

There is resentment over the introduction of the question at all in a campaign of this nature, and it is increased by the very definite pledge that is being submitted.

Candidates who do not want to go to Ottawa with their hands tied are refusing to subscribe to the pledge—and there will be a pretty general opinion that they are wise in doing so under the circumstances.

If in every riding the candidates had united in a refusal to bind themselves to support legislation about which they at present know nothing, this attempt to make an issue of a question that does not pertain at all to the election in which the people of Canada are interested at the present time would have been nipped in the bud.

The big issue before the country is the selection of a Government that will in all probability control the affairs of this country for the next four or five years; all interest should be concentrated on that task, and the question of Dominion prohibition can very well be laid aside for the present.

A SOUND DOCTRINE.

There has been much talk of late about the activities of the so-called British Fascisti, and some rather lurid stories have appeared in American newspapers concerning the preparations of the black-shirted brigade to deal with the "Red" revolution scheduled in certain quarters to start in the spring, says the Ottawa Journal. The latest announcement in that connection was to the effect that they were being enrolled as special constables in several English cities, presumably with the view of being trained to meet the emergency foreshadowed in the threats of Communist firebrands.

The news was a little startling since it seemed to indicate that the authorities were really alarmed and that the possibility of civil war was seriously entertained even by the Government itself. Nor was it possible to ignore the effect which such action on the part of the constabulary chiefs in conjunction with the Fascisti might have in inciting the "Reds" to further hostility, and adding fuel to a fire that is already dangerous.

That the Communists and advanced Socialists would protest against any attempt to mobilize the Fascisti, or any other civilian force, for defensive purposes was to be expected. Your "Red" is very brave and bellicose on the top of a soap-box, surrounded by hysterical comrades, who shout approval of his threats and respond with enthusiasm to his heroic gestures. But his idea of a revolution is pretty much like that of the hero who was always spoiling for a fight in which he would do all the hitting, without being hit in return.

Home Secretary Joynson-Hicks does not see it quite that way. Though he has wisely frowned upon the enrolment as special constables of the Fascisti as such, he has made it plain to the Communist objectors that he would support the chiefs of police in recruiting individual citizens regardless of their previous affiliations, for, as he points out, it is "the duty of all loyal, able-bodied citizens, whatever their political complexion, to take part in protecting the community against acts of violence by whomever committed."

That is a doctrine which may not appeal to those who take their political ideas from Russia, but its soundness will be appreciated by all who have the Britisher's conception of self-protection, law and order.

"LOYAL PLUGGING."

Speaking to a class of undergraduates the President of an American college offered words of cheer to the "average" student. Since the majority of people are just average, his remarks have very wide application. He said: "I read a few days ago in a sketch of the life of one of our foremost railroad presidents this statement of his concerning the men in his employ: 'I wouldn't exchange for the brainiest man in the world the loyal plugger who will keep right on whether my back is turned or not.' You may not have extraordinary talent, you may not have genius, but you can all become, if you so determine, 'loyal pluggers.'" Only comparatively few are endowed with exceptional talents. It is vain for any one to desire to be a genius, for it is not a matter of choice at all. Instead of wasting valuable time regretting one's shortcomings, the thing to do is to make the most of the talents one has. Aesop's story of the hare and the tortoise is one of the most familiar of all his fables. The hare was so sure of himself that he lost the race, while the tortoise, the "loyal plugger," slow but sure, steadily pursuing his way, beat his swifter rival, in spite of heavy initial handicaps. Perseverance will remove all obstacles.

If the option were given to be a genius or a "loyal plugger," it might be better to choose the latter. Both words in the phrase used by the railroad president are significant—"loyal plugger." There must be loyalty to the ideal, constancy of purpose, as well as persistency of effort. First of all the aim must be clearly conceived and then followed through till it is attained. The brilliant person who can do with little or no effort what demands considerable effort on the part of the merely average individual is apt to be unsteady, and because he is unsteady he is unreliable. The first essential for success is reliability, and reliability is associated with the "loyal plugger" type. This applies with special force to young students, for all learning requires this quality of sticking to the purpose. The youth who has learnt the art of "plugging" will carry the habit on into his subsequent career; he could have no more valuable asset.—Hamilton Spectator.

THE RESPONSIBILITY OF THE ELECTORS.

On October 29 next the people of Canada will be called upon to elect the Federal Government for the next four years, and the issue constitutes a distinct challenge to the citizenship of the country. The responsibility is greater than it was in former times because of the system of almost universal franchise. In Canada, the electors are supreme in the matter of the selection of a new Government. Nothing could be more democratic than the electoral system of Canada, where every worthy citizen of either sex, twenty-one years of age, has a vote. In former times when the franchise was more limited than it is today, there was perhaps greater earnestness in the use of this privilege and responsibility. Today, tens of thousands of electors all over the country habitually neglect to vote.

It is the duty of the electors at this time to give earnest heed to the discussion of political questions. There never was a time when the people of Canada had better opportunities to become thoroughly familiar with public issues than they have today. Not many years ago it was the practice of partisan newspapers, for the most part, to give only inadequate and partial reports of the political speeches of the party which they did not support. Today almost every creditable newspaper in the Dominion publishes the speeches of the leaders and influential speakers of both parties as a matter of news, impartially. For the most part also, barring out a few extreme partisan journals, the editorial comments are fair and of an informative character. Elementary justice demands this impartial treatment of public issues, and, consequently, the people have ample opportunities to form their own judgment on all current questions. This opportunity to read and study public affairs, combined with the privilege of the franchise, puts a tremendous responsibility upon the citizens of the country.

The essential welfare of the country is an urgent call to the citizens to do their duty. The pity of it is that, with these increased opportunities, so many of the electors take their responsibility so lightly, and neglect to vote. The Government of Canada at this juncture calls for the election of able men, and patriotic citizens ought not to neglect to do their duty as they see it. It is the duty of the electors to attend public meetings, and to read and study the discussion of public issues in the newspapers in order that they may think and judge for themselves. The present campaign presents its perplexing problems. Especially on the fiscal policy of the country the electors should seek to become well informed. The electors must study all the arguments if they wish to vote intelligently. There is no place for negligence in this election.—Brantford Expositor.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

There is one sure thing about the present campaign. If figures were edible, the statistics quoted by the political parties would carry the people of Canada over many a lean year.

So many entries are being made in some of the Toronto ridings that the Telegram remarks that you would almost think that prizes were to be given for place and show.

This is an official election. Jimmy Simpson, Toronto labour leader, is running.

The Toronto Star and the Telegram apparently don't know there is an election in Toronto. They are doing most of their fighting in Durham.

Mr. Brethen, Progressive candidate in Hastings-Peterboro, had to act as his own chairman at a recent meeting, thus avoiding the danger of an unfortunate introduction.

Most people would die sooner than think; in fact, they do so.—Bertrand Russell.

It's a wise woman who can smile at a compliment and immediately forget it.—Chicago Daily News.

The sun's age is put at about five million years, but then it goes to bed very early every night.—Sault Star.

Now is the time when political audiences wish that a course in oratory was a part of the school curriculum.

FROM MR. FLORENCE.

Let us discuss the political situation from every angle. The Meighen Government says protection and more of it. If I am right, there was very little change in tariff under the King Government from Meighen, 1921, and, dear knows, we are paying enough for our necessities as it is under the present schedule of wages, to exist. A Canadian manufacturer paying lower wages than the United States and getting protection of from 25% to 40%, should be able to make money unless he has exceedingly high overhead, which he can easily remedy or else he is better out of business.

The Union Labour are afraid of immigration, ask yourself this question? United States has allowed all kinds of people to enter. Has it weakened the skilled labour situation? I should say not; on the contrary, better wages by far are being paid there. What more proof do you want? On the other hand if Peterborough had only ten men working here, what wages would they get? It is an open fact that there are thousands of men leaving this country. Has it improved the labour situation here? No, it has made it still worse.

All we need is more population, if we can't keep our good men at home we have to be satisfied with what we can get. Therefore I would suggest open the doors for a good strong healthy class of people, race or religion should make no difference, farmer or otherwise, as long as he is capable to work and can produce $200 in cash, that will prove that he was no tramp, and depended on charities to exist. The Government should retain $50 from each immigrant for a period of at least one year and any immigrant looking for charities after the Government bureau has supplied him with work, either in the city or country, and he wouldn't stay at it, I would use the $50 to deport him back to the country where he came from.

By a large immigration means they all have to eat, clothe and houses to live in, and furniture with all necessities, and that means more demand for our produce and goods manufactured. This will improve the skilled labour situation, instead of weakening it. It will eventually hold our good men here and will bring back the people who left Canada to look for better. That is why United States is where she is today, progressing by leaps and bounds, while us Canadians are sitting down here for the last 20 years without any move for advancement, couldn't even hold her natural growth. With a country as big as United States, and more resources than they have, it appears this is the only reason. With lots of cheap labour, Canada will start to prosper, it will attract foreign capital to this country, they will manufacture our raw material here instead of taking it out in raw state, and Canadians will invest their money in industries instead of keeping it in the savings. The more people that enter this country, the more factories will be established.

Consider our farmers—they are helpless, with no one to take care for them, or help them find means to prosper. I would reduce farm implements so as to give the farmer encouragement to go ahead. When he sees that you are trying for them it will give them a good feeling and they will spend more for requirements. If the Government needs the revenue, put it on luxuries and expensive cars, etc., where the rich people will contribute, instead of on necessities that come out of the working people and farmers.

By reduced farm labour means reduced living expenses, and all agree that people were better off several years ago than they are today with high wages, as the income is not sufficient to cover the high cost of living.

Our population can't consume anything near what it produces, and we have to export. United States has its own market that takes care of their production. When we ask United States to take our output, they say, "Canada, we are sorry you are good neighbours and friends, but business is business, and we have to protect our own people, so peddle your goods elsewhere." Then we go to our Mother Country, "Will you buy our goods?" "Yes, certainly, but say, what is your price, remember we can buy in Russia, Roumania and other countries for a good deal less, why should we pay more." Now, how can we compete with those countries; as a result we have to carry our basket to every hole and corner to find a market with a starvation living. The only way to solve this situation is more immigration.

Why are our cities and towns so quiet and dead looking? For lack of population.

Why are 90% of our merchants holding on a shoe string?. For lack of population.

Why are some of the factories half idle, some closed? For lack of population.

As to the good of our city and surroundings, put in a man who is capable and has it in him to stand on the platform and say, "Our Town must get it. instead of a man who would say "We should get it. Elect a man that qualifies and promises to carry out our wishes to the full extent and watch our country swell by leaps and bounds.

—L. FLORENCE.

FROM MR. HUMBER.

To the Editor of The Examiner:—

As regards protection, a moderate tariff is the healthy stimulus to the natural growth of human industry, the laws of which are as fixed and certain as those which pertain to the growth of a tree.

A much higher protective tariff cannot create capital, as capital springs and grows only by industry and frugality, it being the fruit of saving.

And absolutely, a much higher tariff has no power to create men or endow them with skill, as people always have grown in skill as they grow in intelligence. A moderate tariff must be and is, the law of natural growth.

The assumption that a much higher tariff as a protection policy, creates the home market is nonsense.

Varied industry grows up naturally and healthy with the increase in population and wealth.

Mechanical ability with a determination to probe and find things out; the energy of will power and managing capacity.

These qualities will not come about by higher protective tariffs.

For a long time to come this country will have a large surplus of grains, silver, gold, etc., to dispose of.

So it is really to be seen we can sell to others, only as we give others a fair chance to sell to us.

A higher protective tariff would create an unnatural stimulus, which leads to overproduction and stagnation, followed by failure.

The result of higher tariff would be to raise the prices of all those articles in daily use, thereby increasing the profits of the highly protected industries. A much higher protection than the present would diminish the revenues of our country. The result following is that the people are burdened with an additional heavy tax. The Canadian people surely are taxed quite enough, instead of adding more by the policy of higher protection. You will find as a consumer you will pay more for the goods you buy for the benefit of the few.

An example of a change of tariff for protection as disturbing, is when protection on cotton is high; all who use cotton as a material of their industry clamor against it.

So it is as time goes on we find candidates for special favor, press their claims for a change of tariff benefiting them.

Following we have at every session of Parliament movements made for some change of tariff.

At this particular time I do not hesitate in committing myself, that is to say, in my opinion this constituency has in the Hon. G. N. Gordon," one of the most able and attentive representatives that the electorate of this constituency ever sent to Ottawa. And so it is to your interest when public affairs are guided by men of Hon. G. N. Gordon's ability and integrity, for office of government requires men of more than ordinary capacity.

The Hon. G. N. Gordon is a man of strong personal character and reputation, and this constituency in all branches, is secure and safe as his interests are centred here, so much so that the Hon. G. N. Gordon would never consent to any freak legislature that would be damaging to the Great General Public.

Therefore, it is just so long as you can hold and maintain the support of the Great General Public, just so long will you have that great body behind your undertakings.

I think you will agree with me when I say the Hon. G. N. Gordon is still deserving of our support.

A THOUGHT.

THE THINKING-AHEAD MANAGER

The thinking-ahead manager understands that the condition of an employee's finances has a lot to do with the way his head works and his heart acts.

The employee that is always broke and borrowing is so bewildered that promotion would only add confusion to all concerned.

The candidate for proomtion should be able to acquire something for himself on his present income before being intrusted with the responsibility of trying to manage others.

Why should a man expect to be able to manage other people when he cannot manage his own affairs?

But you say: "Give me more money and I can make a showing." The more money a man has, the more expensive habits he has—and saving or thrift is a habit.

CATTLE, GRAIN AND PRODUCE

Peterboro—Toronto—Montreal Winnipeg

CHICAGO WHEAT

CHICAGO, Oct. 19 (Canadian Press).—More and more delay to threshing in Canada, which snowstorms reported from the Prairie Provinces brought about a sharp upturn in wheat values Saturday after an early decline. Wheat closed strong, 1 3-8 to 2 3-4c net higher, new style, December 147 3-8 to 147 1-2 and May 144 3-8 to 144 1-2, Corn finished at 5-8 to 7-8c gain; oats unchanged to 1-8c up and provisions varying from 25c off to 15c advance.

Closing prices in the wheat market were virtually the day's top level. According to advices at hand, a large amount of threshing in Canada has already suffered two weeks' delay and perhaps must be postponed altogether until Spring. Reports that the Canadian wheat growers' pool has 50,000,000 bushels sold abroad so far, tended also to lift prices, and so, too, did scantiness of receipts at primary points in the United States, together with decreasing stocks, especially at Minneapolis and Chicago.

Slight rain in parts of Australia, with selling here by foreigners was chiefly responsible for the temporary set-backs that wheat prices underwent at the start. Some rain in parts of Indiana was also reported. Further buying of Canadian wheat for American mills had an additional bearish effect, and there were assertions that Canadian [illegible] being disposed of on this side of the border, not ably in the East.

When once the market began to ascend, however, the influence of all such circumstances was quickly done away with. In particular the December delivery of wheat made a rapid climb, selling at a big premium over May here, and at every other winter wheat market in the United States.

A force cast of unsettled weather for sections of the corn belt was something of a stimulus to the buying side of the corn market. In oats, larger receipts made prices rather easy.

Provisions averaged higher, sympathizing with firmness of hog values.

MONTREAL MARKETS

MONTREAL, Oct. 19 (Canadian Press)—There was some inquiry for gain from foreign buyers in the local market on Saturday, but as the prices bid were below working basis on the business, there was no business done, and as a result Saturday's market was the dullest of the season. The domestic market for coarse grain was firm but the demand limited.

The condition of the flour market was unchanged, prices for all grades being maintained.

A steady feeling prevailed in the market for millfeed under a fair demand. The market for standard grades of rolled oats was quiet with prices steady.

The feature of the egg situation during the past week was the strength that developed in the market for stictly fresh extras and prices closed with a gain of 3 cents per dozen, which was attributed principally to the very light supplies coming forward and the keener competition between buyers for the same.

Beans were quoted at $2.40 to $2.50 per bushel.

Eggs—Receipts, cases Saturday 1,659; week ago 1,643. Year ago 1,711. For week ending Oct. 17, 9,805. Previous week, 10,852. Year ago 11,972. Total from May 1, 285,033. Same period, 1924, 319,324.

The trading is now mostly confined to storage eggs which are moving steadily into consumption, Prices continue to be largely governed by the price of United States markets. There has been very little trading in carlots of Canadian storage eggs up to the present owing to the fact that dealers in most cases are still well supplied with stock that they stored themselves early in the season and are following the policy of moving their own stocks before buying more. The export movement of Canadian storage this season has been somewhat disappointing as the shipments from the Port of Montreal to Europe have been over 7,000 cases below the same period of 1924.

Butter receipts, packages—Week ending Oct. 17, 8,549. Previous week, 9,217. Year ago, 22,675. The feature of the trade for the past week was the weaker feeling that prevailed in the market, and prices closed with a net loss of 1 1-2 to 1 3-4 cents per pound. This was attributed to the lull in the foreign demand for supplies and the fact that cables reported the English markets in a somewhat demoralized state owing to the settlement of the seamen's strike at New Zealand and Australia.

Trading on spot for domestic consumption during the week was also somewhat limited and the volume of business on the whole was small.

The receipts of cheese in Montreal for the week ending October 17, were 48,780 boxes which show an increase of 8,092 boxes, as compared with the previous week, and an in-

OPEN LETTER NO. 24

RT. HON. W. L. MACKENZIE KING,
Prime Minister and President of the Privy Council,
Ottawa.

Dear Sir:

Hansard for February 10th last quotes Mr. Robert Forke, Leader of the Progressive Party, as saying: "Nothing would please me better than to see the industries of Canada thrive and prosper and serve the people of Canada. But if we are going to have industries we want them about one hundred per cent. efficient. . . . We want exotic and artificial industries wiped out of existence."

From the foregoing we can judge how much consideration manufacturing enterprises would receive at the hands of Mr. Forke. He wants to rid Canada of all forms of manufacturing that are not indigenous. To those that are indigenous he extends his good wishes, but on the condition that they show themselves so efficient that they don't really need anybody's good wishes!

What the public now wants to know—what it is fairly entitled to know with a general election impending—is: Where do you stand on the issues thus raised by Mr. Forke? Do you accept his policy? Or do you accept it with reservations? Or do you totally reject it?

Without that insight into affairs which the responsibilities of office have doubtless given you, Mr. Forke fails to realize that a manufacturer might be 100 per cent. efficient in the situation under which he is compelled to operate, and still be quite unable to compete with imported goods.

But you know, or ought to know, that if the wages he has to pay his workmen, to maintain the standard of living prevailing in Canada, are double the wages paid by a competing manufacturer in another country where the standard of living is deplorably low—that if he is heavily assessed under a workmen's compensation act that finds no counterpart in the legislation to which his foreign competitor must subscribe—that if, due to the advanced legislation we have in this country, he is put to much greater expense than his foreign competitor in maintaining well-lighted, well-heated and sanitary premises—that if, besides the foregoing, there are other glaring inequalities too numerous to be here detailed—he cannot hope to survive without tariff protection, even though for efficiency he score a rating of 100 per cent!

The woollen industry of Canada provides many instances of plants that rank very high in efficiency—plants that in the matter of machinery, processes, labor output, and quality of product compare favorably with the best in England. Yet they cannot survive competition from English mills! Why? Entirely because of inequalities in operating conditions!

Mr. Forke implies that he would deny protection to inefficient industries on the ground that they didn't deserve it. I presume it would be entirely consonant with the free trade policy of his party for him to go further, and deny protection to efficient industries on the ground that they didn't need it!

I wonder would he apply the same policy to the industry of agriculture? If it were definitely known, for instance, that a large percentage of the farmers of Canada were less efficient than they might be, would he refuse to burden the public with the cost of experimental farms and the score of other activities, federal and provincial, designed to improve farming efficiency—all on the ground that these farmers didn't deserve it? And if a few farmers were found who rated close to 100 per cent. efficient, would he still refuse such aids on the ground that these farmers didn't need them?

Of course he wouldn't! He recognizes, just as we all recognize, that from the standpoint of public interest it is good policy to spend money freely on well-based plans designed to make our farmers more efficient. Then why shouldn't he be willing to do what is needful to promote efficiency in other fields of national production? Wasn't it worth a lot to Canada, and to the Empire, that our manufacturers showed such marked efficiency in the manufacture of munitions? And how could they have attained that efficiency but for the efficiency previously acquired in other branches of manufacturing?

As to his professed desire to see exotic and artificial industries wiped out of existence, the only inference to be drawn is that he would favor the complete abandonment of our rubber industry, and our cotton industry, and our silk industry, and our cane sugar refining industry, and our starch industry, and our confectionery industry, and our spice industry, and our furniture industry, and our tanning industry, and all the others whose raw material has to be largely if not wholly imported!

The scores of thousands of people who have money invested in such industries, the hundreds of thousands of others who are directly dependent upon them for a living, to say nothing of the countless citizens in all walks of life whose prosperity would be adversely affected if these industries were to be wiped out—all await from you a clear-cut answer to Mr. Forke's challenge.

Yours respectfully,

Statement By Chief Electoral Officer in Reply to C. P. Request.

DEPUTIES' DUTIES.

Information to be Given Newspapers Immediately Official Record is Completed.

OTTAWA, Oct. 19. — (Canadian Press.—In reply to a request that he should assist the Canadian Press in securing as promptly as possible complete and accurate returns of the vote on election day, Col. O. M. Bigger, K.C., the chief electoral officer, said: "The returns do not reach me till long after polling day, and even returning officers only receive them by mail; they may not have them for several days after the poll. Every election officer, and particularly every deputy returning officer and poll clerk, should, however, do whatever he can to furnish to Canadian press agencies, newspapers and their accredited correspondents as early in the evening as possible accurate statements of the result of the vote at every polling station.

"On the completion of the count at the polling station, the deputy is required to complete several statements of the result. One of these is transmitted to the returning officer in the ballot box, and constitutes the primary official record of the vote at the poll in question, but the deputy retains a duplicate in his own possession. Similar statements are at the same time furnished to each of the candidate agents at the poll and sent by mail direct to each of the candidates personally. Immediately upon these statements being completed, the information therein contained is public property, and every deputy and poll clerk, as well as every candidate's agent, should do what lies in his power to notify the figures to the press, and to the candidates' organizations, with the least possible delay."

Phrase "Allied Powers" Must Go. Briand Tells The Reich Envoys

LOCARNO, Oct. 19 (AP)—The expression "allied powers," coined at the beginning of the war and used persistently since, will be dropped from diplomatic language, and, it is hoped, from all language, if the leaders of the Security Conference have their way.

Dr. Hans Luther, the German Chancellor, and Gustav Stresemann, the Foreign Minister, departed for Berlin tonight, and the entire German delegation took with them as a last pleasant thought M. Briand's assurance that the phrase "allied powers" must henceforth be eliminated, because the Locarno conference by reuniting Europe had banished it into oblivion.

Dr. Streseman said he hoped to go to Geneva as Germany's representative in the Council when Germany entered the League of Nations.

THREE JUNKERS DISTRACT CHINA

One Million Men Are Under Arms in Triangular War.

NEW ALLIANCES.

SHANGHAI, Oct. 19.—(Canadian Press).—The military troubles of China are becoming many-sided, with perhaps a million men mustered under the various leaders. In general, however, the trouble is a triangular one. There is a war between General Sun Chuan-Fang, Governor of Chekiang, and General Chang Tso-Lin, the Manchurian war lord, each commanding about 200,000 men, while General Feng Yu-Hsiang, the "Christian General," is lying low, apparently to attack any one at an opportune moment. He also has 200,000 men, and war between him and Chang Tso-Lin seems likely.

General Wu Pei Fu is busy consolidating his central position. His partisans control the provinces of Hupeh and Chekiang, while his strongest supporter, General Sun Fang, has announced a combination of five provinces against Chang Tso-Lin. It is reported that three other provinces are preparing to support Wu Pei Fu, including Honan where Yu Wei Chun, formerly supporting Feng-Yu-Hsian, has 120,000 men, mostly picked troops, formerly with Wu Pei Fu.

Hitherto Wu Pei Fu has not identified himself with the war between Sun Chuan-Fang and Chang Tso-Lin.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—(United Press).—Agricultural America in the last five years has undergone profound changes, resulting in a loss in the total number of farms under cultivation, according to the 1925 farm census results of which were announced by the census bureau today.

The total number of farms in the United States at the present time was placed at 6,372,608, compared with 6,448,343 in 1920, a decrease of 75,735 farms.

SOVIET RUSSIA'S WAR COMMISSAR IS SERIOUSLY ILL

General Frunse Succeeded Trotzky and Now Has His Predecessor's Disease.

HAS OVERWORKED.

Recently Had Holiday in Crimea, But Condition Became Worse on Return.

MOSCOW, Oct. 19 (Canadian Press)—General Michael W. Frunse, Russian Commissioner of War, is seriously ill in the Kremlin Hospital. He is suffering from ulcer of the duodenum, the upper part of the small intestines. Some of Russia's most famous doctors have been called in from Leningrad and other points, and they have decided, in consultation with the Kremlin surgeons, to perform an operation immediately.

The war minister recently spent four week in Crimea, seeking health, but upon his return to Moscow his condition became worse, and his removal to the hospital was deemed advisable.

Like his predecessor, M. Trotzky, who is also ill with intestinal and kidney disease, General Frunse, worked from 15 to 18 hours a day at the commissariat of war, and lack of sleep, proper food and exercise aggravated his already impoverished health.

The Kremlin doctors are hopeful that the operation will prove a remedy, but admit that such an operation is always fraught with danger.

THE CARTHUSIAN MONKS ARE NEVER SICK.

The above fact shows what a vital thing is proper food. These monks living their simple life within monastery walls, in Surry, England, have been practically disease free many years save such diseases as are incident to old age.

Not many months ago 'flu prostrated the entire district in which the monastery is situated yet not a single case developed among these monks. The national health authorities investigated and attributed their immunity from disease to their simple diet of whole grains, milk, vegetables and fruits.

Dr. Robt. G. Jackson of Toronto, Editor of the Dietetic Age of New York City, has long claimed that most of our diseases are due to the refinements of denaturing of our chief foodstuffs, the grains, aided by white sugar. He has invented Dr. Jackson's Roman Meal, a natural grain food made from whole wheat, whole rye, flaxin and bran, to compensate the deficiencies of white flour and refined "ghost cereals." Plenty of Roman Meal, milk, vegetables and fruits will work wonders in the health of Canadian people. Dr. Jackson was himself a wreck at 55, when he invented Roman Meal, but at the age of 65 his physique is better than that of 9 out of every 10 men regardless of age, thanks to the wonderful body-building properties of Roman Meal. Used persistently, it will do as much for anyone. At grocers.

JAIL SENTENCE FOR MEAN FRAUD

Woman Forged Name of Neighbor to Credit Order Groceries.

TRICKED CLERGY.

LINDSAY, Oct. 19 (Special to The Examiner).—At an adjourned session of the police court on Saturday, Police Magistrate Brandford sentenced a woman to ten days in jail for what he termed a most contemptible offence. A few days ago, it was said the woman forged the name of a neighbor woman to a note for groceries and then induced a little five-year-old girl to go to the store and secure the goods, giving her a cent for the service. The woman relieved the child of the groceries which were charged up to the neighbor.

It appars that some time ago th woman also secured an insurance premium through illegal methods, made payable to her sister in Peterboro, and spent the money. She also secured sums of money from all of the local clergy by telling a hard luck story.

Police Magistrate Bradford severely reprimanded the woman when passing sentence.

"I believe in a moderate tariff, and on that question which Mr. Meighen says is the issue in this election I stand exactly where Mr. Meighen himself stood when in the House of Commons on May 25th, 1920 he spoke in favor of moderate protection."

This was one of the significant statements made by the Hon. G. N. Gordon at Lakefield on Saturday night in a cogent address which was enthusiastically received by the large audience which filled the town hall.

Nearly half of those present were women, not only in the auditorium but also on the platform. Mr. E. A. Tanner presided until the arrival of Dr. J. C. Smith around whom were seated Mrs. W. M. Graham, chairman of the Liberal Women's Committee of Lakefield, Mrs. Wm. Simpson, Mrs. A. G. Lawless, Miss M. Tanner, Miss M. Fortier, Mr. F. J. Moore, Mr. Robert Duff and J. J. Duffus and John Dewart of Peterboro. A short musical programme was given by Mrs. J. P. Hull and Mrs. Wm. Millage who were accompanied by Miss Gwen Simpson and Mrs. (Dr.) Smith.

Hon. Mr. Gordon emphasized the Government's accomplishment in reducing taxation creating a favorable trade balance and expanding trade opportunities by international agreements, restoring the Canadian dollar to parity with the United States money, and generally improving the commercial and financial conditions of the Dominion.

Quoting Mr. Meighen's speech on the Conservative tariff policy, Mr. Gordon read the following excerpt from Hansard as given by Mr. Meighen May 25th, 1920:—"We never can have a high tariff in Canada for the most obvious reasons. In the first place, a high tariff is unsound in principle, in that it tends to eliminate one of the factors of competition—namely, foreign goods. Foreign goods must be allowed to enter into competition under fair conditions in this or any other country. But the conditions under Free Trade, or without Protection, are such that the foreign competitor has every advantage."

Mr. Gordon asserted that this was his own position in regard to the tariff, but that Mr. Meighen now proposed higher taxes on coal, foodstuffs and other commodities, thereby effecting the cost of living to the extent that every household would feel the increases which would be added to the purchase price to consumers. Mr. Gordon said it was inconceivable that the working people of this country would vote for such the Conservative policy of increasing the cost of the necessaries of life, which, the speaker remarked, were already high enough.

"Under Mr. Meighen you were taxed $100 a year. Today all we ask of you is $75 a year and it should be remembered that 55 cents of every dollar is required for expenses due to the war, and we have no control of that."

Would Complete the Canal.

"I am anxious to see the completion of the Trent Canala," Mr. Gordon continued in referring to necessary public works. The further development of the canal would be a direct benefit to the Quaker Oats company whose charter included transportation rights. Dams were gradually being built along the canal, thereby providing more electric power for this district.

"With power we can provide for more manufacturers, more people will come into your town, and your property will be worth more, because of people coming in. I am glad it cannot be laid at my door that your cement works are shut down. That occurred shortly after Mr. Meighen came into power and it was a matter o fevolution in the cement business. The company started to use rock instead of marl, and the expense of the drying process was eliminated. I expect that before very long the cement mill will be operating satisfactory. I had a letter from Mr. Jones along that line.

Better Communication.

"In 1921 I said I was anxious to see whether we could use power for propelling engines on the G.T.R. I approached the head of the C.N.R. but the uncertainty of electric power was a drawback here. Now there is a car that develops its own power and I hope to see that service in and out of Lakefield. I believe that these developments are coming to our district."

"You perhaps will hear something about the treaty we have made with Australia. Remember that our season are opposite to Australia's. When it is winter here it is summer there. We have opened up in Australia a market of five million people for goods manufactured in Canada. And it is an exclusive market. It means a great deal for instance fo our manufacturers of papers, and to our farmers who have pulp wood. In return for the advantages we have received we have reduced the duty on such commodities as butter, eggs which may come in here in the winter season when our farmers have few eggs to sell and when the public has to buy cold storage stock which as a monopoly sells then up to 70 and 75 cents a dozen. The Australian eggs will come in at 50 cents or 55 cents in order to compete with the eggs that have been put in cold storage. This agreement with Australia will be a safety valve to keep down the cost of living during the winter months when the people have to pay artificial high prices for food."

Expansion Of Trade.

Mr. Gordon asked the electors of Lakefield to remember particularly the success of the Government in developing Canada's trade. "In 1921 our exports were $30,000,000 less than the goods we bought from outside. If we were to spend more money than we get from other countries we would be not far from bankruptcy if we continued at that rate. In 1922 under the Liberal Government we had a favorable trade balance of $5,000,000. In 1923 we improved it to $103,000,000; in 1924 our exports were $165,000,000 more than our imports and this year for the twelve months before September 1st we are showing a favorable balance of $285,000,000. It is the most favorable trade balance we have had except during the war years when we were sending munition to the Old Country. This trade surplus means less taxes on the people, more money to spend, a better standard of living, better education for our children. Mr. Meighen called upon each of you to pay $100 a year. We have been able to reduce that to $75."

Mr. Gordons' assertion that Mr. Meighen's election as premier was a mathematical impossibility was loudly applauded.

"There was never such a certain thing in the public life of Canada than this that the Hon. Arthur Meighen will not be the next Premier. He won't have the members. Mr. Meighen had 49 out of 245 members of Parliament at dissolution. The Conservatives were the smallest group in the House. The Progressives had 61, the Government 160 and Labor 2. Mr. Meighen will have to gain 74 more seats and not lose one to have a majority, and, ladies and gentlemen, he can't do it."

The Other Speakers.

Mr. Tanner in opening the meeting referred to a letter he had recently received from the Wood, Gundy Co., a Toronto bond and financial house, both of whose heads were Conservatives. This letter, said Mr. Tanner, was a striking testimonial to the prosperity that has been achieved for Canada under the King Government. It pointed out that Canada had turned the business corner and prosperity was immediately ahead. Savings deposits were larger, agriculture was in a sound position, and the spirit of the country was impressively optimistic.

The only pessimism, said Mr. Tanner, emanated from Arthur Meighen, and the present election was a battle between the forces of hope and gloom, between the optimism of MacKenzie King and the pessimism of Arthur Meighen.

Other features of the campaign were dealt with by John Dewart and J. J. Duffus. The meeting closed with the National Anthem and cheers for the Hon. Mr. Gordon and Premier King.

SHE WAS WEAK, THIN AND NERVOUS

One of the greatest strength givers and producers of good healthy flesh in the world is Cod Liver Extract—it's full of vitamines.

Thank goodness! that now, when a woman is weak and haggard and don't weigh what she ought to, she knows where to go for help as all druggists are now selling McCoy's Cod Liver Extract Tablets, sugar coated, and as easy to take as candy.

And it's a mighty good thing for skinny, rundown men and women to know that they can get the real Cod Liver vitamines in condensed form, that they can easily carry with them wherever they travel.

Men and women, weak, thin and nervous, are urged to put on weight and get back their health and strength with these wonderful tablets.

One woman gained 15 pounds in five weeks and that's going fast enough for anyone.

Only 60 cents for 60 tablets, and if they don't put five pounds of flesh on any thin person in 30 days—why, money back and no quibbling about it, either.

But be sure and get McCoy's, the original and genuine. Harris Drug Store, McDermid & Jury, Jas. Lynch and Bond's Drug Store and druggists everywhere are selling lots of them.

crease of 2,245 boxes, as compared week last year, while the total for the season to date have been 65,001 boxes in excess of the same period a year ago. The Internal Trade Department of the Dominion Government revised stock of cheese in the whole of Canada on October 1, 1925, is given at 30,505,687 pounds, as against 21,969,553 pounds last year.

The cheese mark was quiet and much easier for the most part of the week owing to the poor response to offers made by exporters over the cable, but according to the prices bid and the marked advances paid for cheese at the country boards towards the close a commenced with a week ago evidence some developments of importance have taken place. The volume of business transacted for export account was the smallest for many weeks past and the trade on spot was also of a limited character, but the indications are that the market will become more active in the near future.

Opportunity

POISED FOR FLIGHT--on winged feet, Opportunity waits but a little while. Before him stands Youth--for to Youth belongs Opportunity.

Opportunities confront a man in Youth that may never come to him again--and among these is the great opportunity of investment, of insurance against the failures, accidents and disappointments of later life.

Life Insurance costs little to the young man--yet means so much to him in maturity. It encourages thrift--when extravagance beckons. It is a wise and safe investment. It protects the responsibilities and obligations of the future. Opportunity may not return. Grasp it to-day.

LITTLE GIRL FELL FROM AUTOMOBILE

Car Was Not Moving Very Fast—Injuries Slight.

WARSAW, Oct. 10.—Sunday, just as he was starting from Sunday-school, Mr. Wm. Darling's little daughter, leaned over from the back seat of the car, throwing her weight on the door, which opened. The child was thrown out, but, as the car was not going fast, she was not badly hurt.

On Friday afternoon, Mrs. Wm. Miles suffered a stroke. Her daughter, Mrs. Percy Kidd was just coming into the house to visit her mother, when she heard a noise and found her mother lying on the floo., unable to rise, but perfectly conscious and able to talk. Aid was summoned, and the doctor called in, but the patient is not much improved.

Corn cutting is about wound up. By the end of this week, it will be finished, and threshing in order again. Threshing is beginning near Warsaw, the latter part of this week.

The ensilage in many cases is not enough to pay expenses this year.

Apples are a good crop, and a better quality than last year.

Many people report small potatoes and but few in the hill.

Warsaw Cheese factory collects milk every other day.

Some have their apples pulled, but others waited for more mature fruit.

Everything that is still out is being garnered in as fast as possible.

One man drew in oats last week, but they were not much good.

Warsaw senior room had a half holiday for Norwood Fair.

On Thursday afternoon, the Women's Institute held their regular meeting.

Rev. Mr. Herrington gave the ladies a very earnest talk on "Mother and Daughter." He said the seasons why he chose the subject were, because he felt something should be said and done, to protect the young girl from the dangers of the present day, and because the pastor is the one person to whom most people can come. Both mothers and daughters have come to him.

He spoke of one person suggesting that it be made illegal for marriage to take place unless the parties were twenty-one years of age: and that banns be published.

Girls married too young were unable to stand the physical and mental strain of married life.

Children are with the mother the greater part of the time in early life. Even in pre-natal days, the condition of the mother affects the child for good or bad.

Children imitate.

Many of the problems that come up in later life, come because of no training or of wrong training in childhood.

When children ask the inevitable question, "Where did I come from?" so often a foolish answer is given, and the child seeks information elsewhere. The simple answer "God sent you to us" would have satisfied for the time. Later on one must needs be more explicit. Far better for the mother to nicely and honestly answer the questions, than to have them discussed in a nasty way at school, as they certainly will be if the questions are forbidden at home.

Fortunate is the mother to whom a child can and does come, with all questions, and who has been taught the wonder and sacredness of the coming into the world of human beings. It is assisting in the wonderful work of creation. A child so taught, will not join in with others who discuss the subject in jest.

He asked Is ignorance the right road to bliss? Can we keep a child in ignorance? Where do they get their information? and to what extent is it correct? When the mother says, "Do not ask such questions," does she stop the questions As a rule she only sends the questioner elsewhere. The child will see life from the smutty side. The sensibilities will become dulled and there is no surety that the child will not contract habits that, later, will be her undoing.

From thirteen to seventeen is the emotional period. Boys like stories with a thrill; girls are giddy and laugh, perhaps at nothing. Later they are more dependent on intellect. This adolescent age is a very serious one. Many mothers make the mistake of allowing their daughters to run around with beaux, even are anxious that they should have beaux. He warned mothers against this, and said that there is in every one a natural shyness of the opposite sex, which is a protection. If young people are allowed too much freedom, this natural, protective shyness disappears. Boys and girls have a freedom unknown a few years ago, and there are dangers now, unknown then. The closed auto, with just the two, and some dances, seem designed to arouse the passions.

Then when a girl does go wrong, it is not right to blame her. It is older people's fault when boys and girls are allowed too much freedom.

"What should be our attitude towards the girl who goes astray?" he asked. The fault is not hers. A girl may be quite bad, and if it is not found out, she is respected; and another girl not nearly so bad, but who is found out, is frowned upon. He advised to befriend them, because if given a cold shoulder, they might go from bad to worse.

"Why should we condemn? If we have not fallen, it may be because we have not been tempted; and it is only the Grace of God that has given us advantages," he concluded.

LAKEFIELD BAPTISTS HELD ANNIVERSARY

Visiting Clergyman Delivered Two Sermons and Lecture on Holy Land.

LAKEFIELD, Oct. 19.—Sunday, October 11 marked the 63rd anniversary of the Baptist Church in Lakefield and was celebrated by special services and a special preacher, Rev. C. H. Schutt of Toronto, who was formerly the pastor of Rev. and Mrs. Howard. The church was prettily decorated with autumn leaves, grain and flowers, and the services were attended by large congregations, both morning and evening. The thankoffering was a generous one.

At the morning service Mr. Schutt spoke on "The Golden Candlestick," typifying Christ, the great head of the church. "We have the golden equipment but the golden candlestick, Christ, is necessary to make perfect the picture."

In the evening he spoke on the "Four Men Carrying the Man to Christ." They had faith in Christ's wonderful power, they had love for their disabled fellow man, love sufficient to make them exert themselves in service to him: they also had harmony, as displayed in their co-operation which made possible their effort. But with all this, Jesus Christ spoke the word and then the man was healed and able to arise and go about healed. Rev. P. L. Jull was present at the evening service and assisted the pastor, Rev. W. H. Howard. Special music, appropriate for the occasion, was rendered by the choir.

On Monday evening the annual parochial supper was held in the school room, after which Rev. Mr. Schutt gave a most interesting address on his trip to the Holy Land, illustrated by lantern slides. Mr. A. B. Burrows operated the lantern. After the opening devotional exercises, Mr. Schutt told the very interesting story of his trip taken the year before the war in a party of fifteen, all being Presbyterians but himself. They sailed from New York per steamer "Carpathia," the steamer which hastened to the rescue of the ill-fated "Titanic." The first stop was at Gibraltar with its eight miles of passages, many of them hewn out of the solid rock, manned with large guns commanding the entrance to the Mediterranean. People of Gibraltar are absolutely sure of pure milk as the goats are driven to the customers' doors and milked.

The next stop was Genoa, when the party visited the house of Christopher Columbus. One of the most interesting places in the city was the Comp Santo, or the cemetery, which is one of the finest in the world. At Genoa the party embarked in an express train for Southern Italy. It is a beautiful land but full of poverty, in fact, poverty is so general that in the cities the public schools serve a noon-day meal to the pupils to insure them at least one full meal in the day. The speaker, after seeing Italy, did not wonder at all that the Italians look forward to returning to end their days in their own country when they have saved a competence. The cities of Italy are beautiful. Venice, a city with no motor cars, street cars or waggons, with all the traffic by boat, Florence, with its miles of art galleries, and Naples with its incomparable scenery. At Naples the party visited Mt. Vesuvius and also Pompeii, which was buried in lava and ashes very soon after the death of Our Lord but is now being excavated. Rome is a beautiful city, with its wonderful churches, and the abode of the Pope. The party were privileged to see the Pope receiving some German pilgrims and noted with greatest interest his two sisters watching with pleased eyes the scene from a window.

The catacombs of Rome are remarkable, with 350 miles of tunnels under the city where the early Christians were buried and where they often worshiped on account of Pagan persecution. At the port of Brindisi (where St. Paul landed centuries ago), the party embarked on a mail steamer, smaller than the "Carpathia," and sailed for Port Said where the party saw the magnificent statue of de Lesseps, whose skill made possible that great canal. Great Britain to-day owns the greater number of the shares in the canal.

They took the train through the Land of Goshen, where lie the buried cities (now being excavated), built of the bricks made by the Israelites, some with and some without straw. They saw on the road a donkey ridden by a woman carrying a babe, with her husband walking alongside. The sacred picture of the flight of Mary and Joseph and the Holy Child was as vividly recalled by everyone.

Cairo is a beautiful city with numbers of mosques ornamented with minarets, when five times a day the muezzin sounds the call to prayer and the Mohammedans bow on their prayer rugs to worship Allah. In Egypt eye disease is very prevalent, owing to the filth and the flies; the women, in contrast to the women of the West, veil their faces but go about with bare feet, and the men on entering a mosque leave their hats on and remove their shoes.

The speaker had one picture of Egypt in his collection for the evening, one of the Sphinx, with the pyramid of Cheops in the background.

The land depends for irrigation on the River Nile, called by many the "tears of Isis." The party took the boat from Port Said to Joppa where they landed for the trip through Palestine, which is not a large country, but is the land of Abraham, David and Our Lord, and is the birthplace of our religion.

Whether authentic or not, of course, one cannot say, but the tourist is shown the home of Simon the tanner, where Jonah took boat for his voyage and the home of Joseph of Arimathea. The plains of Palestine are very fertile but the hills are very rocky and barren. Farming is carried on in much the same way as in Abraham's day. On the way to Jerusalem the cave of Sampson is shown. Jerusalem has a population of 65,000, of this 40,000 are Jews, 10,000 are Mohammedan and 15,000 Christians; it is a walled city with eight gates and two main streets, and is divided into four districts, the Mohammedan, Greeko-Frankish, the Armenian and the Jewish. The city is set upon a hill, and is bounded by valleys with the exception of the north side, which always has been its weak point in case of attack. In the valley of Jehosophat all seen the tombs of Zacharias and St. James the martyr. The church of the Holy Sepulchre, upon the supposed site of the original sepulchre of Our Lord, is the most sacred spot in Christendom to millions of Christians, numbering the orthodox Greek Church, the Roman and English Catholic Churches. It is beautiful beyond description and one is shown thirty sacred places within it. The taking of the Holy Sepulchre was the object of the crusaders in the middle ages and cost many thousand lives. One can't go about Jerusalem in a carriage or motor car owing to the extremely narrow streets, but one has to either walk or ride.

On the site of King Solomon's temple is now the mosque of Omar, a beautiful Mohammedan place of worship and second only to Mecca as a sacred place in the world of Islam.

One of the sights of Jerusalem is the wailing place of the Jews where each Friday one can see the Jews engaged in this age-old custom.

At Bethlehem, which is a Christian town, is the oldest church in Christendom, the Church of the Nativity, situated over what is most probably the real birthplace of the Saviour of the World. This place is visited, as is the Church of the Holy Sepulchre, by thousands of pilgrims each year.

Between Hebron and Jerusalem, a distance of 18 miles, are seen King Solomon's pools from which water was piped into Jerusalem.

A mosque which is one of the most important in Palestine, contains the tombs of Abraham and Sarah, Isaac and Rebecca and Jacob and Leah. Visitors to this mosque are not allowed above the seventh step. Going on through the country one saw the inn of the Good Samaritan, the Gorge of Cherah, where Elijah was fed by the ravens and where there is now a monastery prison for refractory monks, the Mount of Temptation and the ruins of the once great city of Jericho and the great Dead Sea which is thirty-eight miles long by eight miles wide and the River Jordan which has beautiful scenery and falls 3000 feet in ten miles. The Greek Orthodox Church in the Holy Land baptize their converts in the River Jordan by immersion and it is not an uncommon sight to see the ceremony. The traveller had a view of Mount Nebo where Moses had his glimpse of the Promised Land.

The journey from Jerusalem to Nazareth is sixty-six miles and must be made by riding in a waggon. The party rode horses and the ladies, who numbered four, rode in a waggon. Nazareth is a Christian town and is situated on top of a hill and is a most interesting town. There is a beautiful church there, the Church of the Annunciation. Tiberius is the only town on the Sea of Galilee.

Damascus is a typical Eastern city with streets full of mangy curs and wonderful bazaars. It is a walled city as it was in the days when St. Paul was let down in a basket from the walls. The party journeyed to Beirut where there is a large American college, and from there the party journeyed to Alexandria and from there to Athens where Mars Hill was viewed and Corinth with the Acropolis and on to Italy and overland through Switzerland and France, and then lastly to England from whence the party sailed back home. As the ship sailed up the St. Lawrence to Quebec the speaker felt that, after all, there was no land quite so beautiful and precious as the land of the maple, which was just then bursting into its autumn glory.

During the evening Miss Galvin and Mrs. McMillan sang very much appreciated solos. Misses Nelson and Garbutt furnished the accompaniments. Rev. W. H. Howard thanked all who had in any way assisted in making the anniversary services so successful and hoped there would be a real spiritual uplift because of this.

Long Dress of Irene Rich For Production of Period Play.

TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 19 (Canadian Press).—Until it was realized that she was dressed to greet the period of a play in which she will be starring, that of Lady Windermere s Fan, the costume of Irene Rich, with its long skirts caused much questioning among women spectators. Scenes at the Woodbine, with men and women (supers) were filmed by motion picture firm, with every attention to detail.

Smelters Still Leads But Takes Downward Trail

TORONTO, Oct. 19.—(Canadian Press.)—Consolidated Smelters, in drastic fashion, led the downward trend on the Toronto Stock Exchange this morning. Smelters, in dealings approximating five thousand shares, opened two points lower at 158 and sold down to 151, closing at noon at that low point, which was nine and a half points below last week's close. Smelters on Saturday also lost four and a half points. Brazilian, second in activity, sold down one and a quarter points at 76 1-2, and Atlantic Sugar lost one and three eights at 33 5-8. Heavy Selling Of Wheat Caused Drop In Prices

CHICAGO, Oct. 19. — (Canadian Press).—Foreign selling of May delivery of wheat here, together with the announcement of larger world shipments, had an early bearish effect on wheat prices to-day. More settled weather than of late tended likewise to induce selling and so, too, did the fact that Liverpool quotations were unresponsive to Saturday's advance in Chicago. The smallness of the speculative interest operated further to weaken values. The opening, 5-8 to 1¼c down, new style, December 146¼ to 146 3-4 and May 143½ to 143 3-4, was followed by a slight rally and then by a fresh downturn, December touching 145 3-8 and May 143.

BOY STARTED CAR LITTLE GIRL KILLED

Bert Potell Had Watched His Father Drive Many Times.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19. — United Press. — Too often Bert Potell, the five year old son of Potell, an automobile salesman, had watched his father start his motor car. Thus when Potell left the child alone in the car while he went to make a sale the child decided that he too could drive through the streets.

Bert turned a key and manipulated the levers. The car started. Roslyn Zimmerman, 21 months old, was crushed to death in her perambulator while the boy was at the wheel.

Demand For Motors Featured Stock Market

NEW YORK, Oct. 19. — Canadian Press. — Turbulent trading in motor shares and a sustained investment demand for high grade rails, were the outstanding features of to-day's wild and erratic stock market. Motors were bid up one to five points at the opening, crashed 3 to 10 points from their earlier highs and then made a partial recovery of their losses in a wave of buying orders which poured into the market in the early afternoon. The trading in the first hour was heavy. Trading in the first two hours ran about 1,300,000 shares but deferred hours shares fell below 400,000 shares.

SEVERAL HURT IN RAILWAY SMASH

C.N.R. Train Was Derailed Near Ituna Early To-day.

WINNIPEG, Oct. 19.—(Canadian Press).—Eight passengers and the conductor were injured when the Canadian National westbound train No. 3 was derailed half a mile east of Ituna, Sask., early this morning, according to word received at the company offices here. Reports indicate that an express car and the first and second-class coaches were thrown down an embankment. A sleeping car which was also derailed, remained upright. The official report states that none of the passengers were seriously injured. An ambulance train and wrecking crew has been rushed to the scene of the accident from Melville. The cause is unknown.

WELL EQUIPPED ROBBER GANG IS UNDER ARREST

"Cowboy" Tessler and Pals Had Jeweler, Garage and Warehouse.

MANY CHARGES.

Murder is Included in Long List of Crimes of Gang.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19 (Canadian Press).—The newly organized fence squad of the police department completed on Saturday a round-up of twelve New York members of the "Cowboy" Tessler gang, who are accused of committing more than 80 hold-ups and at least one murder.

The gang employed a jeweler who remounted all their stolen gems, maintained two garages in which their stolen automobile were renumbered and disguised, had a warehouse and business headquarters where they sold miscellaneous loot, and a sinking fund to provide bail and legal fees. "Cowboy," the leader, is Frank Tessler, a cool, smiling, well spoken youth of 25 years, who was educated at Columbia University. He is accused of murder. It is alleged that he emptied his automatic into the body of Abraham Pefka, because Pefka, who was bound and gagged, annoyed him by groaning. The element of drama was supplied to the scene by the fact that, unknown to the others, a squealer was handcuffed among them. This was Murray Markins, who dictated several hundred pages of information to District Attorney Banton, because "Cowboy" and his associates failed to use the sinking fund to furnish bail of $50,000 to get him out of the Tombs, where he was held on a charge of stealing an automobile.

PAYING CRIMINALS WOULD BE CHEAPER

Chicago Could Give Each Man $20,000 to Stay Away and Save Money.

CHICAGO, Oct. 19 (Canadian Press).—Crime in Chicago costs the city so much each year that it could well afford to pay each of its estimated 30,000 crooks $20,000 annually or $600,000,000 to leave town, C. R. Holden president of the Chicago crime commission, told a church audience yesterday. He estimated that approximately one per cent of the city's 3,000,000 population are engaged in criminal pursuits and asserted that crime had increased here 100 per cent since 1900.

After street firing, the troops of Chang Tso-Lin, Manchurian leader, were forced to retreat across the Yangtse river to Pukowo, where they expect to be joined by reinforcements driven from Shanghai.

Arrested For Attack on His Wife, Woods Tells of Murder Guilt.

AN OLD CRIME.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 19 (Canadian Press)—After he had shot a man while being arrested early today, Joseph Woods of this city told the police that he was wanted for a murder in Brooklyn, N.Y., several years ago when he and several companions held up and robbed a savings bank.

Woods was arrested for beating his wife. While waiting for the patrol wagon to take him to the police station he turned on the officers and started firing an automatic pisol. Two bullets struck Joseph Kelly, a by stander. He was seriously wounded.

Woods is charged with assault and battery with attempt to kill.

WINNIPEG, Oct. 19. — (Canadian Press.)—Two British members of Parliament, Charlie Malcolm Braclay-Harvey, M.P. for West Aberdeen and Major W. Shop at Home —First

YEARS ago people went into the market place "to shop." They went, not knowing what they would find, in price or its worth. Weary hours were spent in inspection, in bargaining and buying.

To-day manufacturers are bringing the market place to your home. Every time a newspaper comes, a host of people are ringing your door-bell. Merchants and manufacturers are waiting on the doorstep to spread their goods at your feet for you to look at—to inspect at leisure and in comfort.

Don't let the opportunity that advertisements offer you slip by. No matter what you want, clothing, groceries, a fountain pen or a farm, you will find the "better" ones in the advertising columns.

The advertisements tell you where you can get what you want. They are a guarantee of worth that protects your purchase.

Buying with a definite knowledge is so much better than shopping at random. Study the advertisements.

PETERBORO ELECTORS GROWING WEARY OF GORDON BRAND OF "DEPENDABILITY"

He Comes Before the Riding Trailing A Long String of Broken Promises and Unredeemed Pledges—What He Said in 1921 Is Compared with What He Did Since

The Gordon publicity bureau in a preliminary trickle of the flood of figures with which they intend to try to convince the electors that everybody is prosperous, that there has been no exodus to the United States, or if there was one everybody is coming back, used one expression that deserves much more attention than the mass of statistics quoted. It was the statement in capital letters about Mr. Gordon that "He is dependable." meaning of course that as a public man Mr. Gordon is to be relied on.

Let us look into that phase of the situation.

A fair test of Mr. Gordon's dependability would be to compare the promises he made during the last campaign with his performance while in office would it not?

PROMISES—AND PERFORMANCE

The issue Mr. Gordon talked most about during the 1921 campaign was the Riordan Paper Company's taxes.

He thundered in very part of the riding, until the rafters of country school houses trembled and the windows of city halls rattled, about the unfairness of the Meighen government that had one law for the rich, and another for the poor and persecuted farmers and workers for their income tax while wealthy corporations owed $800,000 in taxes and escaped Scot free. In the Town Hall, North Monaghan, on Nov. 28, 1921, Mr. Gordon told his audience that wealthy corporations who had failed to pay their taxes would when the Liberal party was placed in power, be compelled to pay them right off the bat.

He made a similar promise in all parts of the riding and was loudly applauded by those who could see Gordon the Go-getter shaking the dollars out of the wealthy corporations

You haven't heard very much about the Riordan issue since the election of 1921—have you?

The "dependable" Mr. Gordon apparently forgot all about it after he was elected.

BUT A LOT OF VOTERS HAVEN'T FORGOTTEN IT.

Mr. Gordon also used strong language about what he called the "sugar combine" and other combines which he said had forced the cost of living up to to abnormal figures.

The electors of Ennismore should remember all about that for he made it one of the features of his meeting in that township in 1921.

So vehemently did he denounce the combines that the picture the electors had was that the jails would be so full of profiteers that their feet would be sticking out of the windows. Any that Gordon the Go-getter "missed" Jim Murdock was going to get.

To make it more emphatic his last manifesto to the electors on December 5, 1921, the night before the election, said "Mr. Gordon stands pledged to root out the profiteers."

That was another promise that the "dependable" Mr. Gordon scrapped on election night.

The rooting out of profiteers never got past the pre-election stage.

The troubles of the mail carriers whom Mr. Gordon declared had been shabbily treated was discussed by him at his meeting on the 4th line of Smith, on November 28, 1921, and sympathetic attention at the hands of the King party was promised.

Everybody knows what happened to the postal employees when under the King administration the Toronto members struck in an effort to improve the conditions Mr. Gordon had denounced.

Nobody has forgotten that Mr. Murdock, the colleague of the "Dependable" Mr. Gordon, said that "They can stay out until Hell freezes over."

"NO LEGITIMATE INDUSTRY SHALL SUFFER"

At Ennismore Mr. Gordon is reported by the Examiner during the 1921 campaign as saying that he was a protectionst.

In his advertisement later on Mr. Gordon says "no legitimate industry in Canada shall suffer."

But the "dependable" Mr. Gordon when the Budget of 1924 sounded the death knell of protection, as one of his colleagues put it, was not found fighting with Euler, McCrea, Marler and Raymond, Liberal members like himself from industrial centres who stood up for their constituencies, instead of for their party.

HE WAS LOOKING OUT FOR HIMSELF, NOT FOR PETERBORO.

The charge against the "Dependable" Mr. Gordon is that he has utterly failed to implement the promises upon which he was elected in 1921.

The electors will know how to discount any promises that he makes in 1925.

They know that a Gordon platform is designed only to get into office or just as the Mackenzie King platform turned out to be only a gangway into the United States.

If there was no other issue in this campaign than the failure of Hon. G. N. Gordon to live up to the promises of G. N. Gordon in 1921, that issue would be enough to defeat Mr. Gordon.

The electors have had enough of the Gordon brand of "dependability." That is the reason why they are flocking to the support of E. A. Peck, the Protectionist candidate in West Peterboro.

You know where Peck stands—solidly for protection and making no promise that he won't live up to. Mr. Gordon has been tried and has failed; the government of which he is a member has been tried and has failed.

THAT IS WHY WEST PETERBORO IS VOTING—

PECK

PROTECTION and PROSPERITY

What happened after the log cabin was moved to the Greenwood, would fill a book. It was a great day.

All the Merry Men of the Greenwood had stuffed themselves with hot pork and beans, boiled ham and brown bread, washed down with some sweet apple cider. There was still some ham on the bone, but otherwise the rude table was swept clean. The boys were beginning to feel fairly comfortable, when Mrs. Bonter and Mrs. Preston came out of the Johnson kitchen into the yard, with a three layer cake, followed by Jimmy Britton and his father, and Mr. Bonter, each with two big pumpkin pies coated with whipped cream.

Little John, who was forgetting his dignity, was just in the act of helping himself to another small scrap of the ham, with his fingers, when the cake and pie procession issued from the kitchen. The big idea touched him deeply. Very deeply indeed! Deep down in his gastronomic feelings in fact!

"Hurrah!" cried Little John, seizing the hambone for want of something to carry, "Everybody join in!"

And with that, he headed the procession, leading it from the table, all over the yard, until all the merry Men were in the winding, dancing, singing string.

Ned Lewis, the impatient Ned-the-Red of the band, was in the rear, with nothing to do but be hungry and wonder how long the procession was going to hold off the pie. He decided it was time the ham bone was buried, so he left the tail end of the procession and slipped in behind Little John, taking him by the elbows and steering him directly to the table.

That ended the procession and ended the cake and pies too, for they faded away, as does the fence-rail frost, before the warm morning sunshine in Autumn.

How or why the parents of the boys happened to be present, was a detail which was taken for granted by the stuffed and happy band. Unable to run, they straggled across the field and into the woodland glade of the Greenwood, where the log cabin rested, to have another loving look at the future home of the band.

Jimmy Britton viewed the inside with dismay. The whole fireplace was tumbled apart and nothing but lime and stones in the middle of the floor.

"Well, anyway, it's here and that's something," said Jimmy. "But it will take twenty-seven Friar Tucks and one hundred and eighty-three mince pies to move those stones."

Just at that moment, a Pileated Woodpecker flew by, landing rather low on a dying tree nearby. It was a thing of such beauty and so rare to see, that the boys remained motionless, all eyes on the bird.

The chips began to fly. In fact quite big pieces of that tree began to jump into the air. Some of the pieces were almost as big as the bird. Sometimes three pieces were in the air at one time.

Suddenly the whirlwind of chips ceased. The bird cocked its head on one side, seeming to listen, then drew back and delivered a final blow, twisting its head as the beak loosened the chip, and throwing a piece of wood the size of a big sausage, high into the air. Then, in a nice polite and dainty way, the bird inserted its beak and tongue into the cavity and obtained some insect or grub, which it devoured with a relish and departed.

"Now what do you think of that?" remarked Roy Preston; "if we had a few more birds like that, maybe our trees would be healthier. The safety of our Greenwood depends on our bird friends."

"Yeh, that's a swell bird alright," said Ned-the-Red, "he's just like me, he's strong as an ox and red headed."

"Ah, you make me tired," drawled Friar Tuck, "That cake and pie has gone to your head. The whole point is this: if that red head of a bird can knock out big chunks of wood to make a useful hole, and you are like it, then just get busy and use your strength to knock out some of these stones and make a useful fireplace."

All the Merry Men howled and yelled at this magnificent wisdom. Ned-the-Red was dragged into the cabin and presented with a big stone, as a token of his opportunity.

The lads were removing such stones as they could carry, when their fathers all appeared on the scene, in old clothes.

Mystery and magic!

Friar Tuck in all his black art could not have confounded the boys so completely. They stood with open mouths and blank faces, wondering what it all meant.

Presently Wess Johnson, their leader, whose absence had not been noticed in the woodpecker incident, appeared, carrying a pail of water.

"Here, you fellows, what's the matter with you?" demanded Robin Hood. "Didn't you hear Dad say they were going to make the fireplace? Go back to the barn and get the wheelbarrows and bring that cement and sand and all those tools."

Procession number two left the barn that afternoon, with all the tools and supplies the barn cloud yield, forks and shovels, rakes and scythes, axes and what-not, so long as each Merry Man took part, and the pile of old stones, under the direction of Mr. Johnson began to grow into fireplace form, so that, before evening arrived, it was three quarters finished and Mr. Johnson said he would complete it himself, during the week.

Suddenly, on the now fast cooling afternoon air, the sound of Robin Hood's horn was heard. A long, clear blast.

Most of the boys' fathers were in the barn, changing their clothes, and the boys were tired and scattered, but that blast was like new life. Robin Hood himself was surprised. He had left his horn in the kitchen, and who was blowing it, he did not know but he answered it, as did all the rest, running through the forest, now mostly denuded of its leaves, towards the point from which the sound had come.

Deep in the Greenwood, the Merry Men found Little John, horn in hand, sitting on a big rock.

"Merry Men, and Robin Hood, listen!" announced the sober Little John. "I heard the men saying that they would form a band of Ali Baba thieves and steal our Greenwood cave!"

The boys went home, weary and troubled. Would their Daddies really form an Ali Baba band? Well, we shall see.

GOOD NIGHT STORIES

By Blanche Silvar

DICKY HAS A CHAT WITH MR. WEASEL'S COUSIN.

Dicky walked up to the fence in the Zoo and pecked in between the wires at the strange looking creature inside.

He was just about the size of Mr. Mink, who lived in the cage set far down the line, but instead of wearing dark brown, as Mr. Mink did, this stranger had on a lovely furry coat of creamy yellow. His feet and the very tip of his tail were jet black. His face was white, with a dark band running across his eyes.

"Looks something like a Weasel," Dicky mused to himself. The little stranger heard him and glanced up and smiled.

"So many folks have told me that," he grumbled, "that I'm beginning to believe it myself. You know, Bobby Weasel is my cousin, as is Minty Mink. They both live here."

"My goodness," laughed Dicky. "I wouldn't be proud of that fact if I were you, for Bobby Weasel sure does love to steal chickens and eggs."

"Yes, too bad," drawled the stranger, "But I can't help that, you know. One thing I can say, this Black Footed Ferret has never stolen anyone's chickens, no matter what my relatives have done. Where I came from, on the prairies, there are plenty of prairie dogs, and I surely do enjoy catching them."

"So you're a Ferret," mused Dicky.

"You Look Like a Robber."

"I should think you'd grow homesick for the prairie lands. I've seen a regular Ferret before, but he didn't have black feet, I don't believe."

"They don't all have black feet," replied Mr. Black Footed Ferret. "I have, and I wouldn't change them for any feet I have ever seen. I can run just as fast with black feet as my cousins can. Some of my relatives have been tamed by man to hunt out rabbits and rats. I could do that lovely if I ever had the chance, but I guess they don't need any to hunt or I would have been called on a long time ago. It seems funny to hear folks go by here and sympathize with me for being shut up behind this fence. Why, I wouldn't go back to the old life for anything—that is, if I didn't have to. Thinking about the old life on the prairie, maybe I wasn't glad I had black feet then. You see, they couldn't be seen quite so plainly when I poked them into a rabbit burrow as light-colored feet would be."

"You know, that black band across your eyes makes you look like a robber," laughed Dicky. "It looks for all the world like a mask the robbers in story books wear."

"Well, I used to be a robber, all right," chuckled Mr. Black Footed Ferret. "But I've been in the Zoo here so long I don't believe I could ever find anything to eat if I had to."

"Oh, yes, you could," laughed Dicky. "But if I don't hurry home I'll not get any dinner. Good-by, Mr. Black Footed Ferret. I'll come and see you again some day. Then maybe you'll tell me more about your life in the prairie land," and, waving his cap, Dicky ran down the path and home as fast as he could go.

Tomorrow's HOROSCOPE

By Genevieve Kemble

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 20.

Although this may prove to be a lively enough day there is an augury of petty annoyances and grievances. These difficulties may be the result of impetuosity or ill-temper, or they may arise from a disposition to worry over trifles. New ventures should be shunned as should all speculation. There is a sign warning against fraud or treachery. Those in the employment of others are under a favorable figure for advancement, if qualified.

Those whose birthday it is may expect an active year, but it may be fraught with petty annoyances or irritations, possibly born of a quarrelsome tendency as wel as a disposition to worry over trifles. Avoid speculative enterprises and be on guard against fraud or deception. A child born on this day should be clever, probably in some unusual line, but it will make its best success in the employment of others.

Three-Minute Journeys

WHERE A HUNDRED PEOPLE WERE MASSACRED.

Arizona, in addition to being one of the richest of the United States in natural scenery, is also unusually wealthy in historical interest.

It is in southeastern Arizona that we find the famous Canyon of Death, and its history is as startling as its name. It was here that the old Indian tribe of the Navajos met the Mexicans in encounter after encounter, neither content to rest at peace while the other existed.

It was sometime in the first few years of the last century that the Navajos, going off to war, decided to hide their women and children in a cave high up in the rocks, where they could not be seen by passersby in the canyon below. With their minds at ease, they could ride out to battle more efficiently.

All would have been well, in spite of the fact that a party of Mexicans did come riding by, had it not been for the foolhardiness of one old woman. In her girlhood she had been held captive by the Mexicans for many a year and she had learned to speak their language. When the revenge-seeking Mexicans had passed their hiding place well by, she stood up on the ledge of the cave and shouted at them in their own language, taunting them with their stupidity and blindness.

Needless to say, they turned back hastily to the hiding place thus revealed. They cut off all means of escape by encamping below the cave, and then sent a party of men to the mesa top. They opened fire on the victims, shut up without a chance of escape, and, needless to say, the slaughter was quite complete.

The site of the massacre has been called the "Canyon of Death ever since in memory of the occasion, and no good Navajo would ever set foot on the dreaded spot. Every Navajo fears the dead with a supersitition that is the most powerful motive in his life.

Bullet marks against the walls of the cave, hundreds of bleached bones and skeletons corroborate the story that is told to the archaeologist by the symbols left behind by the tribe.

This is only one incident in the history of the famous canyon which has been beaten and molded by many centuries into lines of exquisite beauty.

The Woman Taunted Them.

The hand of man could not fashion a pinnacle more delicate and graceful than many which have been molded by nature in the canyon. Strangely beautiful forms and shapes give the impression that some supernaturally adept fingers have been at work here, carving into the great, black-red mottled walls.

SUGGESTIONS FOR SOLVING CROSS-WORD PUZZLES

Start out by filling in the words of which you feel reasonably sure. These will give you a clue to other words crossing them, and they in turn to still others. A letter belongs in each white space, words starting at the numbered squares and running either horizontally or vertically or both.

Solution will appear in To-morrow's paper.

YOUR HEALTH

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M.D.,
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

Last week I told the young mother something about the cry of the baby. Hunger, thirst and earache are causes of persistent crying.

If the cry comes from the needs of the stomach, food or water will satisfy the infant and do away with the wailing. But the pain of earache is so terrific and so unceasing that nothing will control the crying until the ear trouble is controlled.

Every cry due to continued pain is like that of earache. It may be the child was dressed carelessly and a pin was so placed that it stuck into the delicate tissues of the baby. You can readily believe there will be no let-up in the screeching until the offending pin is removed.

The invention of the safety piu grew out of the need of protection against this cruel accident. No other kind of a pin should be used in dressing the baby.

The mother may observe that the infant cries whenever it is lifted. This means that in picking it up some sore and painful spot or region is pulled or pressed upon.

The trouble may be traced to pleurisy. Pressing upon the chest causes the inflamed lining to protest.

It may be due to rickets. In this disease the ribs are tender. Pressing or pulling upon them causes pain and crying results.

There may be a sore or a bruise somewhere. In any event, if the child crys every time it is picked up it is a sign which should lead to a careful examination of the body and limbs to see if anything is wrong.

Not every baby is exactly angelic in its nature. It may have a bad temper or bad manners. It may have become the victim of a bad habit.

For instance, there are plenty of babies who are as fond of being carried about as their fathers are of riding in an automobile. Such babies learn to weep and wail and to keep it up till their tired mothers pick them up. They want to be amused and this is their way of demanding attention.

It is amazing how a very young infant will seek attention. I remember one tiny baby who would cry for a minute or so and then stop, listening for the footsteps of the parent. He was as tricky about it as a decoy duck with an artificial squawk.

The young mother must never give way to the baby. If the crying is clearly due to the desire to be carried, the whim of the child must not be indulged. Persistent crying to be picked up is an absolute evidence of the lack of proper training.

Open Letter

TO THE HON. G. N. GORDON, K.C., M.P.

Peterborough, Ont.

Toronto, October 16th, 1925.

Dear Sir:

My attention has been called to one of your campaign speeches in which you state that tariff has nothing to do with any industrial stagnation that exists in Peterborough.

A fact, well known to you, is that the Canadian Woollen Mills, of Peterborough, in 1920 installed a new and up-to-to-date plant for spinning yarn by the French system and in 1923, because of the lack of any tariff protection and for no other reason, they got rid of this plant, which I purchased and moved to Toronto.

Someone may ask why I should purchase a plant which cannot be operated profitably. The answer is that I have confidence in the common sense of the people.

Given a tariff of 12½% and free raw material, our plant will be operated to capacity.

Since we got the Peterborough plant, our loss in this department of our business has amounted to many thousands of dollars, but this, I hope, will end soon after October 29th.

A wearisome dispute goes on as to the number of citizens Canada is losing to the United States. I find, on investigating, that of the spinners on the French Dry Spun System who were in our employ in 1919-20 approximately ninety per cent. are now working in the United States, and a reasonable tariff, a tariff to compensate for low wages paid in European countries, would bring most of these people back.

Yours truly,

ONE MAN MISSING.

Everyone Else From Burned Vessel Has Been Accounted For.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Oct. 19 (Canadian Press) — Following a check against the sailing list of the Comanche, Clyde Line steamer which burned and was abandoned Saturday night six and a half miles off Mayport, officials of the line announced that the only person unaccounted for was William J. Lawler, of Winthrop, Mass.

Some amusing statistics have been issued by two Chicago investigators, who found that after two years girls cry more frequently than boys and that almost invariably the female infant learns to talk before the male.

ADVICE TO GIRLS

By Annie Laurie

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:
I am a girl in my teens and am going with a young man a year older than I. I love him and he tells me that he loves me, but I rather think he is in love with another girl.

Please tell me if I should continue my friendship with him. TOOTS.

TOOTS: If this young man has "declared his love for you, why do you doubt his word, Toots? Since he is not engaged to you, it is his privilege to meet other friends, even though he is fond of you. I suggest that you continue your friendship with him, at the same time taking an active part in the social life of your community and meeting your other acquaintances. If you do not give the young man an opportunity to think you "suspect him, he will be more apt to make you his confidante.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:
I am in love with two girls, both very pretty. Each one likes me very much and wants me to go about with her, and I don t know how to tell which one should be my choice. Please advise me. BILL.

BILL: Love is too personal an emotion to be divided between two people, Bill. And consequently you are not in love at all if you feel that you love two young ladies. Under the circumstances I suggest that you continue your friendship with both of them and wait until you really fall in love before you make your choice.

DEAR ANNIE AURIE:
I am nineteen and am in love with a young man. A few months ago we broke our friendship. Now, I'm engaged to a man much older than myself. My friends advise me to marry him, but I feel sure I love the other man, and now he says he wants my friendship again. Please tell me what to do. ROSE.

ROSE: I am glad you have decided not to marry the man you do not love, Rose. Such a marriage would only bring you discontent and unhappiness. I suggest that you tell your fiance quite frankly what the situation is and then ask his permission to break the engagement. When you are no longer bound by your promise you will be in a position to resume your friendship with the young man you love.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:
1. Whose place is it to speak first—the girl or boy?
2. What is the best way to let a young man know you are pleased to meet him when you are introduced to him? M. J. H.

M. J. H.: 1. The lady always greets the gentleman first and he waits for a sign of recognition from her.
2. In acknowledging an introduction, it is merely necessary to say, "How do you do?" or, "How do you do, Mr. Smith?" if you have caught the name.

Annie Laurie will welcome letters of inquiry on subjects of feminine interest from young women readers of this paper and will reply to them in these columns. Letters to Miss Laurie should be addressed to her in care of this office.

Today's Fashion

Light Blue Poplin Makes Up Well in This Style.

Poplin, because it is not too heavy, and because it seldom musses, is one of the most popular fabrics for Fall. The brief box-pleated skirt of this naive street dress adapt itself perfectly to such a light weight material.

Since fashion has decreed that a waistline, if any, must fall very low, this one comes nearly below the hips. Tailored buttons of the same blue stuff give a decorative touch to the pleated girdle. Other blue buttons follow the opening at the neck which, when the scarf of the brown fox is laid aside, reveals a high collar of military smartness. The complete silhouette is extraordinarily graceful.

TO THE KING'S TASTE

By Juanita Hamel

Ice Cream! Ever since you can remember you've been bribed with the promise of a "nice big dish of ice cream" as a reward for being good. But your taste has changed with the fleeting years, and although you still love the thought of the ice cream, yet it isn't the most wonderful thing in the world to you now. Oh, no! Love has sent you one of his subjects and she's by far the most wonderful thing in the world, to you. But somehow when you see her in her snowy furs and her dainty pink and white loveliness, you always think of the childhood days when you thought ice cream was the finest thing in the world. Now it's the girl who is to the king's taste. And the king? Who else could it be, but Love!

MUSICAL RECITAL.

Charming Exhibition Given By Miss Lucille Doris.

(By Frank Russell.)

A very charming private invitation, chamber musical recital was given on Friday evening last by Miss Lucille Doris, at the home of her parents, 46 Sophia street, Ashburnham.

Some seventy people formed a representative audience, all of which thoroughly enjoyed the musical works rendered by the talented young performer.

The programme consisted of various morceaux of varying types, both grave and somewhat gay, but which well showed the ability of the performer.

Miss Doris is possessed of a marvellous memory, for each of the eight pieces she rendered was played from memory, no notation being used, and the keenest ear could detect neither a false note or the slightest error in time or sequence.

At the conclusion of the musical part of the programme, elegant refreshments were served to the invited guests by Miss Margaret Doris and her friends. Then the audience resolved itself into a conversazione until 10.30 p.m.; everyone present expressing him or herself delighted with the charming entertainment afforded them.

Miss Doris is a charming musician, coming from a musical family, and possesses great talent and taste.

As may have been gathered from some announcements in our columns, Miss Doris purposes to make teaching of music the profession of her future. We shall hear some more about this agreeable young lady.

POWER EXTENSION WAS A PRECEDENT

Established by the Peterborough Light and Power Co.

The extension of the domestic power lines into the townships adjoining the city had first been carried out by the old Peterboro Light and Power Company, and had been bequeathed as a precedent to the city's Utilities Commission, said E. F. Mason, chairman of the Commission, to The Examiner to-day. Gradually the lines were carried farther out as the suburbs built up and new houses, being wired for electricity when they were constructed, offered new business to the Commission. Residents of Monaghan and Smith, for example, were prompted to put the lights in their own homes by the services which neighbors had installed. Recently, however, application had been made for power from larger blocks of consumers, and the Hydro-Electric Commission was asked to quote a price for further extensions. A survey of the city and the outlying suburbs was made, and as a result of its findings the Commission was advised by the Hydro not to make any more extensions. The communications between the two Commissions have been quite friendly, Mr. Mason said, and the extensions by the Commission had been made under H. O. Fisk's management and with the Utilities Commission's sanction because the practice had been previously established and was accepted as a precedent when the city assumed control of the transmission lines as customers of the Hydro.

FORD CAR WENT ACROSS CANADA

Part of 4,792 Mile Trip Was Made on C. P. R. Tracks.

MAN TOOK PICTURES.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Oct. 19.—(Special). — Completing the 4,792-mile trip across Canada in a Ford motor car, 853 miles of which were covered on the tracks of the Canadian Pacific Railway, Edward Flickenger, of Ford, Ontario, drew up on Saturday afternoon at the door of the Vancouver City Hall to hand to Mayor L. D. Taylor, of this city, a special delivery letter brought to him from Mayor J. B. Kenny, of Holifax, N.S.

Officials of the Automobile Club of B. C. and of the Ford Motor Company here, were on hand to welcome Mr. Flickenger and congratulate him on the success of his enterprise. The latter, who operated a moving picture camera throughout the trip, was most enthusiastic about the beauties of the Canadian Rockies and British Columbia. The thousands of feet of film which he shot en route will be presented to the Federal Government to be used for educational purposes. Undertaken to accentuate the possibility and the necessity of a motor highway all the way across the Dominion, this trip also commemorated the twenty-fifth birthday of the establishment of the Ford motor car industry in Canada. One point stressed by Mr. Flickenger was the service given by the Canadian Pacific Railway, when the rails were used. The car travelled as a special train and many things that had not been thought of by the "auto-conductor" were supplied by the division despatchers and other officials.

THROUGH ROADS TO CROSS U.S.A.

Engineer Suggests Important Routes Should Have No Crossings.

TO AVOID CITIES

NEW YORK, Oct. 19 (Canadian Press).—Federal highways over the important traffic routes of the country which will permit 40 mile continuous speeds and which will be unobstructed by grade crossings, road crossings or cities will be considered at a meeting to be held this evening in the Engineers' club. These highways, according to Lester F. Barlow, the originator, would pay for themselves within a few years. Motorists, he believed, gladly would pay a cent a mile to travel on them ,because of the saving in fuel, wear and tear, time, and the limited possibility of accidents.

Walsh with Johnnie Woodruff and Babe Donnelly, just returned from Toronto, where they met a representative of the New York Amateur club by whom it is understood they were given an attractive offer to play in Gotham. Everything hinges on the American League. If it goes through the team will all stay, and if it does not go through, the team will probably all go to New York, the captain said.

Farmers of Quebec Demand Protection!

Hon. E. L. Patenaude, Conservative Leader in the Province, and Hon. J. E. Caron, Minister of Agriculture in the Provincial Government, are one on the Issue of Protection.

In the course of an address at L'Islet, Que., on Oct. 16th, in which he proclaimed the policy of protection for agricultural products for Canada, Hon. E. L. Patenaude, Conservative leader in the province, read the following letter from Hon. J. E. Caron, Minister of Agriculture in the Provincial Government:

Quebec, March 27, 1925.

To Amelie Areas, Secretary Circle Agricole, St. Cesaire, Que.:

Dear Sir,—I have your letter with the resolution accompanying it.

I have this year made fresh steps toward the Federal authorities to obtain in favor of agriculturists and increase in the duty on agricultural products from the United States entering Canada, so as to protect the Canadian farmer in the same degree as the American farmer is protected by the Fordney tariff.

I regret my efforts have not succeeded, for the Budget speech mentions no change in this part of the tariff. I still hope, however, that the Federal authorities will act upon the numerous demands being made upon them and will respond to the repeated requests I have formulated myself.

(Signed), J. E. CARON."

Mr. Gordon tells you that Quebec is against protection and in love with free trade, or the form of tariff we now have. Don't believe that. Quebec is so convinced that on Oct. 29th, it will give a Conservative majority, and backed by such assistance Mr. Meighen will revise the tariff that farmers shall have at last a fair chance in the Canadian market.

OTTAWA SCORED 9-4 WIN ON ARGOS AFTER BEING THREE POINTS DOWN AT BEGINNING OF FINAL PERIOD

Spectacular Ending Raised Crowd to High Pitch of Excitement.

LYNCH'S TOUCHDOWN.

Monohan Did Not Play—Was Ruled Ineligible By C. R. U.

OTTAWA, Ont., Oct. 19 (Canadian Press) — Ottawas climbed up on even terms with M.A.A.A. on the top rung of the Interprovincial Rugby Football Union ladder when they defeated Toronto Argonauts at Lansdowne park on Saturday afternoon by a score of 9 to 4.

Going into the final period three points down, Charlie Lynch whipped the Senators home through the fourth quarter in a driving finish that netted eight points and sent a crowd of six thousand football enthusiasts into high stages of excitement. It was a remarkable finish, and only twice or three times during the course of the period did the Argoes succeed in working the ball past center field, so bold and persistent was the local attack.

The breaks of the game had been pretty evenly divided until nalfways through the final session when Ottawa got a break that was the turning point in the battle which had been a very even one up to this time. Tubman had kicked a point shortly after play was resumed in closing stanza to bring the score to 4 to 2 in Argos' favor. Following a kicking exchange, McKenzie was held on the Argo five yard line and on the first plunge to get out, the ball fell loose from the carrier. An Argo swooped onto it but the play was forward and it was Ottawa's ball.

Timmis dropped back for the plunge and the double blue line crowded over to the right to smother the anticipated buck. Out snapped the ball and Lynch, wheeling to the left, skipped around the scrimmage and over the line for the five points that settled the issue. Lynch missed the convert but the touchdown was enough.

The locals showed a determined attack from the outset. From the kickoff Tubman ran twenty yards and Miller and Connell each contributed ten to place the ball onArgos' 30. Tubman's drop fell short, fear making the catch on the Argo goal line. Hambly kicked out, but Tubman drove it back for a rouge on Reeves' on the first down.

Ottawa, 1; Argos, 0.

With the strong wind behind them Argos kicked their way up the field the Senators bucked back for yards twice, but Wilson offset his with a splendid twelve yard gain through the line. Reeves then booted to the Ottawa 35 ,and on the return from Tubman, booted it into touch behind the goal line tieing the score.

Ottawa 1; Argos 1.

There was no score in the second period, although Ottawa wasted two fine chances for additional points. Breen's fumble gave Ottawa the ball on the Argo twenty yard line, but Connell dropped the ball on the second buck and Reeves kicked out of danger. Argos were held in heir own end and when Tubman secured at the thirty yard mark and weaved his way back for ten it looked like another point, but his kick was blocked. Connell recovered the oval but the half time whistle prevented any further action.

With the wind again behind them, Argos resorted to a kicking game in the third period. Trying to buck out from their thirty, Ottawa lost the ball on a fumble, Fear recovering. Hambly promply dropped a field goal and Argos were leading 4 to 1. Great running by Reeves and Breen kept the locals continually in hot water until a great drive netted the Ottawa thirty yards on a succession of line bucks, which, followed by a kicking duel, placed the ball on the Argos' twenty-five yard mark when the period ended. In the closing session the Senators smothered the visitors . On the third play of the period Tubman kicked to the open field, the bounding ball eluded Reeves and went over the line where Reeves was thrown for a point.

Argos, 4; Ottawa, 2.

Then came the Ottawa touch down which practically sewed it up. Ottawa, 7; Argos, 4. Argos fought hard and forced the ball back to center by great backfield running. However, Tubman kept kicking them and finally Young recovered Breen's fumble on the Argo thirty-five. Tubman then placed another over for an additional point, Breen conceding the point behind the line.

Ottawa, 8; Argos, 4.

Here it was that the Torontonians nearly smashed the Senator victory into a cocked hat. They worked up on a series of end runs to the Ottawa 40, where Hambly faked a kick and went around the end for twenty yards. The ball went to center field and touching an Argo runner was onside for Young to recover.

Tubman promptly booted again and holding the return at the thirty yard mark, tried a drop. It went wide but sailed on to the dead line for the concluding point.

Ottawa, 9; Argos, 4.

The game was one of the best played in the city for some considerable time and marked Ottawa's first victory over the Oarsmen since 1919. Outside of the two lapses in the second period, the Senators showed a high class performance, and wore the Argos down as the game progressed. Their attack in the last period was a classic, and overcame the stubborn and courageous defence offered by the double blue.

Breen and Reeves stood out for the losers, the former being just about the best man on the field. Hambly kicked well, bu the Breen-Reeves combination accounted for most of the Argonaut gains in the open. Wilson, Fear and Thom were the stars of the line with McKenzie and Munro both playing well at quarter. Thom received a bad injury in the second period but gamely finished the game.

Joe Tubman again lead the Senators in brilliant fashion, turning in one of his very best games. The feature of the game, however, was Lynch's great generalship and the splendid tackling of Connell, Timmis and Buells.

Starr played a smashing game as did Emerson while Timmis was the best lineman on the field. Ottawas were forced to leave "Irish" Monohan on the bench the ex-Brockville star having been ruled ineligible by the C.R.U.

The teams:

Argonauts—Flying wing, Barrett; Halves, Breen, Hambly and Reeves; quarter McKenzie; snap, Bradley; insides, Miles and Hyslop; middles, Douglas and Wilson; outsides, Fear and Thom; subs, Munro, Plaxton, Roadway, Paul, Burt, Sinclair, Hughes, Thomas, White, Wright, Miller and Burns.

Ottawa—Flying wing, Emerson; halves, Tubman, Connell and Miller; quarter, Lynch; snap, Bruce; insides, Pritchard and Humphrey; middles, Timmis and Starr; outsides, Young and Anderson; subs, Ketchum, Chevrier, Cote, Wright, James, Ault, Herbert, Short, Mulroney, Buells, Kirby, Curry and Chadwick.

Referee: Percy Roberts, Montreal. Umpires: Billy Mallett, Hamilton.

Hazen ("Kiki") Cuyler. Out of every world series there emerge candidates for the roles of "star" and "hero." Perhaps Max Carey will get the star nomination, but 'Kiki" Cuyler took to himself the hero's job when he hit that two-bagger that won the game in the eighth inning. The former M.-O. Leaguer did not perform up to expectations in all the games of the series, but he "came through" in the final contest in a manner that will cause the Pirate fans to remember him for years.

FOLLOWS BROTHER.

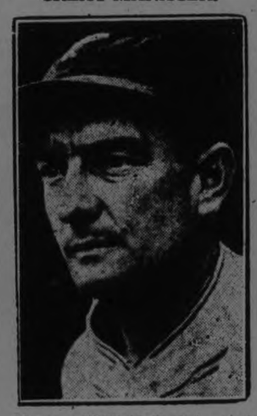
Odie Cleghorn Crosses the Border to Play For Pittsburgh.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 19—Odie Cleghorn, Canadian hockey star, has been signed by the Pittsburgh Club of the National professional hockey league. Cleghorn comes here from the Canadiens of Montreal, and is a brother of Sprague Cleghorn, who will play for the Boston club this winter. Besides playing, Odie will look after the managerial end of the local sextet, according to President Harry Townsend, who made the announcement of the signing of the Canadian star.

A pack of foxhounds hunting has been known to cove nine miles in about half an hour, and about seventeen in an hour.

The record attendance for the World Series was reached in 1923, when 301,430 paid to see the games.

GREAT MANAGER.



Manager "Bill' McKechnie, of the new world's champions, who never lost hope, even when the chances of the Corsairs looked anything but bright. In his day he was a great third baseman, and as a result of the success of the Smoky City crew under his leadership he will be hailed as a great manager.

PETES BEATEN IN BARRIE GAME

Petes Gave Away Points By Fumbled Kick—Good Chances Lost.

SCORE WAS 14-2.

Barrie defeated Peterboro 14 to 2 in Barrie Saturday afternoon in th first of a two-game series of home-and-home games in the Junior O.R.F.U. The result of the game means that Max Sloane's squad of hefties must trim the Barrie outfit by more than twelve points at James Stevenson Park next Saturday, or hang up their uniforms.

Barrie were lucky to pull out a win by such a large score. Five of their points were gained on a Peterboro fumbled kick. In the beginning of the fourth quarter, when Carson got a field goal by a drop kick that hit the cross-bar and then just bobbed over, Lady Luck certainly smiled kindly on him. Peterboro had a golden opportunity in the third period to get a touchdown for five points, when only one yard out from the Barrie line, and two down to go, but one of the Petes was caught offside and the chance was lost. Time after time, Peterboro was within striking distance of poin , only to gum up their plays and lose out.

The Peterboro twelve played splendid rugby considering that it was their first game of the season—the very first this and any other season for some of them. The men on the line handled themselves nicely, using their weight on bucks and clearing holes. Guffin and Rye made big games repeatedly and the latter showed his old steadiness on the secondary defence that made him a star for P.C.I. last year. Lane and Canttan got under many a Barrie two man buck to stop it dead. Mulholland made some large gains around the end and Fraser at quarter handled his plays nicely.

Peterboro suffered from injuries. The Peterboro line was weakened grievously, when MacIntosh their stalwart middle wing had to retire permanently from the game with a strained ligament after the second play.

Barrie proved to be a strong evenly-balanced team. They have had lots of rugby experience, having Camp Borden Seniors repeatedly this season. Most of their players learned rugby playing for Barrie High School. They shoved a regular stone-wall line through which the Peterboro bucks were almost helpless to penetrate. Their half line played a smart game and were quick to take advantage of Peterboro slips. The work of Carson and Doyle as ball carriers stood out and also the tackling of Cowan.

Throughout the whole game a strong cold wind blew the full length of field, giving the team kicking with the wind a material advantage. Thus the play was pretty evenly divided, when Peterboro were kicking with the wind they held the ball near the Barrie line, and when Barrie had the wind on their back, the Petes line was hard pressed. However, Petes neglected to take advantage of the wind to launch a strong kicking attack.

OIL MAN BOUGHT BASEBALL CLUB

Ground, Franchise and Players of Rochester Purchased Outright For Quarter Million.

LEAGUE APPROVED.

ROCHESTER, N.Y., Oct. 19 (Canadian Press) — The Rochester Baseball Club in the International League has been sold today by George T. Stallings and Walter E. Hapgood to Samuel Wiedrick, oil man and sportsman of this city. The deal included the outright purchase of baseball park and its ten acres of land within the city, the franchise and players.

The deal involved the transfer of about a quarter of a million dollars, the purchase price of the property alone being $125,000. Besides this, there were twenty-two players on the club's roster, which included outfielder Johnny Conlan, the player for whom the Cincinnati Reds offered Manager Stallings $25,000 and two players last summer, and Catcher Lee Head, for who man offer of $15,000 was refused. Other players on the team include "Hinkey" Haines, Herbert Thormahlen, Mike Menoskey, Eddie Onslow, "Goodie" Rapp, and George Quellich, the heavy hitting outfielder.

Although the transfer was an outright purchase by Wiedrick, George Stallings probably will return as a partner shortly when an announcement will be made that the former "Miracle Man" has repurchased a half interest in the club. Stallings and Hapgood had a five-year option on the property and franchise and this would have expired in December. Chas. T. Chapin, fromer club owner of this city owned the property and franchise, while Stallings and Hapgood owned the players. The deal today, therefore was between Wiedrick and the Stallings-Hapgood combination for the players and Wiedrick and Chapin for the property and franchise.

President John Conway Toole, of the International League, was at the meeting yesterday and approved of the transfer on behalf of the League. Stallings will continue as manager next year, the final one in which the baseball park diamond will be used as the home of the team. In 1927, a new site will be purchased and a steel and wood stadium erected. The present field will be cut up into building lots and a company formed to handle that phase of the deal.

DOCTOR C. QUINN WON FOR TIGERS LAST 10 MINUTES

Medico Made a 60 Yard Run For a Touchdown.

ROUGH WORK.

Officials Were Vigilant—Timmis Sent to Bench For Fisticuff Display.

HAMILTON, Ont., October 19. — Canadian Press. — The Hamilton Tigers won a hard fight against the Montreal winged wheelers here on Saturday when they took the Inter-Provincial Union Rugby game with the score of 8 to 3. Dr. Carl Quinn, the star Tiger back, brought victory to the Hamilton team when he made a 60 yard run for a touchdown when only ten minutes of the playing time remained.

In the first three quarters of the game the teams see-sawed back and forth, failing to make much headway and the three points each which were chalked up were due to kicks. The Montreal heavyweights showed up to good advantage in the line, but the Tigers' kicking was of a superior order. Quinn and Walker were stars for the Hamilton team and Russell, Booth, Shepherd and Bennett were Montreal's outstanding players.

There was some rough work noticeable in the fray but none of it escaped the officials. Both teams put up a stiff battle, egged on by the knowledge that it was one of the most decisive encounters of the season. There was a bit of fumbling, loose balls bringing gains to both but on the whole it was a superior style of Rugby.

A stiff wind blew dead across the field and had a noticeable effect on the kicks. Montreal had the advantage in the opening period of play, when Tiger backs muffed and the winged wheelers secured close to the Hamilton goal. Booth kicked to Quinn across the line, but the Hamilton half evaded the Montreal tacklers and carried the ball out, an exchange of kicks, with Rayner and Booth, doing the work, gave the local men gains. Montreal failed to break through the Hamilton line until Bennett and Russell carried the ball 55 yards down the field, passing every Hamilton man on the route. Montreal took the play still closer to the Hamilton ine and were only then a few yards out when they lost another ten on an offside. Hamilton secured when Walker intercepted a pass and the ball was taken out of the danger zone on an exchange of punts.

The remainder of the quarter saw the play in Montreal territory, but both teams were scoreless when the whistle blew.

Walker contributed a pretty run for Hamilton when the play was resumed, and combined with Quinn in gaining more yards. Two bucks at M.A.A.A.'s ten yard line failed to score for Hamilton, and an offside kick went to the deadline giving the Tigers the opening point of the game.

A kicking game developed, Quinn and Rayner doing better work than the Montreal men. The Hamilton line was weakened when Timmis went to the bench following one of the open fistic encounters of the game. Montreal forced the play toward the Hamilton line. A bad snap out put Quinn in difficulties and Booth shot across the line to down the Tier back for a safety touch, putting Montreal one ahead when the whistle blew.

LOCAL ORATORS EXPOSITIONS OF TORY POLICY

Liberal Publicity Committee's Statement Criticized By Lieut.-Col. Ackerman.

MANY SPEAKERS.

J. F. Strickland Says Hon. G. N. Gordon Was Elected as Protectionist.

A good audience was on hand in the Conservative committee rooms on Saturday evening to hear Mr. Peck, the party candidate, and his lieutenants, speak on the issues of the coming Federal general election. The gathering was very enthusiastic and the remarks of the speakers were frequently interrupted by applause.

Lieut.-Col. C. H. Ackerman was the first speaker. He referred to the advertisements published by the Liberal Committee, branding as dishonest those who differed with Mr. Gordon. He said there had never been a candidate in West Peterboro who could be referred to as more honest and sportsmanlike than Mr. Peck.

Referring to another statement in the same advertisement, Col. Ackerman quoted, "The Honorable G. N. Gordon is outstanding among the men who have won fame for themselves." He agreed with this statement. Mr. Gordon, he said, has done things—for himself. Among the things he says he has done for Peterboro, said the speaker, is the conservation of Peterboro's power developing water, so that it might not be lost to the factories of Peterborough but the policy which he advocates will do far more harm to Peterboro's industries than will any loss of water.

Referring to the same advertisement which contained a quotation from a speech made by Mr. Meighen in Parliament, Mr. Ackerman said that a portion of that speech, as reported in Hansard, had been left out. Mr. Ackerman quoted the part left out as follows: "We have our portion of Canada, newer than the other, a more predominatingly agricultural country, newer to manufactures and industrial development, and consequently the advantages of the tariff do not accrue to them as yet, as they ultimately will accrue to them. They come more immediately to one portion of this country than to another." and said that the absence of part of the speech made the portions immediately before and after bear a different meaning than that which was intended.

Referring to another portion of the same statement, Mr. Ackerman said that it said that Canada's production in 1924 had been greater than that of 1921, and that Canada's mines had produced $43,000,000 more minerals than in 1921. Credit for this said the speaker, is claimed by Mr. Gordon for himself and the Mackenzie King Government.

Frank Millard.

Frank Millard was the next speaker. He characterized the election as a workingman's election, and said that the figures quoted were not easy to understand. He referred to an article in the Examiner telling how much less had been imported in 1924 as compared with 1925. The reason for this, he said, was that in 1921 the people had more money to buy goods, and in 1921 there were more people in Canada to buy them.

The Liberals, he said, say that the people have not left Canada, and he quoted the figures of the United States Department of Immigration, showing the number of Canadians officially admitted and paying head tax to the United States as follows: 1921-52,,929; 1922, 62,389; 1923, 181,973; 1924, 159,184; and six months of 1925, 44,988.

Mr. Millard referred to a letter from a leading woollen manufacturer which had appeared in the Mail and Empire and which denied statements made by Mr. Gordon with regard to that industry. "If we look around our own city," he said, "we see what conditions are like and figures don't alter our ideas .Mr. Gordon, he said, is good to charity, but people don't want charity—they want work. Mr. King left the country once, instead of staying here in Canada's hour of need, and he would do it again.

W. Boulton.

The Liberals say it is a mathematical impossibility, said William Boulton, the next speaker, for the Conservatives to get enough seats to have a majority in the House. He then enumerated a number of Liberal members who had gone to the Senate, and a larger number who had decided not to run again, although many of them had large majorities at the last election. On the other hand, he said, that all but one of the Conservatives who had sat in the last House were standing again. The Liberal party would find it impossible to stop the wave of Conservatism that was sweeping the counry, he said, predicting a victory for the Conservative party.

Mr. Boulton said that the Liberal leader had promised the west four seats in the cabinet and had tried to pit Ontario against Quebec for his own political benefit. He prophesied that the electors would not be deceived by these attempts and would remember the records of the government. The War Veterans would also remember, he said, that two million dollars of canteen funds was being held in the treasury while more than two million dollars had been paid Mr. Massey for his losses in Germany. Labor would not forget its frineds who had to go to the United States to get work, and would vote to keep the men and the resources of Canada at home.

Reference to the War Veterans brought back Frank Millard with the statement that nine per cent of those drawing pensions from the Canadian government were living in the United States, and that even the blind veterans of Canada were not protected as basketry could be imported from Japan cheaper than they could make it.

T. D. Johnston.

Lt.-Col. T. D. Johnston was the next speaker. He warned his hearers that the pressure must be kept up until election day, and that Mr. Gordon's political campaign was just becoming active. He referred to the number of people who had left Canada.

W. H. Bradburn.

Mr. Bradburn said that victory was one week nearer than it had been at the rally of a week before. When the Conservative party is in power and its policies in effect there will be an increase in population in Peterborough instead of the present gradual loss, he said.

J. F. Strickland.

"When Mr. Gordon was seeking election in 1921 he said that his views on tariff were like those of Mr. Meighen, and he was elected as a protectionist," said Mr. Strickland, in starting his speech. He prophesied that West Peterborough would elect a member who would work to carry out the policy and not one who would just talk about it. He referred to Mr. Gordon's statement that he had brought honor to Peterborough, saying that Mr. Gordon apparently thought that a Cabinet Minister should not be opposed, but that Hon. J. R. Stratton had been a better politician than Mr. Gordon and he had been opposed and defeated. The slogan of the Young Men's Booster Club would be changed by Mr. Strickland from "abandon gloom all ye who enter there" to "abandon hope all ye who enter here." The advent of a new speaker to help the old stand-bys bear the loads was considered a subject of importance in the Liberal camp, he said. Referring to the several Cabinets posts mentioned as being intended for Mr. Gordon, the speaker said that after October 29 the former Deputy Speaker wouldn't have to pick out a Cabinet post. He finished with an appeal for more workers.

Roland Denne.

Mr. Denne said that the new townships added to the riding would prove a boomerang and that there would be no benefit to Mr. Gordon from them, as Mr. Gordon thought that they were ignorant and would vote for him, regardless of his record. He spoke of the large organization that had been gathered and appealed for even more workers.

V. J. McElderry.

Mr. McElderry announced the meeting to be held in the Grand Opera House next Saturday, October 24, when Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen and Hon. Gideon Robertson will be the speakers. He also announced that there would be a meeting for ladies to-morrow afternoon to be addressed by Mr. Peck and Mrs. Fallis.

E. A. Peck.

Mr. Peck expressed his satisfaction at the large attendance, saying that it showed that the importance of the contest was being realized. He said that there had been some rather slighting remarks made about him in some of Mr. Gordon's publicity, but that he supposed it was one of the penalties of public life, in which he thought there was a tendency to go too far in criticism.

Referring to the publicity given to the drop in imports since 1921, Mr. Peck said that it failed to mention the fact that prices were higher in 1921 and that there would not be much difference in the quantity of the goods imported. He also said that there had been an increase in imports since 1922 and that construction had decreased in the same three years.

"We know that the country is not as prosperous as it was," said Mr. Peck, but Mr. Gordon ignores the existing conditions. A judicious adjustment of the tariff would remedy this. "I am not for a high tariff." This readjustment would not be supported by Mr. Gordon if he were re-elected, as he has said that he is satisfied with the tariff as it is.

Referring to the coal from Alberta, Mr. Peck said that it was not proposed by Mr. Meighen to put a tariff on coal that would make the price $25.00 a ton or anything like that amount, but that Alberta coal had been laid down here this summer for $13.00 as compared with $15.00 or $16.00 for American coal, and Mr. Meighen meant to try and have this kept up, thereby giving the miners steady work and protecting them. The coal was brought here through the efforts of the provinces and the King Government had made no effort to solve the problem.

Mr. Peck said that protection would revive Canadian industry and that Canada would grow and flourish under a policy of reasonable protection. He expressed confidence in the result of the election.

The meeting closed with cheers for Mr. Peck and the singing of the National Anthem.

ed for were possibly lost, officials said. Captain Curry and members of the crew expressed the opinion that all of those in the water were rescued.

There was no panic among the passengers nor during the work of rescue with the exception of the two mishaps in which the lifeboats were upset.

The Comanche was abandoned between eight and nine o'clock on Satuday night three and a half miles north-east of Whistling Buoy, and the Reaper brought the passengers to Mayport, where the majority of them were taken off and brought to land by the Meta.

Three of the injured, however, were brought to Jacksonville by the Clyde Line ship Ozark. The remainder were brought to Jacksonville in a fleet of motor 'buses and automobiles and cared for in homes and hotels. A number of the passengers of the Comanche came in private automobiles to the city, making the work of checking the list of survivors more difficult.

Two tug boats are reported towing the steel hull of the Comanche to Jacksonville. The Comanche, with the exception of the steel hull, which probably is badly warped by the fire, is considered a complete loss. Fire boats were detailed to put out the smouldering fire upon her arrival here.

GROVE WINS FROM U.C.C. BY 21-12

Moore, Hudson and Pullen Star in Punts and Line Bucking.

The Grove football team defeated Upper Canada Third in Toronto Saturday morning by a score of 21 to 12. Lakefield, winning the toss, decided to kick off again the strong wind that was blowing; in the first quarter U.C.C. scored a rouge; in the second, Moore's long punts and Hudson's fine plunging brought the ball to the U.C.C. 20 yard line, and Pullen carried the ball over for a try, which Barnard converted.

At half time, the score was: Lakefield, 6; U.C.C. 2.

In the third quarter, McDougal, Upper Canada's fast half, finished a pretty end run by making a try and repeated this in the beginning of the fourth quarter.

With ten minutes to go the superior condition of the Lakefield boys began to tell, and they secured three tries in quick succession, by Hudson, Moore and Pullen, making the final score 21-12.

Moore's kicking for Lakefield was a feature of the game, while the tacking of Pullen and Boulthee brought down the speedy U.C.C. halfs, time and again.

Mr. McCaffery reports excellent crops in all lines.

Some of the farmers, are complaining that the recent severe frost has hurt the potatoes. Potatoes on the whole are a poor crop in this section, and are now $1.50 a bag, and likely to go higher.

On the other hand, apples are splendid, especially the spies. Mr. Chas. Tumelty has some fine trees laden to the ground with highly colored spies. Special mention must be made of the remarkably beautiful colour of these apples a year.

Farmers are now harvesting a crop of turnips.

PUBLIC SCHOOL SOCCER FINAL TWO GOALS EACH

Clever Soccer by the School Boys in Local Championship.

ALEX KAY TROPHY.

One-One in Full Time—Two-Two After Twenty Minutes Battling.

After battling the usual time in soccer, Queen Alexandra and Queen Mary soccer teams could not settle the argument, so they went twenty minutes extra and still the result was the same—two goals each—in the Public School Soccer Championship for the Alex. Kay trophy.

Opening Fast Tactics.

Queen Alexandra won the toss and kicked with the wind at their backs, while the west end boys faced the faint sun. Dormer set the ball arolling, as his inside forwards carried the attack right down in on the goal but the stalwart defence of Queen Alexandra replied with a punt to their centre forward — Dorrington — who was met with big Bill Merritt in a close tackle. McCulloch jumped in on the nick of time to slip the ball to Smith. The defense checked him closely to confine play to mid-field where dribbling prevailed until Sturgeon made a bee line for McWilliams charge but Dormer popped up to prevent a sure goal, for a fruitless corner-kick. Queen Mary relied with an attack that found the opposing fullbacks punting up field to make smart clearances.

Dorrington Opened Scoring.

Queen Alexandra forwards moved into west end boys' territory in row—the whole five being in a straight line—with the ball going from one to the other until the local juvenile right wing—Sturgeon and Darling—brought disaster to their opponents when the latter riped the ball across the goal from the right wing, where Dorrington met it in front of goal to put Alexandra boys ahead, just about 7 minutes before half time. This set back put pep into the west enders when from the centre on they penetrated the defense right into goal, Sussey pulling of a clever clearance from James' left foot drive. They came back again to get an unsuccessful corner-kick that Whitnell kicked clear to mid-field. Both goals went under bombardment before half time was announced.

Half-Time.

On resuming the second half opened up at a fast rate, with Queen Mary aided by the wind they peppered the goal from every angle but never found the "big hole" in between the goal posts for a while. Three times in succession the Queen Mary boys dominated the play around the goal, but Whitnell and Clark proved a defense worth having when they held the attacking forwards outside the shooting distance.

Credit must be given the north-end boys for the brilliant tactics shown against the lively forwards who were putting the ball past the uprights by a few inches. Quick as a flash Outram slipped the ball forward to Sturgeon who passed out to Darling but James held him right there, until a Queen Alexandra player punted right into goal where the midget Sturgeon flashed a hot one past the upright.

Downer Equalized.

From the goal kick Merritt left Downer in possession. He was intercepted many times before reaching the desired goal but he pulled a surprise shot over the Queen Alexandra goal keeper when he let drive from twenty yards to beat Sussey all the way for the equalizer.

Nice Combination.

It was nice combination that brought Queen Alexandra down upon McWilliams citadel, who made two clever saves but conceded two corner kicks that made play very interesting with close dribbling. Exchanges were even thereafter, with many throw-ins and goal kicks being given. With only two minutes to go, the north end boys made Hall and Merritt Hustle to save the situation as Queen Alexandra tried to win the game in the closing minutes, but the decision was one goal each.

Extra Time.

Both elevens agreed to finish the game so they turned around and went right to it. After three minutes play with the wind in their favor, Queen Alexandra got an easy goal when McWilliams went down on his knees to pick up a low grounder from Dorington, who let the ball bounce back again to Darling's foot to put them ahead 2 to 1. This success did not last long in their favor because Duccus and McCannan played combination down into the left wing, where Smith received the ball from a good centre. He grasped the opportunity nicely when he scored the best goal in school soccer this year.

As the extra twenty minutes wore on there was no more aggressive forward on the field than little Asquith, who played outside right very well; also giving his bigger opponent the timely charge. Two minutes nearer the final whistle, Downer dribbled through the whole defence and went close into goal. Three men hampered his progress but he let drive for the corner of the goal, Succey stopping a positive counter with outstretched arms; a corner kick resulted therefrom but nothing further happened.

Queen Alexandra 2; Queen Mary 2.

Goal scorers: Mary: Dormer and Smith; Alexandra, Dorrington and Darling.

After the hard fought battle, all the boys congregated and gave three rousing cheers for the referee.

The Teams.

Queen Alexandra: Succey, goal; Whitnell and Clark, full backs; Outram, Northey and Lea half backs; Darling, Sturgeon, Dorrington, Ross and Pulleybank, forwards.

Queen Mary: McWilliams, goal, Merrill and Hall, full backers; McCulloch, Robinson and James, halfbacks; Asquith, Smith, Downer and Duccus forwards.

Referee: Mr. Frank McKinley.

THEATRES

AT THE GRAND.

The sensational musical hit, "What Next?" presented by "The Cheer-Uptomists" will be a special attraction at the Grand Opera House Thursday and Friday.

Empire Productions, in presenting "The Cheer-Uptomists" in "What's Next?" has assembled a brilliant array of talent.

Lilting melody, haunting refrains and pleasing, colorful settings add to the brilliant assemblage of principals and chorus which makes "What's Next" an outstanding event. In fact, "What's Next" can be called the "Chauvre-Souris," so brilliant and kladeoscopic are its fast-moving scenes.

The cast will disclose a number of exceptionally clever dancers, heading these Jean Shaw and Billy Garden display, individually and collectively, amazing feats of terpsichorean accomplishments and will lead the dancing and vivacious chorus.

It is doubtful if ever the coming of an attraction to the Grand Opera House has created more keen interest than has the forthcoming engagement of Anne Nicholl's famous comedy success, "Abie's Irish Rose," of which she is author as well as producer, and which she will present to local theatregoers for three nights, beginning October 29th, with Matinee on Saturday, October 31st.

Too much stress cannot be laid on the fact that Miss Nichols is sending to this city the entire cast and production intact which recently ended a most successful run of eight weeks at the Gaiety Theatre in Rochester, adding a new page to theatrical history, thus giving amusement seekers a metropolitan success interpreted by a metropolitan company, and with a metropolitan mounting.

Mail orders are now being filled in the order received, the regular box office sale opening Oct. 26th.

AT THE REGENT

"WITHOUT MERCY" IS TYPICAL OF MELFORD.

Director Handles Delicate Situations Without Detracting From Plot.

George Melford, who directs "Without Mercy," the Metropolitan production which is now at the Regent Theatre for a 3-day run, is credited with having made more "coiner" pictures than any other director in the business. "Coiner" pictures are so termed because of their entertainment and box-office value.

"Without Mercy" will be followed by four more George Melford Productions for Metropolitan, all of which will be released through Producers Distributing Corporation.

His work on "Without Mercy" bears out his reputation as a director with the ability to bring out the utmost of all who come under his guidance, and to handle them in delicate situations without detracting from either the condition to be presented, or the dramatic effects of the actors' interpretation.

"Without Mercy" abounds in situations, piling one upon the other, to the crisis. It is a story presented in detail, and each detail is portrayed in such a manner and with such a clarity, that the whole runs smoothly and imprints itself on the spectator's mind without apparent effort.

Melford has placed Dorothy Phillips in the leading role and surrounded her with a cast which includes Rockcliffe Fellowes, Vera Reynolds, Robert Ames and Lionel Belmore. The picture was released through Producers Distributing Corporation.

AT THE ROYAL.

KENNETH HARLAN A 2-FISTED STAR.

When He Fights He Fights Even If It's Only in Front of Camera.

Kenneth Harlan is more or less a peaceful young man, but has quite a good knowledge of how to handle himself when he has to. In making "The Ranger of the Big Pines," the Vitagraph picture now at the Royal Theatre, he had to lay the villain out "cold" before going on with his business. But he did not fare so well, as the battle occurred in the open on rather rocky ground, and by the time the scene was finished both he and the "heavy" were not pretty specimens to attend an afternoon tea.

That is one thing about Harlan—when he fights he fights. He believes in making it realistic, and if his opponent wants to take things a little easy he is soon goaded into making it worth while. It is seldom that either he or his opponent doesn't emerge from the melee with some sort of damage.

"The Ranger of the Big Pines" is a fast, western drama of the big woods. The fighting hero role is just the kind that Harlan in. He makes an imposing figure and gives an excellent performance.

COUNTRY STORE NITE TO-NIGHT.

A lot of patrons who attend the Royal to-night will leave with prizes worth far more than the admission price they paid to get in. The prizes are on display in the window.

AT THE CAPITOL

"WHO KISSED BARBARA?"

Katherine—Well, it is a mystery Horoce, and we've been Sherlock Holmesing to—to—

Barabara (slowly, looking straight at Horace)—To find out what kind of a villain it is that cheats, that resorts to the infamous ways of darkness. We are searching for a criminal that I loathe! (Stamps her foot).

Paul—I'm glad your'e not looking at me, now!

Barbara—Silly! I might have been looking at you, but you were too late. But I shall insist on paying my forfeit, and I shall insist that you invite my—— your best man for me.

Paul—Invite me; I don't know what to do, but I'll risk it. Do you mean it?

Barbara—Here's my hand on it. (Paul takes her extended hand, and with a mock-heroic bow, leans over and kisses it much longer than necessary).

Barbara—Oh, Katherine! There were cyclones of peppermint and torrents of "damns." but there was only one——!

Guess what it was. How did the girls discover "Who Kissed Barbara?"

At the Capitol Theatre tonight. Clever, captivating, cast of Peterboro players. Under the direction of Mrs. W. McKee Bingham.

LEW CODY TAKES PERMANENT HOLD OF HEROIC PARTS

Celebrity in "A Slave of Fashion" Renounces Screen Villainy for Greater Good—Norma Shearer is the Star—William Haines, Mary Carr, Miss Dupont, and an Excellent Cast to be seen in Film.

Lew Cody seems to be definite establishing himself as a romantic leading man. He plays the hero role, that of Nicholas Wentworth in Hobart Henley's production "A Slave of Fashion" which is at the Capitol Theatre to-day.

Cody was drafted for this part immediately following his engagement as leading man in an Elinor Glyn picture. He gave such a convincing portrayal as the lover that both Director Henley and Harry Rapf, studio executive, thought him the ideal one to play the part of Wentworth.

Wentworth is a rich New Yorker who spends much of his time in Paris. Wherever he goes he has a bevy of women pursuing him and one is given permission by him to occupy his luxurious New York apartment while he is spending six months in Europe.

Intrigue enters when he returns unexpectedly and finds a strange girl ensconced on his premises, running the place as though it were her own.

Norma Shearer starred as the self invited girl, Katherine Emerson and Cody is featured opposite to her.

William Haines, Mary Carr, Vivia Ogden, Miss Dupont, Jas. Corrigan, Estelle Clark and Alys Murrell have important parts.

"A Slave of Fashion was made by Metra-Goldwyn-Mayer, and was and was adapted to the screen by Bess Meredyth from an original story by Samuel Shipman.

Arthur Smith assisted Henley on "A Slave of Fashion," and Ben Raynolds was chief camera man. Cedric Gibbons was art director.

Hon. G. N. Gordon and the Iron Bed

The Greeks Told the Story of

A ROBBER, NAMED PROCRUSTES, WHO HAD AN IRON BED

The robber would invite unwary travellers to spend the night with him, saying: "I have a fine Iron Bed which you will fit exactly."

When the innocent traveller entered the hut, the robber would hurl him on the Iron Bed, and if he was too long for it would CHOP OFF HIS HEAD, while if he was too short for it would stretch him out until HIS BONES BROKE AND HE DIED.

By these barbarous methods, the robber would make the traveller fits his Iron Bed, and would then seize as spoils any valuables he carried.

THE HON. MR. GORDON HAS AN IRON BED WHICH IS KNOWN AS "FREE TRADE," OR, WHAT IS THE SAME THING, "TARIFF FOR REVENUE ONLY."

He seizes facts and figures concerning Canada, and either cuts off their heads till they fit his Iron Bed, or stretches them out till their bones crack,

MR. PECK ON OCTOBER 5TH SAID:

"The ravages caused by the policies of the King Government are apparent in the woollen business. People are buying and using imported fabrics coming from countries where wages are low, hours long, and living conditions insufficient. The claims of the industries for protection should not be ignored. Protection would infallibly be the means of increasing wages, and in turn, men and women, earning, would have more money to expend on living necessaries and comforts. All would be benefitted."

This, of course, is the mere naked truth as every intelligent person knows.

The King Government IS encouraging foreign workers to FLOOD Canada with imported fabrics.

But, What Does the Hon. Mr. Gordon Do?

He takes the import figures from The Canada Year Book, 1924, and MUTILATES them to fit his Iron Bed, by publishing only a portion of them.

The Canada Year Book give imports in both DOLLARS and QUANTITIES. Dollar values vary from year to year, and have done so for centuries, and will continue to do so for centuries. THEY ARE, THEREFORE, MISLEADING, and this is why the Hon. Mr. GORDON USES THEM. The measurment in quantities such as YARDS remain CONSTANT at all times. THEY ARE, THEREFORE, THE ONLY JUST MEASURE FOR COMPARISON. But as they did not fit the Hon. Mr. Gordon's Iron Bed, he suppressed them.

AS A MATTER OF FACT

according to The Canada Year Book, 1924:—

During the year 1924, under Mr. King, Canada imported 1,729,552 yards more of TWEEDS than in 1921, under Mr. Meighen.

During the year 1924, under Mr. King, Canada imported 1,69,525 yards MORE OF WORSTED AND SERGES than in 1921, under Mr. Meighen.

During the year 1924, under Mr. King, Canada imported 867,216 yards more of WOMEN'S AND CHILDREN'S DRESS GOODS, ETC., than in 1921 under Mr. Meighen.

During the year 1924, under Mr. King, Canada imported 319,715 yards more of fabrics of WOOL, or COTTON AND WOOL than in 1921 under Mr. Meighen.

During the year 1924, under Mr. King, Canada imported 220,978 yards more of OVERCOATINGS than in 1921, under Mr. Meighen.

While The Canada Year Book does not give the yardage of CARPETS imported, the Monthly Report of Trade of Canada shows that under Mr. King, in 1924, a much greater yardage of Carpets were imported in rolls than were imported in 1921 under Mr. Meighen.

THESE ARE JUST A FEW EXAMPLES TO SHOW HOW THE HON. MR. GORDON IS TRYING TO FOOL THE PEOPLE BY USING A VARIABLE UNIT OF MEASURE INSTEAD OF A CONSTANT UNIT.

THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT OFFICAL PUBLISHED FIGURES SHOW THAT

During the year 1924, under Mr. King, Canada imported from Great Britain alone 30,154,200 square yards of WOOLLEN AND WORSTED CLOTH, while in 1921, under Mr. Meighen, Canada imported only 13,095,400 square yards.

THE KING GOVERNMENT IS FLOODING THE COUNTRY WITH IMPORTED FABRICS
MR PECK'S STATEMENT IS TRUE

SOUTH EAST CORNER CHAMPION

Model of most destructive war airplane found. An east city resident unearthed what will probably be used as a small working model for latest type of air plane to be used in war. The seed of this model was planted to produce potatoes but nature being abreast or perhaps ahead of the times, has outdistanced mechanical skill in producing what might be described as a double barreled air fighting machine. However, great care must be exercised and too much publicity avoided in describing the salient features of this truly wonderful model on exhibition in Examiner window.

STREET SIGNS HAVE ARRIVED

Effective Guides Will Be Placed on Central Intersections This Fall.

ON BUILDINGS.

In the course of a few days Peterboro streets will be designated in a fitting manner by small signs on the corners which will materially aid the visitor in directing his footsteps in the path in which they should go. As finances are at a low ebb the signs will be placed only on streets in the central part of the city, while the remainder will be distributed as early as possible next year. However, they are all here and paid for.

The signs are of blue enamel with the street names in white letters. As far as possible they will be placed on buildings, but poles will be requisitioned if permission can be obtained.

Disposal Plant.

The sewage disposal plant is rapidly nearing completion. The bottoms of the tanks are nearly all finished while the forms are in place for some of the walls which are to be about thirteen feet in height. The compressed air machinery is ready for installation and the pumps with the exception of the impellors are completed. One impellor is being tested, and the results of the test will govern the completion of the two remaining pumps.

MAIL BURNED.

Loss May Be Several Million Francs—Consigned to U. S.

ROUEN, France, Oct. 19 (Canadian Press).—One hundred sacks of mail bound for the United States, were completely destroyed early this morning in a fire which burned the mail car in which they were conveyed from Havre to Cherbourg. Fifty other sacks were taken from the debris by postal experts rushed to the scene from Paris. From these $1,000,000 in five hundred dollar bills were saved. It is believed that the contents of the one hundred sacks destroyed embraced money and valuables of various kinds worth several million francs.

Difference Of Years Ended

CARDA, Italy, Oct. 19 (United Press).—After twenty years' separation Gabriele D'Annunzio, Italy's famous warrior-poet, has become reconciled to his wife, who bore the name of Donna Maria Diallesi, and later that of Princess Montenevoso, conferred by the King.

Today the princess is presiding over D'Annunzio's household and receiving prominent guests.

To their son is due this romantic re-union after years of marital difference. Learning that his mother was planning to abandon Italy forever and settle in Paris, the youth interceded with her against taking this step and then pleaded with the father to end the separation.

This he agreed to, and a happy meeting followed.

IN MEMORIAN

CHILDS.—In Loving Memory of my loving sister, Clara Maggie Childs, who passed away October 18, 1918.

More and more each day I miss her,
Friends may think the wound is healed.
But they little know the sorrow
Lies within the heart concealed.
Her loving face I never forget
Though years may pass away,
The loss of her I sadly feel
As keen as that first day.

In Peterborough Churches

AT KNOX.

The services at Knox yesterday were of a special post-conference nature, with Rev. A. J. Langford, M.A., of Trinity United Church, and Rev. J. E. Todd, M.A., of George Street United Church, as preachers, thus exemplifying the fine unity of the churches in Peterboro which have entered the United Church of Canada. Large congregations heard the messages with keen interest and profit.

In the morning Mr. Langford preached on "The Open Door." "I have set before thee an Open Door." Emphasis was laid upon the great opportunities for salvation and service, and the challenge to cross the thresholds.

In the evening Mr. Todd preached on "Excuses versus the Real Reasons why men do not enter the Kingdom." Emphasis was placed upon the exposure by Jesus of the pious platitudes with which men met the Master's call. Very often the real difficulty with men to-day as then is that they are unwilling to place all their resources at the command of Jesus as Lord of all. By reason of their stimulating and helpful services yesterday, the ministers of Trinity and George Street will always be assured a cordial welcome in Knox pulpit.

AT ALL SAINTS'.

Yesterday was observed as children's day in the Anglican Churches and the sermons preached by Rev. J. D. Paterson at All Saints' were in accord with the day. At the morning service an eloquent sermon set forth the duties of the parents, the church, and the community to the children, while in the evening the first of a series of sermons on some of the Ten Commandments was particularly apt, being on the fifth: "Honor thy father and thy mother that thy days may be long in the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee." This covered the duty of children to obey, honor and love their parents.

ST. PETER'S.

Taking his text from the fourth chapter of John, from the forty-sixth to the fifty-third verses, Rev. P. Butler preached at the morning Masses at St. Peter's Cathedral yesterday. This portion of the Gospel relates to the story of the rich ruler at Capharnum who implored Christ to heal his son. "Moved by this paternal insistence, our Lord listened to him. Down through the ages, this plea of the parents has risen to the Lord, and Christ has given to the child the blessings it needs most. Yet how many times have the parents delayed their supplication until the hour of death, when it is too late.

"He and his whole house believed. The proper place for bringing up children is the home, where they can be trained in the truths of their religion and taught to practice virtue. Parents should strive, as well as trying to provide comfortable homes for their children, to be an example to them in the ways of righteousness. The primary ambition of every parent should be the spiritual welfare of their children. The work of the parent is two-fold, and should be conducted along spiritual as well as material lines. They should see that the child goes to Mass regularly, learns its catechism, and grows up with a proper appreciation of the duties of its state in life."

ST. PAUL'S PRESBYTERIAN.

Yesterday in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church will be long remembered for the large congregations, earnest appeal of Rev. William Allan, and the messages in song of Arthur Blight, baritone, of Toronto.

Mr. Allan's discourse in the morning centred on the theme "Christianity's Great Find," dealing with the great men of by-gone and present days, who told of the love of Christ in their fearless way, both in Europe and in Britain—Luther, Calvin, Knox and others, and Christ finding in the people of to-day a place in their hearts for the furtherance of His kingdom.

The evening text was found in Colossians 3, verse 11: "But Christ is all, and in all." In part, Mr. Allan said:

According to the teaching of the New Testament, there are Two Worlds, one where sin and death prevail, the other where salvation and life are free and full for everybody: Two Peoples, the old man, Adam, and the new man, Christ. In the new world there are no national distinctions; they are lost in and magnified out of Christ. There are no ceremonial distinctions; all end in Him, though they are magnified to-day. And no social distinctions—a new race, all equal in Christ.

Let us now see that He is all and in all Revelation. There is no book or collection of writings to compare with the Word of God, which took 1,500 years to finish, and many different writers, in various walks of life, even to a humble fisherman. It contains history, geography, prophecy, science, law, ethics, etc., but is not a history creation, nor history of the human race. It is a revelation concerning one person, the Lord Jesus Christ. From Genesis to Revelations Christ is all and in all.

He is all and in all, our Redemption. We were under the condemnation of a broken law, spiritually dead. There is no help in ourselves nor in ceremonialism. God's first word to a sinful race was the promise of a Redeemer, through the Virgin birth, otherwise we had no Saviour of the world. Through the Book from Genesis we have the ark, the passover, the Lamb of God. Without shed blood we have no remission of sins.

Lastly, said Mr. Allan, He should be all and in all our Adoration. Some Christians adore self, children and their country. Some churches adore saints and the Virgin Mary. We should feel like the shepherds on the first Easter morn, adore and worship the Christ, as King of Kings and Lord of Lords. Let us adore Him on earth, and then in heaven at last.

The music was in the capable hands of Martin B. Chenhall, at the organ, the choir with two anthems, and Arthur Blight, whose renditions were a keen delight to all. His numbers were rendered with a deep sense of expression, and were as follows: Morning — "O for a closer walk with God." "To a Mind Worn and Weary" (Tosti), and his origin of "O Happy Day"; evening—"It is Enough" (Elijah), "The Ninety and Nine," and "One Sweetly Solemn Thought."

GIRL TO SPEND 5 YEARS IN PEN

Three Who Killed Matron While Escaping Are Sentenced.

PLEADED GUILTY.

TORONTO, Oct. 19.—(Canadian Press).—The three young women who caused the death of Matron Mrs. Margaret Mick of the Women's Municipal Jail Farm some months ago when they escaped from that institution, this morning before Chief Justice Meredith, pleaded guilty to a charge of manslaughter and were given five years each in Portsmouth Penitentiary. The girls' names are Bessie Carroll, Jennie McMinn and Isobel Prouse. They admitted that in fighting with the matron to gain their liberty, they sat upon her while she lay on the floor. The verdict of the coroner's jury was that Mrs. Mick had been strangled.

17 YEARS AGO

A few days ago in dressing a show-case at Campbell and Best's store, a copy of The Examiner of October, 1908, and a fashion sheet of the same date was brought to light. The newspaper was interesting, inasmuch as the election campaign of that year was under way and in contained a list of the official nominations for the Dominion, a perusal brought out the the fact that many prominent public men of that day had since passed the Great Divide.

The fashion sheet was one gotten out by McColl and distributed by Harry Adams, and a comparison with the fashions of to-day shows that they have all passed out as well. The long full skirts and leg o' mutton sleeves of those days are certainly a thing of the past, but who knows but they may be with us again later on?

Apartment House Invades Aristocratic Park Lane

LONDON, Oct. 19.—(Canadian Press.)—A modern apartment building is to rise shortly in aristocratic Park Lane, where four generations, only the heirs and wealthy subjects of Great Britain, have had their palatial homes.

Negotiations have about been concluded under which the heirs of the late Lord Leverhulme will dispose of the famous Grosvenor House, lately the residence of the Duke of Westminster, to a company which will erect on the premises an apartment building. Lord Leverhulme bought the house in 1924 with the intention of turning its famous ball room, with a capacity for more than a thousand persons, into an art gallery which would rival the national gallery.

SEEK CHANGE IN MOTOR BY-LAWS

Brighton Regulation Has Been in Force 17 Years.

O.M.L. TAKES ACTION.

Solicitors for the Ontario Motor League are actively engaged in an attempt to quash the ancient by-law governing the conduct of motor vehicles on the streets of Brighton. The by-law, which has reached the hoary age of eighteen years and which was never sanctioned by the Minister of Public Highways, has been rigidly enforced, a number of Peterboro people having been ensnared in the toils of the law for technical offences.

The firm of Phelan and Richardson, solicitors for the O.M.L., have successfully defended two victims of the by-law which might give grounds for the belief that the enactment may soon be rescinded.

The by-law covers a speed provision for a rate of 15 miles per hour within the village limits;

Drivers to stay on the right hand side of the street except when turning corners;

Lights to be dimmed when cars are standing;

And in certain specified areas parking regulations prohibit the presence of standing autos.

POLITICAL STORM IN TORONTO CIVIL WAR RAGING IN BOTH CAMPS ECHOES OF REDISTRIBUTON ACT

North West Riding the Arena —Conservatives To Oppose T. L. Church.

ALSO LIBERAL SPLIT.

Different Party Organizations Claim Authority to Nominate Official Candidate.

TORONTO, Oct. 20 (Canadian Press)—Party politics here resulting in rival organizations nominating candidates to contest ridings under the same political banner have made the city the scene of a storm center with Conservative factions opposing one another and Liberal groups likewise at war. All efforts at arbitration have so far failed. The political ring is full of hats.

The Redistribution Act of 1924, which gave the city nine seats instead of the six it held in the last parliament, is the primary cause of the most complicated situation that has arisen, according to Wallace Cochrane, nominee of the Northwest Riding Conservative Association for that new constituency, which has three Conservative candidates in the field.

According to Mr. Cochrane it was generally understood that the Northwest riding, which was carved out of the three old ones of South York, Parkdale and North Toronto, was to be represented in the 1925 campaign by J. R. MacNicol, president of both the Dominion and Provincial Conservative associations, but that later Mr. Church was "forced upon the riding by the Conservative machine."

J. R. Clarke, president of the Toronto Conservative Association, contended that T. L. Church's nomination was absolutely in accordance with the precedent, which had laid it down that the member who represented the major part of the constituency should be permitted to contest the seat for the new riding. Mr. Church was the member for North Toronto in the late parliament.

Charges made by the Northwest riding association that the convention which nominated Mr. Church was "packed," and that illicit means were adopted to give him the majority of 85 which he secured for the nomination over Mr. MacNicol were denied by Mr. Clarke, who attributed such assertions to resentment at Mr. MacNicol's not winning the convention.

The Central body's support of Mr. Church then became responsible for the entry into the field, first of Mrs. Cochrane and then of Dr. Caroline Brown, the choice of the Women's Conservative association.

My $200 is in, and I am in the fight to the finish," declared Dr. Brown today. Mrs. Walter A. Ferry, Dr. Brown's campaign manager, said that had the Central organization's convention nominated Mr. MacNicol, Dr. Brown would never have run. The latter's candidature is, therefore, also in the nature of a protest against the proceedings of the convention which named Mr. Church.

CRUSHED BY WALL.

David Bishop Caught in Excavation By Falling Boulders.

OSHAWA, Oct. 20 (Canadian Press)—David Bishop, aged seventy years, received probably fatal injuries when he was crushed under two boulders as he was working on an excavation for a basement on Simcoe Street. A stone wall collapsed into the excavation, but the other laborers were unhurt. Bishop is in Oshawa General Hospital, where little hope for his recovery is held out.

COLOGNE WILL BE EVACUATED

British Army Is Expected to Leave Bridgehead in Three Months.

LONDON, Oct. 20.— (Canadian Press.)— The first practical result of the Locarno security pact will be the withdrawal of British troops from the Cologne bridgehead, it is stated in official quarters, and this should be accomplished within three months.

The authorities in London expect that Germany, taking advantage of the terms of the pact, will shortly hand to Great Britain a report on conditions in the Cologne area, after which, it is anticipated, the British Government will order the removal of its 9,000 occupational troops to other areas held by the allies along the Rhine.

Uncle Sam To Take Census Of Illiterate Americans

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20 — (Associated Press)—A census of illiterates in the United States as part of a campaign to reduce illiteracy will be undertaken next year by the Bureau of Education of the Interior Department. The active cooperation of a number of national organizations has been pledged, including that of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, the American Federation of Labor, the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, the Red Cross and the American Legion.

FORM NEW LINK BETWIXT CANADA AND WEST INDIES

Steamboat Company Will Run 6 Ships From St. John to Cuba.

BEGIN NOVEMBER.

Great Possibilities in Carrying Traffic Both Ways—Potatoes and Sugar.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Oct. 20 (Canadian Press).—Beginning next month a new steamship line, with a fleet of six ships will operate out of St. John to Havana and the West Indies.

This announcement, regarded here as the most important since the inauguration of the active campaign in behalf of the Maritime ports, was made last night.

The new line will be known as the Canada-Cuba Steamship Company.

The Canada-Cuba Company proposes to place four boats in service about the middle of November. The remaining two boats will be operated as trade develops.

It is arranged to give a weekly or ten-day service, carrying potatoes and general merchandise from St. John to Cuba and the West Indies and return cargoes principally of raw sugar.

An idea of the huge potato business with Cuba is shown in the figures of shipments last season. September to June, when seventy-one ships cleared from St. John carrying in all 2,471,229 bushels. During the first six months of this year forty-one steamers brought 91,693 tons of raw sugar to this port.

TRIS SPEAKER AND PARTY END OUTING

Ducks Were Plentiful at Rice Lake, But Weather Capricious.

Tris Speaker and his friends returned yesterday from Rice Lake, their holiday terminated by the roughest weather of the season and probably of the whole year. Among those who spent the last two weeks at Idyl Wyld, Mr. T. H. Hooper's cottage, was the host himself and Mr. C. G. Graham of the Empress Hotel. The manager of the Cleveland ball team, who this year finished the American League with the second highest batting percentage, enjoyed a fair run of luck with shot gun and trolling line. The weather, however was capricious, and yesterday turned turbulent. High waves washed over the point of land at Idyl Wyld and the lake tossed high all day with whitecaps. The holiday was as successful as usual, on the whole, and the Cleveland party of eight left Monday afternoon refreshed by the open life at the lake. several times during his stay here, Mr. Speaker motored up to Peterboro for treatments by Dr. Goodwin, the chiropractor. He had wrenched a muscle of his neck in leaving the Cleveland team's club house just before coming to Peterboro.

CAMPAIGN NOTES

R. J. Cole, who has been at his cottage at Crow Bay since last spring, moved back to town to-day and will get busy in the campaign organizing the Liberal forces.

ST. ALBANS, Vt., Oct. 20 (Canadian Press)—The seizure of 10,000 bottles of Canadian beer in two freight cars marked "hay," was reported by United States customs authorities yesterday as part of their last night's activities. The capture was made at Alburg.

CHARGE FRANCE WITH ATROCITIES AMONG SYRIANS

League Mandate Commission Will Summon French to Answer Complaints.

MISGOVERNMENT.

Hundreds Were Killed Without Cause, Says Druse Envoy to League.

GENEVA, Oct. 20 (Canadian Press).—The League of Nations Mandates Commission, which convened yesterday, will invite the French to answer serious charges of misgovernment in Syria, according to Emir Chekib Arslan, delegate from Syria. Arslan appeared before the Commission yesterday afternoon in behalf of the Druses and Syrians with a report laying bare startling atrocities attributed to the French forces, which have been fighting Druse rebels. One telegram which Arslan sumbitted, declares armed bands in the vicinity of Damascus on October 3 killed hundreds of old men, women and children refugees. The villages Harasta, Melilla, Gesrine, Belate, Geramanna, Bala, Kafarlatus and Sakba were completely destroyed by fire, he said, although they were not involved in the rebellion.

Praise For Gordon.

By his allusions to his return motor ride from Ennismore and the gaping fracture of the Chemong bridge, Hon. Mr. Murphy began his address on a note of humor which he effectively sustained to the end. "The last time I appeared before you", he proceeded, "I spoke in support of your member then a candidate for Parliament. Mr. Gordon came to Ottawa and he made good as a private member. He was not long there until he was appointed to the responsible position of Deputy Speaker of the House of Commons. That position is no nominal one, and no sinecure. The Deputy Speaker not only acts in the absence of the Speaker of the House, but he also acts at all times as chairman of the committee of the Whole House. In that capacity he has more serious duties than the Speaker. He presides over all the deliberations of the House while in committee of the whole for example as in dealing with the estimates."

The man who filled that position earning the esteem of all parties in the House stood out among his fellows for further advancement, Mr. Murphy said, and such a man was the member for Peterboro.

"After the 29th of this month I hope you will send him back to Ottawa to the Cabinet position he has earned, where Mr. Gordon will reflect credit upon his riding and give honour and renown to the electors who send him there."

Proceeding to discuss the record of the Liberal administration, Mr. Murphy said it should be approached in the light of the handicaps it faced from the time it took office. One of those handicaps was the deficits of the National railways, which the Conservatives were fond of saying the Liberals should share with them.

Trust the People.

"I don't subscribe to that", said Mr. Murphy "but rather to the statement of Gladstone that Liberali in is a trust in the people qualified by prudence, whereas Conservatism is distrust in the people qualified by fear. That is exemplified in Canada today by the attitudes of the two parties toward the C.N.R. In the construction of the Grand Trunk Pacific Sir Wilfrid Laurier didn't turn a sod until he had consulted the people and received their approval. When that work was in progress he again consulted the people for their mandate, and once again in 1908 he was returned by a further large majority. In Laurier's time the Government shared with the people the responsibility of its railway undertaking.

Contrast that policy with the Conservatives'. In the election of 1917 not one word was said in regard to the railways, but as soon as that election was over our Conservative friends plunged into a wild scheme of taking over the railways that are now grouped under the Government's control."

The cost of these lines ran well over one billion ($1,000,000,000 Mr. Murphy said, and the people were never consulted with regard to as-

HON. G. N. GORDON'S ABILITIES AS DEPUTY SPEAKER ARE LAUDED BY THE HON. CHARLES MURPHY

Heaviest Responsibility Imposed By Duty of Chairman of the Committee of the Whole Commons, Says Postmaster General.

SQUELCHED AN UNWARY HECKLER.

Accomplishments of the Government in Reducing Taxation and Converting Deficits Into Surplus Emphasized to Electors.

Hon. Charles Murphy, Postmaster General in the Liberal Government, spoke at two meetings in Peterboro and Ennismore last night in support of the candidature of his Cabinet colleague, the Hon. G. N. Gordon. He particularly enlarged upon the responsibility which Mr. Gordon had discharged not only as Deputy Speaker of the House of Commons but especially as chairman of the committee of the Whole House. This was the first occasion on which the dual duties of the member for West Peterboro were explained during this campaign or at any other time.

Hon. Mr. Murphy dealt with some of the phases of the Government's record, calling attention to surpluses that had been converted from Conservative deficits and expanding the accomplishments of the MacKenzie King administration into a plea for the re-election of Mr. Gordon as a member of the Government which he asserted, had built up for Canada the prosperity which was now rapidly developing. An incidentally he silenced and discomfited the only heckler who attempted an interruption.

At the Grand Opera House the two lower floors were crowded to standing room. Mr. Gordon and Mr. R. R. Hall were the other speakers, preceding Mr. Murphy who had gone to Ennismore, where he was followed by the candidate. Yesterday's westerly gale sweeping heavy seas down Chemong Lake had sprung an opening in the floating bridge, delaying Mr. Murphy's return to the city until shortly after ten o'clock. However, Mr. Hall was armed with political ammunition that enabled him to hold the interest of the audience during the unforseen although not serious hitch in the arrangements.

Mr. J. J. Hartley, president of the Liberal Association, presided and the stage was occupied by active supporters of Mr. Gordon. Vocal solos by Mrs. Perrin and Mrs. McKee-Bingham provided pleasant interludes in the evening's oratory.

SCHOOL AFIRE.

York Mills Visited By Blaze —Damage is $11,000.

TORONTO, Oct. 20 (Canadian Press)—Fire almost destroyed the school at York Mills, North of Toronto, last night, causing damage estimated at $11,000. The fire, intermittent throughout the night, broke out again today.

LAKE BOATS RUN TO SEEK HARBOR

Breakwater Crumbles and Pier Breaks Up Before Waves.

PETOSKEY, Mich., Oct. 20 — (Canadian Press). — One of the worst fall storms in years is sweeping Petoskey and Northern Michigan to-day, a gale being accompanied by snow flurries and lower temperatures.

Lake craft crowd the harbors for shelter, fearing to face the blow. Many lake wharfs have been damaged by the beating waves, which in Little Traverse Bay have reached a height of from 30 to 40 feet. The large government pier that shelters Petoskey Harbor is not expected to survive the storm. The breakwater is crumbling under the force of the waves, and the shoreline is strewn with timbers.

The 102-foot elevator tower recently erected at Petoskey for the Portland Cement Company plant was destroyed yesterday.

Navigation has halted completely; more than a foot of snow has fallen in Larquette County in the upper peninsula, and in some places the snow has drifted several feet deep.

THROW ISOLATION HOSPITAL OPEN FREE TO ALL CITIZENS BOARD OF HEALTH SUGGESTS

Will Make Recommendation at Next Meeting of City Council.

CHECK DISEASE.

Other Cities Will Join in Seeking Grant For Institutions.

That the Board of Health was thoroughly in accord with the idea of making admission to the Isolation Hospital free, was the conclusion arrived at this morning when the Board met at 10 o'clock in the committee room of the city hall. A recommendation to that effect will be presented to the council at its next meeting. C. Rogers pointed out that there would in reality be less use for the hospital as disease would be checked sooner because the poorer people would not have the same incentive to conceal reports of cantagious disease. His Worship the Mayor said that as the cost of upkeep of the Hospital was ten thousand dollars and the receipts from patients amounted to but one-fifth of that sum the hospital was practically free now.

A number of communications which had been received in response to letters sent out by the City Clerk regarding a grant from the Provincial government towards the upkeep of the Isolation Hospital were read.

Those cities which had such hospitals were in accord with the suggestion and promised their co-operation in sending a deputation to the proper authorities. Arrangements will be made through W. H. Bradburn for setting the date for such a meeting.

Full Time Officer.

A discussion concerning the advisability or otherwise of having a full time medical health officer, arou... a divergence of views. His Worship the Mayor, contending that the service obtained by having all health work directed by one head, would amply compensate for the outlay involved, while Chairman McIntyre believed that the cost of establishing offices, and paying the necessary salaries would be too big an item to consider at this time. A meeting will be arranged with the Board of Education to discuss this matter further.

On a report of the M.O.H. Dr. T. W. H. Young, it was decided to notify by means of a registered letter those who should instal sewer connections. Work must be commenced on these places not later than this month.

Present were His Worship Maor Turner, M.O.H. Young, M. McIntyre (chairman), C. Rogers and Dr. O'Brien.

FAREWELL PARTY.

Friends Gather to Say "Au Revoir" To Mr. and Mrs. Scott.

A farewell party was held at 125 George Street for Mr. and Mrs. William Scott. About fifty of their friends were present, and the evening was spent in games and dancing to the wee sma' hours. An address was read and a club bag presented to Mr. Scott and a purse to Mrs. Scott. Mr. and Mrs. Scott thanked one and all and promised to pay them a visit soon.

PROHIBITIONIST?

DAVID LLOYD GEORGE

Former Premier of Great Britain and Liberal leader in the British House of Commons, who in an address last night to an assembly of Free Churchmen, gathered in the City Temple, London, spoke favorably of prohibition. It has been hinted lately in the British press that Mr. Lloyd George is contemplating launching a big prohibition drive.

Here's a Job For Henry Ford Poland Would Like a King

ROME, Oct. 20 (Canadian Press).—According to some Polish politicians who have been passing through Italy, the Poles find their republic a heavy burden and are seriously thinking of finding a king.

One section of Neo-Monarchists want the Duke of York, or at any rate a member of the British royal family. The other, however, is in favor of a United States business man. Henry Ford has been seriously talked of as suitable.

FRANCE LOOKS FOR INVITATION FROM LEAGUE

Geneva, Not Washington, to be Scene of Disarmament Conference.

GERMANY ENTERS.

Her Admission to League Will Be Signal For Calling Meeting.

PARIS, Oct. 20 (United Press)—The French Foreign Office, unofficially, expects an invitation to a disarmament conference, to originate with the League of Nations rather than in Washington.

The League is understood to have everything in readiness to distribute its intentions the minute Germany becomes a member.

The French press takes the attitude that France would prefer to accept a league invitation rather than one from President Coolidge, because the armed backing of the League is held to be more substantial than the moral support of the United States.

La Peuple says editorially: "These nations which sought to re-establish European peace at Locarno have no desire to take again the road to Washington.

"Disarmament of Europe is a European problem which should be settled at Geneva. If Mr. Coolidge and the United States desire to participate, so much the better for the world, provided they desire to participate whole heartedly—not again repeating this ancient comedy of the American observer, who speaks his piece but refuses to share in the responsibility.

"If Geneva and Washington both issue invitations, we had better decline America's, for the League offers superior guarantees."

THREE LOST ON LAKE ST. CLAIR

Planes and Boats Have Searched Water Without Success.

DROWING FEARED.

WINDSOR, Oct. 20 (Canadian Press). — Airplanes and motor launches scarched Lake St. Clair without success yesterday for trace of a man and two boys who left here at four o'clock Sunday afternoon in a 32 foot boat and are not known to have been seen since. Their destination was Riverside.

Those missing are Henry Encotter, 45; his son, Stanley, 7; and Roy Witherel, 18, all of Detroit. Their absence was reported to the Detroit and Windsor authorities by Walter Knapp, who said he feared they have drowned.

TREATY OF MUTUAL GUARANTEE PROVIDES FOR UNION OF POWERS AGAINST NATION CAUSING WAR

Seven Treaties, Results of Locarno Conference, Were Made Public Last Night.

SANGUINE HOPES.

Agreements May Bring Peace and Security and Hasten Disarmament.

LONDON, Oct. 20, — (Canadian Press).—The fruit of the Locarno Security Conference was put on display last night for all the world to see when seven treaties, which comprise Europe's newest and most promising preventive of war were made public in the various capitals.

The first and foremost of the agreements is the security pact, a treaty of mutual guarantee, guaranteeing the inviolability of the frontiers between Germany and Belgium and Germany and France as fixed by the Treaty of Versailles. It will be signed at London December 1, and, assuming that all the signatory governments ratify the pact, it will become effective when Germany joins the League of Nations.

By the treaty, Germany, on her side, undertakes never to trespass upon the soil of France or Belgium, or make any war-like gestures in the demilitarized Rhineland area.

On their side France and Belgium promise not to violate Germany's Western frontier. Should either party violate the agreements set forth, the pact provides that Great Britain and Italy shall go to the aid of the aggrieved party, whether it be Germany, France or Belgium.

The Powers' parties to the pact agree to submit all their future disputes to judicial treatment, with the Council of the League acting as a court. The whole plan is to work under the aegis of the League. It is for that reason that the treaties do not become operative until Germany is a member of that organization.

Of the other six treaties that have come out of the Locarno conversations, Germany is signatory to four, one each with France, Belgium, Poland and Czecho-Slovakia; these four are identical; Germany agrees with each of her four neighbors to set up peaceful machinery to settle any disputes she may have with any of them that do not yield to ordinary diplomatic treatment. Those neighbors of Germany agree to submit any disputes they may have with Germany to an arbitral tribunal organized under The Hague Conventions of 1907, or to the permanent court of international justice.

But according to these treaties before the parties resort to either of these two means of adjusting their differences they may by agreement submit their dispute to a permanent conciliation commission of five members, one from Germany, one from the other party to the treaty and three foreigners selected by the first two appointees. These commissioners will hold office for three years and will have six months in which to decide any dispute. If their decision is not accepted, the dispute will go before the League Council as the court of last resort.

RED MISSIONERS WILL FIND WAY INTO DOMINION

Irish Traveler Describes Fertile Breeding Places of Red Propaganda.

IN WHOLE EMPIRE.

Investigations Show That Where Profit Sharing is Practised, Communism Declines.

OTTAWA, Ont., Oct. 20 (Canadian Press)—"Where workmen are discounting the menace from red propaganda is serious," according to H. C. Wilson, of County Wicklow, Ireland, who is visiting Ottawa. Mr. Wilson is interested in industrial collieries in the United States and Canada and during the past three years he has been making an extensive study of industrial relations in Europe.

Red propaganda had found fertile soil in southern Ireland where James Larkin was an avowed disciple of Moscow, he said. There the recent strike had not been the result of trouble between capital and labor but had resulted from the dispute between two unions, one outspokenly red. Red propaganda found root in the great ocean ports and among the transportation companies and public utility workers where the element between employer and employe did not enter to any great extent.

The seed of red propaganda was found syndicate to Canada, Mr. Wilson believed. It had now reached almost every other part of the empire and he saw no way of stopping it reaching Canada.

Mr. Wilson's investigations in Europe and America had shown him that where the men employed in an industry were part owners of the industry there was not only increased output and efficiency, increased dividends but also less likelihood of red propaganda finding fertile soil.

ST ANDREWS MEN HEARD ADDRESS

Value of Service Ideals Were Stressed By Orillia Educationist.

NATURE'S LESSONS.

St. Andrew's Church Men's Association held their first meeting of the season last night. The attendance was somewhat disappointing, a fact due no doubt to the other attractions in the city. M. B. Tudhope, chairman of the board of education, Orillia, and a prominent Kiwanian, was the principal speaker of the evening. In commencing, Mr. Tudhope related of how in his official capacity as chairman of the Board of Education, he was asked to speak to the High School Literary Society, and when he got to the room where the meeting was to be held, there was just an open door and two teachers present. He announced his subject as being "Privileges and Responsibilities." These go to the root of everything, said the speaker, and Nature teaches us this lesson. To-day we have libraries where most can go to look up anything we want to know, and it is hard to think back to the time when we did not have the printed matter at our disposal that we have today. The people of today want to get down to thinking. It is the most important thing we can do, especially in these days when we get most of our knowledge in "canned" form. Nature is the great storehouse where everything lies just waiting for man to draw from it the things that are there. Take the radio—all you have to do is to stick up a few wires and you have music and wisdom coming in irrespective of where you are. Now, there is and always have been wisdom and music in the air, and all that remained for man to do was to erect a receiving station. Everything in Nature that has a special skill has to help something else, all through Nature the equilibrium of things is arranged. What is the responsibility that follows each privilege we have today? Many of us accept these privileges without realizing just what we owe to them. There is the privilege of Citizenship, which is so badly abused today, and we owe to it the responsibility of discharging our duties as citizens by acquiring an intelligent knowledge of our own country. Patriotism is a great thing, and if it means anything, a man's country should be the thing that he serves—not milks; and it is the things that you give and sacrifice that call forth the highest type of patriotism. Then there is the privilege of Education. Think of the old days when sacrifices had to be made to send at least on of the family to school, and again this privilege demands that we should use the intelligence that we have. We talk of the dark ages, as being a certain period in the history of the world, when we did not have electricity and the things that go with it—but did not the light of eternal truth burn through it? Then we have the privilege of Commerce—when one thinks of the time it used to take to go any distance of note, it makes one think today every part of the world runs through your back yard.

"The world today, declared the speaker, is spending too much time getting somewhere, and it really does not matter whether it gets there or not. These privileges can all be carried by a very simple word "Service" and the solution is that all a man has got to do is to give decent honest value for what he gets. Then there is the privilege of Personal Liberty—to think as we will. What is the matter with our Christianity that we think that only ministers and women should talk about it? A street is a highway and should lead from one place to another, and the street called "Straight" is the one we should strive to live on, and on it we should have a home not of brick and mortar, but the one that is right in our hearts. What good is play if it ends only in pastime; work, if it ends only in money; religion, if it ends only in theology? Let us see that all these things are along the street called "Straight," and as long as we are accomplishing something worth while, we are showing that we appreciate these privileges. What names are on the immortal scroll of Fame? The people whose names are there, are those of people who gave themselves to the service of the world. The greatest privilege that any man can have is the creating of some good impulse that did not exist before."

A vote of thanks to the speaker was moved by Messrs. Fowler and Gillespie, and the meeting was brought to a close by the singing of the National Anthem.

PROVINCIAL BAN.

Principal Bruce Taylor, of Queen's University, regards Dr. Kaiser's advocacy of the abolition of Adam Smith's "Wealth of Nations" from Canadian universities as "too provincial." In the economic world the book was regarded as the most powerful single work that had ever been written. A university was created to evoke thinking in the broadest sense possible. Environment did not enter into study. If it did, Greek and Latin and kindred subjects would be taboo, because the people concerned were not at hand. Education in economics, history, classics and commerce should be broad, deep and impelling and with the purpose of making all round men.

"BRINGING UP FATHER" — Geo. McManus

HON. G. N. GORDON'S ABILITIES AS DEPUTY SPEAKER ARE LAUDED

suming these railways. They were not given an opportunity to pronounce upon this policy. In the House the Liberals opposed the scheme at every stage, but in Parliament closure was resorted to, and was applied in order to force through the railway purchase.

"Therefore that responsiblity rests on our opponents and not on the Liberal party," declared Mr. Murphy.

Money Wasted In War.

A second handicap with which the administration of MacKenzie King had to contend when it took office was Canada's war debt which had been incurred by the Borden-Meighen administration and by that alone."

"Had the debt been the result of necessary expenditures incurred as a result of the war and a prudent policy of its prosecution there would be no word of criticism from the Liberals, least of all from one who has occupied a seat in that chamber as long as I have. But when it was incurred through a policy of waste our criticisms are justified, and the sharpest criticism of all fell from the lips of the leader of Canada's expeditionary forces, Sir Arthur Currie himself."

Speaking in Montreal on Sept. 11, 1924, Sir Arthur Currie charged that hundreds of millions of dollars which had been spent by the Government could have been saved if the advice of experts had been listened to. One hundred thousand men were enlisted and sent overseas who were no use to the Canadian army. With the average cost of equipping one soldier approximately $1500, the Government of that time had spent $150,000,000 fruitlessly, uselessly according to Sir Arthur Currie, who, Hon. Mr. Murphy pointed out, is a Conservative. And this expense has not been terminated, for many of these 100,000 men are still under Government pay in hospitals, and many of them had never been in France.

"There was $150,000,000 wasted and the expense is continuing because of that 100,000 men mentioned by Sir Arthur Currie are still hospital. Public expense is still going on for men who should never have been numbered in Canada's expeditionary force."

Experts had advised against the use of the Ross rifle, of the Oliver equipment, of harness, but unit after unit was sent overseas supplied with these materials.

"And please remember that the man I have called as witness is not a Liberal, but he is the best qualified of all to speak for he was the leader of our troops in France," said Mr. Murphy, "and it was such waste that has caused a great part of the debt on our Canadian people, and imposed a financial burden on the administration of MacKenzie King from the time it started."

Still another handicap, Mr. Murphy stated, was the lack of a majority in the House, but the reports from all parts of Canada indicated that the people intend to correct that condition by returning the Government on Oct. 29 with a substantial majority.

Heckler Answered.

When the Liberals assumed power they found the national railways under different heads. The Government consolidated these systems and put them under one head. Mr. Hanna and Mr. Kelly together received $85,000 for managing the railways under the Conservative regime, but the Liberals appointed Sir Henry Thornton at a salary of $50,000 thereby effecting an economy of $35,000 a year.

Mr. Murphy said that the Government had recently re-engaged Sir Henry Thornton at a salary of $65,000 when some man in the audience called out "It's a shame."

"It's a what?" queried Mr. Murphy.

"It's a shame" the man repeated.

"I'll show you it's no shame," Mr. Murphy retorted. "We appointed Sir Henry Thornton at $50,000 a year for three years and we increase his salary to $65,000 a year, and I'll venture to say that our friend in the gallery voted for the Government that paid Mr. Howard and Mr. Kelly $85,000 a year." (Applause).

"Sir Henry Thornton reduced the operating expense by $20,000,000 and at $20,000 less salary without any protest from my friend at the rear." (Continued applause).

Surplus in Post Office.

As Postmaster-General, Hon Mr. Murphy referred to the economies and improvements achieved in his department. He paid an eloquent tribute to the post office employees, declaring that in no other country in the world was there a more loyal and efficient staff than his associates of Canada's postal service.

"And lately it was my pleasure to recommend to the Civil Service Commission that they revise the classification of the Post Office department, and make an upward revision of salaries. When I took charge of the Department there was a deficit of $1,567,000. We have been able to wipe out that deficit and for three years we have had an average surplus of $325,000, and we have succeeded in reducing the annual expenditure of the Post Office Department by $460,000, he first time there has been a decrease in the last 25 years.

"There have been many other improvements accomplished by the government, but time does not permit me to refer to them. But the net results are reflected in the general improvement of the country. Our opponents contend that conditions are worse. We know that is not true. Go back in memory just twenty years —at that time the people who owned a horse and buggy were few, and those who had a team were fewer still. To-day one in every ten Canadians owns an automobile and each one costs far more than a horse and buggy."

The fact that such a large number of people can afford cars, that they have the money to buy them, proves how much better off Canadians are to-day, Mr. Murphy said. The ownership of these automobiles utterly discredited the gloom of the "crepe-hangers."

The people have better homes, they are better dressed, their standards of living are higher. And as in the social order, so also has there been improvements in trade conditions, Mr. Murphy quoted the statement of E. W. Beatty, president of the C. P. R. upon his return from a trip from the West, in which Mr. Beatty emphasized "the marked improvement in the spirit of the people and the prevailing optimism throughout the country." Similar expressions by Sir George Foster were also quoted by the speaker, who remarked that the former Conservative Minister of Trade and Commerce either had not read what the "crepe-hangers were saying or he did not pay any attention to their pessimistic propaganda."

Sir George Foster had said that conditions were never better in the West; "money was abundant and good times were returning."

"Sir George meant the good times of the golden era of the Laurier regime," Mr. Murphy commented.

Emigration Figures.

Mr. Murphy dealt with the Conservative charges that the Liberal tariff policy was forcing Canadians to go to the United States. Reverting to 1892 he showed that there was nothing new in this movement of the people, that it was not only international, but that it was internal, both in the United States and Canada as evidenced by the gold rushes to California and Nevada in the one country and to the Yukon, the Porcupine, and now the Rouyn fields in Canada. These movements signified the search of people at home and abroad for higher wages and for sudden wealth. When the wage level subsided population returned to its normal conditions again.

As an explanation of the discrepancy in the number of people going from and returning to Canada, as disputed in the election speeches, Mr. Murphy said that the Canadian Government keeps a record only of those coming into Canada from the United States, and the converse was true of the United States. Both Governments keep a record of those who are turned back at the border. The figures of these rejections were erroneously taken to mean the number of persons who had come from the United States to Canada in a year. Thus in the fiscal year of 1925, 7217 persons were turned back from the United States as coming from Canada. This was made to appear as the total emigration to Canada. The correct figures for the year, said Mr. Murphy, were 43,775 repatriated Canadians and 15,816 new American settlers coming into this country.

While the Americans who came into Canada in 1924 brought cash and effects valued at $4,500,000, in 1925 the cash value of the effects of new settlers amounted to $9,500,000—an increase of $5,000,000.

Avoided Turkish War.

Mr. Murphy explained in detail the incident of the enquiry from some members of the British cabinet in 1922 as to whether Canada would send troops to fight the Turks.

"As Canada had no quarrel with the Turks, and no word of information as to why any one should fight the Turks, the Prime Minister asked for information. Another message came from London, and again the Prime Minister asked for details. Finally Mr. King replied that the Cabinet could not send troops or ships without consulting Parliament. Mr. Meighen on the other hand, without ascertaining the facts, made a jingoistic speech in Toronto, saying that he hoped it was not then too late for Canada to assure the British government of her readiness to co-operate against the Turks.

The truth leaked out, however, and it was discovered that the enquiry Premier King had not come from the British Cabinet but was merely a feeler by Lloyd George and several other members of his Government. And further it was learned that South Africa had not answered the same enquiry.

Premier King's reply had the effect of thwarting the war clique in London that might have plunged Great Britain, and perhaps the Dominions into another war. It also caused the downfall of the Lloyd George government. The disclosure vindicated Premier King and help up to ridicule Mr. Meighen and others who had criticized the government's action. It was fortunate that Canada had at the head of her affairs in that situation a safe and sane leader like the Right Honorable W. L. MacKenzie King."

Garland and Foster.

Hon. Mr. Murphy proceeded to conclude his address by saying that he would mention some of the things the Liberal government has not done. And in his negative he said: "We didn't reward a capitalist follower by giving him $500,000 for building a foundation which it was never intended would be erected to completion, and which actually has not been completed, next to the Customs House in Montreal. We didn't do that, but the Conservatives did.

We didn't rent part of the block in Toronto on which the Union Station has been built, and pay the Toronto Terminals Company $17,000, which was $3000 more than the Terminals people paid fr it in rent. The Conservatives did.

Nor did we erect on that land a building for a post office, and make a botch of it and put $2,000,000 into that building on land which the government does not own. The Conservatives did.

The man who grafted in field dressings during the war, and was compelled from the House of Commons, W. F. Garland, of Carlton, today holds aloft in his unsullied hands the unsullied banner of the Conservative party.

And in King's county, Nova Scotia, the man who grafted in horses during the war, the man who in 1915 sold to the government for $135, a horse that in 1899, was too old for use in the South African war, the same man who was paid $105 for an old nag that had been bought for two ducks and a drake, DeWitt Foster, is the proud bearer of the Conservative banner in King's County.

In the same vein, Mr. Murphy referred to Hon. "Bob" Rogers, the Conservative candidate in South Winnipeg. "Bob is a friend of mine. He never pretended to be good, and I like him for that. Compared with his associates he is the very soul of honesty, and I like him for that."

The Candidate.

Mr. Gordon in starting his speech, reminded his hearers that for the first time a Cabinet Minister had been appointed, who was the member for a Peterborough riding. With Peterborough a place of such high standing in industry, he said, the Government had felt that it was the proper course to choose a Minister from the city.

The first point he took up was the tariff. Mr. Meighen, he said, had been declaring throughout the country that he favored a moderate tariff. Yet he had abandoned that policy, and had promised to put a duty on American coal that would make it necessary for the people of Ontario to bring coal from Alberta at a high price. By this tariff he would increase for every man, woman, and child the cost of keeping warm in the rigors of a Canadian winter. On such a thing as coal, which is one of the most necessary commodities the effort should be to reduce the cost, and not to increase it.

Mr. Gordon said that he was not surprised at Mr. Meighen's declaration, as it had been the Meighen Government that had placed the sales tax on flour and other cereal foods by the strength of a majority in Parliament, but had been forced to remove this tax on the food of the people by the storm of protest. The Meighen Government had forgotten the days of the corn laws in England, when the food of the people had been taxed, and all had been oppressed except the privileged few. Therefore it was not surprising that Mr. Meighen should advocate a tax on the coal of the people.

Mr. Meighen says that people are leaving Canada, said Mr. Gordon, who then told what makes them leave this country. During the war the country added two billion dollars to the national debt. The government of the day did not place an income tax on the enormous profits of the times until the war had been going on for more than three years. Victory bonds amounting to one billion six hundred and fifty million dollars were issued free of income tax, so that the men who made fortunes were able to invest their money in tax-free bonds, and the burden of taxation was placed by the invisible hand which suggested this course on the shoulders of the men who had to maintain and support families. This was due to the stupid mismanagement of taxation and bond issues by the Government of that day.

Mr. Gordon held up the arsenal at Lindsay as an example of wasted money. He said that it was known that the Government needed no small arms manufactory, and when the war was on none of the ammunition used in small arms was made in Lindsay. This arsenal cost $5,000,000 which has had to be made up from the taxes on the people.

Mr. Meighen says the issue is the tariff, said the speaker. Tariff is a tax collected on goods entering the country, which is collected through the Customs houses, he said, in explaining it to the young voters. In the past year the Government has raised about $112,000,000 from this source. This has been used for the payment of war debts and other liabilities of the country. It is a form of taxation, said the speaker, that the Government will never get away from as it is easy to impose and easy to collect.

The Tariff Board.

Speaking of the Tariff Board that is about to be formed, Mr. Gordon said that Mr. King did not propose an independent board which would raise and lower rates as it chose, like the Hydro-Electric Power Commission had done in North Monaghan, but proposed an advisory board. This board is to have as one of its members a mother, who will know something of the problems of women and representatives of labor, the manufacturers, and the consumers. Mr. Gordon said that its duties would be to study the costs of articles and to put on a tariff that would be fair, reasonable, and just; that would be scientific and not haphazard.

Mr. Gordon said that Mr. Meighen had said that he would put a tariff on foods, because some fruits that are grown in the United States are imported into Canada before they are grown here, or else are not grown here. This, he said, would increase the cost to the people of foods which are needed.

Mr. Gordon quoted a statement made by Mr. Meighen in the House when he said that he was not a high protectionist and that conditions in some industries didn't warrant protection as there was little difference in the cost of production and the manufacturers would exact a higher price, thereby increasing the cost to the consumer.

Peterborough Industries.

He spoke of the effects a higher tariff would have on some of the industries of Peterborough. Choosing the canoe industry as one example, he said that if the cost of the shellac, or of the hardware used, were to be increased by a high tariff, the cost of the canoe would go up and the price would be higher. With the price higher there would be fewer sold.

The electrical industry was another chosen as an example. If the cost of copper were to be increased the cost of production of most of the electrical products would go up. When Mr. H. H. Stevens wanted an increase in tariff to help a smelter being started in British Columbia, Mr. Gordon said that he went to the Government and told the members that a higher tariff would hurt the electrical business and suggested instead that a bounty be paid to aid the new industry. This course, he said, was followed, although the company had never been able to arrange its finances so as to operate enough to claim the bounty.

The Quaker Oats Company, said Mr. Gordon, wanted an export mill so it was built in Peterborough to break the haul from the prairies to the sea. Two other mills had been built here, and Mr. Gordon said that millers prophesied that Peterborough would be one of the greatest milling centres of the world. This business depends on its export trade and never asks for protection. As conditions are in Europe, its business flourishes or falls flat. When the price of wheat is high the people of Europe can't afford wheat flour and the mills are slack. The wheat market is then gone and the price comes down until it is range of the people of Europe again and work starts up.

The De Laval Company, said Mr. Gordon, came here because power costs are low. It doesn't want protection because many of its products are sold in the United States and a tariff here would be followed by retaliation from the United States.

These are all exporting firms, said Mr. Gordon. There are some firms which need a tariff protection but there are not many.

Canada's Trade Balance)

Referring to Canada's trade balance, Mr. Gordon said that in 1921 it was an adverse balance of $30,000,000. It had changed in 1922 to a favorable balance of six millions, and for 1923 was estimated at $285,000,000, the largest in the world. "Let Mr. Peck answer that," he said, asking if those figures indicated that Canada was going bankrupt. Another example he used to show Canada's good financial position was the fact that the Canadian dollar is above par in New York, the only money in the world to hold such a position.

Mr. Gordon referred to the position of Great Britain after the Napoleonic Wars. With a population about the same as the present population of Canada, she had a debt about the same as the debt of Canada but by hard work this was reduced until Britain had become the banker of the world. In the World War she had lost 27½ per cent. of her national wealth and one and a half millions of her men. The world had lost 10,000,000 killed, and a like number crippled in the struggle, and as a result it was no wonder that Europe's purchasing power had decreased and Canada had had difficulties through these losses.

Mr. Gordon referred to the increase in the amount paid in insurance premiums since 1921, amounting to nearly $100,000,000, with an increase in the amount of insurance of $70,000,000, which he said was to the credit of the people.

Speaking of the industries that Canada was said to have lost, Mr. Gordon said that Mrs. Fallis had not told all the truth. Quoting from Duns' he said that in 1921 there were 154,608 firms doing business in Canada and 1.54 per cent of them failed. In 1924 there were 174,104 firms and 1.44 per cent of them failed.

Reduction in Taxation.

Reduction in taxation was the next point taken up by the Liberal candidate. He said that he was glad that the Minister of Finance was going to remove the sales tax and cut down the income tax. For each hunded dollars collected by the Meighen Government, the present Government collected $75 in 1925, or a reduction of 25 per cent. Of this money, 55 cents out of every dollar goes to paying war debts. Every dollar spent in the war said the speaker, was borrowed money. None of it was paid out of the revenues of the day, he said, referring again to the lack of income and the issue of tax free bonds.

In speaking of immigration and emigration, Mr. Gordon said that the people had got the habit of leaving the country while Mr. Meighen was in power. He quoted figures as follows: in the ten years from 1950 to 1860, 135,000; from 1860 to 1870, 305,000; from 1870 to 1880, 325,000; 1880-1890, 410,000; 1890-1900, 380,000; 1900-1910, 225,000; in 1913, 128,000; in 1914, 130,000; in 1915, 128,000; in 1916, 133,000; in 1917, 149,000. Why did they go, asked Mr. Gordon. He ascribed the exodus to the fact that the United States is a great nation with great opportunities. Canadians are well-trained workmen and obtain preference over workers from European nations, and are invited to come, and there has always been a flow. Now the United States has put a quota law against all nationalities except Canadians and Mexicans, leaving Canadians a wide open door. This condition is difficult to overcome, said Mr. Gordon, as it is caused by United States legislation, and not by Canadian laws. As conditions improve in Canada there will be more work for Canadian young people to do and more wealth to distribute, and they will stay.

The United States, said Mr. Gordon, is trying to stem the tide of immigration from all over the world. Mr. Meightn is advocating the open door policy, said Mr. Gordon, who asserted that he had heard him say so. Mr. Gordon said that he was opposed to the open door policy as it was unjust to have men come here with their families and walk the streets looking for work. He advocated selected immigration that would bring in farmers who would fill up the open spaces of the west and build up and develop the country. The supplies these people would need, and it was estimated that the Prairies could support more than thirty million more, would keep the factories busy in Ontario.

Speaking of election possibilities, Mr. Gordon said that Mr. Meighen had 49 seats in the last parliament, and would have to get 74 more to have a majority. A deficit of 1,098,000 votes of 1921 would have to be overcome. Yet, he said, Mr. Meighen comes out on the same old policy and swings the same old pumpkin lantern that he swung in 1921. Not counting the memebrs elected on minority votes, Mr. Meighen returned last time with less members than he had cabinet ministers, before his defeat, said Mr. Gordon.

Peterborough is closer now to the councils of the nation than she has ever been before, said Mr. Gordon, who said that he was not claiming credit for the fact that he was chosen to represent Peterborough in the cabinet. He urged his hearers to return a member of the Government rather than a man who would sit on the benches of the Opposition. Mr. Peck might make good suggestions which would be considered by Parliament, but his voice would not go so far to convince the Government as would that of a cabinet minister. He asked them as a citizen to support the Government that would support industries, improve the situation and maintain the standard that had been set.

A vocal solo and encore by Mrs. A. A. Perrin then followed, after which R. R. Hall, K.C., addressed the meeting.

R. R. Hall, K.C.

Mr. Hall opened his address by expressing the sentiment he felt the audience shared, and congratulated Mr. Gordon on his appointment to a position in the Cabinet, which he said was a compliment to the riding and to Mr. Gordon's worth. He said that Mr. Gordon would be of more assistance to Peterborough. Mr. Hall referred to the misfortune of public men that they are the target of detractors, and said that some very bitter attacks had been made on Mr. Gordon. Among these, he classed an assertion that after the election, should the King Government be returned, Mr. Gordon would be an ex-minister. In refutation of this statement he read a telegram from Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King to the effect that the only thing that would keep Mr. Gordon out of the Cabinet would be his failure to be re-elected by his constituents. There could be no statement more positive, said Mr. Hall.

That weakness was shown by the opposition in attacking Mr. Gordon personally, was the opinion expressed by Mr. Hall, who said that attempts were being made to distract the attention of the electors from the merits of the election.

The record of the MacKenzie King Government in decreasing the taxes and reducing the national debt was first referred to by Mr. Hall. When it took office, it was faced by great difficulties, including an enormous debt. In the year 1921-22 the ordinary expenditure of the country was $464,000,000. In the next year by rigid economy this was reduced by thirty millions. The year 1923-1924 saw a further reduction of $64,000,000, and in 1924-1925 another drop of twenty millions, making a total drop in four years of $114,000,000, an amount greater than the total cost of administration fifteen years ago. This economy required a great deal of work in the interests of the people. The great difficulty of Canada has been that she has a larger per capita debt than the United States, and the sooner that is reduced, said Mr. Hall, the better it will be for industry and for the working men.

The fact that industries such as the American Aluminum Company are locating here was taken by Mr. Hall as evidence of the returning prosperity of the Dominion due to reduction of taxes. This company, wishing to manufacture for world trade, had singled out Canada for a location because of the reduction they saw being made. If there had been no reduction this country would not have been chosen. The example of this company will be followed by others.

Decrease in Debt.

Reduction in Canada's national debt has been effected by the King Government, said Mr. Hall. In 1920 there was an increase of 92 million, in 1921 an increase of 81 million, in 1922 a decrease of 30 million, in 1923 the reduction in the debt amounted to $35,000,000. This shows, said Mr. Hall, wisdom, foresight, prudence, and care in administering the affairs of the nation. In 1924 there was a cut in taxes of $26,000,000, and yet the surplus was $4,816,000. "If we have a Government prepared to administer the affairs of the country economically and prudently, why make a change?" asked the speaker.

The Meighen Government got into the habit of spending the people's money in millions and tens of millions, and when a Government gets into that habit it is a bad state of affairs for the public, continued the speaker, especially when it is borrowed money. It thought and dreamed in large sums, and when a party thinks and dreams like that it is best to leave it in the cold shades of opposition. It would be a great mistake to put Mr. Meighen back in power when there has been a tax decrease in the past four years of 25 per cent.

Mr. Meighen's Policy.

Mr. Meighen thinks that he has a policy on which he can win, said Mr. Hall. Increased tariff is the burden of his song. Mr. Hall asked how a country could prosper by increasing taxation. He is indefinite in his changes and doesn't specify on what the tariff will be raised, he continued, and went on to ask about various divisions of goods.

Food, needed to keep body and soul together, was first selected as a possible mark for an increase, and Mr. Hall said that it would be agreed that the cost is high enough now. If the workman got less to eat could he do more work, he asked.

Is it on clothing or furniture, he then asked. The clothing and household goods needed in Canada to keep people warm cost too much now, and a higher tariff would increase the cost.

Agricultural implements and industrial machinery were next taken. An increase in the cost of these would make production more expensive, he said, saying that Mr. Massey had the right idea, although at first he had opposed a reduction in the tariff he had seen that he demand for his goods had increased, and he had the courage to admit that he was mistaken and had joined the King Government to help carry out this policy. Mr. Goodison, another manufacturer of implements, was also mentioned as a Liberal supporter. After these classes have been considered there is not much left on which to increase the duty, said Mr. Hall.

Ontario's share of the tariff amounts to about $50,000,000, which is about 25 mills on the dollar of assessment, said the speaker. This is a real tax, he added, asking if it would make the people rich to raise it. A high duty would give the manufacturers a chance to make exorbitant profits, robbing the many for the benefits of the few.

Mr. Hall said he would prefer to take what Mr. Meighen had said in 1920 to what he was saying in the present campaign. He then quoted Mr. Meighen's speech to the effect that Canada could never have a high tariff, but would always have a moderate tariff. To hear what he advocates now one would think he had never been in Parliament and made statements there, he added.

Duties Collected.

The division of goods into two classes, dutiable and free, and the amount of duty collected was then taken up. Under Sir John A. MacDonald, the average collected on dutiable goods in his seventeen years of office was 28.06 per cent.; under Sir Wilfrid Laurier it was 27.56 per cent.; under the Borden-Meighen administrations it was 24.28, and under Mr. King it was 23.87. "Has the reduction spelt ruin? Why did not Messrs. Borden and Meighen raise the duty"? asked Mr. Hall. The average rate on all goods he gave as 13.40 per cent. under the Bordon-Meighen regime, and 15.75 per cent. under Mr. King. In four years, 1918-21, under Mr. Meighen, goods imported free of duty amounted to $1,578,000,000, while in the next four years the total was only $1,100,000,000. The Conservatives are apostles of high protection and brand the Liberals as a lot of free traders, said Mr. Hall.

European Conditions.

Unsettled conditions in European countries, who as a result were not large buyers, were blamed by Mr. Hall for abnormal conditions of trade. The people of Europe have not got back to work and this is reflected all over the world. It is an aftermath of the war. Getting back to normal started in 1920. The conditions were world-wide and beyond the control of any one country, even the United States with all her vast wealth and high tariff wall. This country suffered least, and is coming back quicker than any other. The great resources of Canada were given credit by the speaker for this. Her natural resources of farm products, furs, fisheries, etc., amounted to $1,884,000,000 in a year. Canada is third in production of gold, and with the new mines being opened up Mr. Hall predicted that she would be second next year.

There is no reason to feel despondent, but men are wanted with hope and courage to devise a scheme for the country to recuperate. When Great Britain was in a similar position after the Napoleonic wars, the people didn't say the country was going to the dogs but worked and made her the banker of the world, even through the Great War. "We have such large resources," said Mr. Hall. "So why should we have an apostle of gloom. It is not in our interest to have people that are despondent acting like wet blankets." The physcology that makes a man go home thinking himself sick when several people tell him that he isn't looking well was used by Mr. Hall as an indication of what would happen the country if people talked about it going to ruin.

Canadian National Railways.

The Canadian National Railways had been a sinkhole of public funds, said Mr. Hall, but the Government had put a business man at the head and now there is an operating surplus helping to reduce taxes, instead of the operating deficit of former years. The enterprise has been started along the right lines now.

Referring to Mr. Gordon's record, Mr. Hall said that it had been said that he had got no great public works for Peterborough, but hat it was impossible to build public works and economize at the same time. There has been money expended on the dam at Young's Point.

The delay occasioned Mr. Murphy by damage to the floating bridge at Chemong furnished Mr. Hall with an opportunity to express the hope that it would cause him to support some improvement in the manner of communication between the township of Ennismore and the City of Peterborough.

Two songs by Mrs. W. McKee Bingham were much appreciated.

Sure Way to Get Rid of Blackheads

There is one simple, safe, and sure way that never fails to get rid of blackheads; that is to dissolve them. To do this, get two ounces of peroxine powder from any drug store—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet cloth—rub over the blackheads briskly—wash the parts and you will be surprised how the blackheads have disappeared. Big blackheads, little blackheads, no matter where they are, simply dissolve and disappear. Blackheads are a mixture of dust and dirt and secretions that form in the pores of the skin. The peroxine powder and the water dissolve the blackheads so they wash right out, leaving the pores free and clean and in their natural condition.

ARM CRUSHED IN CLOTH FACTORY

Thomas Upton Had to Have Limb Amputated Near Shoulder.

CONDITION SERIOUS.

CAMPBELLFORD, Oct. 20.—Thomas Upton, one of the oldest employees of the Campbellford Cloth Company, while at work in the mill Saturday had his right arm caught in a machine, and the limb was so badly mangled from finger tips to elbow that it was necessary to amputate near the shoulders. As Mr. Upton is advanced in years the shock to his system was serious and on Sunday his condition was such as to alarm his friends.

The day of the accident was the first Saturday for some time that the mill had been running, and Mr. Upton, like the rest of the employees, was highly pleased at the sign of returning prosperity.

HORSES STAMPEDE.

A Dozen Equines Broke Loose and Took Possession of Street.

MARMORA, Oct. 19.—An unusual scene was witnessed on Forsyth street on Friday evening. Almost a dozen horses broken loose from pasture or stable scampered up and down the thoroughfare, finally travelling north.

Annual Dance.

The first annual dance of Harmony L.O.B.A., the talk of the past few weeks, drew a large attendance on Friday evening. The arrangements were in the hands of a very efficient committee comprising Sister A. Potts, W.M. and Sisters M. Gray, A. McGarvey and L. Smith.

Excellent music was furnished by the Spencer Orchestra. Mr. William Gray acted as floor manager. The attendance included many from Madoc, Campbellford, Havelock and Frankford. A fine lunch was served at midnight.

Mr. Peck Objects to the Use of Figures in the Election Campaign

That is, in his publicity yesterday he objected to Mr. Gordon's using any.

The big difference between Mr. Peck's publicity and Mr. Gordon's publicity is this:

Mr. Peck merely repeats his declaration that Canada is going to the dogs, and expects credulous electors to take his word for it—backed up by the word of two other lawyers.

Mr. Gordon credits the electors with having the intelligence to understand the facts he presents.

Mr. Peck wants to spoon feed the electors.

And the electors of West Peterborough, including the large number of women voters, are past that stage, if they were ever in it.

They have recovered enough since 1921 to sit up and take a little solid nourishment, but THERE'S NONE IN MR. PECK'S LARDER.

ADVERTISING LIFE INSURANCE.

A splendid example of the power of co-operative publicity in the newspapers of Canada is furnished by the campaign of education that has been and is being carried on by the combined insurance companies of Canada.

The advertisements which are appearing from time to time in the Examiner, showing the value of life insurance as an investment and a protection, are a sample of what has been done in all parts of Canada, with results that are reflected in the large increase in the amount of insurance placed in this country.

The insurance companies co-operated in a national campaign to enlighten the Canadian public in regards to the benefits of life insurance, and the good sense of the people has done the rest.

It is a campaign that deserves general commendation, inasmuch as it is undoubtedly the case that increased investments in life insurance represent a stand against extravagance and in favour of thrift and conservation.

The life insurance service has wisely emphasized this angle of the situation, with results that were good, of course, for the insurance companies, but even better for this country.

WHAT ARE POLITICS FOR?

There is a demand that the Hudson Bay Railway should be taken out of politics, says the Woodstock Sentinel-Review. There is a demand that the whole Canadian railway problem should be taken out of politics. There is a demand that the tariff should be taken out of politics. In fact, there is a demand from some quarter or other that practically every matter regarded as of real public importance be taken out of politics.

These demands may be regarded as a significant commentary on what we call politics in this country. Politics in the higher sense of the term have to do with the administration of public affairs. In that sense politics have to do with all matters of public importance. But for practical purposes when we speak of politics we think of party politics, and when we think of party politics we are likely to think of a struggle for office and power, associated with methods that are tolerated simply because we have grown accustomed to them. And there is no use attempting to put all the blame on the politicians. The politicians could not have reduced politics to what they are without our consent and co-operation.

HUNTING TRAGEDIES.

Stories from New Brunswick of two hunting fatalities in that Province over the week-end suggest that in view of the rapid approach of the local hunting season local sportsmen should resolve to be even more careful than usual while in the woods.

One New Brunswick victim was mistaken for a deer and shot by another hunter.

There have been many such accidents during hunting parties, and every man who goes into the woods owes it to himself to protect himself by wearing clothes that will distinguish him from a deer and to protect others by getting a good view of his quarry before firing.

The man who carelessly bangs away at the slightest movement in the bush without first investigating the conditions should get a term in jail for manslaughter.

Old hunters are not likely to make that mistake, but there are usually novices in every party, and it is the duty of the veterans to coach the new members as to the principles of safety first applied to hunting.

The deer hunting season is a glorious two weeks for a lot of good fellows, and they should combine to make their sport safe as well as enjoyable.

CUTTING THE INCOME TAX.

The attention of Mr. Robert Forke, Progressive leader, who praises the income tax as the fairest method of taxation, and who doubtless would favour an increase in this levy if possible, is called to the fact that across the border the people of the United States are promised a substantial reduction in their income tax next year.

Administration leaders of the House of Representatives have agreed to give a tax reduction bill the right-of-way when Congress opens in December.

The bill is expected to cut at least $300,000,000 from the taxpayers' toll and will likely provide slashes in both normal rates and sur-taxes of the income tax.

One proposal would raise the exemption to $3,500 for single persons and $5,000 for married persons, a change that would relieve three million people from paying income tax.

The Progressive leader can admire the income tax with all the fervourhe likes, but to the majority of Canadians an announcement of a change in Canada's income tax, such as is to go in effect across the border next year, would be hailed with delight.

The tax is resented as inequitable in its application, and employees in particular feel that they are being disciminated against.

READING THE ADS.

The advertisements of a manufacturer of a widely known antiseptic present two women in conversation. One of them volunteers the remark:

"I never read the advertisements."

To which the other woman retorts:

"You should."

Embodied in this advertisement are a moral and gross inaccuracy. The ad's discrepancy is obvious. It erroneously presumes that there exists a woman who does not read advertisements. The moral of the ad is the ad itself. People should read advertisements because they can not afford to shut their eyes to them.

Within every advertisement is profit for both seller and buyer. The success of an advertisement is measured by the sales it makes, but to make sales it must offer something necessary to or of advantage to the buying public.

Advertisements are the world's show windows. Through them the merchant and manufacturer show their wares to a much vaster public than would be possible in glass show windows and show cases. Exclusive shops in the cities often have neither show window nor show case—all goods being concealed in cabinets or behind curtains—but none strives to do business without newspaper advertising.

To voluntarily deny oneself the privileges and advantages of reading the advertisements is nothing short of blindfolding oneself in the very centre of a vast treasure house of things so desired by and essential to humanity.

A NEW EUROPE AT PEACE.

The emotion manifested by the delegates to the Conference at Locarno upon the successful completion of their labours will touch a responsive chord throughout the peace-loving world. The issues finally decided were so fraught with importance to human happiness and prosperity, and their satisfactory solution was for so long a matter of doubt, that it would have been strange indeed if the relief felt by the negotiators at the termination of their work had been unaccompanied by any display of sentiment. The representatives of the Powers, in fact, appear to have been at pains to give some assurance to the nations that the new era which the agreement arrived at is designed to create has already actually begun. The spectacle of the German Chancellor and the French Minister of Foreign Affairs standing arm in arm before the multitude which acclaimed the result of the deliberations is a pleasing one indeed, dramatically pacific, and promises well for a revival of good-will among the masses of their peoples.

With the initialling of the treaties by the delegates, ratification and exchange by the nations concerned will be a mere matter of form. Germany's acceptance of the pacts is assured by the approval given by President Von Hindenburg and his Cabinet, and the terms of the documents themselves are apparently so entirely satisfactory to France that they will meet the views of all parties in the Republic. The final steps in this progress toward complete peace will be the entry of Germany into the League of Nations and her acceptance on a full footing of equality with the other Powers in the Council of that organization. That will be followed, without doubt, by the withdrawal of the British troops from Cologne and the removal of all evidence of French occupation on the left bank of the Rhine.

With the accomplishment of these vital preliminaries, the nations will be in a position to begin the work of restoration in Europe, and the burden of this effort will rest largely upon the shoulders of the League of Nations. One of the first measures to which that body will undoubtedly direct its attention in completing what was so well begun at Locarno will be to secure a reduction of the military establishments, whose oppressions are now taxing the financial strength of France and her Eastern allies. With the guarantees of peace secured, and with Germany amenable to League control, the necessity for preparedness for war on the part of these countries is rendered needless.

Much talk of a disarmament conference prevails, and President Coolidge has given it to be understood that he is ready to call a meeting of the Powers for a discussion of all the problems involved. That the Governments of the European nations would accept an invitation from the President of the United States to hold a convention is undoubted. The United States is in the happy position of being a creditor of the European countries to such immense amounts that none of them would feel justified in refusing a proposal to meet in Washington for a discussion of armament reductions. Why Washington, however, should take the lead in this matter and gain all the credit for her forwardness in the endeavor to diminish the possibilities of any future outbreak of hostilities is beginning to be asked in the Old World. Armament reduction is, in fact, coming to be regarded more and more as a question for settlement at Geneva by the League of Nations to which all such matters should logically be referred. That the United States is not a member of the League should scarcely be regarded as a sufficient reason for going over the head of the Geneva organization in a matter which must be regarded as peculiarly its business. And, with Germany in the League, there is no reason why the United States should not also be a member and occupy a position on the Supreme Council which is being kept vacant for her.

Perhaps Washington would be quite satisfied with a reduction of the military establishments in Europe, no matter how it is accomplished. The United States has a real interest beyond that of benevolence in seeing the burden of militarism lifted from the shoulders of the peoples of the Old World. For the next two or three generations Europe will be labouring to pay off the enormous debts contracted to carry on the Great War, and anything that will enable those nations to meet their obligations to her with greater certainty and promptness should satisfy a Government with such a keen instinct for business. —The Globe.

FROM MR. KING.

Dear Sir,—

If Mr. Peck had left facts and figures alone he might have stood a show, but when the facts are against him and the figures too I am afraid he has made a mess of it.

Imports of woollens and cottons in 1921 under Mr. Meighen and protection were over 70 millions more than under Mr. King in 1924. It is so with most other things and consequently in 1921 Mr. Meighen and Canada imported 67 millions more than we exported. In 1924 under Mr. King we exported 272 millions more than we imported.

Under Mr. Meighen in 1921 clothes, foods, hardware and all that the house dweller uses was vastly higher than now under Mr. King. You see Mr. Peck has put both feet into it. When our $1 was worth more than $1 under Mr. King when was the like ever heard of before. That is the kind of thing we want Mr. King.

JOS. KING,
Chamberlain Street.

But no relation.

FROM MR. C. H. ACKERMAN.

Dear Sir:

Some weeks have elapsed now since the nomination of Mr. Gordon. Still fresh in the minds of those who read one of Mr. Gordon's addresses is the reference he made to his policy of immigration as applied to his own constituency. Mr. Gordon is called a "Go Getter", and it therefore must reasonably be assumed that his agents from Ottawa are now making a survey of the County of Peterboro with a view to finding out how many owners of the seven hundred odd farms are willing to dispose of these particular parcels of land to Old Country agriculturists skilled in intensive farming.

His local immigration programme was not any careless statement, or arther should not have been, having regard to the opinion that the Prime Minister has of Mr. Gordon's ability, therefore, the electors should take very seriously, the committment of the Liberal candidate.

Just as seriously should this committment be taken by those supporters of Mr. Gordon, who are endeavoring to organize the younger class of electorate now developing. Mr. Ronald Deyell, a school teacher in the King George school, I believe, is one of the active workers. I admire him for his effort in trying to inculcate into the younger class of people, the necessity of studying the political issues of the day so that they may the more intelligently exercise their franchise.

To Mr. Deyell I would suggest that he have Mr. Gordon either confirm his intention of carrying out his scheme of having these seven hundred odd farms purchased by British immigrants, or give him some assurance that his successor to the Portfolio will carry out the scheme, or else give Mr. Gordon the opportunity of repudiating completly the idea that he was sincere in his earlier address.

Mr. Deyell, as an organizer for Mr. Gordon, and as a teacher in one of our public schools, must and does know that the success of his efforts as a teacher, lie in his ability to instil into his pupils that characteristic of preponderant value—integrity and honesty of purpose.

If Mr. Gordon is honestly sincere in announcing this scheme, and feels that he can carry it out—all well and good. But if it is not his intention of so doing, then an explanation to his supporters should be in order.

Yours truly,
C. H. ACKERMAN.

CHICAGO WHEAT

CHICAGO, Oct. 20 (Canadian Press).—Material set-backs in wheat yesterday accompanied reports that Canadian weather conditions permitted threshing to be resumed in parts of the territory where work has of late been at a standstill. Closing quotations on wheat were heavy, 1 3-4 to 2 1-2 net lower, new style, December 145 3-8 to 145 5-8, and May 142 1-4 to 142 3-8, with corn 3-4 to 1c down oats 1-8 to 1-4 cent off, and lard 17c to 30c lower, whereas other provisions were unchanged to 50c higher.

Besides considerable foreign selling of the May delivery of wheat here, general commission house selling of a persistent character, set in, and rallies were without lasting effect. In addition to news of better weather in Canada, advices were received that rains were falling in Australia where needed, that the amount of wheat on ocean passage for Europe had increased 3,680,000 bushels and that the Liverpool market was unresponsive to Saturday's advance in Chicago. Under such circumstances, 1,793,000 bushels falling off in the United States visible supply total exerted only a transient influence.

On the other hand, millers continued to pay high premiums on choice winter wheat available for immediately delivery. As much as 14c a bushel over the December price was given here yesterday for a car of fancy dark No. 1, hard Winter grade. Furthermore, shipping sales here were restricted by lack of offerings, with the trading basis for cash wheat reported as being in some cases 3 cents a bushel higher. According to one authority, millers own the bulk of December wheat in all domestic markets, and desire delivery of the grain.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK

CHICAGO, Oct. 20 (Canadian Press). — Cattle receipts 32,000; meagre supply choice weighty steers and light yearlings steady; others and Western grassers largely 25c lower than last Thursday; extreme top 1,483 and 1,496 pound bullocks 16.30; yearlings upward to 15.00; most Western grassers 7.50 to 9.00 to killers; load weighty Montanas 11.00; she stock 15 to 25c lower; canners and cutters weak to 10c lower; bulls steady to strong; vealers fully steady.

Hog receipts 38,000; steady to 15c higher; closed slow; bulk good and choice 11.50 to 11.90; majority desirable 160 to 225 pound kind 11.60 to 12.00; bulk 90 to 150 pound average 11.85 to 12.25; best 140 to 150 lb. weights topped at 12.15; select 210 pound loads 12.10; packing sows largely 9.85 to 10.25; shippers took 8,000; estimated holdover 14,000.

Sheep receipts 22,000; fat lambs mostly 25c lower; desirable fat native lambs 14.50 to 14.75; few to city butchers at 15.00; best Western held late above 15.00; most cull natives 11.00 to 11.50; thin light kind downward to 8.00; feeding lambs mostly 15.00 to 15.75; choice fat ewes in small ots, upward to 8.00.

With the heaviest run of cattle this season, the market has the appearance of being badly overloaded Including billed through stuff, there were 9,000 cattle. The run includes a very large proportion of western stock. In addition to the large receipts on the market, the packing housese are understood to be filled up with cattle received direct from the west. Under these conditions it was to be expected that trade would open slow. While the best offerings are barely holding steady, prospects are that prices will be lower for the commoner grades.

Hogs unsettled and market very weak, packers bidding 25c to 50c lower. Bulk of today's receipts contracted at $11.75 f.o.b.

Lambs—Choice, $12 to $12.50, heavy, $10 to $11.

Sheep—Yearling, $8 to $9; choice, $6 to $7; medium, $5 to $6; heavy, $4 to $5.

Calves—Choice, $11 to $12; medium, $9 to $10; light, $8 to $9; heavy, $7 to $8; grassers, $4 to $4.50.

MONTREAL MARKETS

MONTREAL, Oct. 20 (Canadian Press).—The export business in the local grain market yesterday was again dull, there being no firm bids that could be accepted. A steady tone prevailed in cash grain and prices remained unchanged.

The domestic market for spring wheat grades of flour was steady with prices the same. Winter wheat flour was unchanged, prices being well maintained.

There were no new developments in the market for millfeed, the undertone being steady with a fair amount of business passing for local and country account. The market for standard grades of rolled oats was fair and prices were unchanged.

Baled hay was steady under a fair demand.

Beans were quoted at from $2.40 to $2.50 per bushel.

There was no change in the condition of the local egg market, prices for all grades being maintained.

The exports of eggs from Montreal last week were 6,750 cases, which showed a decrease of 825 cases, as compared with the previous week, and a decrease of 3,878 cases with the same week last year, while the total shipments for the season to date have been 7,093 cases less than the same period for 1924.

There was no change in the local market yesterday, prices for all grades being maintained with fair business in a jobbing way. The receipts were 268 cases, as compared with 416 for the same day last week, and 1,271 for the corresponding day a year ago.

The strength that developed in the potato situation last week has continued to be the main feature of the trade on account of the very limited supplies coming forward for the year and the keen competition between buyers with the result that prices scored a further advance yesterday of 20c per bag.

The exports of butter from Montreal last week amounted to 3,804 packages, which show a decrease of 4,824 packages, as compared with the previous week, and a decrease of 21,521 packages with the same week last year, but the total shipments for the season to date have been 99,036 packages in excess of the same period of 1924.

The receipts of butter here yesterday were 1,076 packages, as compared with 490 for the same day last week, and 1,654 for the corresponding day a year ago. There was no improvement in the condition of the

OPEN LETTER NO. 25

RT. HON. W. L. MACKENZIE KING,
Prime Minister and President of the Privy Council,
Ottawa.

Dear Sir:

"No amount of reasoning, no amount of argument, can ever convince the people dwelling out on the Prairies that a protective policy can be of any benefit to them." So says Mr. Forke, Leader of the Progressives, in another part of the same speech that I quoted in my last letter.

Mr. Forke pays no compliment to the intelligence of his followers when he thus declares that they are not open to conviction. My own acquaintance with prairie farmers—a very limited one compared with Mr. Forke's—has led me to believe that they are more than ordinarily shrewd.

The mere fact that during the past four years some 250,000 wheat-growers have managed to dictate the vital policies of a country of 9,000,000 people is surely ample proof of their shrewdness.

Of course I concede the difficulty of convincing those who are exclusively wheat growers that they derive any immediate and direct benefit from tariff protection. But I believe I can show them that the withdrawal of a protective tariff would indirectly cause them incalculable injury. So I propose to attempt what Mr. Forke would call the impossible. And here is my argument, reduced to tabloid form.

Generally speaking, Canadian manufacturers must pay United States rates of wages, or lose their skilled help.

When they pay United States rates of wages, without a tariff like the United States tariff to protect them, their production costs are forced up to a level where they find it exceedingly difficult, frequently impossible, to compete with European goods produced by cheap labor.

Every time Canada has lowered her tariff on manufactured goods, Canadian industries have suffered and declined. Repeat the cause, and inevitably you repeat the effect.

Carry the process to the point called for in Mr. Forke's platform—complete free trade with Great Britain—and most Canadian manufacturing industries would be ruined! High-wage labor, unprotected, could never stand up against low-wage labor!

Wipe out the manufacturing industries of Canada, and you would immediately cripple Canadian railroads, for instead of having the long east and west haul of raw materials to and finished products from Canadian factories, all the freight business left them would be the short north and south haul of farm products to and imported merchandise from the international boundary!

To offset that enormous loss of revenue they would have to be allowed to double, perhaps treble, their present rates both on farm products and on merchandise. Either that, or cease operation and go into bankruptcy. And bankruptcy for them would mean bankruptcy for the farmer, for the approach to his farm would be cut off!

Is the western wheat farmer so keen on eliminating tariff protection that he is prepared to pay, as the price thereof, two to three times the present freight tolls for moving his grain to market? Is he prepared to assume that extra expense, despite the probability that the duty-free merchandise he hopes to buy will be just as dear, after it has paid two to three times the present freight charges, as his duty-paid merchandise is to-day?

But those would be the least of his troubles—they would show only one side of the picture.

With the closing down of thousands of factories, and the shrinkage of employment in that and a host of allied fields, there would follow a tremendous emigration of urban population to the United States. Literally millions of people who are now paying taxes that help Canada meet her annual interest bill would desert this country.

Is the western wheat farmer prepared to assume the tax burdens that those emigrants would relinquish? Is he also prepared to make up the loss of revenue resulting from the winding-up of numberless corporations that are now heavy tax contributors? And, remembering that the people who would be left in our towns and cities would be more or less reduced in circumstances, would he be prepared to add still further to his own taxes because of their inability to pay what they did before?

Under the fiscal system Mr. Forke is asking for, the position of the western wheat farmer would soon become intolerable! Due to preposterous freight rates, he would net a great deal less for his crop. And, due to a disastrous emigration movement, his taxes would be enormously increased! Western farm values would shrink to nothing; property would be unsaleable—even unmortgageable!

With municipal, provincial and federal credit strained to the breaking point, with no purchasers to be found for properties offered at tax sales, and with municipalities defaulting in consequence in the interest on their bonds, Canada would eventually find herself in a desperate situation from which the only escape would be absorption by the United States, on such terms as the United States would be prepared to offer!

Tariff protection may seem to be of no direct or immediate benefit to the wheat grower, but so long as the wheat grower has for his partners, in that unlimited partnership called Canada, the mixed farmer, the transport worker, and the factory worker, he is bound to benefit indirectly from any policy that benefits them, and to suffer indirectly from any policy that injures them. There can be absolutely no prosperity for him apart from the prosperity of the partnership as a whole!

What do you think, Mr. King—have I made out a sound case, or am I entirely wrong?

Yours respectfully,
J. J. GIBBONS,
President.

2 EARTHQUAKES WERE REPORTED

Tremors Originated North of Montreal— Nearly 2 Million Square Miles Affected.

SECOND THIS YEAR.

BOSTON, Oct. 20. — (Canadian Press).—The second earthquake to occur in the Eastern Canadian-New England area this fall, and the most severe in this district since the shock of February 28, 1925, was registered yesterday, said a statement issued last night by the Engineering Economic Foundation. The foundation, which is engaged in organizing knowledge of earthquake hazard said that approximately 1,975,000 square miles had been affected, and that it was indicated that the tremors had their origin north of Montreal, in a probably uninhabited area.

The shock indicated, the statement said, "that the Canadian section in which the earthquake of February 28 occurred, was not completely readjusted by that 'quake."

"The Dominion Observatory at Ottawa reports 'strong shock'; there is no observatory in North America able to measure intensity. . . . At the station reporting longest duration, the shock lasted for half an hour. All stations report its beginning between 5.59 and 6.05 a.m.

"An after shock came within one hour after the beginning of the first stock. Within the area reporting the shock are all four of the great zones of earthquake origin of this territory, the Laurentian, the Fundian, the Long Island and the Connecticut."

HIAWATHA CHURCH HAD A RALLY DAY

Children Presented Special Programme and Building Was Decorated.

KEENE, Oct. 20.—Rally day Sunday was a great occasion at Hiawatha. The children had practised a special program and had decorated the church beautifully with branches of haws, crabapples and berries, with bright green and reds contrasting against the maple decorations around the windows. A large sign "Rally Day" made in maple leaves was stretched behind the pulpit. The Rev. Andrew McLauchlin, B.A., B.D. had charge and introduced the speaker, Rev. Arthur Barner, superintendent of Missions for Canada, who took as his text "Go Forward" illustrating it with stories of wonderful developments among the young Indians of Queen Charlotte Islands who have a brass band which along with a group of young workers they took recently to another village and in a three day visit had 80 decisions to live the Christian life. He told also of the death of the great Christian Chief, Abel Williams, of Oxford House, Northern Manitoba, with whom he had travelled hundreds of miles by canoe; and of the remarkable result of the speakers appeal when preaching after the election of his successor and appealing to him to set the same fine Christian example. The new chief stood up and midst the great crowd pledged himself before God to the Christian leadership of his Band. Mr. Barner pointed out the hardships of Indian children in regions where schooling is impossible because of the roaming life, and the success of such boarding schools as at Norway House. This visit of Mr. Barner will stand out as a red letter event and he was delighted to see the signs of interest and progress at the Reserve. The pastor proposed that they should make a permanent sign for the pulpit "Go Forward" in memory of this visit

A specially printed program was used with suitable hymns, responsive readings and prayers. Other items were a solo by Miss Velma Crowe, recitation "What can a little chap do" by Ralph Loukes and a reading "Build Him His City" by Miss Flossie Howard.

Owing to the sickness of the regular organist, Miss Lucy Pandash, the organ was presided over by Mrs. George Pandash, wife of the chief. A collection amounting to $2.76 was taken for the Rally Day Fund.

At the next meeting, on Tuesday Madden Howard, Jr. will tell the story of John Geddes, the missionary to the South Sea Islands, whose memorial tablet at Aneityum reads, "When he came there were no Christians. When he left there were no savages.

LLOYD GEORGE PRAISES DRY LAW 'BRITAIN OUGHT TO INVESTIGATE'

Says America is Prosperous Because of Prohibition— Not Crank's Craze.

BRITISH DRINK BILL.

Thinks Experiment Has Been Less Successful in Canada Than in States.

LONDON, Oct. 20 (Canadian Press).—David Lloyd George, former Prime Minister, had some favorable words to say last night of the prohibition law in the United States. He spoke at the City Temple on "The Responsibilities of Free Churchmen."

Alluding to the church's responsibilities on the drink question, he said: "Do not let us try to cure eternal problems with an external plaster of words. Prohibition is an experiment we ought to investigate."

Despite unemployment and an adverse trade balance, he asserted that Britain spent last year £316,000,000 on alcoholic liquors; then, referring to the United States he continued: "It is no use indulging in slap-dash condemnation of America. Not only have Americans carried prohibition, but no political party in America now dare propose abolition of prohibition. As politicians the Americans beat us at every turn."

It had been suggested that prohibition in the United States was the craze of cranks, but when he went to the United States he found this entirely untrue; he never met a man who would vote for the re-establishment of the saloon. So far as public opinion was concerned, the beer house was a thing of the past.

In Canada, he remarked, prohibition seemed to have been less successful.

Detailing various advantages, which he attributed to dryness, Mr. Lloyd George repeated: "It is an experiment we ought to investigate. Do not condemn it haphazardly. One hundred and ten millions of people do not continue to make fools of themselves for long. They are the most prosperous under the sun, not because they have the gold, but because they have not the drink."

The former Premier concluded by recalling Lincoln's looking forward to the time when there would be no slavery and no drink.

"He got rid of slavery," exclaimed Lloyd George, "and sixty years later, the people are on the high road to accomplish the second of his ideals."

THANK OFFERING OF PRESBYTERIAN WMS

Rev. Mr. Marshall Told of Experiences in Western Mission Fields.

MADOC, Oct. 20.—The annual thankoffering meeting of the W.M.S. of the Presbyterian church was held in St. Peter's church on Thursday afternoon. The president, Mrs. E. West, was in the chair.

Mrs. Goforth of Toronto, a returned missionary, who was to have been the special speaker for the occasion, was not able to be present on account of illness. In her absence, Rev. Mr. Marshall, pastor of St. Peter's church, gave a very delightful and interesting address on his own experiences as a missionary in western Canada, which work he began as a young man of twenty-one, coming out from his native country, Ireland.

At the close of the address a hearty vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Marshall, moved by Mrs. J. A. McCoy and seconded by Mrs. W. Jenkins.

A very enjoyable paper, entitled "Grandma Powell's Thankoffering" was read by Mrs. J. McCaffrey.

The music of the afternoon was supplied by Miss Pettit, who sang, and Misses Lemoire West and Marion Robertson, who played instrumental solos.

A generous thank-offering was donated, and at the end of the program a social hour was spent over the tea-cups.

NO BUILDING FOR ROAD MACHINERY

Campbellford Council Will Not Erect Shelter This Year.

RENTING QUARTERS.

CAMPBELLFORD, Oct. 20. — A special meeting of the Town Council was held on Monday evening to open tenders for the construction of a building, 20 x 50 feet, in which to house the new steam roller, and other road machinery.

There was a bare quorum present, those in attendance being Mayor Meyers, Deputy Reeve Palliser, Councillors Abernethy, Cole and Stone.

Two tenders were received, David Johnston offered to put up the building for $500, and James Blue to erect a more expensive structure for $645, for a ten-foot wall, or $692 if the wall was 12-feet high.

The councillors did not care to assume this expense, and Deputy-Reeve Palliser and Councillor Cole were appointed a committee to secure if possible rented quarters to shelter the machinery until next season, the committee to report at the next regular meeting.

A NARROW ESCAPE.

John Mitchell Was Driving Buggy When Train Struck It.

LINDSAY, Oct. 20.—(Special).—John Mitchell, a farm hand in the employ of James Callaghan, of Ops, had a narrow escape from death on Saturday night when the horse he was driving was struck by a train at the C.N.R. crossing on Lindsay street. The animal was killed instantly, its head and legs being completely severed. The front wheels of the buggy were smashed into kindling wood, but Mr. Mitchell escaped with a few bruises and a shaking up.

NEW MILL ERECTED.

Welcome Addition to the List of Industries in Hastings.

HASTINGS, Oct. 20.—The new planing mill in connection with the U.P. Plant foundry which has been under construction is now completed. Woodwork such as matched flooring, siding, sash and doors and all fancy wood work will now be furnished in Hastings. This will be a great benefit to Hastings and district as the work may be done at home whereas since the Doxsee Planing mill was burned early in the spring all such works were taken out of town.

Owing to some of the machinery of our local electric plant breaking and repairs for some being hard to procure the lighting system in Hastings has this week been the old time way. It is expected that the necessary repairs will arrive shortly and the electric system be again resumed.

A. J. McKenty of Norwood has purchased the hardware and tinsmith business in Hastings which has been carried on by the late H. J. Lambert. The new proprietor has commenced business and will have his family and household effects moved in the near future.

ELECTORS NAMES TWICE ENTERED

Allegation of Donald Sutherland, Conservative Candidate at Woodstock.

WARNS REGISTRARS.

WOODSTOCK, Ont., Oct. 20. — (Canadian Press).—Claiming that he had personal knowledge of names having been placed on the South Oxford voters' lists of persons who were not entitled to have their names there, and who were already registered as voters in other parts of the constituency, Donald Sutherland, the Conservative candidate in that riding, yesterday issued a statement in which he warned the returning officer and the registrars that he would take legal action unless the registration was completed to-day, according to the regulations of the Dominion Elections Act. Mr. Sutherland charged that these names were added by the registrars without the knowledge and consent of the returning officer for the riding. Mr. Sutherland claims that when he went to the registrar of his own home division to have his son's name added to the list, he found on it some names which had no right to be there and who, on being questioned, admitted that they had never been questioned nor sworn by the registrar.

FORKE OPPOSED TO PROTECTION

Basic Industries Should Be Developed, He Tells Souris Electors.

BRING PROSPERITY.

WINNIPEG, Oct. 20.—(Canadian Press).—Canada's problem is a rural one and the development of primary industries such as agriculture, mining, fishing and lumbering, will bring prosperity to the Dominion, stated Robt. Forke, leader of the Progressive in addressing the electors of the Souris district. The system of protecting manufacturing industries was that of protecting one Canadian at the expense of another, Mr. Forke declared.

DEAN PROMOTED.

Rev. W. Foxley Norris is Transferred to Westminster Abbey.

LONDON, Eng., Oct. 20 (Canadian Press).—It is anticipated that the announcement of the appointment of Very Rev. William Foxley Norris, Dean of York, as Dean of Westminster, is imminent.

Dean Norris is 66 years of age and was ordained in 1882. Before being appointed Dean of York he held many charges in Yorkshire, and is prolocutor of the Lower House of Convocation of York. He is also vice-chairman of the House of Clergy in the National Assembly.

GOVERNOR SMITH SAYS HE'S THROUGH

Announcement of Retirement is Puzzling to All Parties.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—(United Press).—Politicians of all parties are puzzled by the announcement made by Governor Alfred E. Smith in two speeches that he was through holding all office.

Democrats recalling that the Governor was induced to run against his will in 1922 and 1924 said they believed he would change his mind and make the gubernatorial race next year.

Republican leaders summed up their comment as telling "the announcement is too good to be true."

Thus far the governor has not amplified the statement.

SIR JOHN A. MacDONALD

CANADA'S GREATEST CONSERVATIVE

IN introducing his National Policy in the House of Commons on March 12, 1878, declared:

"That this House is of opinion that the welfare of Canada requires the adoption of a National Policy, which, by a judicious readjustment of the Tariff, will benefit and foster the Agricultural, the Mining, the Manufacturing and other interests of the Dominion. . . ."

"It is," Sir John said, "the duty of a statesman to deal with facts, not to speculate in theories, and to adopt such a policy as would best meet the varying needs of the country."

These are the declarations of the principles of the man whom Conservatives revere as their greatest leader, and to the principle of the National Policy their leaders today give their approval.

BUT IT IS ONLY LIP APPROVAL; IT IS NOT OF THE HEART. THE CONSERVATIVE LEADERS OF TODAY HAVE NOT KEPT FAITH. THEY ARE DOUBLE-CROSSING THE GREAT STATESMEN WHO ENUNCIATED THE POLICY OF THEIR PARTY.

Chicanery was above the great soul of Sir John A. MacDonald; double-dealing was not in his code; square, sturdy, determined, he stood by the policies he advocated, and his lips said what his heart approved.

Today, the National Policy is only the platform catch-phrase of Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, introduced to lead true Conservatives into believing they are supporting the traditional principles of their party. The mental reservation that Mr. Meighen makes is that "the National Policy means a High Tariff."

Not a Vestige of Truth.

THERE'S NOT A VESTIGE OF TRUTH IN IT. YOU MIGHT AS WELL SAY THE BRITISH EMPIRE MEANS CANADA. A PART OF THE WHOLE IS NOT THE WHOLE.

Sir John A. MacDonald comprehended Agriculture within the spheres of activity to be benefitted by his policy. Mr. Meighen snaps his fingers at the agriculturists of Canada.

Sir John A. MacDonald saw Canada progressing and advocated a policy that would meet the "varying needs of the country." Mr. Meighen sees nothing ahead but ruin, and proposes a high tariff that would benefit one part of Canada at the expense of the other and sever the country in pieces.

Sir John A. MacDonald proposed a "judicious readjustment" of the tariff. Mr. Meighen, Mr. Peck and the other leaders and nominees of the Conservative Party today, owning lip allegiance to Sir John's principles, do not talk "readjustment." THEY DEMAND HIGHER TARIFF.

And They Mean More Profits.

As a matter of plain fact, the Liberal Party is today closer to the spirit of Sir John A. MacDonald's National Policy than are the Conservative leaders.

"Judicious readjustment of the tariff," Sir John said, and there is now being brought into being through the efforts of the Liberal Party a Tariff Board for that special purpose.

"Adopt such a policy as would best meet the varying needs of the country," Sir John said, and the Liberal Party keeps in mind the whole expanse of Canada from the Atlantic to the Pacific. It has in mind the 1,358,000 people now living in what were, under Sir John, the Northwest Territories, with 56,000 people.

The Liberal Party is now the sole custodian of the aims of the great Conservative leader, since the Conservative leaders of today have betrayed their trust, denied his teachings, and besmirched the good name of the party with a record of broken pledges, unfilled promises, and toadying to special interests at the expense of the Canada Sir John loved.

A VOTE FOR MR. PECK IS A VOTE FOR HIGHER TARIFF AND A VOTE AGAINST THE PRINCIPLES OF SIR JOHN A. MacDONALD.

A VOTE FOR MR. GORDON IS A VOTE FOR THE "JUDICIOUS READJUSTMENT" SIR JOHN A. MacDONALD PROPOSED IN HIS NATIONAL POLICY AND A VOTE FOR THE UNITED CANADA FOR WHICH SIR JOHN A. MacDONALD STOOD.

COBOURG ROTARY DELEGATION AT LOCAL MEETING

Inter City Gathering Enjoyed By Members of Both Clubs.

DAIRYING INDUSTRY.

Interesting Address Given By Mr. Wm. Newman, of Lorneville.

The Peterboro Rotary Club had the pleasure of the company of the majority of the Cobourg Rotarians last night at the Empress when Vice-President Henry Fullerton of the Cobourg Club, headed a delegation of about twenty Lakeshore Rotarians, in paying an inter-city visit. The result was a most enjoyable evening, during which the members of the two clubs fraternized to their hearts' content and strengthened the bond between Cobourg and Peterboro Rotary while they enjoyed an excellent programme. The chief speaker of the evening was Mr. William Newman of Lorneville, who gave a most interesting address on "Dairying," a subject about which he is as well posted at any man in Canada, and which is evidently dear to his heart, judging from the great enthusiasm with which he discussed it. The figures given by Mr. Newman as to the development of the dairying industry in Canada were a revelation to his hearers. Dairy production in this country had developed until the total was now $250,000,000, he said, and if the quality was maintained there was not the slightest danger of over-production.

The dairying industry had gone a long way from the milkmaid stage, a fact that was readily realized when Mr. Newman pointed out that Eastern Ontario had produced 110,000,000 pounds of cheese in a year; then Quebec produced 57,000,000 pounds of butter; then Ontario produced 57,000,000 pounds of butter, and the three prairie provinces produced 200,000 pounds of butter. Dairying farmers of 25 years ago had to do with very little in agriculture, and the speaker referred to a recent visit to Haliburton, and describing the conditions there, pointed out that Peterboro Co. was especially the same as far as land conditions went, yet had a remarkably large dairy production, and there was no reason why such results could not be obtained in Haliburton.

Mr. Newman described the development of dairying in the Western provinces and in general throughout Canada, pointing out the rapid advance that had been made. In this connection he paid a tribute to Mr. G. A. Gillespie for what he had done in advancing the interests of dairying, and in giving Peterborough a pure milk system. He urged the Rotarians to drink more milk, contending that their health would be materially benefited.

Interesting characteristics of the various breeds of cows were dwelt upon by the speaker who in conclusion declared that there was no telling how far the dairy industry would develop in the country.

Two violin solos by Mr. Stewart Weddess with Miss Margaret Weddess at the piano, were much appreciated. Mrs. Hazel Davidson McClelland contributed two most amusing recitations in her inimitable style.

Rotarian R. A. Browne of the Peterboro Club sang "Rolling Down to Rio," and "Drink to me only with Thine Eyes," to the thorough enjoyment of the gathering.

Two "stunts," one a water drinking contest, and a marsh-mallow eating competition, were staged by Dave Jex, of the Cobourg Club and produced gales of laughter. They had to be seen to be appreciated.

Vice-President Fullerton of the Cobourg Club expressed the thanks of the visitors for the very enjoyable evening spent as the guests of the Peterboro Rotarians.

During the evening President John Seels announced that the net proceeds from the Rotary Carnival had been $96272 and pointed out that every cent of this sum would be used for Rotary's social service work.

CREDIT GIVEN TO THE VATICAN

Arrangement Made With New York Banks to Facilitate Relations.

MILLION AND A HALF.

By THOMAS B. MORGAN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
(Copyright 1925 by United Press.)

ROME, Oct. 20.—An agreement has been reached between the Vatican and Blair and Company and the Chase National Bank of New York City, establishing a $1,500,000 credit for the Vatican in New York. The announcement was made exclusively through the United Press to-day. Arrangements for the credit were consummated in a letter sent by the Papal Secretary, Cardinal Gasparri, to the New York banks, on October 11, stating that the Vatican was delighted with agreements for credit with Blair and Company and also especially with the Chase National Bank. Cardinal Gasparri wrote that the conditions under which the credit was granted, considering the exigencies of the market, were tempered by a sentiment of devotion to the Holy See. His Eminence, Cardinal Hayes, of New York, has been authorized to sign the agreement on behalf of the Vatican. Establishment of the credit signifies that the Blair and Chase banks have become the Vatican depositories, a flattering compliment to American banking. The Holy See wishes to insure against the vicissitudes of continental currencies and to facilitate relations with the American hierarchy, the growing importance of which is acknowledged by the Vatican.

IN EAST RIDING.

Dr. Embury and Mr. Brethen in the Townships.

On the far flung front of Peterboro-Hastings the two opponents are temporarily out of touch, although carrying on their campaign with no signs of weariness. Dr. Embury has been struggling lately through the wide open spaces of the north country and Mr. Brethen in introducing himself to the natives away over near the Frontenac border. However, they face each other on Thursday at Madoc during the nomination session at which Mr. John S. Marshall of Stirling will preside. At night, however, they are again many miles apart. Dr. Embury is going to Stirling for a joint meeting with his Conservative friend Mr. Thurston of Trenton who is the candidate for South Hastings. Mr. Brethen is reported as booked for the same spot on December 31st night.

CHEQUE RECEIVED.

Westham Poor Law Guardians Have Complied With Orders.

LONDON, Oct. 20.— (Canadian Press.)— Westham poor law guardians, having climbed down from their stand of a month ago when they refused to accede to the demand made by the Ministry of Health that they should reduce the maximum relief paid by them from 50 shillings a week to 46 salaried a week, received a cheque to-day for £900,000 from the Ministry of Health.

MR. KING SPOKE AT MONTREAL

Premier Says Government Would Be Guided By Advice, Not Dogma.

NATIONAL UNITY.

MONTREAL Oct. 20 (Canadian Press).—Speaking on the tariff here last night Premier King said the government would not be governed by any dogma. It would rather seek to be guided by expert advice and opinion. He added that the Government did not wish to destroy industry. It wanted to help industry in all its phases and in all its aspects. He declared that he had the same message to give as he had given on the Prairies: That the Government would not favor extra measures in tariff but would adopt a policy of moderation seeking above all the unity of country.

"If we are going to have unity" he said "We must avoid extremes and seek to get on a common ground as near as we can which will best serve the interests of all classes and of all parts. The administration which fails to take account of all classes and all parts will never be able to shape its policies in a manner which will keep this country united."

Mr. King observed that a speaker supporting Mr. Meighen had spoken of Mr. King's references to national unity as "national lunacy."

"Unity is not lunacy," said Mr. King. "I feel sorry for the gentleman who made that utterance. National unity is a great reality and if we ever fail to regard it as such, then we must seek in vain for a solution of the national problems." He turned to Mr. Meighen's proposed assistance to the transportation of basic commodities from the Prairies and the Maritimes to Quebec and Ontario, and held that this would mean a greater tax burden.

"It seems to me," went on Mr. King, "that the object of the Government today should be to reduce taxation."

POTATOES ROTTED.

Damage to Crop Causes a Sharp Increase in Toronto Price.

TORONTO, Oct. 20.—(Canadian Press.)— Sharp increases in the price of potatoes in Toronto have been effected by damage to the crop in a few sections of the province, caused by rot. Potatoes, locally selling at $1.25 per bag last week, were to-day quoted at $1.85 to $2.25.

CONFERENCE FAILS.

Expectation of Settling Differences of Seamen and Owners Destroyed.

SYDNEY, Australia, Oct. 20. Canadian Press. — A compulsory conference of all parties to the shipping dispute in connection with the seamen's strike, failed of the effect aimed at by Justice Powers, the president of the Arbitration court, who called the conference yesterday. The conference was designed to furnish a basis for a possible settlement of the strike, but it proved a failure in as much as the ship owners depreciated the calling of the conference as being inopportune, and expressed a doubt as to Justice Powers' authority in the matter, while the striking seamen insisted upon the liberation of all strikers in jail before participating in the negotiations.

RUSSIAN WHEAT EXPORT SMALL

Bad Weather Cut Surplus to About 6,000,000 Tons.

MOSCOW, Oct. 20. — Canadian Press. — Indications that the Soviet government now expects to be able to export only between 5,000,000 and 6,000,000 tons of wheat, was given by Leo Kamenoff, chairman of the Council of Labor and Defence at a meeting of the Communist Party workers to-day.

Bad weather had reduced the harvest by 3,500,000, he said.

MARRIAGE LAWS ENGAGE SOVIETS

Frequency of Divorce and Proper Age of Parties Were Discussed.

WOMEN PRESENT.

MOSCOW, Oct. 20. — (Canadian Press).—Proposed changes in the Soviet marriage law enlivened the debate at yesterday's session of the all-Russian Parliament in the Kremlin. For the first time in a long period women delegates participated in the discussions of the Congress. One of them declared that the men were responsible for most of the divorces and the unhappiness of broken homes in Soviet Russia.

Some of the male members attempted to refute this sweeping indictment, declaring that women are at the bottom of all domestic infelicity.

Equally animated was the discussion on the question of the proper age for boys and girls to marry. The present law fixes 18 years for boys and 16 years for girls. One woman member insisted that a girl of sixteen was only a baby herself and not fitted at such a tender age to bear children.

The Caucasian delegates on the other hand, pleaded for the reduction of the age limit, explaining that the girls of South Russia matured much earlier than those elsewhere in Russia.

FURTHER PROVISION TRAINING YOUTH

British Unemployed To Receive Course Fitting Them For Farm Work.

LONDON, Eng., Oct. 20 (Canadian Press Despatch).—Further particulars are now available of the scheme promoted by the Government here for providing training for young unemployed men which will be calculated to fit them for farm work. One of the four residential training centres will be at Clayden, near Ipswich, and those accepted will be trained either for farm work in England or overseas. A start will be made with about 1,200 men, of whom 200 will be slated for overseas.

Applicants for training with a view to employment overseas must be: (a) Provisionally approved by a representative of the Dominion authority, and must, before entering training, sign an undertaking to remain throughout the course, and, as soon as possible thereafter, to proceed to the Dominion concerned, if finally approved for employment there; (b) Single men between the ages of 19 and 25. In the case of men who served with the forces during the Great War the upper age limit may be raised to the extent of such service, up to the age of 29; (c) Unskilled—i.e., men who have had no opportunity of learning a skilled trade; (d) Must not have received a course of training at public expense or financial assistance from the Civil Liabilities or King's funds.

The precise nature of the course of training for overseas employment may be varied from time to time, but it is intended, generally, to give training in: (a) The handling of horses, including ploughing and care of live stock, elementary repairs to harness; (b) Milking; (c) Simple agricultural operations; (d) Elementary woodwork, the use of simple wood-working tools such as plane, chisel, saw, crosscut, mauls, wedges, axe and bill-hook; (e) The erection and repair of wire fencing and whose mothers ran to obesity have an awful struggle keeping thin. It means going without food that we like, exercising, sweeping floors and massaging, but we are twice as happy as our mothers were in spite of our tremendous efforts to stay young.

The "fat, forty and merry" person doesn't get far. It's the elderly girl who is "svelte-and dieted" who keeps her husband guessing. And while the struggle for slenderness seems tragic, it is not nearly so tragic as it seems. Statistics prove that slender persons live longer than fat ones. "He who travels lightest travels furthest," is a true saying.

It's been years since we have seen a woman who really looks fat; a woman whose torso protrudes in all directions from the waistline. Corsetieres and gown makers have crowded her out of existence. Dieting and reducing methods have given the middle aged women something to talk about. It's no longer considered good form to speak of one's ills but to talk of "what one doesn't eat and of one's daily dozen."

FORKE DEFENDS PARTY'S POLICY

Criticizes King For Asking West to Send Liberals.

AFTER MEIGHEN, TOO.

MOOSE JAW, Oct. 20 (Canadian Press).—Speaking in the armories here last night, Robert Forke, leader of the Progressives, defended the record of the party in Parliament and criticised Premier King for asking the West to send Liberals to support him in carrying out the demands of the West. He could have had the support of the Progressives from outside the caucus, Mr. Forke said. The Progressive leader stated Mr. Meighen was offering the people of Canada something that resembled a Christmas tree. There was something on it for everyone and the tinsel was for those who believed that everything that glittered was gold. Mr. Meighen was depending on Mr. Estenaude in Quebec, but Mr. Forke predicted that while Mr. Meighen was against group government, that he would find another group and it would this time be inside the Tory party.

GIRL PRESERVES HER BEAUTY WINNINGS

Queen of Her Quarter Presented With a Six-Year Apartment Lease.

PARIS, Oct. 20 (United Press).—The Queen at last has her castle.

A year ago, Mlle. Suzanne Tuzet, one of a family of ten children, was chosen by the mayor of her arrondissement as "Queen" of her quarter and, consequently, entitled to a purse of 1,350 francs.

But there was a string attached to the gift. She must agree within a year or give up the purse. Mlle. Suzanne was engaged almost elevated to "royalty" and the 1,350 francs would have bought the bedroom set she had set her heart upon.

But for eleven months and three weeks Mlle. Suzanne and her admirers were hunted in vain for an apartment. They visited all the [illegible] that Paris has loaned to architects' dreams. The prize was slipping away when "Queen" Suzanne went to see the Mayor.

She told her story. The mayor had friends. He pulled wires and to make a long story short, the "Bulletin Municipal Official" announced that one of the flats in the city owned apartments is to be rented under a six year lease to Mlle. Suzanne Tuzet.

BRITISH JOURNALIST GIVES STONE TO U. S.

Stone From St. Paul's Cathedral Placed on Campus of Journalism School.

COLUMBIA, Mis., Oct. 20 (Canadian Press).—A stone from St. Paul's Cathedral, London, will be placed on the campus of the School of Journalism of the University of Missouri. The stone is presented by British journalists through the courtesy of Lord Burnham, proprietor of the London Daily Telegraph, and chairman of the Empire Press Union, with the consent of Dean William Ralph Inge of St. Paul's. Sir Evelyn Wrench, chairman of the English-Speaking Union, who is visiting the United States, will deliver the address at the unveiling of the stone. On the stone will be placed a quotation from journalistic literature and dedicated to all principal cities of the world. The plain bears a motto, "I have set thee a watchman." The plan and stone from St. Paul's are to be placed upon a base of Missouri stone. The St. Paul's stone, a three-foot cube, formed a portion of one of the stones on the south entrance of the cathedral. It was quarried in the Vale of Portland in 1710 and carved by Francis Bird, a famous English sculptor.

KEEPING YOUNG

NEW YORK, Oct. 20 (United Press).—"I'm glad all days when a woman could be old and forty and settle back in a rocking chair waiting for a comfortable old age are past. To-day there is a constant struggle for youth and an old, whether thirty or fifty, and my work and the times take its wrinkles."

The world has decreed that women should be young and that they keep the appearance of youth. The world is a hard one for those women who grow old gracefully. The days of flowing gowns and quiet dignity are gone. Women must keep their waists down to the size of a wasp's, their skin free from wrinkles and their hair from grey. Those who cannot do this are left behind in the race for happiness. Either they must spend their days grieving or with their husbands no longer under their influence, they must find other interests. Old women must stay young. Old women must keep their figures and their faces. The art of keeping young is a study. Some women succeed, others fail. Those who succeed are the ones who have learned the secret of keeping young.

SIMPLE TRICKS TO DO WITH NUMBERS

Magical "Boomerang" Stunts That Mystify—How to Tell a Person's Age.

Among the most interesting number stunts with which it is comparatively easy to mystify your friends are "boomerang" tricks, so-called because of the process of adding a number forward by addition and multiplication, and bringing it back by subtraction and division.

In an amusing game of this nature, ask [illegible] this is the way you would determine it:

Tell the subject that to multiply by 2 the number of the month in which he was born. Say he was born in August, or the eighth month, then—

2 times 8 ..... equals 16
Add 5 ..... " 21
Multiply by 50 ..... " 1050
Add age (13) ..... " 1063
Subtract 365 ..... " 698
Add 115 ..... " 813

The subject does all this figuring as you direct and gives you the final total, 813. You then are able to tell him he was born in August (first number, 8) and is 13 years old (last two numbers).

A more elaborate stunt is to determine a figure erased from a series. Ask some one to think of four or five figures, or more, more. Say he takes 45920. Tell him to add the separate digits: 4 plus 5 plus 9 plus 2 plus 0 equals 20. Have him subtract the result (20) from the original figure, which leaves 45900. Then have him strike out one figure from the 45900. Chances are 10 to strike out any he strikes out the 9. Then have him total the figures that are left.

Five plus 9 plus 0 equals 14. This total he gives you. You then think of the nearest multiple of 9 higher than the total, which in this case would be 18. (2 times 9). You then subtract the total, 14, from 18, leaving 4, which is the figure that is left.

Suppose the number the person had in mind was 4,527. Add this to make the next number.

2 times 4 ..... equals 8
Add 5 ..... " 13
Multiply by 5 ..... " 65
Add age (27) ..... " 92

You then ask to be told the total. From the total (92 in this case) you subtract 25, leaving 67. The number on the left is the last figure in the first number you added, and the number on the right is the second.

Wild Fluctuations Cause Oil Stir On New York Exchange

NEW YORK, Oct. 20 (Canadian Press).—Speculation hit an unusual pace in oil stocks on the New York exchange to-day, a stock market feature of the year. Approximately 900,000 shares changed hands, with wild fluctuations in prices. There was a sudden rush of buying orders in the early trading, many of them coming from brokers who had been on the sidelines for some time. Prices soared in the first hour of trading, but the movement was checked by profit taking sales. Many of the leaders in the oil group were up from 5 to 10 points at the high level of the day.

NEWEST GAS MASKS WORN BY ANIMALS

Strange Hoods Protect Horses, Dogs and Pigeons in Army Service.

A sky dark with airplanes, each carrying a quarter of a ton of death-dealing gas! Huge cities laid waste and armies rendered impotent! This frightful picture of future war has taxed the ingenuity of the Chemical Warfare Division of the United States Army in the production of protective devices.

Amazingly effective gas masks have been devenoped for human beings. And now efforts are being turned toward masks for animals—horses, dogs, and pigeons—all valuable aids in warfare.

As far as horses are concerned, Nature has aided in a peculiar fashion, says Capt. Adrian St. John, Corps Area Chemical Officer, U. S. A. She has made horses' eyes insensitive to all the ordinary forms of war gas. And in addition, Nature has provided that horses shall not breathe through their mouths. Thus, it was necessary only to design a mask that would cover the horses nostrils in such a way that the animal would be compelled to breathe through it, and one of sufficient filtering surface to allow the animal to breathe easily.

The problem has been solved so well that in a recent test at Governor's Island, N. Y., a horse carrying a rider went through a cloud of poisonous gas without suffering the least harm. The gas mask worn by the soldier was of the standard type, while the horse was fitted with a mask that resembles a huge feedbag, made of specially prepared cloth, impregnated with the special compound that absorbs the gas. It is possible that any day some new gas will be developed that will affect the eyes of a horse, necessitating that gas masks be supplies with goggles.

Dogs presented problems more nearly parallel to those encountered with human beings. Their eyes and ears are sensitive to gas. They breathe through their mouths even more than do humans. These considerations made it imperative that the mask designed for canine use should cover the entire head of the animal.

Carrier pigeons do not wear individual masks. They always are carried in crates until released. The mask for pigeons, therefore, consists simply of a cloth bag with a drawstring. The bag is slipped over the crate and the drawstring pulled up tightly. The cloth of the bag is sufficiently porous to admit plenty of air, yet it absorbs the gas. When it comes time to release a pigeon, the bird is withdrawn as quickly as possible and thrown high in the air. Spiraling straight up, the winged messenger is above the gas cloud before any damage is done.

Sugar, Smelters, Brazilian Lead Quiet Toronto List

TORONTO, Oct. 20.—(Canadian Press.)—Trading was much quieter on the Toronto stock exchange this morning, and Atlantic Sugar closed with Smelters and Brazilian the leadership of the market. A better tone was shown than yesterday, though Smelters held down 3 points to 158 1-2 at the morning close. Brazilian advanced three quarters to 75 1-8 and Sugar common sold up a point at 35 1-2. British Columbia Fishing and Canadian Canners common each improved a quarter point and Shredded Wheat sold seven-eighths higher.

Kirkland Lake Up Eleven Points In Trading Orgy

TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 20.—(Canadian Press).—Led by Kirkland Lake, some violent changes were recorded on the Standard Mining Exchange this morning. Practically 140,000 shares of Kirkland Lake changed hands, half the number's total, the stock being run up to 44 1-2. It closed at the top mark, eleven points higher than yesterday. A turnover of seventy thousand shares of Beaver pushed its final mark, advancing two and three-quarters, to 30 3-4. Capital changed hands and a half at 28 1-2, and Hollinger rose to 142. In the rest of the list gains were more moderate.

Wheat Prices Weakened On Chicago Mart To-day

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 20.—(Canadian Press).—Wheat prices weakened sharply during the early dealings on the Chicago Board of Trade to-day, influenced by the weather map which showed that the storm area was moving eastward. Liquidation was also induced by the fact that Chicago receipts were 1,000,000 bushels more than a year ago. Opening prices, which were unchanged to 1 1-8 cents lower, were followed by a further decline of 1 1-4 cents. Corn and oats were also weak.

WEDDING BELLS.

WHIBBS—BARRY.

St. Joseph's Church, Douro, was the scene on Thursday morning, October 15th, of a very pretty wedding, solemnized by Rev. M. J. McGuire, when Thomas J. Whibbs, of Toronto, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Whibbs of Indian River, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Clara Barry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Barry of Otonabee. The choir played pretty wedding music, and Miss Quinn sang during the ceremony.

The bride wore a lovely dress of champagne brocaded velvet, trimmed with sequins and brilliants, with coat and shoes to match, and black panne velvet hat, trimmed with gold. She carried a bouquet of ophelia roses.

The bridesmaid, sister of the bride, Miss Mary Barry, wore old gold crepe brocade, trimmed with fur, with velour coat and black velvet hat, and carried a bouquet of columbia roses.

After the ceremony, the wedding party motored to the home of the bride, which was beautifully decorated with autumn leaves and evergreens, where a bountiful wedding breakfast was served. Later Mr. and Mrs. Whibbs left for their new home in Toronto.

The young people received many useful and beautiful gifts, among them a large sum of money. The gift of the bridegroom to the bride was a cabinet of silver, to the bridesmaid an onyx ring, and to the best man a pair of gold cuff links.

Among the guests from a distance were Mrs. Jno. Barry and son Frank, of Buffalo, N.Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Ball and Mr. A. Ball, of Peterboro; Messrs. Joseph and William Gooley, of Detroit, Michigan; Mr. James O'Brien, of Coe Hill, and Mr. Jno. Whibbs, of Buffalo, N.Y.

EDMISON—ABBOTT

Trinity United Church, decorated with palms, ferns and autumn foliage, was the scene of a pretty wedding on Thursday, Oct. 15, when Ina B. Abbott, the younger daughter of Mrs. Rebecca Abbott, Wolverleigh Boulevard, and the late Stanley Abbott of St. John's, Newfoundland, was married to Arthur G. Edmison, youngest son of Mrs. Edmison, and the late W. R. Edmison of Peterborough. Rev. G. McCaul, uncle of the groom, conducted the ceremony. Dr. Marshall was at the organ, and during the signing of the register Mr. Arch. Monroe sang. The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Max Abbott of Detroit, looked beautiful in her wedding gown of ivory crepe Elizabeth, with silk Spanish lace inset in shell pattern, and outlined in seed pearls. The train, draped from the shoulders, was of Spanish lace, and the tulle veil was held in place with a wreath of orange blossoms and white heather. She wore silver brocaded shoes and stockings to match, and carried a bouquet of roses, orchids and lily of the valley. Mrs. Wilfrid Sketch, sister of the bride, and herself recently married, looked very pretty as matron of honor, and wore her wedding gown of champagne georgette, with cream Chantilly lace, picture hat of black velvet, with Chantilly lace and a golden rose. She carried a bouquet of golden ophelias. Miss Blanche Robinson, as bridesmaid, was in a gown of robin's egg blue flat crepe, with a mauve girdle, and black velvet hat. Two little girls, Margaret Edmison and Ruth Goodman, acted as flower maidens. The best man was Dr. Ivan Junkin, cousin of the groom, and the ushers were Mr. Harry Durand and Mr. J. Hall. After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, Wolverleigh Boulevard. Following the reception and dainty supper, Mr. and Mrs. Edmison left for a trip to Washington, Philadelphia and New York, the bride travelling in a gown of cinnamon satin back crepe, with fur trimmed kasha cloth coat, and hat of black velvet and old gold lace. On their return, they will reside in their new home, 84 Glenview Avenue, North Toronto.—Toronto Globe.

Second Lieutenants are to receive 11s a day instead of the old rate of 12s.

Lieutenants, who up to the present time have been in receipt of 16s a day, are now to be paid 15s a day.

Captains henceforth will receive 21s a day instead of the old rate of pay, 23s 6d a day.

Under the Admiralty's economy plan, the Government's navy dockyards at Rosyth on the Firth of Forth and Pembroke, in South Wales, are to be closed.

SIR HENRY EGAN DEAD.

Managing Director of Many Firms Died Very Suddenly.

OTTAWA, Oct. 20 (Canadian Press).—Sir Henry Kelly Egan, managing director of the Hawkesbury Lumber Company, the Bank of Nova Scotia, and the Canadian Bank Not Company, also of many other concerns, died at his home here last night at 10 o'clock. Sir Henry had eaten his dinner at his usual hour and was in his customary happy mood afterwards. A few minutes efore ten, however, he was seized with an attack of angina pectoris and passed away almost immediately.

OLD CITIZEN DEAD.

William Dineen Was Active Business Man in 88th Year.

TORONTO, Oct. 20 (Canadian Press).—The death occurred yesterday at St. Michael's Hospital of William Dineen, one of the oldest active business men in Toronto, and an outstanding figure for many years in the commercial life of the city. Although in his 88th year, Mr. Dineen had been regularly at his place of business. Last Thursday afternoon while in his office, he contracted a chill and pneumonia rapidly developed.

BRITAIN TO GIVE STIMULATION TO FARM PRODUCE

Intend to Stimulate Cultivation of Idle Acres By Bonus.

2-1-2 MILLION ACRES.

May Go Great Way to Solving Present Unemployment Issue.

(Canadian Press Staff Correspondent)

If Britain increases the production of foodstuffs, her purchases from the Western hemisphere will decrease proportionately.

All the great parties are formulating projects whereby Britain's two and a half million untilled acres can be put under the plough.

Some people see in the proposal more a possible solution of the unemployment question—a possible connection between the two and a half million idle acres and the million and a half idle workers.

In order to convert this fallow land into arable acreage, a special committee, under the guide of the Stanley Baldwin Government, has recommended a subsidy of 2s an acre on the plough-acreage.

This will cost Britain £2,000,000 in the first year, which includes 1s an acre for ploughing, 10s an acre for converting the fallow, 4 years of artificial grass.

The whole proposition, of course, depends on the cost of growing wheat on the land of Britain, as compared with the Canadian prices.

Britain's special conditions considered, should after the form of a grant equal the land which a farmer usually pays for rent? It is here left as an open question.

In other words, the farmer should be paid each year not on all the arable land but on that portion of it which he is actually cultivating by hired labour or by the growth of a fallow crop.

The committee is confident that such a provision would make the scheme a success. It would help to put into operation improved methods of agriculture and would be of benefit to the country, the shortage of wheat, the necessity of which is admitted on every side, would be met.

ARGENTINA MAY LIMIT THE SALE OF ALCOHOLICS

Chamber of Deputies Passes Temperance Campaign First Measure.

VENDORS PAY LICENSE

Violations of New Laws Punishable By Solitary Confinement in Cells.

BUENOS AIRES, Oct. 20.—(United Press)—Measures against the sale of alcoholic liquors and for the suppression of the vice are the principal features of the new laws which the Chamber of Deputies has passed.

Provisions of sale of alcoholic beverages to minors under twenty years of age and prohibition of employment of minors under that age in bars, cafes or other places where such beverages are sold.

Prohibition of sale of spirituous or alcoholic drinks in drug stores without written prescription and of wine-growers of sale in their stores.

Prohibition of sale of spirituous or alcoholic drinks on Saturday afternoon, Sunday and holidays.

Prohibition of sale of alcoholic beverages in the vicinity of public buildings, theatres, sports grounds, etc.

Prohibition of sale of alcoholic beverages to habitual drunkards on pain of imprisonment from three to seven days.

Prohibition of sale of alcoholic beverages to persons under the influence of liquor.

Prohibition of sale of alcoholic beverages in any school, barracks or other public place of similar character.

In addition to the above regulations, it is also provided that the number of places selling alcoholic beverages can not be greater than one for every 2,500 inhabitants. New drinking places cannot be opened, and those that are closed by the death or bankruptcy of the proprietor or for other similar reasons cannot be reopened.

Violation of any of the provisions of the proposed law will be punished by jail sentences of from one to six months. In case of a second violation the place where it occurs will be closed.

"La Prensa," which is the most important newspaper in Argentina, is endorsing the proposed law points out that while the drink evil is not as acute in Argentina as in some other nations, there are sections of the country where the law is badly needed. But even in those districts where the consumption of alcoholic liquor is not such a problem as in other countries, it represents a social evil, it declares, and such legislation is a step forward.

HOOVER CAMPAIGN I...7 ON—EASY PAYMENT PLAN

MUCH CHEESE FROM CAMPBELLFORD

Big Shipment Was Made on Saturday at High Price.

CAMPBELLFORD, Oct. 20.—There were 375 boxes of cheese graded by Government Grader J. L. Irwin and shipped from the station here on Saturday. The price paid was 24¼ cents a pound, only 5/16 cents lower than what it was a week ago when the price of cheese went higher than it has been for over three years.

The quantity of cheese comprising the shipment at $2,700 which at the prevailing prices, represents receipts totalling $6,170.04, the output of the local factories, whose cheese is graded here, for one week. As several of the factories ship their cheese to be graded at Belleville or Montreal, the amount given above does not include all the shipments from Campbellford. Probably the Independent factories sent over 15,000 pounds of cheese so that the total amount put down over Saturday. The season's manufacture of the aforesaid product is away above the average and the dairy farmers are prospering as they have not since war time.

Many Prize Winners.

A farm journal offered cash prizes to the factories in Eastern Ontario this year during the season about the greatest improvement both in the factory arrangements and in the surroundings of factory and the next greatest gain. In the Department of Agriculture inspector the factories in this district recently.

It now looks as if two of these factories, Woodland and Menie, are to be awarded prizes.

George Wheatley, maker at Woodland for the past three years, and Frank Little, who has served the same length of time at the Menie factory, have each been asked by the Agriculture journal to send their photographs, and this is taken as a sign that both factories will be among the winners.

When the judges made their rounds they approved of everything at Menie and highly complimented Mr. Little. At Woodland they found the interior and exterior of the building up to the standard with the exception of taking care of the whey.

MILLBROOK LADIES HEAR MRS. MASSEY

Women Are Urged To Use Their Franchise in This Election.

MILLBROOK, Oct. 20.—Expressing her absolute accord with her husband in his present campaign in Durham county, Mrs. Massey addressed a gathering of the women electors of Millbrook and vicinity in the town hall on Friday evening, the attendance being nearly seventy-five, considering the short notice at which the meeting was held.

"We are really in the bottom of our hearts, turning down our noses at this part of the world in which we have made our homes?" she asked. "Our power of vote which has followed two successive years May 1917, when the payment of property qualifications of voters in force in Ontario, was granted by Sir Wilfrid Laurier, who stood over the solvency of any industry which he had then feared, had not materialized, and he found his forebodings groundless. Consistency demanded that he frankly state his altered attitude, and the reasons therefore.

That agriculture is the basic industry of Canada that a lower tariff will bring prosperity to the country, and to farming; that the breach between city and country needs to be healed; and that the policy of a higher tariff means higher taxation, and disunity, were some of the points emphasized by the speaker as being her own convictions, and distinctly part of her husband's platform in the present campaign.

"We feel that on the 29th of October, something will go out from this riding of Durham which has never gone out before. My husband is being watched, from British Columbia to Halifax; the Western papers are full of what is going to happen in Durham; but we are absolutely adamant in insisting that this great battle is straight, clean fight. I am quite sincere in saying that we would rather go down to defeat than have anything uncertain, or not straight, in this campaign."

"Much depends upon the women's vote, and it is up to every woman to use the franchise, otherwise to the public at large that a clean contest in this riding shall not appear that influenced the result."

"In the last election, only twenty-five percent of the women voted, yet they control fifty-three per cent of the electorate. I think the power and charity for corruption, and then, if you still think you must vote Conservative, follow the dictates of your conscience."

Mrs. Ross, of Toronto, and the second speaker, also addressed the meeting, pleading for a clean contest and that the women would use their franchise, and not leave it to the men to settle the issue.

Mr. Massey, in his address, dealt with the tariff question, and the issues involved in the present campaign.

JEWELRY FOR MISSIONS

HEAVY DAMAGE BY RECENT FROSTS

Many Farmers Had Vegetables, Fruits and Grain in Fields.

KINGS WHARF, Oct. 20.—The recent heavy frosts did serious damage, coming so early. The potatoes were not out of the ground, picked and mangles and other garden products were killed. The potatoes are an average crop around here while apples are so plentiful that a large amount will be left on the trees. The rain is also delaying getting in the buckwheat. Some farmers are inclined to think it will pay them in order to get it in at all.

Buckwheat is a better crop than was expected. There seems to be a great demand for cattle just at present and farmers are getting top and have brought nearly all the cattle around here.

WEDDING BELLS.

HERLIHEY—MORRISSEY.

St. Luke's church, Downeyville, was the scene of a pretty autumn wedding Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock when Carmelita, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Morrissey was united in marriage to Walter Herlihey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Herlihey, Sr. The bride entered the church to the strains of the wedding march played by Mrs. Ed. C. Hoolihan, aunt of the bride, and wore a gown of silk faced canton with long coat, shoes and hat to match and carried a bouquet of roses and lily-of-the-valley. She was attended by her sister, Mary, who was dressed in blue. The groom was ably assisted by his brother, Benjamin, of Cleveland, Ohio. Rev. Father Hogan performed the ceremony and afterwards said the nuptial mass. The choir, of which the bride has been organist for the past three years, sang special hymns during the ceremony. After the ceremony the bridal party repaired to the home of the bride's parents where a wedding breakfast was served. Mr. and Mrs. Herlihey left on the afternoon train for a trip to Toronto and other points. On their return they will reside on Chapel Street.

A pleasant event in connection with the wedding was that the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Morrissey, celebrated their golden wedding on the same day. Mr. and Mrs. Morrissey were married in St. Luke's church, Downeyville, by Father Hogan, on October 20th, 1875, and on that day received congratulations from many friends. Mr. Morrissey was born in Downeyville and has lived there all his life. Mrs. Morrissey was born in Ireland and came to Canada when a child. She lived in Peterborough for a number of years before her marriage. Mr. and Mrs. Morrissey have been prominent in the community for many years and have a large circle of friends who extend congratulations and best wishes.

Mrs. Morrissey received many beautiful gifts, including a purse of gold from the children. Mr. and Mrs. Morrissey have been blessed with a family of twelve children, eight of whom are living. Those present at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Herlihey, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Herlihey, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Ed. C. Hoolihan, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Herlihey, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Herlihey, Cleveland, Ohio, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Herlihey, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Herlihey, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Herlihey, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Herlihey, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas

COBOURG, Oct. 20.—Both parties are warming up in the political campaign in Ontario County.

Speaking at a Conservative rally at Greenbank, John Stacey of Oshawa claimed that protection means more business for Canada.

"The hand-writing is on the wall," said D. A. J. Swanson of Oshawa, and Dr. John Moore affirmed that the present Liberal Government had been weighed in the balance and found wanting.

On the other hand, at a Liberal meeting at Cedar Dale, G. D. Conant of Oshawa contended the Tories are deceiving the people with their advertising, and said that industries were not more prosperous under Tory regime. He said it was a pity the tariff question had been thrust into politics as it was an economic problem and not a political one.

Mr. L. O. Clifford, the Liberal candidate, said business conditions were better and drew attention to the fact that three outstanding manufacturers are running as Liberal candidates in Ontario.

Thursday night a meeting was held in the Town Hall at Brooklin in aid of Mr. Clifford's candidature, with the following speakers: George Wilkie, K.C., Toronto; W. A. Tryden, Brooklin; the candidate; W. E. N. Sinclair, K.C., M.P.P., and G. D. Conant, Oshawa.

A Conservative meeting was held at Utica the same night, when Dr. T. E. Kaiser's candidature was supported by Major Robbins, Toronto; S. A. J. Swanson, Oshawa; R. B. Smith, Colombus; Dr. John Moore, Brooklin, and others.

On Friday night a meeting was held at Lakeport in the interests of M. E. Maybee, Liberal-Conservative candidate in Northumberland County. The speakers, besides the candidate, were: E. James, W. E. Ireland, Trenton; Harry Phillips, Brighton; Col. Boggs and A. E. Willmott, Cobourg.

On Friday night, Oct. 23, a Maybee meeting will be held in Campbellford. The speakers will be, besides the candidate: Mrs. Howard Fallis, Peterboro; Capt. D. C. Dick, Cobourg; Major Belford, Mr. Kingston and Mr. Sam. Moore.

Mrs. Howard Fallis, Major Belford and others are to address a meeting in Cobourg on Monday night, Oct. 26. Geo. Kingston and Mr. Alex. McColl will be at Roseneath the Tuesday night before election, and Mr. F. M. Field, K.C., Cobourg, is to address a meeting at Harwood the same night.

One of the little-known wonders of the world is the Morro Velho gold mine, in Brazil. Almost every day for nearly a hundred years, this wonderful mine has yielded a fortune in gold and its allied products, while more wonderful still is the fact that, instead of giving out, the lode shows signs of becoming, if anything, richer than ever. The value of the daily output of gold is about five thousand dollars. In addition, there are various valuable by-products, such as silver, palladium, and arsenic.

TARIFF POLICY WAS EXPOUNDED AT INDIAN RIVER

G. N. Gordon's Ten Acre Farm Proposals Was Under Criticism.

NATIONAL DEBT.

Mr. Corkery Says It Was Increased By 96 Million Since 1922.

Four speakers including the candidate presented their cause to the people of Indian River who had gathered in the large hall owned by William O'Leary. In addition to Mr. Peck there were Col. D. Johnston, J. R. Corkery and V. J. McElderry who presented the brief for the cause of protection. Michael Walsh of Indian River acted as chairman.

Col. D. Johnston

That the gerrymandered sections of Lakefield, Otonabee and Douro had been added for the personal advantage of Mr. Gordon was the opinion of Col. Johnston. The extra ridings had been added without the people being consulted. Soon Mr. Gordon himself would be out there and would no doubt tell them of the great things he was going to do as Minister of Immigration. The speaker scoffed at the idea of a farmer in this country making a living on a ten acre farm such as the Hon. G. H. Gordon intended to use as a bait for immigrants. Gordon says bring more farmers and the consumers will come but the right thing to do was to bring more consumers into the country and the farmers would come to supply them with food or what was more to the point the farmers in the country would be provided with a home market big enough to use up all of the home supply of produce.

Why should a consumer in Great Britain be more highly regarded than a consumer here in Canada, asked the speaker. In foreign countries there are millions of unemployed which constitutes to a large extent the foreign outlet for produce. Why was it that those unemployed were not induced to come to this country and be developed into a more prosperous material for a home market? The farmer has got to have protection. The Liberal interests asserted that as the Liverpool market controls only three staples, the price of goods here, tast protection would be of no avail anyway; the fact of the matter is, declared Col. Johnston, that the Liverpool market controls only three staples, wheat, cheese and butter and surely Canada sells more than those three articles to Britain. What had Liverpool price to do with the price of hay or cabbage or oats or any other of the great variety of farm produce.

The U.S. has a high Protective Tariff but it is no higher than is necessary to protect the interests of the country. The farmer of the U. S. is able to flood his home market because it is protected territory, when the home field has reached a point of saturation he can then turn his attention to the comparatively open market afforded by Canada. We are forced not only to sell in the open market at home but must also compete in the open markets of the world.

The speaker said that Mackenzie King was now practically a free trader and that Mr. Gordon had a slight protective bent while seeking office it speedily disappeared when he got down to parliament; the only person Mr. Gordon would protect was himself. On the other hand was Mr. Peck, a man of high ideals and one amply able to care for the interests of the community.

J. R. Corkery

During the past four years Mr. Corkery had watched the trend of events and had been forced to admit that the outlook was depressing in the extreme. The present administration had done nothing to better conditions; they had broken their promises and the policy of Arthur Meighen was now necessary to a greater extent than ever before to alleviate conditions. His policy was the only one to support. Much money was being spent to induce the emigrant to come to this country but notwithstanding the lures held out to them they are using our land as a means of gaining entrance to the United States, not because the laws were better, not because there was a greater regard for life and property, nor yet because of greater freedom but because the fiscal policy of United States was such as to assure steady employment at a good wage. Knowing that to be so asked the speaker, why could Canada not take a lesson from the States a country which cannot keep people out while we struggle and pay much good money to get them to come here.

King says he has reduced taxation but the reduction has been in one case only, that of the sales tax which has been lowered from 6 per cent to 5 per cent after he had made two increases from a percentage lower than that at which it now rests. The national debt has been increased by 90 million dollars in the last three years, said Mr. Corkery.

The Premier promised to reduce the cost of living, to reduce the taxation and the national debt; he was going to solve the transportation problem and increase immigration, added to these things he promised to seek a wider market for Canadian trade and reform the senate. He has not made the slightest effort to cope with of those problems and the policy of Meighen is now necessary to lift the country from the low level which it now occupies. The following is given to show that the policy of protection is not intended solely as a medium by which the manufacturer and moneyed interests may be benefited but that it is intended for the farmer as well. It is from a resolution moved by the House of Commons June 8, 1925:

"That in the opinion of this house, to cause the situation which has resulted from a strengthening in late years of the protective system the world over, particularly in the United States, to preserve and enlarge the Canadian market for Canadian farm products, to stimulate the development of Canadian resources by the Canadian people, and thus create employment for our workers; to increase the tariff of our railways by which an all-round reduction in freight rates can be secured, and as well, to provide added revenue and thus being shown a reduction of internal taxation, this Dominion requires an immediate revision of the Canadian tariff on a definitely and consistently protective basis.

"That such revision should apply to natural products such as farm products, fish and coal with no less fearlessness than to manufactured goods."

Mr. Corkery then discussed the difference between the tariff rates of Canada and the U. S. which showed conclusively that the duty on Canadian products entering the States paid a much higher rate than the duty on American products coming into Canada. He showed that the powers behind the government had no respect for policy, party and every principle which were so much boasted of by Mr. Meighen and his colleagues. Mr. Corkery concluded.

Mr. McElderry

Mr. McElderry wished to know if the people were going to have their own way or the way of the Liberal machine. Was the Liberal party of the present day, with four or five years of power behind them and the control of the country's purse strings going to be allowed to continue in power? Was the Liberal party going to be allowed to continue to govern the country as it pleased? Was the Liberal party going to be allowed to continue to govern the country as it pleased? Was the Liberal party going to be allowed to continue to govern the country as it pleased

ADVICE TO GIRLS

By Annie Laurie

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

A young man came to see me often. One day he had a "date" with me and went to see another girl.

Should I give him a chance to talk to me and make-up with him?

B. E.

B. E.: If you feel that this young man is really interested in you—that he values your friendship and holds you in high esteem—give him an opportunity to prove how sorry he is. There is no excuse for his conduct of course, but under the circumstances I think you might be lenient.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

We are two young fellows about the age of eighteen. We are anxious to have you advise us through your paper as soon as possible which is the proper answer for the following question: "Is it proper for a young fellow when out with a girl to take hold of her arm or is it not. We have both seen this carried out in both ways and we would like to find out from you which is right.

CHUMS.

CHUMS: NO, it is never necessary to take a young ladys arm when you are out with her, unless you are assisting her in some way, such as in crossing a street, going up a steep stairway, or holding an umbrella over her. Of course, if the young lady takes your arm, that is a different matter, but the best bred girls don't do that, unless with a very near relative. It is always permissible to take an elderly lady's arm if she appears to need the support, or better still, offer her your arm.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a girl in my early teens. During the summer I met a young man whom I like very much. When ever we meet he speaks very friendly. Please advise me how I can get more acquainted with him.

M. G. M.

M. G. M.: That depends a great deal on circumstances. Do you know anything that he is interested in that might cause you to meet him more often? Perhaps he skates or dances or plays cards and frequents social gatherings of a public sort that it would be quite proper for you to attend also. Or does he belong to any church society or young peoples' club that you know of. Have you any mutual friends? If you met him this summer, as you say, and he appears to be friendly, why not ask him to call on you sometime Only dont' let him get the impression that you are running after him.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a young man in my teens and some time ago I met a young girl whom I think is very giddy. I do not like her and I have tried all ways to get rid of her, but can't. I have even told her I was busy and would see her next year, but still she calls me up about four times a day, wasting my time and her own, too. So please, Annie Laurie, tell me if there is any other way for it but to tell that poor, dense creature in plain English.

PUZZLED.

PUZZLED: After all, why not tell her in plain English? Such a course doesn't imply that you have to shout at her, or swear at her, or insult her. Can't you very simply and explicitly tell her, in words short but not necessarily too sour, that you much prefer her to cease ringing you up. Tell her time is money and you want to save yours. Of course, if you don't want to do this, why not have someone else say you are out when she calls, or if you do happen to do to the phone and hear her voice, just hang up the receiver without saying anything. These are the only means I can suggest, but I don't think the young lady will persevere forever if you try any one of the three ways.

SECRETS OF CHARM

By Lucrezia Bori

If your teeth are as white and attractive as you would like to have them, you are indeed lucky.

So many women tell me they are distressed because they cannot keep their teeth in the beauty condition in which they would like to have them. Yet, if one could watch these same women brush their teeth, I am sure only a small percent of them would be found to brush their teeth correctly.

If I can make my readers realise the grave importance of correct brushing, I will feel that I have accomplished a good work.

Learn to brush your own teeth correctly and teach your children to brush their teeth correctly if you have children.

It is very simple to learn, yet it is, oh, so important, if you would preserve your teeth so they will be sound and strong until you reach a good old age.

Procure a good, fairly stiff and very short brush. More and more of the tooth brushes put on the market are very abbreviated as to length, for many dentists are realising that the small brush reaches back into your mouth where the longer brush will never fit.

Brush upward from your gums onto your lower teeth and downward from your upper gums onto your lower teeth. Reach back behind your jaw teeth on the inside and brush up and down vigorously and with strength.

Now many people find it an excellent practice to use two tooth brushes, and use first one and then the other every time they brush their teeth. The first is longer and they brush their front teeth with it. The second is very short, less than an inch in length. They brush their back teeth and the inner side of their jaw teeth with this shorter brush.

"Canada"--Who Cares?

(Acknowledgement to Mr. F. Mutton)

On February 1st, 1890, I heard Mr. B. E. Walker (later Sir Edmund Walker) make the following statement:—

"In the next forty years Canada will have a population of 30,000,000 people."

Thirty-five years of this period have passed and we have 8¼ million people.

(My regret is that Sir Edmund did not live to see the results of his forecast.)

To the WOMEN of the Dominion my question is----

What are you going to do to keep your sons and daughters in Canada?

We need a National Policy to protect the people (of every nationality) who live within our boundaries.

D. M. SANSON

P.S.—I do not now and never have belonged to any Political Organization whatsoever.

"Oh foolish man," cried Jack Frost, as he raged outside the conservatory window, unable to nip the berry bushes which the man had taken inside for the winter, thinking to protect them from the cold, "I will teach you a lesson. You think you are wise, but you just wait until Spring and summer come!"

And Jack Frost would then go and talk to the poor little weak berry bush which had been left outside, and one extra cold day, when he gave all the outside plants an extra tingling thrill at his touch, he said to the little berry plant, "You know, my little one, it is as foolish to put a wild berry bush in a hot-house in winter as it is to cage or harm our beautiful wild birds; in one case sadness or death kills the song and beauty, and in the other case the plant loses health and fruit. I have decided to punish this man. I will nip his cheeks when he comes out, and scare him, then I will make you bear wonderful berries, while his hot-house will rob him of any fruit from the big, strong plants he took inside."

And that is just what happened. The foolish man had his cheeks frozen and his intended kindness to the plants made them all sick, so that it took them all the next Spring and summer to get well, and they gave him little or no fruit, while the poor little weak plant which he had left out in the cold, bloomed and had dooles and oodles of berries.

So you see, Jack Frost is a good fairy, without whom the whole of nature would suffer. When we know that he gives us fruit and health, we should be glad he comes. If Jack Frost did not make the berry bushes heavy with fruit, our berry loving birds would fly away to other lands, or perhaps die.

One man reported to the Government that he had found a cupful of blueberries in a gull's nest, gathered from bushes two miles away, for the feeding of young ones, doubtless. And without Jack Frost, we and those birds would seldom, if ever, see a blueberry. So, when he comes to your window, sing and welcome the loving magic of his cool nip.

Tomorrow's HOROSCOPE

By Genevieve Kemble.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 21.

An active and satisfactory day is the forecast from the favorable aspects both by lunar and mutual direction. There should be a steadying of business followed by an expansion leading to excellent financial returns. The disposition may be toward large enterprise, but accompanied by a stability and industry which should react in substantial issues. Those in the employment of others should be careful. In heart and home affairs a gracious Venus dispenses happiness and prosperity, especially to the young.

Those whose birthday it is may expect the ensuing year to be a happy and prosperous one, with all personal as well as business associations flourishing. But those in the employment of other should be careful not to offend. A child born on this day shold be clever, enterprising and accomplished. It should be well-conducted and well-liked, especially by the opposite sex.

In France the systematic cultivation of sticks for umbrellas and canes is a recognized form of horticulture.

The strongest wind measured with an anemometer was one of 186 miles an hour, recorded on Mount Washington, January 11, 1878.

GOOD NIGHT STORIES

By Blanche Silver

DOTTY HAS A CHAT WITH A QUEER LITTLE WEATHER PROPHET.

Dotty watched the great flock of birds sailing over the greenish waters. The sailors on the great boats bouncing on the waves, all came out and hauled in their sails.

"Isn't that funny?" Dotty mused out loud. "I'd give most anything to know why those sailors pulled down their sails."

"I guess you would, too," laughed a merry voice, "if you saw those birds flying over your ship," and Dotty looked down into the merry face of Happy Giggles, the wee elfin from Make-believe Land.

"We're Weather Prophets."

"What are they, anyway, Happy Giggles?" Dotty asked. "What are they doing out there?"

"Why, don't you know?" laughed the elfin. "That's Daddy Stormy Petrel and his friends." Happy Giggles blew loudly three times on his magic whistle and Daddy Stormy Petrel straightway left his friends and floated down beside Dotty and Happy Giggles.

"I just wanted you to know Dotty," laughed the elfin, shaking the wee little bird's front foot. "She was wondering why you fellows were flying around?"

"Giving out the warning," replied Daddy Stormy Petrel. "We're weather prophets, you know. Not really and truly," he laughed, "but it's much easier to get a good meal when the waves dash high than when it's calm, so when we see a storm coming we fly out after a square meal, so the sailors call us weather prophets."

"I guess that's why they call you Stormy Petrels," said Dotty. "Not a bad name, is it?"

"I'll say it isn't," chuckled Daddy Stormy Petrel. "Happy Giggles, have you seen the wife lately?" The elfin shook his head. "Then you and Dotty better go over and see her," and he led the way over to a muddy island. Here, scattered all over the ground, were little dugouts, none of them more than a foot deep, and in most of them sat other petrels.

Daddy Stormy Petrel hunted out a certain dugout and introduced Dotty to his happy mate.

Mother Stormy Petrel hopped off the burrow in the sand and let Dotty and Happy Giggles see her little baby.

"My goodness," laughed Dotty, "if it doesn't look like a puff-ball. Isn't it a darling? Did you just hatch one egg?"

"That's all, my dear," chirped Mother Stormy Petrel. "A Stormy Petrel hardly ever has but one egg at a time. I'm glad I haven't a large family. I don't see how folks with large families can find enough food for them."

"I suppose you help her find food, Daddy Stormy Petrel?" asked Dotty patting the little puff-ball.

"I wish I could," replied Daddy Petrel. "But when the wee ones are so young they are only fed on all that is pumped from their mother's stomach. When they grow larger and stronger I help take care of them."

Just then Dotty heard her Mama calling her, and promising to come and see her new friends again some day she ran home.

YOUR HEALTH

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M.D., Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

A MOTHER MUST LEARN ABOUT BABY CRIES.

An old friend of mine was one of the trustees of a great university. He used to say: "Boys are like water melons, so many get ripe every year."

Have you ever thought what a lot of babies are born every year? In New York there are 137,000. Put in a line, shoulder to shoulder, they would reach twenty-two miles!

Consider the number born in all of North America. They would make a vast army.

Of these a great number are first babies. This means that every year there are thousands upon thousands of new mothers who have everything to learn about babies.

I remember hearing my mother describe her sensations as a new mother. She said she was sent into a panic of fear every day over the terrifying gurgles and choking sounds her infant made. The poor little woman was sure the death rattle was in her ears.

It is unconceivable that any mother could ever become complacent. She would not be a mother unless she lived under a cloud of apprehension. I suppose this is Nature's way of making the mother alert and ever watchful of her baby's needs.

I have told you many times that I think the mother job is the greatest job in the world. It is a wonderful thing to be a mother. I have no doubt that Judge Gary, Charlie Schwab, Jhon Rockefeller, Jr., the Bedfords and other famous captains of industry will agree with me that compared with the mother job, their great positions in the world are as nothing.

The new mother has much to learn. Her charge is as helpless as a chick or a kitten. Indeed, it is more helpless because the young animals can walk and run. They can get away from danger. They appear to have a language, too, which is understood by the mother. The human mother must learn the language of the infant. In a surprisingly short time she does understand the meaning of the different cries and gurgles and babblings of her baby.

The very first thing a new-born child does is to cry. That first cry is a welcome sound to all concerned. It means a living, vigorous, lusty human being has entered upon an earthly career. It is a cry of defiance and determination and never the wail of despair.

The mother soon learns that the cry of the infant is a good index of its condition. Hunger, thirst, pain, sleepiness and fear, as well as other emotions may be indicated by the cry.

At another time I will describe more in detail what can be learned from the cry. But the mother will soon know that the cry is the baby's way of telling what he wants and perhaps what he should have.

We anticipate a real enjoyable time.

A number from here attended the Fair at Warkworth on Friday last. In spite of the disagreeable weather, everybody seemed pleased and brought home good reports. Don't forget that the Roseneath Fair is Thursday and Friday of this week. We all have heard it is one of the best in the Province. If weather is favorable, we expect even better than past years. Come one, come all and meet your old friends from far and near and make this one grand re-union.

Many from here took in the Anniversary Services at Pontlis on Sunday. The Pontlis people are giving a fowl supper in the town hall here, on fair night. The proceeds in aid of their church.

Again we are visited with Jack Frost, who has tinted our trees and shrubs into many beautiful shades. There are many ways in which Autumn in nature may be compared with Autumn of old age. Many people like to think of life as they would the different seasons of the year. Spring Summer, Autumn and Winter. Who of us is there that does not love the beautiful Spring, with its promise of new life and beauty, and such is the life of childhood. We watch the little child growing, developing and maturing, to manhood or womanhood. Then we speak of a person as being in the Spring of their life, young and vigorous, just as the leaves are full of sap and fresh and green, in the Spring; but when we speak of a person as being in the Autumn of their life, we think of them growing old and more feeble, until at last, they too are ready for their long rest. A beautiful Autumn is much to be admired, so is a calm peaceful, old age. Perhaps these lines may make my meaning plain.

What's the life of a man any more than the leaves?
A man hath his seasons, then why should he grieve?
Although in this world we appear fine and gay—
Like the leaves we shall wither and soon fade away.

If we look in the churchyard, many names we can see,
Who have fallen from this world like the leaves from a tree.
When old age and affliction upon us doth roll,
Like the leaves we shall wither and down we fall.

So let us, who are here to-day, in these Autumn days remember, that however gay we are, or may be, the Autumn of life will come, and like the leaves we shall wither and soon fade away.

JUSTICE POWERS TRIES TO SETTLE SHIPPING STRIKE

Representatives of Ship Owners' Association Appear Reluctantly at the Conference

MEN DEMANDS.

No Settlement Until Imprisoned Strikers Are Released—Court Adjorned.

SYDNEY, Australia, Oct. 20.—(Canadian Press.)—Justice Powers presided at the compulsory conference of all parties to the shipping troubles in connection with the unofficial strike of British seamen in Australian ports which he had called for yesterday with a view to a possible settlement of the entire matter.

The deputy chairman of the ship owners' association, W. Seale, announced that the representatives of the shipping interests present were attending the conference merely as a matter of courtesy to the arbitration court of which Justice Powers is president. They doubted his authority to call the conference which they regarded as inopportune.

The secretary of the strike conference, J. Lydall, said the strikers were agreeable to th: arbitration of the dispute between them and the ship owners but they were not prepared to accept terms or negotiate for a settlement unless the strikers who were imprisoned were released.

Jusitce Powers pointed out that the court was unable to order the release of the imprisoned seamen, but said no government was likely to keep the men in jail when the strike was settled.

Justice Powers adjourned the court until to-day. He said he hoped the seamen would reconsider their attitude, but if not he would refer the dispute to another court where the seamen would be called upon to submit their claims and where they would be required to resume work before their claims would be heard.

MAGISTRATE'S IRE AROUSED BY JAIL

Only Place to Hold Boys—Humane Society Looks After Animals.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—(Canadian Press.)—"We have a humane society that takes care of dogs and cats but it seems there is none to take care of boys", was the bitter comment of Magistrate Brodsky as he dismissed three boys arrested for selling newspapers in a subway station. The magistrate's ire was aroused when he learned they had been held all night in jail with "drunkards, pickpockets, robbers and dope fiends."

Easy Lessons in - AUCTION BRIDGE

New Series by WYNNE FERGUSON

Author of "Ferguson on Auction Bridge"

ARTICLE No. 2

One of the best liked members of one of the New York clubs is an old professor of Greek at one of the local universities. He has read every thing that has been published on the game but has never been able to become a good auction player. Every once in a while he has a bad night and when he does his partners try to grin and bear it. The following hand is an illustration of the professor's game:

Hearts — 7, 5
Clubs — 9, 6, 2
Diamonds — Q, 10, 2
Spades — Q, 9, 8, 5, 2

: dummy :
: A B :
: professor :

Hearts — K, 4
Clubs — A, Q
Diamonds — A, 8, 5, 4, 3
Spades — A, K, J, 10

The professor's contract was five spades and A led the ace of hearts and then a low heart which the professor won with the king. He then took out the trumps and led a small club from dummy and finessed with his queen. The king was in A's hand so that the professor failed to make his contract as he subsequently lost the king of diamonds which was also in A's hand. After the hand was over, the professor said to his partner, "Well, partner, if the king of clubs had been on the right side, I would have made my bid." His partner, a very good player, replied: "You could have gone game without taking the finesse. After you had taken out the opponents' trumps, you should have led a low diamond toward the queen in dummy. A had the king so that your diamonds were set up and on the last two in your hand, you could have discarded two losing clubs in dummy." This criticism was correct and the professor apologized for taking a finesse when it wasn't necessary. Study this hand carefully and see that you don't make the same error. Count your losing tricks and don't finesse if you don't have to do so.

About an hour later the professor bid one no-trump, all passed and A opened the three of clubs. The professor's hand and the dummy's are as follows:

Hearts — Q, 10, 9
Clubs — 9, 4, 2
Diamonds — Q, 10, 4, 3
Spades — 10, 6, 5

: dummy :
: A B :
: professor :

Hearts — J, 8, 7, 2
Clubs — A, Q, 7
Diamonds — A, K, 3
Spades — A, Q, 4

The professor should have sized up the hand as follows: "A can only have four clubs for he has led the three and the deuce is in dummy. Therefore, AB should only make two club tricks and two heart tricks. If the diamonds are evenly divided, I can go game without finessing the queen of spades. If they don't break, then I will have to finesse the queen of spades." Unfortunately, he failed to figure out the hand as outlined, and as soon as he got dummy in the lead, led the spade, finessed the queen and A won the trick with the king of spades. It was now impossible for the professor to go game as he had to lose two club tricks, two heart tricks and one spade trick. To play the hand correctly he should have set up his hearts and then have played for the drop in diamonds. They were evenly divided so that in this way he could have made game. His partner was silent for a minute and then said: "Well, professor, it looks as if anybody can teach Greek but auction seems to require a head."

Answer to Problem No. 1

Hearts — none
Clubs — 8, 5, 3
Diamonds — 6, 4
Spades — Q, 8, 6

Hearts — none
Clubs — Q, 7, 2
Diamonds — 7, 3
Spades — J, 7, 4

: Y :
: A B :
: Z :

Hearts — K, 8
Clubs — J, 9
Diamonds — K
Spades — 5, 3, 2

Hearts — A, 10, 9
Clubs — K, 4
Diamonds — Q, J
Spades — 9

There are no trumps and Z is in the lead. How can YZ win six of the eight tricks against any defense? Z should lead the nine of spades. If A covers with the jack, Y should play the queen and then lead the three of clubs. If A refuses to cover, Y should also play low. Z should then play the king of clubs. In either event, Z would win the second trick with the king of clubs. He should then lead the four of clubs. A can either (a) win the trick with the queen or (b) allow B to win with the jack. (a) If A wins the trick with the queen of clubs, he can lead a club which Y will win and lead a diamond, putting B in the lead and forcing him to lead hearts to Z's tenace or spades to Y's tenace. A can also lead a diamond, putting B in the lead with the same result. A can also lead a spade to Y's tenace. Y would win these two tricks and lead a diamond putting B in the lead with the same result. (b) If A allows B to win the third trick with the jack of clubs, the result is the same. All he can make is the king of diamonds, so that YZ must make six of the eight tricks against any defense.

M'GILL PLAYERS STUDY TO AVOID PAST MISTAKES

Squad Undergoes Gruelling Because of Errors Against Queen's Last Week.

TO TRY AGAIN.

Hughes is in Hospital—Will Be Out of the Game Two Weeks.

MONTREAL, Que., Oct. 20 (Canadian Press)—It was a solemn lot of players who filed quietly into the field house yesterday afternoon to commence again McGill's preparations for meeting the champion Queen's University squad. Saturday's defeat was a sad blow to the Red and White players, who felt deep down that they might have done better and that in several cases they had not carried out plans that had been drilled into them. They knew they were in for a lot of corrections from Coach Shaughnessy and they understood exactly what they would be.

They had no sooner changed to rugby togs and taken the gridiron than their worst mistake of Saturday's contest was trotted out for inspection and the squad was given a rare old grinding at running down field under punts. Signals were given their place in the workout as was tackling and the mode of play to be used against Queen's in McGill's final attmept to battle the tricolor was thoroughly discussed. McGill meet Queen's at Kingston on Saturday and the Red and White while realizing that they will again face a team that outgeneraled them, are yet undaunted and determined to fight back in the belief that they can certainly make a better fist of it than they did last Saturday when they went down to a 14 to 0 defeat.

McGill, however, will be handicapped by the absence of Gordie Hughes, their star outside wing. Hughes was a tower on the McGill line early in the game last weekend, but an injury to his knee sent him off the field for the greater part of the first half. He returned in the second period, but was limping and not up to his best. He is now in the Montreal General Hospital with a badly twisted knee, an aggravation of an old hurt of two seasons ago. It is believed he will be out for two weeks, though it is anticipated he will be available for the Varsity game here on November 7.

ASHBURY SCORED A WELCOME WIN

First Victory in 12 Years in Annual Match With Bishop's.

SCORE WAS 18-0.

MONTREAL, Que., Oct. 20 (Canadian Press)—For the first time since 1913, Ashbury College of Ottawa defeated Bishop's College School of Lennoxville in the annual fiixture between the two Prep schools at the M.A.A.A. grounds today. The victory was a decisive one, the score being 18 to 0 and was all the more cheering to Ashbury supporters as it broke the twelve year jinx which has followed them in the annual contests.

"Pop" Irwin was the individual star of the Ashbury triumph, this diminutive backfield player featuring with his running and kicking. Eight of the Ashbury points came from his boot, five rouges and a drop kick.

Two unconverted touchdowns, one each by Stansfield and Robertson, together with Irwin's efforts made up the Ashbury total. Robertson's try came after a brilliant run of twenty-five yards in the fourth quarter.

Bishop's fought a hard game but seldom had the ball in Ashbury territory, the latter team showing a sterling defence in addition to their brilliant attack.

In a second team game played following the senior fixture, Ashbury scored their second win of the afternoon by a 12 to 0 score. The green shirted players looked as good in this game as the Senior Ashbury squad did in the first and from the time that Cann ran thirty yards for a try early in the first quarter, the result was never in doubt. Skelton featured this game with his all round work on the winners' back division.

MONTREAL PLAN TO STOP TUBMAN

Kicking Half Back Was Main Cause of Downfall Last Game.

RELY ON TEAM PLAY.

MONTREAL, Que., Oct. 20—Joe Tubman's kicking was the offensive play which gave Ottawa a victory over Montreal when the two teams opened the Interprovincial Rugby season at the capital three weeks ago according to the local team. Last night Coach Nicholson and his Montreal players, back from Hamilton where they lost to Tigers Saturday, sat in conference to discuss the mode of play to be adopted against Ottawa when the Senators meet Montreal at the M.A.A.A. grounds this coming Saturday. While nothing was divulged it is certain that Montreal will work to prevent Tubman doing too much damage with his boot.

This same punting style of play so prevalent in the Canadian game does not altogether appeal to Nicholson, who claimms there is altogether too much dependent on kicking and that the team which has the best punter is the best team. In other words, "Nick" says he is opposed to the system of play which is built around a star kicking halfback, claiming that it leads to one-man rugby and that under the present code a smart kicking back alone can beat a squad perfected in team play, which has only an average good punter.

However, the fact remains that Montreal has no kicking backs who can hold their own with the other three clubs in the Big Four and "Nick" will have to rely on team play, holding the ball as long as possible before punting to the opposition. He and his players have no excuses to offer for the defeat at Hamilton and for this week will work principally at tightening up the defensive strength of the line, the offensive being considered as about as strong as it can be made.

FAN WOULD BUY JOHNSON A CLUB

Muskogee Man Starts Movement and Seeks Aid of Million Others.

55 RESPONSES.

MUSKOGEE, Okla., Oct. 20 (AP)—A movement to raise a fund among baseball fans of America for the purchase of a baseball club for Walter Johnson, the "big train" of the Washington Senators, has been launched here.

The plan originated with Claude Williford, president of the Eastern Oklahoma Playgrounds Association and local business man.

"A million fans give a million dollars for a baseball team for Walter," is the slogan of Williford's campaign In less than an hour last night fifty-five local men and women gave $1 each to the fund.

Williford, who is acting as trustee for the fund, recalled that after the 1924 World Series Johnson expressed a desire to retire from active play and attempted to buy a minor league club.

Gabby Street, who caught Johnson early in the speedball king's career on the Washington club, is manager of the Western Association Club here, and this fact is partly responsible for the local popularity the plan is enjoying. Street catches for Johnson each year in a homecoming game at Coffeyville.

3 INJURED MEN WORRY OTTAWA

Strongest Team Wanted To Keep the Capital Side in Winning Vein.

DAILY PRACTICE.

OTTAWA, Ont., Oct. 20.—(Canadian Press).—Although they are reposing on the top shelf of the Inter-Provincial Rugby Football Union cupboard, deadlocked for first place with Hamilton Tigers, there is no let-up in the workouts of the Ottawa Senators. While they were not all in uniform, the full squad turned up at Lansdowne Park yesterday afternoon for the daily practice.

Manager McCaffrey reports the team in excellent shape after the Argonaut game with the exception of Connell, Emerson and Tubman. His big three are all laid up with injuries, and if they are not ready for the issue against the M.A.A.A. in Montreal on Saturday, the Senators will be forced to line up under a big handicap.

Connell went into the Argo game against doctor's orders and did not benefit any by his experiences, although he turned in a smashing game and was a prominent figure in the Ottawa victory. He was not feeling the best yesterday and did not dress.

Emerson suffered a badly banged-up face and had several teeth damaged, and while he will have to lay off for a couple of days, it is hoped that he will be ready for the Montreal trip. Joe Tubman's injured leg suffered a bad wrench in a tackle near the end of the third period, and although he stayed in there and kicked Ottawa to victory in the fourth period, he was limping yesterday. It is rumored that Tubman will be rested Saturday with Miller or Mulroney doing the booting, but it is hardly likely that Tubman will miss a game unless the weak limb forces him out of play.

Outside of these three, the team is in great condition, and stock has been considerably boosted by the triumph over Argonauts which puts the Senators very much in the title hunt.

INSIDE GOLF.

By CHESTER HORTON

When your tee shot is to go with the wind a good idea is to so tee the ball that it leans backward, or so the ball points upward. It is possible to do this with the patented tees as well as with sand. When playing against the wind, for a low ball, tilt the ball forward and let it point down. This placing of the ball has nothing to do with its low or high flight, as a matter of fact, but the position of the ball has an effect on the mind of the player, and the mind, after all, directs the swing and has charge of the stroke. When you point the ball up in this way be careful not to try to scoop it, which will cause the right shoulder to drop as the ball is hit. When the ball is teed to point down be equally careful not to lunge the body into it as you hit—hit only with the clubhead.

Football Stars Offer Blood For Injured Boy

DULUTH, Minn., Oct. 20.—Five members of the Cathedral High School football team may not play in a game here today, for they answered the call of a widowed mother for blood with which to save the life of her 10-year-old son.

Raymond Maxim injured his leg in a fall and doctors said he might die unless sufficient blood was obtained for transfusion.

His mother appealed to the school principal, who agreed with the volunteers that possibility of saving a human life is more valuable than the outcome of a football game.

The five, ranging from 16 to 18 years of age, will be in uniform today, waiting summons from the hospital.

GIANTS OF THE RING.

Harry Wills and Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion of the world, came to terms at last, after four years of struggling to get the king of the heavies into the same ring with the huge negro challenger, when the two signed articles with Floyd Fitzsimmons for a bout sometime next summer, someplace in the middle-west. The signing took place after an all-day conference, the only hitch stopping an immediate signing being the choice of a referee. This was finally ironed out in Dempsey's favor. The bout will be backed financially by a group of Indiana business men, the fighters working on a percentage basis. Photo shows left to right: Jack Dempsey, Floyd Fitzsimmons and Harry Wills.

POLITICAL STORM

The Liberal split, which also involves the Northwest riding, has resulted in two organizations, the Central Liberal Association and the Toronto Liberal Men's Association both nominating candidates, the latter in all the nine ridings and the former in four.

The Central body's candidate, Capt. H. S. Mullowney, withdrew today, leaving only one Liberal in the field there, but the organization executive this afternoon announced its intention of naming another Liberal candidate to replace Capt. Mullowney. So that with James Simpson, who is running as a Labor candidate, there probably will be half a dozen contestants for the seat.

Norman McEachren, president of the first named body, said today: "The Central Liberal Association has candidates in the field because it always has been the accredited organization of the Liberal party here. It was behind Sir Wilfred Laurier in the reciprocity campaign of 1911 and again in the khaki election of 1917. Its status was recognized in 1921 when Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King conferred with the organization here for the purpose of naming James Murdock as candidate in South Toronto.

Mr. McEachren said he understood the Toronto Men's Club claimed to be the official body on the strength of a letter from Senator A. C. Hardy recognizing its status, but this, Mr. McEachren contended, was not ratified by Premier King, who as recently as last week had wired him from Port Arthur to the effect that he was not sufficiently in touch with the Toronto situation to express any view.

"The only reason to which I can attribute the activity of the other association," said Mr. McEachren, "is that in the 1921 campaign our candidates pulled down the Conservative majorities in two ridings to such a degree that there seemed to be future hope of electing a Liberal in Toronto, which has sent Conservatives to Ottawa for nearly thirty years. Mr. Murdock reduced the Conservative majority in Toronto South to less than 300, and I pulled down Hon. Edmund Bristol's majority in Toronto Center to around 800."

Another Conservative split is caused by the entrance in Toronto East Center, another new riding, of two candidates, Hon. Edmund Bristol, the choice of the Central organization, and Cecil W. Armstrong, a young newspaperman, who is running as an Independent Conservative.

But on the other hand J. R. Clarke said with regard to this that Mr. Armstrong began as an organizer for Ward 2 of the riding, but "hand-picked" the delegates to the convention in order to retain on the list the names only of those who wanted him to be the nominee. The Central body, said Mr. Clarke, became aware of this prior to the convention, and put back a number of names which had been left off, with the result that the Armstrong delegates stayed away and held a convention of their own to nominate him.

The Central body's president said he did not think there would be any further attempt at conciliation. Mr. Bristol was the logical nominee and they would stand by him, whether Mr. Armstrong ran or not.

Present indications are that the situations will remain deadlocked, and that there will be three Conservative candidates in Toronto Northwest, two in Toronto East Center, and two Liberal candidates in Toronto Northwest, Toronto South, and in East Center and West Center.

The Central Liberal Association complicated the matter still further Saturday by asking Harry Winberg, its candidate in Toronto West Center, to withdraw. Norman McEachren, who is the organization's candidate for Toronto South, said this morning that another would replace Mr. Winberg.
